SERVIA ASKING TIME TO MAKE FULL REPLY, PREPARES FOR WAR

Many Rumors Current as to Austria's Attitude, But Its Ministers Have Said Servia's Reply to Ultimatum is Unsatisfactory

Vienna, July 25.—A message from Belgrade says: Orders for mobilization of the Servian army were given at 3 o'clock this afternoon. The King of Servia with his court and the garrison are leaving the Servian capital.

Servia's Reply Unsatisfactory.

Vienna, July 25.—Shortly before 6 o'clock the Austro-Hungarian minister at Belgrade presented a note to the Servian foreign office saying the Servian reply was unsatisfactory. The Austro-Hungarian minister, and the staff of the legation, then left Belgrade.

Rumored King Has Abdicated.

London, July 25.—Servia has accepted Austria-Hungary's ultimatum according to a special cablegram received here this evening from Belgrade, by way of Vienna.

Another despatch received through the same source says it is rumored that Peter, King of Servia has abdicated.

London, July 25.—The Austro-Servian embroglio occupied the attention of every Chancellor in Europe, where the situation was recognized as fraught with possibilities of a general conflict. The condition of the stock exchanges gave a strong indication of the fears felt by the general public, and stocks of all kinds suffered a collapse. The hope was widely expressed that armed conflict between the two nations would be avoided and the Russian view of the coercion exercised on a Slav nation was watched closely, as it was felt that on the decision of St. Petersburg, as to whether Russia would actively support Servia in resisting Austrian demands depended the final outcome of the controversy.

Many Rumors Current.

Many rumors were current, some asserting that Austria had given Servia further time in which to reply to her peremptory note; others that she had refused to do so, and still others that Servia maintained an attitude of defiance and was preparing for the worst eventualities. Statesmen in all countries were making endeavors to bring about a peaceable solution, and sought to restrain movements of panic.

POSTPONE FLIGHT OVER ATLANTIC, OCTOBER

Numerous Changes in America Have Made Rebuilding Necessary to Insure Success

Hammondsport, N. Y., July 25.—Lieutenant John C. Porte will not attempt to fly across the Atlantic until October 1st. This decision was reached today as the result of a conference between Glenn Curtis and Will Gash, the personal representative of Mr. Rodman Wannamaker.

Curtis said that while it was possible to reassemble the machine and rush it to New York in time for the steamer sailing for Newfoundland, August 1, it was advisable to take time to rebuild the machine properly and to make changes suggested by the experiments of the past month.

He added that the boat had been so weakened by the rapid temporary alterations and recent storms that it would be unfair to Lieutenant Porte and to the project to endanger success by an ill-prepared start. Lieutenant Porte explained that a delay of a few days at this time would make it impossible to attempt the flight until after the period of equinoxial storms prevailing between August 15 and October 1.

A WAR PARTY IN ENGLAND SEEKS PEACE THRO' BLOOD SHED

Irish Troubles Can Only be Settled by Swift Campaign is Belief of Influential Faction That Also Holds Opinion That Mighty Struggle in Southeastern Europe Would Clear the Air

London, July 25.—Sternly and surely an influential section of the community are coming to think that civil war in Ireland is the only way out of the present situation, and a still larger proportion of the British community is coming to think that the best thing possible would be for a mighty struggle to set in forthwith in southeastern Europe between the warring nations of that quarter—that it would be a good thing for Germany and Australia to have a belly full of real war as against Russia and Slavic populations that are more or less allied to that empire.

There are men in London still more in the north, who are saying that a two weeks' campaign in Ireland would settle things and bring domestic peace in a way that no amount of political agitation or elections would effect. All England, and Scotland and Ireland for that matter, is disturbed day after day, month after month, by agitation against home rule and the equally insistent demand of the Nationalists party in Ireland for home rule, and, apparently the only and quick way out of it is a struggle between the factions. Not only would strife be ended but the still more greater question as to where the army is in any such struggle. But no matter what the outcome, peace would follow and the country from further paralysis and an all prevading dread!

And England could well afford to see some kind of conflagration break out in southeastern Europe rather than that uncertainty should prevail for another score of years. A little blood-letting may do some good or a considerable amount of blood-letting may do a considerable amount of good and in the end cost a much smaller number of lives than the war fare and the inhuman butcheries that have prevailed there in the last 15 years. Somebody has got to clean up that part of Europe by war, and this is coming to be the view of English people; they do not want the task; they do think, however, that it would be a good thing for humanity generally if some-one else would do it, and do it quickly and well.

HAMILTON WOMAN KILLED AT BALA

Bala, July 25.—Mrs. York of Hamilton was killed at 2 p.m. today on the C.P.R. tracks, a hundred yards from Bala Station. She was coming into town to buy provisions for her cottage at Sandy Point, near Bala Park, and was using the railway. The C.P.R. Express whistled to warn her and she stepped to the side of the rails. As the train neared her she became excited, attempted to cross in front of it and tripped and fell. The train cut off both her legs above the knees. She died in five minutes.

MR. E. W. COX LEFT ESTATE WORTH $500,000

Sum Will be Added to by Share in Estate of Late Senator Cox' Which Was Not in Valuation

Toronto, July 25.—The will of E. W. Cox, late president of the Canada Life Assurance Company, was filed for probate Saturday. He left an estate valued at half a million dollars. E. T. Malone, K.C., and the National Trust Company, Limited, are executors and trustees of the estate which was accumulated by the late senator's son. The estate is distributed as follows:

The widow gets the residence, 102 Isabella street, all furniture, motor cars and equipments. She also gets an income of the whole estate for life. She has a disposing power by will over shares in the companies other than the Toronto Savings & Loan Company, the Provident Investment Company, Canada Life Assurance and Central Canada Loan & Savings Company.

Thirty thousand dollars is to be paid to Mr. E. T. Malone, the family solicitor, for the purpose of distribution by him among certain persons who in the testator's lifetime were objects of his bounty, and whom he desires to assist without making their names public.

After the death of the widow, $50,000 is to be paid to each of the two sisters, Mrs. Ames, and Mrs. Davis, and the balance of the estate is to be transferred to Mr. H. C. Cox, the surviving brother and who has lately succeeded to the position of president of the Canada Life Assurance Company.

THEY MUST NOW USE ALL WATER TAKEN FROM THE FALLS

Udited States Proposes to Conserve Beauty and Power of Niagara Falls By Compelling Efficiency of Power Plants

Washington, D.C., July 25.—Legislation, which will not only preserve the beauties of Niagara Falls, but also insist that all water taken for power purposes shall be utilized to the greatest extent possible was placed before the house of representatives late this week in a favorable report from the committee on foreign affairs, by Congressman Cyrus Cline of Indiana. The general jurisdiction over the use of water from the falls for power is placed directly in the hands of the secretary of war, though he is not given any control of the rates to be charged, which will be handled by the New York state authorities. It is expected that the bill will be passed late in the present session or soon after Congress meets in December.

One of the most striking features of the bill is that which gave the secretary of war the power, in case a power company is not generating as much current as is possible with the water it takes, to force such changes in equipment as will bring the plant up to a maximum efficiency. This feature was introduced, according to the report submitted by Mr. Cline, on account of the fact that the Niagara Falls Power Company generates but 11 horse power per cubic foot of water, while the Hydro-Electric Company with the same head of water and under almost identical conditions generates 18 horse power per cubic foot. Should the Hydro-Electric Company's plant be taken as a maximum of efficiency, this would mean that, with the 8,600 cubic feet of water taken by the Niagara Falls Power Company, there is absolute loss of 42 per cent, which means a waste of 216,720 cubic feet per minute, or 312,076,800 feet per day, that flows through the power company's flumes and produces no results, at a time when the manufacturers are demanding more and more current.

While under the treaty with Great Britain, the United States is permitted to take out a maximum of 20,000 second feet for power purposes as the result of an investigation by United States army engineers 15,700 feet is the maximum allowed to be taken under the bill. This is done with two ideas in view first, that the scenic beauty of the falls shall not be injured through the taking of the maximum permitted under the treaty, and second, that navigation on Lake Erie shall not suffer from the same cause. Engineers state that to lower the water of Lake Erie one inch would mean the reduction of the carrying capacity of the largest lake transport 600 to 800 tons. The committee took the stand that the rights of commerce on the lake must be given full protection, regardless of the corporation demands for more power.

EARL OF GRANARD MAY RULE IRELAND

Dublin, Ireland, July 25.—The Earl of Granard and his countess, who was Miss Beatrice Mills of New York, are at his Irish seat, Castle Forbes, County Longford, adjoining Ulster. If Irish home rule goes into operation, without cutting Ulster off, it is said that Lord Granard will be the first home rule viceroy.

The choice has been between him and Lord Lucas, an able, dashing young peer, who lost a leg in the Boer war, in which he distinguished himself. But Lucas is a bachelor, whereas Granard's wife would be able to do the honors of Dublin Castle in really viceregal style.

POLICE IN EXCITING CHASE IN EAST CITY

Thrilling Arrest of Young Ashburnham Man on Saturday Night

A somewhat sensational arrest was made in Ashburnham about 7 o'clock Saturday night. A young man who goes by the name of his stepfather, Mr. Godfrey of Mark street, was the worse of liquor.

It seems that he and two other young men, with truly "Abolish the bar" methods had had a keg of beer in a boat house on the lake shore. This keg was not like the "widow's Cruse of Biblical history. It ran dry. Young Godfrey wanted to take his mother's horse and buggy to get another supply. His mother refused to let him have the horse. Godfrey then struck both his mother and his step-father. Neighbors telephoned the police station. Officers Downs and Cookman went to the scene. Godfrey ran south, and was captured at the bridge where young Gorman held up the local police force. He was brought to the station in an automobile.

KING ALFONSO A JOKEY

Madrid, July 25.—King Alfonso delights in playing practical jokes upon his friends and members of his household. Recently, when Lord and Lady Wimbourne, of England, were his guests in connection with the visit of the English polo team, he showed them through the wonderful gardens attached to the palace. Leading his guests into a trellised arbor, the King stepped to one side, pressed a button and both English and Spanish were soaked by a deluge of water.

To Banish Wrinkles and Freshen Up Quickly

After a strenuous day outdoors, when winds, heat and exhaustion have combined to take away one's freshness and caused the skin to wrinkle and sag—or after a tedious or fretful day indoors,—one often has urgent need for some quick rejuvenator. Maybe there's a tango party on for the evening or some other social event. How in the world can one make herself presentable, looking as she does? It's quite easy.

Just get an ounce of powdered saxolite and a half pint witch hazel, at the nearest drugstore, mix the two and bathe the face in the solution for two or three minutes. Then look into your mirror and behold the wonderful transformation! Wrinkles have vanished, loose, tired muscles have been rested and "firmed up," marks of fatigue have flown, and you look so much brighter and younger you can hardly believe your eyes. No one need hesitate to try this, the witch hazel and saxolite being so perfectly harmless.

FLAGS JOINED IN PEACE WHERE LUNDY'S HEROES FELL

Memorial Arch Marks Entrance to Lane Where Canadians Battled for Their Country a Hundred Years Ago

Niagara Falls, Ont., July 25.—Picturesque, patriotic and with the note of pathos intruding itself at intervals, was the celebration of the one hundredth anniversary of the battle of Lundy's Lane.

The people of the pretty Town of Niagara Falls did full justice to the occasion, decorating their streets and festooning their tree-curtained lanes with bright buntings and many pennants and flags. Emblematic of the dove of peace which reigned supreme over the occasion were the Union Jack and Stars and Stripes, which stretched and floated side by side on every hand. A triumphal arch fronted the entrance to the old historic lane, up which a hundred years ago many a brave man went to his death in defence of his country. In the old cemetery in which reared the shaft raised by the Government, to the memory of the dead heroes a gaily decorated pavillion received the speakers and guests of honor. A class of school girls in white dresses and with wreaths of green maple leaves on their flowing hair stood on the steps holding small Union Jacks in their hands. A contingent of boys also wearing the national emblems flanked the girls.

PLOT ON FOR NEW MEXICAN WAR

Huerta on Way to Toronto to Help Forward Two Attacks on Carranza and Villa—Confer With Gen. Felix Diaz

Toronto, June 25.—Plans for a new counter revolution against Generals Carranza and Villa in Mexico are being forwarded by a junta of well-known Mexican leaders in Toronto, according to information from a reliable source received here Saturday afternoon General Victoriano Huerta, former President of Mexico, now is en route to this city to confer with General Felix Diaz, who has been here for several months.

The new revolt as planned by the junta, comprises two new movements in Northern Mexico. One of these it was pointed out would be made from the west coast where the recently revolted Federal garrison, under Pascual Orosco, is raising volunteers. The other it was said would be made from the United States border, near Casas Grande, in the State of Nuevo Leon.

FRANCE AND QUEBEC CHURCH NEUTRAL SCHOOL PROPOSED

Orange Sentinel Says Official France Will Fight Roman Heirarchy in Quebec

The Orange Sentinel states that official France is to come into conflict with Roman Catholic bishops in Quebec. A recent declaration made by Vice-Consul Raynaud, one of France's representatives in Montreal, may be taken as pointing to a different orientation of official France's relations with Catholic French Canada. At a public dinner given at Montreal on the 11th July inst., M. Raynaud, speaking officially, said: "With the help of the French Government our group is going to organize in Montreal in the near future a neutral school, such as we have in France." This declaration, coupled with M. Raynaud's abstention from going to the annual mass celebration in Notre Dame for the French colony of Montreal each July 14, abstention which was ordered from France by special and most explicit instructions, says M. Raynaud, has created a great amount of interest and concern in French and Catholic circles in Montreal, and all over the Province of Quebec. Up to now, France's official representatives in the Province of Quebec had respected French-Canadian religious convictions, with which a strong and influential group of old country Frenchmen living in Montreal sympathized heartily. French officials used to be present every year at the special mass celebrated at Quebec and Montreal on July 14, France's National day.

OLD COUNTRY REPUBLICANS DISPLEASED

Even last year, Archbishop Bruchesi was asked by Commander Puglesi-Conti, of the "Descartes," a French man-of-war then moored in Montreal harbor for a few weeks, to celebrate a mass on board; and he went! This, together with the presence of France's official representatives at the French mass on each July 14, displeased a very active group of anti-clerical and ultra-republican old country Frenchmen at Montreal. They took the matter up with the French Government and the result is that orders have been issued from Paris to French official representatives in Canada to keep strictly aloof from all religious demonstrations. M. de Saint-Victor, France's representative in Quebec, on receiving these instructions, wired back his resignation to his Government. It was not accepted and he was present at the special mass at Quebec as formerly. In Montreal Vice-Consul Raynaud, in the absence of M. Bonin, France's highest representative in Canada, abstained from the mass and gave publicity to the orders held from M. Viviani, France's present Prime Minister, one of the most notable anti-clericals in his country.

NEUTRAL SCHOOL PROPOSED

This incident becomes the graver in French-Catholic circles of Quebec when coupled with the avowed project of official France to help organize a French neutral school open to French and French-Canadian children alike, in Montreal. M. Viviani, present Prime Minister of France, one of the strongest exponents of the neutral school, which is violently anti-clerical in France, wrote a few years ago, in "L'Humanite," a Paris paper, that "school neutrality" is and always was a lie." adding: "This absurd notion of neutrality was put up to reassure timid persons whose coalition against our school laws would otherwise have killed the principle of these laws." The organizing of such a school in Montreal and its being helped along by the French government, alarms Catholic people. It is quite probable that if this school is ever opened, Archbishop Bruchesi will forbid his French-Canadian flock to allow their children to frequent it, as he did a few years ago when he interdicted Catholic families to send their young girls to the "Lycee des Jeunes Filles," a school organized by the members of the "Emancipation," a French Free-masonry lodge in Montreal. This new interdiction would surely put official France at daggers drawn with the Roman Catholic Church in Montreal.

Hero Dogs

One of the most interesting classes in English dog shows is the "heroes' class. Dogs who have saved life from fire or drowning make up the chief proportion of heroes among dogs; and one year's entries also included a dog which had protected a policeman from the attack of a sailor's knife, one that had rescued a child from being run over by a horse and wagon, and another who had helped a clergyman to find his "lost" little daughter.

Nothing New

Those Futurist women who try to show their Futurism by wearing green and blue and pink hair are really a few centuries behind the times. Colored hair is nothing but a back number. Ancient Rome saw the first of the craze, and the Roman matrons kept the wigmakers busy supplying them with hair of all hues for all occasions. Faustina, wife of Marcus Aurelius, had several hundred colored wigs in her wardrobe.

MARKETING ELECTRICITY

Publicity, Combined With Merit, Best Aid to Authors

No amount of effort, nor even enormous expenditure of capital advertising can turn a quite bad poor book into a "best seller." When a publisher is fully persuaded in his own mind that he has a good thing, he is well advised in giving it all possible publicity. The bookseller and the public will do the rest.

The awakening of the public mind toward a good book and its gradual growth in popularity are curious phenomena, and, like the growth of a child, not easy to watch or locate. Stevenson, charming essayist that he was, first really caught the ear of the public in "Dr. Jekyll and Mr Hyde," "Treasure Island," and "Kidnapped." Blackmore's "Lorna Doone" hung fire at first. George Meredith did good work for forty yeas, and still had to complain of an unsympathetic public.

Marie Corelli conquered an enormous public largely without the aid of the reviewer, and so did the author of "The Rosary." Hall Caine, W. B. Maxwell and Compton Mackenzie, having had their latest offspring banished, immediately experienced the good fortune flowing from an enormous publicity. Reviews certainly have considerable influence in awakening the reading public to a "good thing." But probably the personal influence of each reader, dinner table talk and conversation generally are even more influential.—Robert Cochrane in the Book Monthly.

THE SENSITIVE COW

Dairy Employes Must Not Use Harsh Language to Animals

Orders were issued to the employes of a large dairy at Verona, N.J., that no milker must use harsh language toward a cow, under pain of dismissal. Besides hurting the gentle animal's feelings it was discovered by Stephen Francisco, head of the concern, that harsh language cuts down the supply of milk. No self-respecting cow after being affronted will humbly submit afterwards to being drained dry. On the other hand, if coddled she will give up the last drop.

The Slavs and Hungarians employed on the farm whose voices are rough and guttural were instructed to modulate them to a drawing-room tone. A manicurist has been provided to look after the nails of the milkers, too, so that they may be more gentle as well as more cleanly. In order to please still further the sensitive cows of the Verona herd, the use of a rough curry comb on their coats has been abolished. Vacuum cleaners now remove the debris.

MRS. E. L. E. BROWN

Mrs. E. L. E. Brown, a comely young Englishwoman who fled from Mexico City, when a massacre of foreigners seemed imminent, has the distinction of being the only person who ever slapped Huerta's face and lived to laugh about it. It was while she was pleading with him to protect her family and her property that the dictator offered insult to the English woman and she answered right back with a stinging blow on the face. She was under the protection of the English flag. So, instead of the command, "Shoot her at dawn," Huerta's order was, "Show this woman out." With her husband, Dr. Brown she went home to England.

FASHIONS AND LUNACY

German Doctor Attributes Extreme Dressing to Derangement of Mind

"A certain proportion of lunatics," said Dr. Holz, a German mental alienist, "probably three per cent. owe their troubles to the influence of fashion; that is, to women's fashions. This does not include the vast number upon whom fashion acts indirectly in an injurious sense, for instance to tight-laced women who suffer from hysteria. Also it does not include thousands of indirect victims whose nervous systems are undermined through disappointment with their dressmakers, jealousy of other women's clothes and inability to pay modistes' bills. If these cases are counted, then a third of woman lunatics are victims of fashion."

AS LIGHT AS LAGER
BUT BETTER FOR YOU

Clean pots and pans with GOLD DUST

Germs of decay accumulate on oft-used pots and pans, and ordinary soap and water only clean off the surface.

Gold Dust does the work—and does it right. It digs deep after germs, cleans like a new whistle and leaves your pots and pans as new, as bright as the day they were new—and sanitarily safe.

Gold Dust does this work in just half the time required by soap or any other cleanser. Does it better, too.

Gold Dust cleans everything like magic.

Gold Dust is sold in 5c size and large packages. The large package means greater economy.

MANY MORTGAGED FARMS

Nearly Half Ontario's Agricultural Land Encumbered But Not Unduly

About 15 per cent. of the total value of the farm property in Ontario is mortgaged, according to a statement appearing in the report of the provincial Minister of Agriculture. This conclusion was arrived at as a result of a canvass undertaken by the district representatives of the Department, who found that 45 per cent. of the farms were mortgaged, and one-third would be a fair estimate of the amount of the mortgages.

This financial survey of farm conditions, as it might be called, was ascertained under the following heads: (1) The percentage of farms mortgaged, per cent. of mortgages in value of farms, and whether increasing or decreasing; (2) the extent of deposits by farmers in saving banks; (3) the extent of the demand on the part of farmers for loans; (4) rate of interest paid on both long and short-date loans; (5) whether the loans were on the purchasing of land only or for financing farm operations.

Bankers, business men, lawyers, registry office officials and prominent farmers were relied on for the information gathered, and the a[illegible] are considered reasonably reliable.

There seems to be a unanimous view that mortgages are de[illegible] in number. A proportion of the [illegible] gages, it was ascertained, were la[illegible] to enable speculation in western real estate.

With regard to deposits, it was stated that these have materially increased in recent years. One county estimated a [illegible] per cent. increase; another [illegible] per cent.; another 75 per cent. No accurate figures could be given of the total amount of farmers' deposits, but from estimates furnished from the different counties, it is assumed that the farmers of Ontario have one hundred million dollars at their credit and that the farm wealth of the Province is valued at $[illegible].

Eliminating Scale in Boilers

It is needless to state that the accumulation of scale on boiler heating surfaces resists the transfer of heat and therefore acts to reduce the efficiency of steam production. Water contains two kinds of scale-forming "hardness"—temporary and permanent. The temporary hardness consists principally of the carbonate of lime and magnesia, and can be largely eliminated by raising the water to a temperature of about 190 degrees in an open vessel to allow the escape of carbonic acid gas. An open type of feed-water heater with ample depositing and filtering arrangements is often the simplest solution. For neutralization of the permanent hardness, implying the presence of sulphates in the water, it is usual to resort to chemical purification. Special apparatus are available which are capable of combining the t[illegible] both ki[illegible] [illegible] may also be reduced by duplicating a part of the action of the boiler itself, by the use of a closed purifier in which the feed water is subjected to a high temperature under pressure. There are questions involving chemical determination together with the best advice obtainable.—Engineering Magazine.

READING CAMP WORK

How the Foreigners Doing Frontier Work Are Being Assimilated

The Reading Camp Association does a splendid work by sending its instructors, who are usually college men, into the lumber camps, construction gangs, and the mines of Canada.

In the evening these instructors spend their time teaching their companions how to read and write and spell and speak the English language, and generally giving them an education. They provide a tent where the men may spend their spare time in reading newspapers or books, or in writing home. Next day they are down in the mine or out in the woods again swinging pick or axe like any other laborers. Experience has taught the instructors that it is the workman who shares the rough toil of camp or mine rather than the clerk or storekeeper who makes the best teacher. He is upon a footing with his pupils that only hardship shared or common danger can establish. Therefore by choice the instructors take part in the roughest work.

We hardly realize that the Canadian navvy has practically disappeared, and that even the French-Canadian navvy is scarce, but such is the case. The rough frontier work of Canada is done almost altogether by foreigners—Russians, Italians, Bulgarians, Greeks and other Europeans, who come to this country unacquainted with the English language. It is

Spare the Rubbing

Soak clothes overnight to loosen the dirt, and wring out into hot soapy water next morning. Instead of putting the washboard into the tub and rubbing the clothes up and down upon it, lay the board across the tub, and, having soaped the piece to be washed, scrub it with a nail brush or a small ordinary scrubbing brush. This is quicker, saves the hands, and the garments will last longer than when rubbed upon the board.

Our Point of View

From the vicinity of the Grand Canyon comes a roaring sound indicating that the Hon. W. N. Rowell is pondering over things in general.

—o—

The Toronto World's Society Editor says that the "wasp" waists are coming in strong. To which the Times might add that many a fellow is going to be stung.

—o—

A news item says Andrew Carnegie is thinking about giving $100,000,000 to libraries. But Andy should indulge in another think and give it back to the people he took it from.

—o—

We haven't heard from our old friend Sir Wilfred for so long a time that we are inclined to believe that he must be busy giving an imitation of a statesman engaged in deep thought.

—o—

While votes for women is the burning issue in England the suffragets continue to burn churches and public buildings, thus adding to the heat of the situation.

—o—

Unless the memory of British electors is exceptionally short, Hon. Asquith will have a great and complete political finish in a few weeks from now.

—o—

The Battle Creek Enquirer says: "If it rains this evening the social will be held on next Thursday evening." So there is a prospect of a very hot time in the old town.

—o—

The Hon. George Wampum Perkins says the battle song of the Bull Mooser will be "We Will Gather at the River." In the meantime the public is hoping that when they gather there they will jump in

—o—

A paragraph in the Examiner says, "If you only wear a smile the hot weather won't bother you." But the police will, and that is the reason why all of us adhere to the conventional garb.

Nathans Crowning Insult

The Roman Catholic Church has been fighting so bitterly and desperately against the acceptance of Nathan as Italy's representative at the Panama Exhibition that many Protestants have wondered what Nathan had said or done to provoke all this fury. Probably some hint may be found in what the Catholic Union terms "Nathan's crowning insult." In a recent speech Nathan declared: "I am not an enemy of religion. I am not fighting anything sacred to any man, but I have fought, and will fight to the best of my ability, sham religions which are political organizations." If this be the "crowning insult," we suppose the others are at least no worse than it, and so we may judge by it the extent of Nathan's offending. The Christian Guardian fails to see that this "crowning insult" is one whit more than the terms in which the Catholic Record or the Catholic Register characterize Protestants and their faith. No doubt such remarks as Nathan made may not be relished by our Roman Catholic friends especially if they are true; but we may be pardoned if we fail to see why a Protestant Government should notice such things. But the Record gives an instance where the Italian Government objected to receiving the United States Minister to Italy, a Mr. Kailey, because he had sharply criticised the Italian Government for taking Rome. And so, because the Italian Government objected to receiving as American Minister one who had criticized it sharply, our Roman Catholic friends think the United States ought not to receive the Italian representative because, forsooth, he criticised the Pope. Such logic is beyond our comprehension unless our Roman Catholic friends deem that any criticism of the Pope of Rome is criticism of the United States Government, which we think, United States citizens will be slow to admit.

Do Long Breaths Hurt

DANGEROUS PLEURISY ALWAYS BEGINS THIS WAY.

Speediest Cure is Nerviline.

Ouch, that stab-like pain in the side is like a hot knife blade in the ribs!

Probably got overheated —cooled too fast—now there is congestion, tightness, such soreness you can't draw a long breath.

This is the beginning of Pleurisy.

Pleurisy is far too serious to neglect a single instant.

Quickest relief will come from a vigorous rubbing with Nerviline. This trusty old pain reliever will fix you up in no time—will take away the congestion—make you well just as it did Mr. Samuel St. Johns, of Stamford, who says:—"In running to catch a train last week I became overheated. I put up the train window and rode that way in order to get cooled off. In an hour my side was so full of pain and my breathing hurt so much that I thought I had pneumonia. I always carry Nerviline in my grip and at destination I rubbed my side thoroughly three times. The warm penetrating effect was soon noticeable and I quickly got relief. Nerviline I consider saved me from a serious illness."

Any sort of a cold can be quickly broken up with Nerviline which is a marvel for reducing inflammation, for relieving congestion in the throat and chest, for curing stitch in the side, lumbago, neuralgia, sciatica or rheumatism. Nothing more soothing or powerful. The 50c. large family size is the most economical. Small trial size 25c. at dealers everywhere.

Advertisements Are Read

A large majority of men read the advertising carefully. Even if they have no business enterprises of their own, they are interested in the advertising as a reflection of the business life of the town.

Hence it is perhaps unnecessary to suggest to the readers of this newspaper that its advertising columns are worthy of the most careful attention. They are giving that attention to these notices now.

Still it is worth while to say that there is no time when advertising is worth such careful attention as in midsummer. All kinds of merchants have the proposition before them of cleaning out their stocks before cool weather comes on. The story of what is happening in the stores will be found in the advertising columns of this newspaper.

CANADIANS IN NAVY

Eight Graduate Cadets Per Year Admissable to King's Ships

Arrangements have been made by the Dominion Navy Department with the British Admiralty whereby not more than eight graduates of the Royal Canadian Naval College at Halifax, N.S., will be taken every year into the British navy as cadets.

For some time the Admiralty has not been taking any young men from the college at Halifax, and, as the number of the ships in the Canadian navy is very limited, the prospects were not encouraging for lads who desired to go to sea. Cadets in the British navy get very small wages so that young men thinking of going as such need to be assured of an allowance from their parents.

PRISONS DO NOT REFORM

Weakness Rather Than Wickedness Lands Men Behind Bars

To expect a man to reform after six months spent in a prison cell is to expect almost a miracle in the opinion of Dr. John T. Gilmour, warden of the Ontario Central Prison. "Delinquency," was the subject of an address he gave to a Y.M.C.A. audience in Toronto, and, going into its pros and cons very deeply, said the great majority of youthful delinquents were handicapped in life's race either by mental, moral or physical defects, and more came to prison as a result of weakness rather than of wickedness, and not more than an average of 15 per cent. of the prison population today was really criminal at heart. The earlier a boy or young man entered into crime the less likely became the chance of reformation. He did not think that after six months of it behind prison bars any individual could be the same as before under going the ordeal. The experience could not fail to leave an indelible impression that was hardening. Century after century they had gone on building animal cages in which to shut up boys and young men. He had great hopes of the reforming effect the Guelph jail would have; where there would be a sufficiency of windows, but not a sign of a bar. Lawyers and many others were fond of precedent, but let those responsible for prison life as it was today remember that Adam after his wrong doing was sent to till the soil.

The Directors of the Company have exercised every care in the selection of their properties, aggregating 1380 acres, which are situated in many townships bearing indications of oil. It will be noted from other companies already operating in the field, that several quarter sections of the holdings of this Company are adjacent to the properties of those Companies, that have employed expert advice in the selection of their holdings.

Investors should also note that the Company has lands which are not situated in one particular spot, and as it has been assured that oil is existing in different districts, this Company, by having its holdings spread over a vast area, stands an excellent chance if oil be discovered by any of the Companies operating.

The Company proposes to pay to its Fiscal Agents for procuring subscriptions, for shares in this Company, a commission not exceeding 20 per cent on the selling price of such shares.

Primary expenses of the Company are estimated at $2500.

Catarrh Cannot Be Cured

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only Constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

BUILD LARGEST TELESCOPE

Building on Saanich Mountain to Dominate Dominion

Owing to the clear atmospheric conditions which prevail on Vancouver Island, the Dominion Government decided to locate the new Government telescope which will be the largest in the world, at the summit of Little Saanich Mountain, seven miles from Victoria, B.C. The new telescope, which will weigh eight tons and will cost almost $100,000 will be thirty feet long with a reflecting lens of seventy-two inches. When located on a special building at the top of Saanich Mountain, the chief observations for the Dominion will be taken at Vancouver Island.

Science in Library

The French National Library has so many complaints about the length of time it takes to find a book, that the architect and the director, M. Recouard and M. Homolle, are studying a plan of distribution by rolling carpets. The idea will be to place telephones in the different rooms used by readers. They will ask for the books they want over a wire to a control office, the librarian and assistants will then obtain them from their places on the shelves, and in two or three minutes they will arrive on a rolling carpet near the seat of the reader who has asked for them.

COPPER

The Red Metal

MILLIONS OF TONS OF PAY ORE

We have coal, fluxes and copper ores in unlimited quantities—

We have an estate of about 11,500 acres—

We have water, timber, and as fine a climate as there is in the world, which admits of working throughout the entire year—

We have spent years of time and thousands of dollars in getting this project into shape where we can consistently offer you a share in it—where your investment will be safe—where your interests will be safeguarded and your profits much greater than they are in the average manufacturing or commercial undertaking.

By cutting through the formation with streams, ages old, Nature has done much to demonstrate the existence of these great ore bodies and this, supplemented by the openings made by man, has proven that within this area there are at least five veins more than three miles long, and having an average width of fourteen feet, with an average content of 2.51 per cent. of copper metal.

Coal for fuel, Lime and Iron for fluxes, are abundant, easily mined and all within the boundaries of this estate. They can be cheaply obtained and economically transported to the site where it is proposed to build a smelter for reducing to matte or bullion this unlimited supply of copper ore.

Costs of every needed thing will be minimized to a degree impossible under less favorable conditions, and profits proportionately increased. Labor is cheap, and much of the food supply required is raised on the estate.

The ore supply is practically inexhaustible; engineers and geologists have estimated the depth of these enormous veins to be at least 3,000 feet.

At this time the enterprise is just getting under way and those who take advantage of the opportunity to secure a share in it now will, so far as finite judgment can reach, reap rewards far beyond the proportions of any investment at present made. For particulars and details of this magnificent enterprise, address

AN ELECTRIC RAZOR

For the benefit of the man with heavy beard and tender skin a razor has been invented which cuts the beard by a chopping action. An electric motor is connected by a flexible shaft to the shaft of the safety razor. On the end of the razor shaft cylindrical cams are provided which change their rotating movements to a reciprocating one within the blade holder. At the end of the holder this motion is again changed to one at right angles to the former, by means of a rocking arm and two prongs. Therefore the final motion of the blade is also a reciprocating one, causing the blade to act by means of blows against the hair.

Many blows per second are administered, depending upon the revolutions per minute of the motor. The action of the blade is therefore not really one of merely cutting, but rather of severing by blows. The logical result is that it is not necessary to have the blades as sharp as it is now demanded. The chief advantage, however, is the rapidity with which a first class shave can be accomplished; two to three minutes are sufficient. An application of soap is not necessary, wetting the skin is sufficient. The sensation after the shave is very agreeable, resembling that of a mild massage. The motor may be connected [illegible] with any lamp socket.

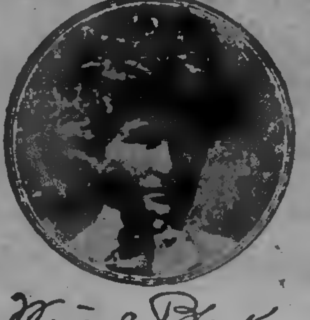
When Fashion Is Folly, Go Look in the Glass

By Winifred Black

Copyright, 1914, by Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.



Winifred Black

I SAW her at the celebration the other day—the woman I have known and admired a long, long time. She was laying a corner-stone. And laying it, as is her usual way of doing things, remarkably well.

I didn't know my friend at first—she looked so different. When she first stepped into the circle with her little silver trowel in her hand I thought:

"Why, she's ill and some one has had to take her place. I wonder if it's the neuralgia again?" But, no, there was something familiar in the turn of the head, the shoulders were, after all, unmistakable, and the way she picked up the trowel—but what in the world had changed her so?

Where was her dignity? What had become of the noble freedom of her open brow? She used to be, not pretty, but beautiful in a fine, early Briton sort of way that made you want to call her Boadicea—or Goneril. She looked like one of the leaders of the British nation way back in the days when women were queens—as well as women.

What on earth had happened to her? She was just an every-day, rather gaunt woman, with a queer attempt at coquettish daring in her tired face.

Could it be that something dreadful had happened to her? Was her mind—it made me shudder to think of it.

It Was the Hat.

"Oh," breathed the woman who sat beside me, "Oh, what a perfectly darling hat!" I looked again—and it was the hat. My friend of other days was wearing a brand new hat, in the very latest mode. And that was what—that was all—that was the matter with her!

It was a little bread-and-butter-plate of a hat, as flat as a pancake, till it got to one of her ears, and then it hiked up into the air with a long, wild slant that fairly said "Whoopee!" at the top of its feathery voice. The other side banged down over one of my friend's nice, clear, intelligent eyes, and made her look exactly as if she were trying to tip some one the wink—in the old Irish heart comedy fashion—and didn't know how to do it.

Boadicea in a slit skirt—Goneril in a sassy hat! It completely and absolutely spoiled her, and took away even her least pretension to any sort of good looks.

Now I know that if any one tried to get my friend, Boadicea, to wear her hair in a braid down her back and go out on the front steps and jump the rope, she would think they were crazy—or that they believed her to be.

Why does she allow herself to be persuaded into a hat that is too giddy for a girl of 16, and too impudent for anybody on earth outside the leader of a chorus?

What does my dear friend Boadicea want to look like, anyway? One of those persons whom we never mention—when we can help it?

All the time that Boadicea was laying the corner-stone and bowing and smiling and being introduced, I kept wishing the band would play and play at the top of its voice, "Where did you get that hat?"

I wonder if Boadicea would have answered the question? If she got it in Paris, I know one thing: The little milliner who sold it to her could hardly wait till she got to the cafe with Jacques or Henri, that very evening, to imitate Boadicea and the way she looked in that outrageous hat.

What the Milliner Said.

"But are they all mad—the American women?" I hear her say. "How is it that they wish to dress always like little girls—the nice, pretty, pleasant mammas—or like the lady who takes her ten thousand dollar poodle for an airing in the Bois with diamond earrings in his ears?"

No, I didn't hear the little milliner say it—not this particular little milliner this particular time. But I'm willing to wager that she said it just the same.

That's what they are always saying about the American women—the little French milliners. I wonder if what they say isn't just the least little bit in the world true? And I wonder what makes it true?

Why do we do it, we Americans, who are so sensible, so clever in so many ways? Why do we allow our milliners and our dressmakers to make such absolute figures of fun of us? You wouldn't catch a Frenchwoman of the real aristocracy in a hat like that—at a funeral or a wedding, or anywhere on earth. She'd die rather than to wear something which made her look so absolutely what she is not.

I know my friend Boadicea for what she is, a magnificent woman, broad-minded, great-hearted, big-brained—beautiful. I'd like to take the little milliner who's making fun of her this very moment and throw her into the Seine. Oh, yes, I'd call a little, natty French policeman in time to get her out before she drowned. But she should have a good wetting first.

Go home, Boadicea, and look in the glass. Do you really want to look like that—even if it is the fashion? Why? Don't you want to look like what you are and what we all love you for being? And not like what it makes us shudder to even think of—a poor, tired, worn-out woman of that world we never mention?

Think it over, Boadicea—do! And then, get a new hat, or take down an old one and trim it over again. And look like your wholesome self—in spite of all the French milliners in the world.

Useful Hints for the Housewife

By Ann Marie Lloyd

THE most delicious and perfectly arranged menu may easily be made unsatisfactory by being improperly served on a carelessly laid table. In the same manner, thin bread and butter, a dish of berries and a glass of iced tea will seem a feast if it is daintily served. Many good cooks seem to have no idea of system in the arrangement of the table or the service of the meal which is so excellently prepared.

There are certain set rules relative to laying a table which should always be observed. The table itself should be covered with felt or asbestos to protect it from hot dishes, and the cloth should be laid evenly with the creases meeting at the exact centre. There should be a centrepiece of linen laid on the cloth, which, if embroidered, is daintier all in white than in colors. On this place a low bowl of flowers or a growing plant.

Have the silver bright, and arrange the knives, soup spoon and oyster fork at the right of the plate, and the forks and smaller spoons at the left. If a butter spreader is used, place it on the bread and butter plate just above the forks, and set the water glass in the same relative position to the knives. There should always be a service plate before each person. The napkin is laid at the left of the plate, or on the service plate.

If tea or coffee is to be served on the table, the service for it should be put in front of the hostess, while the carving knife and fork should be placed at the right of the host, if he is to carve.

At least 20 inches of space should be allowed for each person, and 30 inches gives more comfort.

If, at the informal dinner, soup is served, the hostess serves it, and the waitress passes it, removing the service plate, at the right of the person as she sets down the soup plate.

The host serves the roast. The vegetables are passed by the waitress, each guest serving himself, the dish being passed to the left.

Either the host or hostess may make the salad on the table. A well trained maid will always hold all dishes by means of a large folded napkin. The use of the tray is not intended for the single large dish. After each course, every dish will be removed, one at a time, the platters last. After the salad, the table should be crumbed by brushing the crumbs from the cloth with a folded napkin to a plate. After the last course, set a finger bowl, one-third filled with water, in front of each guest, having it placed on a plate.

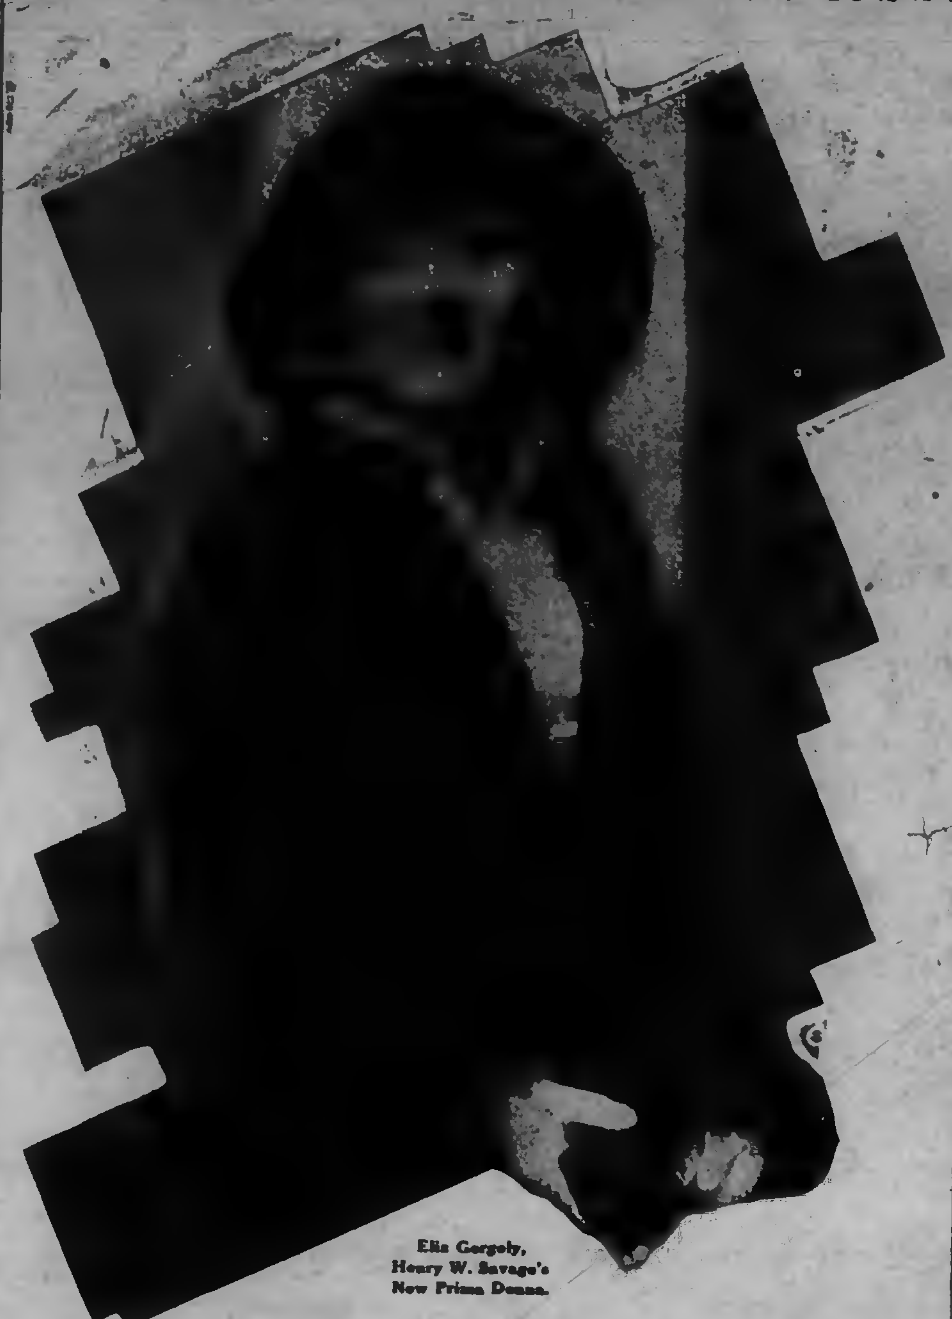
It is a matter of choice whether the coffee shall be served in the dining room or the drawing room. In the former instance it will be served before the finger bowls.

She Could Not Lose Him.

He—Will you miss me when I am gone?

She—Oh, I don't know. I never miss you when you are here.

HOW SAVING MADE A PRIMA DONNA



Eliz Gergely, Henry W. Savage's New Prima Donna.

Eliz Gergely Tells How She Won Success

By ELEANOR AMES

EVERY girl who earns enough money to live, earns enough to save.

Saving money is more than a financial habit, it is a psychological problem. It is an attitude of mind. It is a beautifully practical example of will power. And it leads to that state of comparative independence which is the rightful ambition of all persons to achieve.

At least, this is the opinion of Miss Eliz Gergely, who is a prima donna today, with all the emoluments that the top of the scale brings to singers. Simply because she learned how to live when she was merely one of the chorus, and schooled herself to go without luxuries. Miss Gergely did not find it a hardship to save money to study and advance in her art.

Of course, it would have been far easier to have forgotten all about tomorrow and the possibilities of making it infinitely better than today, but Miss Gergely has long vision. She decided to look ahead far enough to make the picture of the future so alluring that she would not mind the pinching and scrimping she underwent to make it reality.

"Saving 5 cents a day is better than spending one's last nickel," said Miss Gergely in her tiny apartment, where she prefers to live because she can get more for the money and live more like folks. "No matter how small the saving at the beginning, it will form the habit, and the habit of saving is one that once formed seldom leaves.

"Nearly every girl has some foolish extravagance which she could turn into an economy with lasting advantage to herself. I began saving by taking inventory of my extravagances; by finding out where the little leaks were which made my income scarcely cover the outgo. I found that I was getting lazy and taking advantage of the street cars every time I had more than a half-dozen blocks to go. It was neither good for my health, my figure or my pocketbook. I began to walk. In the first week I saved [illegible] cents in carfares alone.

"That sum saved for a year would give nearly $20 in the bank. Think of it! Oh, the times beyond count when 20 unmortgaged dollars would have made me feel like a millionaire! Besides how much better I felt for the exercise of walking.

"Another foolish habit of mine was dropping into candy shops, sometimes two or three times daily, for a soda or an ice, or candy to munch between meals. All bad for my voice, ruinous to my complexion. No sweets. More than a dollar amputated from the outgo and grafted on the bankroll.

"The very first thing to do when you have saved your first dollar is to start a bank account. Once get a really, truly bankbook in your possession, and see your name in black and white, and realize that YOU are a person of financial importance, and you have the saving habit well rooted.

"One of the easiest rules to remember, when you start saving, is to get stingy with yourself. Eat as well as is necessary and dress as becomingly as your business and social position demands. But don't think you must patronize the same restaurants that the wives and daughters of millionaires do, or that you must have every dress novelty that catches your eye, even if you happen to have the price in your purse.

"Once get your system inoculated with the saving germ and economies will suggest themselves. And, just a little surplus money will give you a tremendous belief in yourself, which will make it possible for you to go ahead and work harder for success.

"It is not considered smart in any sense of the word to be wasteful.

"The spendthrift is no longer admired. Thrift is the order of the day.

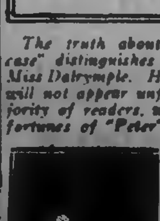
"I would say that any girl who is not making money enough so she can live decently and have a chance to save a little has the right to complain that she is underpaid. The living wage, of which so much is said, should be amended to mean 'living for today and saving a penny for the rainy day that is sure to come.' Money is too good a friend to be thrown away. Start a bank account today."

Peter's Adventures in Matrimony

By LEONA DALRYMPLE

Author of the new novel, "Diane of the Green Van," awarded a prize of $10,000 by Ida M. Tarbell and S. S. McClure as judges.

The truth about "the girl in the case" distinguishes this new series by Miss Dalrymple. Her character studies will not appear unfamiliar to the majority of readers, who will follow the fortunes of "Peter" with interest.



LEONA DALRYMPLE

I HAVE tried an experiment that I shall not repeat. After my cynical dissertation on dust hunters and housekeepers in general, I brought a business friend home to dinner unexpectedly. Not that I wanted to see if my wife had any philosophy or a sense of humor—I know she hasn't—but simply because I have always envied the man who might say casually: "Come on home to dinner with me, old man. You're always welcome. My wife is a brick about that sort of thing."

"Oh, yes, cynical Benedict, such things do happen. I know a young fellow whose wife is truly an absolute brick. He took me home with him one night to prove a lot of things that we'd argued a great deal about.

"Now," said he, "I won't tell my wife you're coming. I'll promise that. We'll just go."

So I 'phoned Mary and went home with Smith.

He has a tiny house and no maid. The first thing I was conscious of as we walked into the front hall by means of Smith's latch key was the sound of a woman singing, surely the sweetest and most domestic of sounds in the world when it comes from a kitchen. Likewise there was the sound of a great and business-like clattering in the immediate neighborhood of the voice.

"Hello, Madge," sung out Smith cheerfully, "what's the racket?"

"Salad dressing," called back Madge. "Who's with you?"

Smith grinned. We neither of us had supposed she heard the extra footfall. In an instant she was in the hall, her trim white apron looking mighty pretty in the semi-dusk of the hall. I was duly presented.

"I'm glad to see you," she said, quite as cordially as if I'd been invited. "Now Billy and I never make company of any one. We don't know how. Please do hang up your hat anywhere and come out in the kitchen, because Billy has to beat the cream. He always does."

And he did. I shan't forget the pleasant informality of that occasion, or the utter matter-of-fact way in which that girl accepted my presence. The dinner was very simple. Moreover, we ran out of butter, but there was not the least constraint. Billy seized a plate, hiked forth to a friendly neighbor's, and came back smiling. My pretty hostess laughed, patted him on the hand, and called him a good boy. Without a shadow of constraint the dinner proceeded.

"Forgot to order butter, didn't you?" asked Billy with a superior air that said plainly as words "Aha! got something on you this time, little lady, didn't I?" but Mrs. Billy merely arched her eyebrows.

"Seems to me, Billy," she reminded, "that you had a mad desire to make butter scotch last night, didn't you? And you've a pretty heavy hand with the butter. Remember?"

Billy remembered and pleaded guilty. I was fascinated by the wonderfully pleasant informality of it all. Why act so horribly constrained and embarrassed when things go wrong? Why not laugh and own up and put your guest at ease? To be sure it will depend a great deal upon the guest and the way it is done, but most guests, I feel pretty sure, would be mighty grateful to be accepted with absolute informality and made one of the family.

If a woman keeps her house reasonably clean and orderly, if her dinners are eatable, why fly off at a nervous tangent when an unexpected guest arrives to dinner? I have seen homes completely disorganized by the arrival of one solitary stranger to dinner, houses with trained servants in them, too. And surely, if the mistress of the house develops a fit of nerves the servants are going to feel the strain, and the result is a household whose constraint is communicated to the guest just as surely as the nervousness of a driver is communicated to a restive horse.

So after my delightful experience with Mr. and Mrs. Billy I thought to get Mary into a similar habit of mind, and I took a man home to dinner. I wish I hadn't.

Secrets of Health and Happiness

Why Laughter Is a Tonic; How Smiles Bring Vigor.

By Dr. LEONARD KEENE HIRSHBERG

A. B., M. A., M. D. (Johns Hopkins).

DR. HIRSHBERG

THE friends who in our sunshine live, when winter comes, are flown, and he who has but tears to give must weep those tears alone.

Henri Bergson, the great French-Jewish philosopher, is not the last to become immortal by virtue of his studies on laughter. Even an American poetess became famous for her couplet:

Laugh, and the world laughs with you,
Weep and you weep alone.

Laughter is truly the super-triumphant exercise. A dog may wag his tail in lieu of the capacity to laugh with his proscenium arches, but the effect physiologically is the same, to wit, muscular movements.

Cyclops, Atlas, Hercules, Pantagruel, Samson, Gargantua, Antoeus, Goliath and the other towers of human strength were certainly great laughers. The very mobility and agility of their muscles make it clear that they were hilarious fellows.

Laughter is associated with growth and avoirdupois. It is synonymous with vitality, vigor and strength. Each tiny snigger, titter, giggle, cackle, chuckle, smile, grin, chirp, bark, exultation and rollick has a health value.

Their physiological victories are no less renowned than roars, side-splitting guffaws, paeans of jubilation and the wildest revels of slap stick comedy. To tone up a few little muscles of the mouth and lips, to exercise the skill of the eyelids, eyebrows, cheeks and chin is as important as to move the stomach walls in waves.

To thus rejoice aloud is much the same as to give food to the muscles and music to the ear. Indeed, laughter is a form of music, an Orpheus's lute strung with fleshy sinews. Its golden touch moves steel and stones, makes tigers tame and huge Leviathans forsake unsounded deeps to dance on sands.

Relentless Rudolf, Raffles and the other familiar villains of the comic sheet, of song and story, are known to their observers by a harsh, cruel laugh. This type of laughter is an index both to the thoughts of such conscienceless fellows as to their material supremacy.

Beauty, too, is the growth as well as the inspiration of laughter. The smile that is childlike and bland is one of the sweetest decorations of a youngster's features. As age creeps upon you, laughter is apt to grow less. Thus enters Mr. Wrinkle and Mr. Crowfoot.

Laughter, then, is a great outlet for muscular activity. Since the mind is kept fresh by what it learns through the muscles, each smile and laugh extends the breadth and wisdom within.

In this way cheerfulness becomes a tonic to the mental makeup. Like a candle which shines in the dark, or a good deed in a naughty world, so laughter becomes contagious and spreads its radiance all around.

Three Minute Journeys

WHERE BEASTS ARE HUNTED FROM TREES

By Temple Manning

FROM my earliest story book days I had thought the tiger the most dangerous of all the cat family to hunt. But a little experience that I had in India advanced the leopard, or panther, far above the tiger in my estimation.

During a hunting trip in the tiger country we had killed two tigers with comparative ease from the protective shelter of the trees, and had come to the time when we wished to add a leopard to our bag. Our old "shikaree" could not arouse our enthusiasm with tales of tigers seen near the village, but when he said leopard we sprang to our feet and followed him.

Out at the edge of tall grass he led us to a new "macham." Now a "macham" is a platform laid across the branches of a tree, resting on which the hunter lies in wait for his quarry. We climbed up and settled ourselves to wait. After tying out the young goat whose bleatings were to attract the leopard to a hoped-for meal, the "shikaree" joined us.

The jungle was absolutely still. Our alien ears, that could not interpret, seemed not to hear the myriad noises of the teeming world around us. But the "shikaree" heard. He amused us for a long time telling us the meaning of all the sounds that he tried to make us hear. But, when he understood that we did not and could not hear what he heard, he lapsed into a contemptuous silence.

It seemed an age of time that we lay there without speaking. Then the old man touched my elbow and pointed. A slight bending down of the grasses to the left gave warning of the approach of some large beast. The tethered kid set up a frightened bleating, and strained wildly against its rope to get away. With thumping heart I peered out through the leaves at the swaying grasses and glimpsed a leopard.

It was only a glimpse, and I showed bad judgment in taking that shot. I should not have done it. The range was too long, and I only wounded the leopard. Straight up into the air he sprang, disappearing into the tall grass, only to reappear again in a tremendous spring. Right for the "macham" he came, clearing the five-foot grass in a series of bounds, incredibly swift in speed.

In an instant he was at the edge of the grass, and I was ready. With one final leap, that I shall always believe was directed straight at the human occupants of the "macham," the leopard clawed the edge of the platform. I could not miss.

A man can only judge from his own experiences. I do not know what others may think, but I believe the tiger is less dangerous than the leopard. To me the lithe, clean-limbed leopard is the better sport.

Advice to Girls

By ANNIE LAURIE

Dear Annie Laurie:

I have known a young man for about a month. He has visited me frequently, and is always trying to kiss me.

Should I allow this? If not, how can I prevent it, as I do love him, and would not want him to stop coming to see me. DIMPLES.

DIMPLES, you're a goose—a silly, little, fluttering goose, and that's all you are.

Of course you should not allow this. Not for one single minute. If you do allow it you will never win the real love of this man. The one way to keep him is to make him wish for something that you will not give him.

Do you suppose you're the only one he visits? Get that idea out of your head. You're just one in a dozen. He's having fun with you, that's all. Lots of fun. And, when he gets tired of the fun, he'll leave you and go and have fun with some one else, and then you will cry very bitterly and wish you had never seen him.

You do not love him, really. How can you in a month? You probably think you do, but thinking a thing doesn't make it true. Make your young man behave himself when he comes to see you or else do not let him come at all.

Annie Laurie

Miss Laurie will welcome letters of inquiry on subjects of feminine interest from young women readers of this paper and will reply to them in these columns. They should be addressed to her, care this office.

Six pairs (one year old) proven breeders, and fourteen pairs (1914 pups), making a total of 20 pairs — all young foxes— good for at least 10 years. This Company has bought some of this year's options on foxes with a guarantee that they are pedigreed and of the highest strain and very best quality P. E. Island famous foxes.

THE RANCH

The ranch is situated on the well known Glenaladale Farm, owned by Major C. McKinnon, formerly the homestead of Sir William McDonald, and is only 12 miles from Charlottetown, in a quiet locality sufficiently removed from any disturbance.

THE RANCHER

Mr. Arthur W. McKinnon, our Ranch Manager, has had much experience in breeding foxes, and has the practical knowledge necessary to efficiently manage and care for the animals.

The foxes will be ranched free of charge to the Company for the first year. This means a large saving to the shareholders, as some companies have to pay as high as 25 per cent. of the increase for ranching purposes.

The promoters of this Company are retaining $80,000 worth of stock for themselves. $20,000 worth has already been disposed of, leavinb $200,000 to be offered to investors at $25.00 per share, with a guarantee that a dividend of 50 per cent. will be paid in cash in 1915, or whatever more it may be.

The Glenaladale Silver Black Fox Co., Limited, in 1913 guaranteed a dividend of 50 per cent. but are going to pay 50 per cent. in cash and 50 per cent., in stock in 1914. The Company is in good standing and to each and every investor the first of September, 1914, we can say:— "We have given you 50 per cent. more than we promised." And we feel sure that in 1915 all the shareholders in this re-capitalized company will be able to say they received more than they were promised.

This Company can truthfully say that they have not one cent of watered stock in the Company. Now Mr. Investor, if you were a Company and we the shareholders, we would look to you for justice to give us all that was honestly due us. We would not like for you to buy 3 pairs of foxes at $15,000 per pair ($45,000) and form a fox company and capitalize your concern at $90,000 and make us pay, as shareholders, for it. The Glenaladale Silver Black Fox Company, Limited, will ask you to do nothing like that. We want to let you in on the ground floor.

NOTICE

When a fox company guarantees any specified dividend to its shareholders, and when said company is an incorporated body, you need not be afraid of any unfair play or such company is compelled to pay what they promise, and, besides, every interest is taken for the welfare of both the investor and the company.

The promoters of this Company are all above board and will not permit any crook to come in and do anything that is not right. Anyone holding stock in this Company who is dissatisfied can, by notifying the Secretary-Treasurer, have his or her money promptly refunded.

FORTUNES IN FOXES

There is money in fox ranching more than anything else ever known. It is good for the rich man and good for the poor man. A poor man cannot buy a pair of Silver Black Foxes but he can easily raise $25.00, $50.00 or $100.00. By investing in this Company he gets back his money in at least two years and then he will have an income for life and for his children to come—and after there will be money in fox farming. One of the reasons for this is that P. E. Island has now 95 per cent. of the world's foxes in captivity. For every one pelt that can be raised there are more than 25 wealthy people waiting for it in London, Russia, France and America.

PELT VALUES

The Fox Pelts have advanced greatly in price since 1910 and you can see for yourself what money was in them then.

Below are the particulars of sale of a consignment of Silver Fox Furs, shipped from Prince Edward Island ranches to London, England, and sold there in March, 1910:

A POINTER

Just to give you a little idea of what the free ranching of foxes mea to the investor, we will figure it out for you.

We have twenty pairs of foxes i the ranch and suppose each pair pro duces a litter of only four fo this is equal to 40 pairs and a $15,000 per year it would figure ou at $600,000. Now, if we had to pa even 15 per cent. of the increase fo ranching purposes (which is conside ably lower than some companies pay it would mean that we would hav to pay $90,000 for ranching expense

We ranch the foxes free for the fir year, so that in addition to a gua anteed dividend of 50 per cent., w save you this large outlay of mon While we guarantee 50 per cent., st should each pair in our ranch pro four pups it would mean that yo dividend would be about 200 p cent. instead of 50 per cent.

FINAL WORD

A great deal has been written abo Ranches, Grades of Foxes, etc., b after all the one object that every i vestor should keep before him is t dividend he is going to get. We hav tried to show you in plain Engli what we can do for you and now th you have our proposition, compa it with the offer made by any oth company now in business— and th judge for yourself to have been pa by some of the Charlottetown dai newspapers.

POPULAR ASTRONOMY

Some Interesting Information About Eclipses of the Sun

Although the moon looks about the same size as the sun, it is very much smaller and nearer. The sun is 865,000 miles in diameter and 93,000,000 miles away, while the moon is 2,163 miles in diameter and 239,000 miles away. On account of the moon's small size compared with the sun the shadow cast by the moon in the case of an eclipse of the sun, is in the shape of a cone, and the point of this cone just barely reaches the earth in most cases. Usually the diameter of the cone at the earth's surface is only about 85 miles, so that a total eclipse is visible as such only in a belt about 85 miles wide.

Wherever a solar eclipse is seen as total, the sky becomes nearly as dark as full moonlight, and a few of the brighter stars and planets are seen. In the most favorable case a total eclipse may last over 7 minutes at a station, but such occasions are very rare.

As the glare of the sun in the sky is removed, and yet the moon hardly more than covers the sun, it is possible at times of total solar eclipses to see all the celestial objects near the sun. These cannot be seen at other times because they are lost in the bright sky light. It is this which makes astronomers so eager to observe total eclipses. The most striking thing seen is the solar corona, a beautiful pearly light stretching away from the sun in all directions, something like the Aurora Borealis seen in northern countries.

The corona extends from one to three solar diameters away from the sun. Its form changes from year to year in connection with the number of sun spots which prevail.

Formerly it was believed probable that one or more planets of the solar system existed nearer the sun than Mercury, and it was hoped to discover these during total solar eclipses. But the sky has been so carefully searched that no such objects large enough to be worth counting exist.

Formerly also it was regarded as necessary to wait for eclipses and to see and study the beautiful rosy flames of hydrogen and other gases, called prominences, which surround the sun. But these may now be observed at any time by means of a special apparatus.

NON-DRINKING SHEEP

Apparently Thrive Without Water Except Dew and Plant Juice

Sheep on the Nebo national forest range, Utah, go four and a half months without water except for such moisture as they get from the dew and the juices of forage plants.

Grazing sheep on a range entirely destitute of water is a recent innovation due to the increasing demand for forage and the efforts of the forestry officers to find a place on the forest ranges for all the stock that can safely be admitted. The area on the Nebo which has proved usable by sheep is high and rocky, a portion of it being above timber line, and it has neither springs nor streams of sufficient size or accessibility to be used for stock watering purposes. The grazing season lasts from June 15 to October 31 and during this period of four and a half months the animals do not get a drink.

Under such conditions, however, the sheep do extremely well, and the lambs from this range have an average weight at the close of the season of 68 pounds on the Chicago market, which is rather above the normal weight from that vicinity.

In one area on the Targhee forest in Idaho sheep get water only twice during the four-months' summer grazing season. There is no water on the range, but the sheep are driven to a nearby stream lower down the mountain side.

How People Feel
When They Have
Tape Worm

Tape worm is bred from a parasite. This parasite is a creature male and female in one. It is a pear shape, having two, four and six suckers. It lays the eggs, which are only connected together with slime. They develop and form a body, which is the worm. Each joint is an individual, having a sucker or mouth. The worm grows to be much longer than the bowels where it is located, and sometimes a whole colony of them are found, enough to fill a quart of solid worm, and when put in a bucket of water would apparently fill it. It is the hardest task in the world to destroy this parasite without doing injury to the individual who may be so unfortunate as to have it, as the parasite clings to the bowels, freeing itself from the body of the worm, and remains there to breed another. It is an internal demon and causes its victims to suffer all the symptoms of disease imaginable. The cleverest physicians are led to believe the patient is suffering from some other disease, as nearly every person has different symptoms. Some have been treated for cancer of the bowels, consumption of the bowels, consumption of the lungs, chronic dyspepsia, nervous prostration, melancholia, hypochondria, hysteria, inflammation of the bowels, appendicitis and other complaints, when one or more of these internal demons were eating their lives away.

Prof. Mulvaney has made the discovery to free the victim of this monster without injury to the system, destroying the parasite as well as expelling the worm with one dose of medicine without any previous starvation. Visit his office, where he has in his possession the most wonderful collection of these death-dealing monsters in the world, which have been expelled from hundreds of people by his famous remedy, some bottles containing colonies of worms and anyone seeing them cannot imagine how a person could possibly live with them in his bowels. It is surprising the number of people that have them. Thousands have them and are not aware of the fact. The letters and testimonials the Professor has in his possession are enough to convince one of this alarming fact. Some of the most prominent symptoms are: ravenous appetite, dizzy spells, headaches, cramps in the bowels, a feeling of something moving in the bowels, also a feeling as though something was crawling up the throat. The only certainty of having one in the system is when segments or joints are seen, which come away almost any time. They are flat and from [illegible] of an inch to 1 inch long, which have often been mistaken for pin worms by those who do not know the difference. There are many other feelings of distress which would take long to enumerate. Strange to say, some people of strong constitution, have very little distress.

Prof. Mulvaney's world-famous Tape Worm Exterminator is safe, sure and harmless. No starvation, no danger, is not disagreeable to take. One dose nearly always affects a cure. WHY NOT SPORTS?

It seems to us that one of the best means to encourage general interest in the country as a place to live in is for communities to aid in organizing amateur sport and give the young people a reasonable amount of time in which to make themselves proficient in the particular sport in which they desire to engage. If the farm work has to be stopped one or two nights a week a half an hour or an hour earlier in order that the chores may be done in time to get to the ball field, it will in the end mean a very small loss; in fact, it generally proves a gain, as interested boys are much better workers than those who look upon their daily operations as drudgery with no play thrown in. The old adage, 'All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy,' will never wear threadbare. It is just as true to-day as it ever was, and we believe that parents and the older folks generally should take an interest in the sports of the young people. There is a great means of developing not only good physique but first class mental training in meeting opponents on a common ground fairly and squarely, and doing the utmost that lies within one's power to win on a fair basis a game of football, baseball or lacrosse. Many a man owes the measure of self-control which he has in his older life to experiences on the diamond or gridiron. There is plenty of land in the country to provide athletic fields, and there should be sufficient interest taken to insure a number well supplied with the best possible pastimes which amateur sport offers, and where the people know the players, take an interest in the teams, and everything is done on a square and fair basis for the pure "fun of the thing."—Farmer's Advocate.

A Royal Race

Among the fine old kings that reign
Upon a simple wooden throne,
There's one with but a small domain,
Yet, mark you, it is all his own.

And though upon his rustic towers
No ancient standard waves its wings,
Thick, leafy banners flushed with flowers
From all the fragrant casements swing.

And here, in royal homespun, bow
His nut-brown Court at night and morn—
The bronzed Field Marshal of the Plough,
The Chancellor of the Wheat and Corn.

The Keeper of the Golden [illegible],
The Mistress of the Milking Pail,
The bold Knights of the Ringing Axe,
The Heralds of the Sounding Flail.

The Ladies of the New-mown Hay,

That all the Sons of Freedom know.

And thus, while on the seasons roll,
He wins from the inspiring sod,
The brawny arm and noble soul
That serve his country and his God.

Technical and Industrial Education Performs Wonders in Europe

Dr. J. W. Robertson, who investigated technical schools and industrial training for the Dominion Government as chairman of the commission which looked into these matters abroad states that the claim that Canada has yet the best schools in the world "is tommyrot of the rottenest kind." Dr. Robertson leaves no doubt as to his opinion on the subject—by quoting scores of cases wherein the Dominion is hopelessly behind many of the European countries.

In Canada, on virgin soil, the western grain grower is proud of a maximum of 20 bushels per acre, but in Britain, Dr. Robertson points out, farmers raise 36 bushels on soil under cultivation for over 30 years. This is due to industrial training and the system of technical education in vogue in the Old Country. And as confirmatory of this a published report on conditions in Russia may be employed. This report will prove a surprise to Canadians who have been so accustomed to look upon the Czar's country as a backward and unenlightened state. In the ten years from 1898 to 1908 Russia's population increased from 130 millions to 171 millions, a higher birth rate being shown than in any other country in Europe. Not only has Russia's population thus grown, but her productivity has increased in proportion. From 1902 to 1912 her exports of wheat rose from 70 millions to 139 millions—an increase of 98 per cent! This agricultural advance, says the report, has been aided by the state, "which has instituted technical schools in many places through the country, and these already have some 10,000 pupils; agricultural banks have also been established to care for the needs of the farmers, and of these latter there are now 17,000."

RUSH TO GET MARRIED

Canadian Rancher Found Many Girls Willing to Share His Lot

The chairman of the Eastbourne Board of Guardians announced that in response to a letter published in the press from a Canadian chicken rancher with an income of $2,500 a year who wanted a wife, no fewer than 21 replies had been received from girls willing to go to the Dominion. These replies would be forwarded to the rancher for his consideration. Some of the letters, added the chairman, contained charming photographs, while one girl enclosed some verses of poetry. It was suggested that the rancher should make his selection and hand over the remaining letters to lonely Canadian comrades.

NEW ENGLISH CHAMPION

Charlie Mitchell Says He Can be Found

Charlie Mitchell, the veteran English heavyweight who has not lost interest in the game, says:

"The man who says the fighting instinct is dead in Great Britain is a fool. I wish all the problems of life were as easy to explain. The British so-called champions have of late years been boosted into prominence, they have not fought their way to the front. As soon as they did one or two decent things in public they were hailed as world whippers when, as a matter of fact, they were a little better than novices, and had no right in the limelight at all.

"As soon as they jumped into a man of any class they were dropped out and made us, as a nation, something of a laughing stock for the world.

"It needed only a French middleweight to come over and knock out our best heavyweight to make us fully realise where we stood in the game of fighting. How would we feel if a German repeated the French boy's victory?"

CITY AND DISTRICT

DASHES HERE AND THERE BY TIMES REPORTERS. NOTICE

Lindsay Thief Escapes.

A few days ago it was announced that James Wilson, the boy bandit, who with his pal Smith (a former Lindsay boy), burglarised Britton's jewelry store, Morgan's drug store, and other places in Lindsay last spring, made his getaway from the prison farm at Whitby on July 2nd.

A Burleigh Fire.

Pat Kearney, a farmer residing in the north of Burleigh, had a narrow escape from suffocation early Friday morning when his handsome new home was totally destroyed by fire. The damage will exceed $1000. The house was erected this year. Mr. Kearney had the misfortune to lose his barn last year.

Detectives in the City.

Good progress has already been made in the case of the C.P.R. Lindsay robbers. The detectives have a fairly good description of them now and their capture may be expected in the course of a few days. Residents of Bethany state they saw two men who correspond with the description given them by the detectives. The detectives came to Peterborough on Friday.

Small Boys Arrested.

Shortly before Saturday's police court opened a number of small boys about the size of army worms got into a scrap on the Market Square. Twelve feet of policemen rushed to the scene and arrested two of the boys who were brought to the station. The prisoners were soon let go, one at a time to prevent further friction.

A Driverless Runaway.

Early Saturday evening Grady's bakery waggon, drawn by a white horse passed South on Park street from north Weller street, at a fair rate of speed. Unfortunately their was neither helmsman at the wheel or driver at the reins. A young man employed at Routley's grocery at the corner of Park and Brock streets spied the outfit. Jumping on his wheel he caught the runaway outfit at Simcoe street. No damage done.

Potatoes Bad at the Point.

Mr. McGregor of Young's Point was in the city on Saturday. In conversation with The Times Mr. McGregor noted that the army worm has not reached the Point, but that the potato bugs are very bad. He said that this spring after planting his seed potatoes, before growth began, he put slices of potatoes covered with Paris green on the hills. This resulted in thousands of dead bugs being found before they started to lay.

More Army Worms in Smith.

Ex-Warden Scott, of Smith, was in the city on Saturday. In conversation with The Times he noted that the army worm had attacked barley on his farm near the Gilmour Memorial church. Fortunately the worm has not done much damage in his locality at present. Mr. Scott brought in some of the worms to Mr. Cowan of Farm and Dairy. When asked "Do you plough a trench in front of the devastating army to stop their progress?" Mr. Scott replied. "Dig a trench? Why after the recent drought, a steam plough could not dig a trench two inches deep!"

Doig Gets 30 Days.

At Saturday's police court, John Doig was charged with stealing $10 worth of iron bolts from the Peterborough Hydraulic Co. He elected for summary trial. Mr. W. H. Denham, first witness, said in June, 1913, his company took down an iron bridge on London street. They sold a ton of iron bolts for $6. He sold a similar quantity to Mr. Lowe on the east side of the river. Lowe could not find them. Witness went to Lowe's yard and found the bolts. Lowe said he bought them from Doig Next witness said Doig had sold him several loads of the bolts. Doig told witness he got the bolts at London street bridge. Doig was given thirty days in jail.

HOURS OF SLEEP

Scientist Says Ten Hours at Least Absolutely Necessary

Prof. C. L. Schleich, who discovered the "local anaesthetic," now used universally, is one of the most eminent of medical authorities. He has come out boldly with the assertion that the old adage "eight hours for work, eight hours for pleasure and eight hours for sleep," is unquestionably false. The civilized man or woman of to-day, Professor Schleich declares, has to sleep ten hours out of 24 if he or she would check the wear and tear of our modern neurasthenic existence. Those who cannot sleep even eight hours must learn it by "iron force." "Go to bed at 9," says the professor; "if you lie awake four hours, in time you will drop asleep in three, and before long within half an hour after retiring . . . force yourself to sleep and you will master life." That, with "gymnastics of the blood vessels," exercise, "with tyrannical regularity, you can bid defiance to time."

Venezuela—Greatest of Cattle Lands

Venezuela's vast plains and river valleys offer unlimited ranges and excellent pasturage. About 1548 Christobal Rodrigues sent the first horned cattle into the llanos, where they have increased to probably two million head. Lack of proper Government support and initiative prevents ten times as many cattle occupying the vast llanos. If one observe the piles of hides, dried or dry-salted, crowning the river bank of San Fernando, and scanning the vast plains of this region, watch the great herds swim the wide reach of its river, he will understand why the State of Apure is the greatest breeding-ground for cattle and the reason for San Fernando being its capital. Many of the great herds have gone to provide, literally, sinews of war—gobbled up by revolutionary bands; in peace cattle owners suffer from marauders and an "extract of beef" government policy. Almost every important industry is under a military government monopoly. "Here," said one Venezuelan, "the Government is a store"; and beef is not least among its profitable wares. In San Fernando, beef is sold on the hoof at slightly over three and a half cents a pound to the Government, at eight cents [illegible]

WIRELESS AND FIRE

No Danger to Vessels From Sparking in Rigging

The published reports of sparking in the rigging of ships carrying wireless and the calling of the attention of the shipping world to the possible danger to vessels carrying inflammable cargoes, caused the British Board of Trade to make an inquiry, but according to the Marconi Company there is not the slightest fire-danger from wireless when properly installed and operated. The company conducted searching experiments and made a full investigation.

"Since 1908 we have fitted about forty tank steamers with our apparatus," said a high official of the Company, "and nothing in our whole experience indicates that the fire-risk is increased thereby. Any possible risk from the use of wireless installation on shipboard must arise from the existence of electric sparks in proximity to inflammable gas or material For instance, one firm of shipowners made the following experiment to ascertain what danger, if any, might arise from the existence of sparks in the rigging as well as in the instrument room.

"A saucerful of naptha was placed as close as possible to a heavy spark A piece of waste, saturated with naphtha was also placed close to the spark electrodes, but in neither experiment was the vapor ignited by the spark. The same naptha test was also applied to the small sparks at minor parts of the apparatus and nothing happened.

WISDOM FROM WISE MEN

Every human feeling is greater and larger than its exciting cause—a proof, I think, that man is designed for a higher state of existence.—Coleridge.

Good nature is generally born with us; health, prosperity and kind treatment from the world are great cherishers of it where they find it, but nothing is capable of forcing it up where it does not grow of itself. It is one of the blessings of a happy constitution which education may improve, but not produce.—Steele.

To be deceived by our enemies or betrayed by our friends is insupportable, yet by ourselves we are often content to be so treated.—Rochefoucald.

It is at the approach of extreme danger, when a hollow puppet can accomplish nothing, that power falls into the mighty hands of nature, of the spirit giant-born, who listens only to himself and knows nothing of compacts.—Schiller.

The true test of a great man—that at least, which must secure his place among the highest order of great men—is, his having been in advance of his age.—Brougham.

What sort of philosophy is that which makes no effort to discover truth, if the attempt infers a departure from old ways and generally conceded facts? It is the philosophy, not of Galileo, or of the monks who would have burned him.

Surely they who devour the possessions of orphans unjustly shall swallow down nothing but fire into their bellies, and shall broil in raging flames.—Koran.

A smile is the color which love wears, and cheerfulness and joy—these three—H. W. Beecher.

Be assured that if pain could have prevented my application to literary labor not a page of "Ivanhoe" would have been written.—Scott.

The Political Stream

Ah! some of those who have travelled must have seen two kinds of rivers in different countries. There is the river which rushes tumultuously along dashing against rocks, a grand spectacle. You can stand on its banks and enjoy it. But it never fructifies the banks. They are arid—a wilderness, and no ships ever pass along it to carry good things to the people who live there. There is the other river, the great, tranquil, broad stream irrigating the banks, carrying great ships with cargo to the people who live there. Politics up to the present has been too much like the former; tempestuous, rowdy, full of life, dashing along, a great spectacle to watch from the banks, to see the struggle of the torrent dashing against the rocks, and we say, "Is not this fine?" But the banks are arid; there is nothing being carried along. I want to see the political stream carrying its cargo to the people on the banks. I want to see the political stream irrigating the soil, so that there should be a harvest on it a hundredfold for the hungry children of men.—Lloyd George.

Nothing is more noble, nothing more venerable than fidelity.—Cicero.

Force rules the world—not opinion: but opinion makes use of force.—Pascal.

Modern Life-saver

Of European invention is a new life-boat for ocean going vessels that will right itself if capsized and carry 100 persons and which is equipped with a gasoline motor and wireless apparatus.

Fast Time on One Wheel

A speed of nearly 75 miles an hour was attained by a unicycle built by a St. Louis inventor, the machine consisting chiefly of a single wheel almost seven feet in diameter, drawn by an aerial propeller.

VOL. XLI, NO. 172 TUESDAY MORNING, JULY 28, 1914 PRICE TWO CENTS

FIRST BLOODSHED IN IRISH STRUGGLE SHED IN DUBLIN

Soldiers and Police Try to Stop Gun-running and Three Men and One Woman Are Killed in Ensuing Fight

Dublin, July 27.—Three men and one woman are dead and more than sixty persons are in the hospital as the result of a battalion of the King's Own Scottish Borderers firing into a mob in the streets of Dublin yesterday afternoon. Several of the wounded are expected to succumb to their injuries.

The affray was the result of a gun-running exploit of the Nationalists Volunteers, who were being aided by a mob composed largely of women and youths. The wounded in the hospital include three women and a boy of ten.

A consignment of rifles said to number 10,000, was landed on Saturday night at Howth, nine miles from Dublin. The vessel on which the arms were brought to Howth was a private yacht. The Nationalist Volunteers cut the telegraph wires and stopped travel on the Dublin roads, and according to reports, sent away most of the rifles together with seventy thousand rounds of ammunition in motor cars.

Ordered to Seize Arms.

A battalion of the King's Own Scottish Borderers was ordered to capture the arms on Saturday afternoon, when the authorities heard that the volunteers were bringing them into the city.

The soldiers encountered a detachment of the volunteers at Clonnel bridge (and) an outbreak resulted. There was no shooting then, however. A great crowd soon collected and followed the troops, jeering them and cheering for John Redmond, the Nationalist leader, and Home Rule. Finally the mob began throwing bottles and stones, and several of the soldiers were injured.

NATIONALISTS DEMAND TIME FOR DISCUSSION OF RIOT

"Shocking Occurrence" Is Description Given by Mr. John Redmond—Blame Shouldered by Minister on to Police Commissioner

London, July 27.—Information as to the "shocking occurrence in Dublin yesterday," as John E. Redmond the Irish Nationalist leader, put it, was demanded immediately after the opening of the session of the House of Commons to-day. Mr. Redmond was so dissatisfied with the meagre information given him that he moved the adjournment of the House in order to debate the matter.

Augustine Birrell, Chief Secretary for Ireland, threw the blame for yesterday's conflict between the troops and the public on the assistant police commissioner, who, he said, had requisitioned the military entirely on his own responsibility. The official consequently had been suspended while an inquiry was made.

The Nationalist member shouted, "He ought to be hanged."

The matter will be debated in the House to-night.

Mr. Birrell said the major in command of the detachment of the King's Own Scottish Borderers, had denied that he gave orders to fire on the people.

William Redmond: "He ought to be hanged."

Lord Robert Cecil: "The Ministers ought to be hanged."

Mr. Birrell said the soldiers became exasperated after several of them had received severe injuries. The officers stopped the firing immediately, but three people had already been killed and thirty-two injured. He added that there would be a full inquiry immediately.

Joseph Devlin, Nationalist member for West Belfast, called attention to the fact that Ulster Volunteers had been allowed to march through the streets of Belfast carrying their rifles.

Looking for Revenge.

Dublin, Ireland, July 25.—The city of Dublin and the greater part of Catholic Ireland was to-day in a state of the greatest excitement over yesterday's conflict.

Day had dawned to-day before the police had succeeded in dispersing the crowds marching through the streets singing patriotic songs and looking for soldiers of the second battalion of the King's Own Scottish Borderers, on whom to inflict vengeance for the fatal events of yesterday.

BASEBALL

A large crowd of fans were present yesterday at Riverside Park, many of the fair ones also helped to swell the crowd and they were treated to one of the best exhibitions of ball that has been played in this city. It was a real pitcher's battle and up till the ninth innings the score stood 2-2, when Toronto went out and scored the winning run.

STONY MASS KILLS THREE AT CEREMONY

"Rock of Calvary" Moves From Base During Religious Celebration in France

St. Etienne, France, July 25.—Three young girls were killed, three mortally injured and forty hurt, many of them seriously, as the result yesterday of the giving way of a large stoney mass at Valfleury, called "The Rock of Calvary." The members of a Catholic gymnastic society had been massed on the rock during a pilgrimage, and the priest had just given them his benediction, when the rock oscillated and tumbled down the footpath, knocking over many children grouped there.

TRAIN HELD UP

Flagman Was Slain by Two Masked Bandits.

New Orleans, July 27.—Holding up the New York flyer of the Louisville & Nashville Railroad early to-day, masked bandits shot and killed Flagman Tom Elgin and escaped after securing only $20.25. The bandits had boarded the train with the evident intention of robbing the passengers. The bandits boarded the train here, according to Conductor Potter and soon after passing Gentilly pulled the cord. As the train slowed down Potter went to investigate. One of the robbers poked a revolver in his face and took $16.75 from his pockets. A local transfer agent was relieved of $3.75. A porter stumbled into the gang and one of the bandits shot at him and hit Elgin, who was at the other end of the car. The two men fled when they saw Elgin fall.

Posses are searching the vicinity for some trace of the bandits.

RETURNS TO OFFICE OF FORMER DAYS

Sir Joseph Pope Moves to Room Where He Served Under Old Chief

Ottawa, July 27.—Sir Joseph Pope, Under Secretary of State for External Affairs, is moving to a new office. There is considerable sentiment in his change of office, as his new office will be that occupied by his old chief, Sir John A. Macdonald, for years. The office was used by Mr. Frank Pedley, Superintendent of Indian Affairs, for a number of years, and recently has been occupied by Hon. Arthur Meighen. Mr. Meighen is shifting to a new office and Sir Joseph will now occupy the historic quarters around which so many political memories cling.

Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Kurmanson, of Cleveland, accompanied by Mrs. Robert D. Lonergan and Mr. R. R. Morgan also of Cleveland, are guests at the Oriental.

THE WEATHER.

To-day—Local showers, but mostly fair.

FRIEDE, DEFENDING CANOE SAILING TROPHY FOR U.S.

Leo M. Friede, of the Manhattan Canoe Club of New York, who is defending the International Canoe Sailing Trophy against the Challenger, Ralph Britton of Canada, in a series of races that are being held at Gravesend Bay, Long Island. Friede, it will be remembered, successfully defended the trophy last year.

NORTH COUNTRY TO BE CLEANED UP AT ONCE

License Officers Sweep Down on Porcupine on Saturday

South Porcupine, July 27.—Fifty-one culprits, several of them well-to-do and heretofore held in esteem by the community, were gathered in with startling suddenness on Monday. They were charged with various infractions of the liquor license laws, from "blind-pigging" to connivance with the illicit sale or importation of liquor into his prohibited district.

The whole of the defendants were hailed before Magistrate T. H. Torrance. There were thirty-seven convictions; fines aggregating $3,000—in almost every case the limit—were imposed; two of the offenders who had been previously convicted were sent to jail for twelve and three months respectively, and the remaining ten were remanded for a week to enable the Crown to secure further evidence against them.

Coupled with the heavy fines for first offenders, and the jail terms for second offenders was a vigorous intimation from the Magistrate that the cleaning up was to be permanent, that liquor law breakers would henceforth find the atmosphere of Porcupine unhealthy, and that jail terms would accompany every second conviction and the full severity of the law be exercised at all times.

Round-up Thorough.

The round-up came unexpectedly and covered the whole surrounding district. It was most thorough in its character. It was conducted by Inspector George Morrison of the Provincial License Department and License Inspector Blackwell from the neighboring district of Timiskaming, assisted by the Provincial police under the direction of Superintendent J. E. Rogers. Apparently the local men were not taken into confidence, and the coup was a wholesale one.

SENATOR McMILLAN DEAD

Alexandria, Ont. July 27.—Hon. Donald McMillan, Senator of the Dominion of Canada, died here at 8.30 o'clock last night, after a short illness. He was in his eightieth year. Deceased was of Scottish Ancestry was born in the Township of Lochiel Glengarry county, on March 5, 1835. He was graduated as M.D. from Victoria University in 1865. He was called to the Senate by Lord Lansdowne in 1884.

ULSTERMEN PARADE

Belfast, July 27.—A parade of two full regiments of Ulster volunteers, numbering several thousand men, was held here on Saturday night. All the men carried rifles, and their equipment included several machine guns, which were strongly guarded. The marchers traversed the principal streets of the city.

CALLS IT A MASSACRE

London July 27.—The Daily News calls the affair at Dublin a massacre and demands a rigid investigation of the conduct of the soldiers. It lays the responsibility upon the weakness of the Government, which allowed the organization of the Ulster volunteers and could not prohibit the Nationalists from doing the same.

COTTAGES FOR THE WORKMEN OF REGINA

R.C. Episcopal Corporation Behind Housing Project

Regina, July 27.—The Roman Catholic Episcopal Corporation here has taken steps toward the erection of a block of workmen's cottages, at a cost of about $100,000. It is expected that 300 men, at least, will be employed in erecting these cottages, which will be rented to tradesmen and merchants in Regina, at a low rate. The houses will be fully modern in every respect, containing seven rooms and bath and heated by hot air furnaces.

WAR BETWEEN AUSTRIA AND SERVIA CONSIDERED CERTAIN

Intense Feeling Against Russia Shown in Demonstrations in Germany

Vienna, July 27.—Diplomatic relations between Austria-Hungary and Servia were formally broken off on Saturday night. War is regarded by the public as almost a certainty.

Martial Law has been declared throughout the Austro-Hungarian Empire.

A military censorship has been established in the telegraph offices here.

The Servian Government waited until the last moment left it by the terms of the note, only ten minutes before the hour of 6, when the Austro-Hungarian ultimatum expired, did the Servian Premier appear at the Legation and present his Government's reply to the Austrian Minister.

No details of the tenor of the reply have been revealed here, but the terse statement was made that it was "unsatisfactory."

Negotiations Broken Off.

Immediately upon receiving the note the Austrian Minister informed the Foreign Office, and diplomatic relations were broken off. Half an hour later the Minister and his staff, with their families, had boarded a train for Austrian territory. The train was in readiness to depart, as an unfavorable reply to the Austrian demands had been expected.

SIR EDWARD GREY SUGGESTS MEDIATION TO THE POWERS

Servian Troops Opened Fire on Austrian Troopship—Russian Minister Expresses Optimism of Outcome, and Predicts Early War

London, July 27.—Sir Edward Grey has invited the Governments of Austria-Hungary, Servia and Russia to suspend operations pending the result of his proposed mediatory conference in London. His suggestion in regard to the conference is that the French, German and Italian Ambassadors in London should confer with him in the endeavor to find a means of solving the present difficulties.

Sir Edward Grey until late this afternoon had not received complete replies to his proposal.

Sir Edward, in announcing in the House of Commons the steps to be taken to bring about mediation in the Austro-Servian controversy, said:

"I understand that the German Government is favorable to mediation in principle as between Russia and Austria, but to our particular proposal to apply that principle by means of a conference, the German Government has not yet replied."

Sir Edward, who evidently was deeply impressed with the gravity of the situation, concluded by expressing the opinion that the failure of these efforts to bring about a settlement, would lead to "the greatest catastrophe which would befall the concert of Europe and whose consequences would be incalculable."

ORIGINAL LETTER OVER SIGNATURE OF FOUNDER OF PETERBOROUGH

Appended below are two letters written and signed by Sir Peter Robinson, after whom Peterborough was named. It will be remembered that Sir Peter with the late Capt. Rubidge, R.N., for whom Rubidge Street was named, brought out a consignment of sturdy Irish immigrants. The letters, with their respective dates, are as follows:

Monaghan, Dec. 20, 1825.

Dear Sir,—John Huston has been proisoned here until Tuesday morning after which time he can get provisions from you, I wish you to arrange about his lot, as you think best. I do not think McCarthy has behaved in a way to expect any particular indulgence, but as you are acquainted with the whole transaction you can arrange it as you think fit.

I never had an idea of turning Ormsby off his lot.

Your Obedient Humble Servant,
P. ROBINSON.

Mr. John Huston,
Deputy Surveyor,
Emily.

Scott's Plains, Nov. 9, 1825.

Dear Sir,—I send out a camp kettle for Phillips and Meade to cook in, and I give it in charge to the Widow Dawson.

Your Obedient Servant,
P. ROBINSON.

Mr. John Huston,
Emily.

Wm. Flynn and John Collins, with families, returned to 14th, Nov. 1825.
P. ROBINSON.

MANY DAYS ADRIFT.

Captain Laurier—"Why doesn't Borden heave to and give us a tow to the country?"

The Governor Says—

"Cut out tea and coffee, my boy. They contain an irritant—caffeine—and you can't have a fluttery heart or sour stomach or a grouchy headache and do big business."

It's a mighty good plan, if tea or coffee puts you "off color," to quit it, and for a delicious table beverage, use the pure cereal food-drink. There is no caffeine nor other harmful substance in Postum.

POSTUM

In either form—Regular Postum, which must be boiled, (15c and 25c packages) or Instant Postum, made instantly in the cup with hot water (30c and 50c tins)—

HEAT OF SUN IS SLOWLY LESSENING

With the Passing of [illegible] Warmth [illegible] Will Cease [illegible]

The sun [illegible] gases [illegible] larger than [illegible] earth. Its temperature varies be[illegible] degrees. However vast the heat [illegible] exception [illegible] every [illegible] growing colder. A moment [illegible] inevitably when its [illegible] will grow weaker and after that it will cease altogether. That will mean death for us in cold and darkness.

There is nothing surprising in this deduction. Millions of extinct suns which were once like our luminary are known to exist in the heavens. Every star is born and lives to die. The problem is to fix the date of its extinction.

In the opinion of many scientists, the American astronomer who has threatened us with death in 6,000,000 years has added nothing new to this subject, which scientists have discussed with good arguments for some 50 years.

The first question we must ask is where did the sun obtain the heat with which it maintains our life in a manner so constant? Without doubt we can observe in the sun certain variations of heat. Our winters and summers are not exactly alike but these variations are comparatively small. They are subject to a periodic flux, which brings back nearly the same condition after a certain lapse of time. The climate of the earth has not changed within historic times. Before long we shall experience exceptionally severe winters and torrid summers. What colossal source of power keeps up the sun in this manner? With what mysterious substances is this enormous furnace fed?

The physicists, Mayer and Helmholtz, have given the best answers to this question. The sun was originally much larger than it is at present. In obedience to the laws of attraction, gaseous masses contract and become smaller. The laws of physics teach us that under these conditions a gas may recover the heat which radiation causes it to lose and which is distributed in surrounding space. Calculations show that a contraction of 35 inches a year in the diameter of the sun would cause its heat to remain constant for thousands of years. The sun has a diameter of 836,964 miles. Even supposing the diminution mentioned occurred, no instrument could reveal the change in its diameter in a period of ten centuries.

Thus, according to the mechanical theory of heat, astronomers who may live in the year 12000 of our era will be able to know what the sun's diameter has diminished about five miles since the beginning of telescopic observation.

In 7,000,000 years the sun will still radiate the same quantity of heat, but its disc will appear to man one-fourth of its present size. From that moment nothing will be able to check the loss of heat which it will undergo through radiation. The average temperature of the earth will show the effect. In our northern countries vegetation will lose a large part of its vitality. The crops will no longer ripen, and the people will press toward the equatorial region. A few million years after that all earthly life will become impossible. The sun will be covered with dark spots, which will gradually grow larger and larger.

Sun Will Lose Light

In a few tens of millions of years after that the sun will have lost its place among the light-giving bodies of the heavens. It will become a black and invisible body, a dangerous derelict of the millions of stars moving through space, but it will still continue its course through space.

From these facts and arguments we may conclude that humanity will still exist for 10,000,000 years, or perhaps 15,000,000 at the utmost. We must however, remember that accidents may occur to shorten this life. A healthy man may reasonably expect to live to 90, but an automobile may end his career in an hour or a day. So it is with our earth.

If he earth dies in the fulness of time it will die from cold in, say 10,000,000 or 15,000,000 years from now, but there is a host of other dangers that menace humanity. In the ceaseless journey which the earth makes around the sun at the rate of 90 1-3 miles a second, may it not some day come into collision with the head of a colossal comet? In such a case humanity may witness a frightful spectacle, a dreadful prelude to universal death. What astronomer can assure us that a collision will not occur within a few years? Barring such an accident, however, the end of the earth from cold must be regarded as fixed.

JAPANESE WHALERS

Often Dragged Far Down in Depths Clinging to Huge Creatures

Many of the Japanese whalemen are most expert and daring men. After a whale has been cornered, harpooned, and is slowly giving out from exhaustion, the nimble expert of the whaling crew must prove his mettle. The skilled Jap, after jumping upon the animal's back and cutting two gashes in the head, one on either side, through which a rope must be run and tied, cannot always perform his work in one trial. Often the animal makes a deep dive. But the little Jap must hold fast to his quarry and dive also, trusting to the fates that his own air supply in his lungs will last as long as that of the whale's.

The Jap is safer from being drowned then from being crushed by the infuriated animal's tail. If the little Jap lets go it usually means his death so he hangs on to the diving quarry. Frequently these whalemen lose their lives from drowning, but the members of their crew look upon this misfortune with something of a fatalistic regard.

But the main business in hand is the capture of the whale. As the fight progresses, and the maddened, frightened mammal grows weaker, finally, is dying, the boat crews row nearer to the body and [illegible] for [illegible]

AS LIGHT AS LAGER
BUT BETTER FOR YOU

You wash dishes about two hours every day. That's one hour wasted!

Dishes get dirty, greasy and sticky and soap will not clean them. Soapy dish water merely cleans the surface; it doesn't dig into the corners and drive out the decayed food particles.

Gold Dust is the sanitary dish washer. It not only cleans the surface, but digs deep after hidden particles of dirt and kills the germs of decayed food which ordinary dish-water overlooks. Gold Dust sterilizes as well as cleanses.

Besides doing the work better than soap or any other cleanser can, Gold Dust will save just half the time you spend in washing dishes.

Gold Dust is sold in 5c size and large packages. The large package means greater economy.

SIGNALLING THE PLANETS

It Looks Like an Impossible Undertaking at Present Stage

Two noted astronomers got into a friendly discussion as to whether Mars is inhabited or not and whether the great expense in an effort to communicate with Mars by signals would be justified. Another eminent astronomer says, in substance, that Mars and Venus are surely inhabited by living beings of some kind, but that, the atmospheric conditions of Venus being similar to those of the earth, the probability of its being inhabitated are greater than those of Mars.

But with all the talk of signalling to Mars, no one yet has come out with a plan of how to do it, or its cost, a most important item. By any plan attempted, however, its cost would make that of any modern engineering feat look like the traditional "thirty cents." Owing to the fact that the orbit of the earth is inside that of Mars any signalling that may be attempted to that planet must necessarily be done by electric or other powerful lights, and at the time also that Mars in its passage around its orbit would be nearest the earth, or about 40,000,000 miles distant. Unfortunately for the purposes of signalling, at this time the earth is between Mars and the sun, and would be invisible to the Martians; it would at the same time be broad daylight in Mars, and the inhabitants of that planet must look in the general direction of the sun to see the earth which, being dark on that side, gives no light and cannot be seen. The conditions are such that it is quite improbable that the most powerful light that could be produced or ever imagined on the earth could compete with sunlight, and be noticed on Mars even through the powerful telescopes they are supposed to possess. It would, therefore, be impossible for the earth to signal to Mars by any means we now have.

In the case of Venus, however, the conditions are somewhat different, her orbit being considerably smaller than that of the earth. In travelling around her orbit, and at the same time of her inferior conjunction with the sun, Venus approaches to within about 20,000,000 miles of the earth, but is invisible to us, as now is then between the earth and the sun. We could signal Venus at such times by means of a large white spot, and Mars could signal us in the same way, but we could get no answer from Venus, nor could we answer Mars, it being just as impossible for Venus to signal the earth as for the earth to signal Mars; any light either one could produce would be overpowered by the sunlight. Consequently, if we were to attempt to send signals to Venus we should never know whether they had been received or not.

One writer estimates that it would cost twenty billions of dollars to construct a plant large enough to signal Venus and that an array of 2,400,00 men would be [illegible]

WHEN HANDLING EGGS

1. If buying from others insist on first quality eggs only.

2. Keep in mind the perishable nature of the product, and do not hold eggs, but ship while fresh.

3. Never keep eggs near kerosene, onions, fish, or any other strong smelling substance; they readily absorb odors.

4. Never expose eggs for market to direct sunlight, rain, or to extreme heat from any source.

5. Do not wash eggs.

6. All eggs should be shipped in good strong cases, with fillers in good condition, and packed with excelsior newspapers as flats.

7. Remember that 10 per cent. of the eggs produced are wasted due to improper handling.

8. Tag all cases plainly, so as to assure prompt and proper delivery.

9. When shipping always mail bill of lading, express receipt and memorandum invoice. Your shipments can then be properly checked, and in case a shortage occurs it will not be necessary for you to write full particulars after you receive your returns.

Natural Gas in Hungary

Although the existence of natural gas in Hungary has been known for several years it was only recently that the first pipe line for its utilization was constructed.

Cover half a box of gelatine with half a cupful of cold water and let stand for half an hour. Whip one pint of cream to a stiff froth. Put a pint of milk into a double boiler; when hot add the gelatine. Beat the yolks of four eggs and two-thirds of a cupful of sugar together until light; add the hot milk, gradually return to the farina boiler; cook for about two minutes, take from the fire; add a teaspoonful of vanilla extract; strain into a bowl, stand this in a pan of cracked ice, and stir constantly until the mixture just begins to thicken. At this stage fold in quickly the whipped cream, pour into a mould, and stand away to harden.

(12) A reputable petroleum engineer in reply to an enquiry from us, stated that the lease held by the British Canadian Oils, Ltd., in Section 31, is situated on the most perfect anticline he has seen in Western Alberta.

(13) British Canadian shares are listed on the three Calgary exchanges, and are very active traders.

(14) The price of British Canadian shares is very low at the present time; we expect to see it go much higher.

Our Point of View

The popular rest cure this season is dancing the tango until 1 a.m. at the summer resort hotels.

—o—

That was an extraordinary session in more than one sense, of the Ohio legislature, just held. It lasted just one day, and in that time did all the work the governor asked it to do.

—o—

In Buffalo N. Y., Conrad a Norton, is suing his wife for divorce on the ground that she keeps thirty-five cats. You have our sympathy, Con., old top, and here's hoping that you win out.

—o—

The printers are on strike in St. Petersburgh and no papers will be published tomorrow. The Czar will have to confine his reading to Black Hand letters.

—o—

Sir R. L. Borden is going to Muskoka for a long "rest." Sir Wilfrid Laurier is preparing for a stumping tour of the maritime provinces. The vitality of the old Liberal leader is the chief asset of his party.

—o—

The sheriff of a New York county is so displeased with the Democratic administration at Washington because of its treatment of the sugar industry that he has dropped his given name, Wilson. However, this is important only as showing that a man can be both a sheriff and an ass.

Watch These Teeth

Are you watching the teeth of your children carefully?

Are you taking the care you should of your own?

At any rate, you will be interested in the latest declaration of science concerning the effects of decayed teeth upon the human body.

Rheumatism in many cases, is caused by the poison from abscesses at the decayed roots of teeth.

Mental disorders have been cured, in some instances, by treatment of diseased teeth.

Insomnia has been traced to the same cause.

Diseases of the heart and kidneys are traceable to neglect of the teeth.

Watch those teeth, and get a good man to look at them for you.

Extravagance at Summer Resorts

A person who should make a tour of a considerable number of summer resorts would be impressed by the enormous amount of money being spent in what may fairly be called extravagances. This is not so apparent in the Peterborough district as in other localities.

Tourists must often question who supports all the top-priced hotels. The millionaires occupy a large place in the public eye. But when you come to enumerate them, they are a very limited class. A great many of them travel in Europe, some do not care for traveling as they find it physically wearisome. Either many of these expensive hotels must run at a loss, or else they are being patronized by persons who cannot afford to pay for their magnificence.

Take the case of many people who live at home in a very simple style. They may keep no servants, or at most one general housework girl. Yet when they start off for a summer outing, they must have the best there is. At home they may be content to do their own "passing" at table. At the public resort they wish to be as good as any one, and must have their own individual waiter, to save them any "reaching" or delay.

The spirit of extortion and exaction seems to prevail. Waiters and bellboys have elaborate systems of signals and exchange of information, to assure themselves that every one "comes across" with a fat tip.

All who entertain the public at resorts will do well to remember that the great majority of Canadians live very simple at home. The majority of them would like to live simply, but comfortably when they travel.

Joints Quit Aching
Soreness Beats it Away

NO MORE STIFFNESS, PAIN OR MISERY IN YOUR BACK OR SIDE OR LIMBS!

Wonderful "Nerviline" is the Remedy.

A marvelous pain reliever.

Not an ordinary liniment—just about five times more powerful, more penetrating, more pain-subduing than any thick, oily or ammonia liniment. Nerviline fairly eats up the pain and stiffness in chronic rheumatic joints, gives quick relief to those throbbing pains, and never burns or even stains the skin.

"Rheumatism kept my joints swollen and sore for ten years. My right knee joint was often too painful to allow me to walk. In this crippled tortured condition I found Nerviline a blessing. Its warm, soothing action brought relief I had given up hoping for. I rubbed on quantities of Nerviline and improved steadily. I also took Ferrozone, at mealtime in order to purify and enrich my blood. I am today well and can recommend my treatment most conscientiously.

(Signed) C. PARKS,
Prince Albert.

Not an ache or a pain in the muscles or joints that Nerviline won't cure. It's wonderful for lumbago and sciatica; for neuralgia, stiff neck, earache and toothache, Nerviline is simply a wonder. Best family liniment known and largely used for the past forty years. Sold by dealers everywhere, large family size bottle 50c; small trial size 25c. Refuse a substitute, take only "Nerviline."

Mastication of Bread

The importance of mastication, so much and so rightly insisted upon by many contributors to the subject of diet, is very marked in the case of bread, says Dr. C. W. Saleeby, in "Health, Strength, and Happiness." Digestion begins in the mouth, and the teeth are of great value in making bread practically useful. It is a mistake to eat new bread just because its consistence protects it from the teeth. It is so moist that it can scarcely be chewed, and cannot suck up the digestive juices of the saliva. It is largely because toast, and biscuits and stale bread and crusts are dry that they are so useful. In the first place, the teeth can work upon them, and, in the second place, they soak up the saliva. Biscuits are much more digestible than ordinary bread in the stomach, and stale bread is much more digestible than new bread. On the whole, and as compared with other vegetable foods, white bread is extremely well absorbed—best of all when it is taken with other kinds of food.

The Directors of the Company have exercised every care in the selection of their properties, aggregating 1380 acres, which are situated in many townships bearing indications of oil. It will be noted from other companies already operating in the field, that several quarter sections of the holdings of this Company are adjacent to the properties of those Companies, that have employed expert advice in the selection of their holdings

Investors should also note that the Company has lands which are not situated in one particular spot, and as it has been assured that oil is existing in different districts, this Company, by having its holdings spread over a vast area, stands an excellent chance if oil be discovered by any of the Companies operating.

The Company proposes to pay to its Fiscal Agents for procuring subscriptions, for shares in this Company, a commission not exceeding 20 per cent on the selling price of such shares.

Primary expenses of the Company are estimated at $2500.

No amount is intended to be paid to any promoter, nor is any sum payable for good-will.

[illegible] Cannot Be Cured

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only Constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

BUILD LARGEST TELESCOPE

The new telescope, which will weigh eight tons and will cost almost $100,000 will be thirty feet long with a reflecting lens of seventy-two inches. When located on a special building at the top of Saanich Mountain, the chief observations for the Dominion will be taken at Vancouver Island.

Football is said to have originated with the ancient Britons. Be this as it may, the game certainly was very popular in the Middle Ages.

In 1314 we find Edward II. warmly censuring the excessive enthusiasm of football players; and Edward III., in 1349, following his example. Henry VIII. and Good Queen Bess attempted to suppress the game, but, despite their efforts, it continued to be played until about 1650.

Then, apparently, it went into a decline, but was revived during the last century, first by the public schools, then by certain clubs, notably Sheffield and Hallam, established in 1857, and Blackheath and Richmond established in 1858.

The formation of the Football Association in 1863, and of the Rugby Football Union in 1871 ensured the future of the game.

COPPER

The Red Metal

MILLIONS OF TONS OF PAY ORE

We have coal, fluxes and copper ores in unlimited quantities.

We have an estate of about 11,[illegible] acres.

We have water, timber, and as fine a climate as there is in the world, which admits of working throughout the entire year.

We have spent years of time and thousands of dollars in getting this project into shape where we can [illegible] offer you a [illegible]—where your investment will be safe—where your interests will be safeguarded and your profits much greater than they are in the average manufacturing or commercial undertaking.

By cutting through the formation with streams, ages old, Nature has done much to demonstrate the existence of these giant ore bodies and this, supplemented by the openings made by man, has proven that within this area there are at least five veins more than three miles long, and having an average width of fourteen feet, with an average content of 2.81 per cent. of copper metal.

Coal for fuel. Lime and Iron for fluxes, are abundant, easily mined and all within the boundaries of this estate. They can be cheaply obtained and economically transported to the site where it is proposed to build a smelter for reducing to matte or bullion this unlimited supply of copper ore.

Costs of every needed thing will be minimized to a degree impossible under less favorable conditions, and profits proportionately increased. Labor is cheap, and much of the food supply required is raised on the estate.

The ore supply is practically inexhaustible; engineers and geologists have estimated the depth of these enormous veins to be at least 3,000 feet.

At this time the enterprise is just getting under way and those who take advantage of the opportunity to secure a share in it now will, so far as finite judgment can reach, reap rewards far beyond the proportions of any investment at present made. Double Spiral Vanadium Steel Springs

The known quality of high-grade springs proves the standard efficiency of the Temco — long double coil sensitive to the least jar — tough and tested quality to outlast any car. This is a new element in shock absorber construction, based upon scientific mechanical principles, not the production of a "cold blacksmith" or experimenter. The special creation of a master designer, whose work has won him great reputation. No friction whatever. Design and construction covered by our original patents (Sept. 9, 1913) and patents now pending covering double spiral spring and other improvements as here illustrated in sectional cut. All infringements will be vigorously prosecuted.

CANADIAN GAME BEST

McGill's Coach Likes It Better Than American Football

Frank Shaughnessy, McGill's American coach, says Canadian Rugby is a better game than American football by a city block. "Shag" claims all the possibilities of the game are brought out under the Canadian rules.

"The one defect in the laws of the game is the three-yard tackling rule which will always be a source of dissatisfaction till it is removed. It is never interpreted twice in the same way by a referee, because it is impossible for him to do it. The official guesses at it. I have seen wings run down under a high punt and stand as far as five yards from the back, who allows the ball to bounce, and, as is frequently the case, the leather takes a freak hop right back toward the wing men. The halfback races up and grabs the ball before the wings can get away the required distance. A fair catch is all that is needed with penalties meted out when the back is charged after kicking."

NO MORE DREADNOUGHTS

Small Heavily Armed Ships Much Better

The navies of the world have built 161 battleships of the dreadnought type since the British navy launched the original dreadnought. The passing of the century mark came with the launching of the British battle-cruiser Tiger, and with that the decision of the British naval authorities to build no more warships of just that type. It has been reported that the smaller vessel more heavily armed will be the fashion during the next season of British naval designing. The building of 161 dreadnoughts in eight years means that an average of more than one of these colossal ships a month has been launched.

INTRODUCTION

The Glenaladale Silver Black Fox Company, Limited, was incorporated in 1913 with six pairs of foxes, at $60,000. This Company re-capitalised in 1914, with 20 pairs of beautiful Silver Black Foxes, at $15,000 per pair, making a total capitalization of $300,000.

THE FOXES

Six pairs (one year old) proven breeders, and fourteen pairs (1914 pups), making a total of 20 pairs — all young foxes— good for at least 10 years. This Company has bought some of this year's options on foxes with a guarantee that they are pedigreed and of the highest strain and very best quality P. E. Island famous foxes.

THE RANCH

The ranch is situated on the well known Glenaladale Farm, owned by Major C. McKinnon, formerly the homestead of Sir William McDonald, and is only 12 miles from Charlottetown, in a quiet locality sufficiently removed from any disturbance.

THE RANCHER

Mr. Arthur W. McKinnon, our Ranch Manager, has had much experience in breeding foxes, and has the practical knowledge necessary to efficiently manage and care for the animals.

The foxes will be ranched free of charge to the Company for the first year. This means a large saving to the shareholders, as some companies have to pay as high as 25 per cent. of the increase for ranching purposes.

The promoters of this Company are retaining $80,000 worth of stock for themselves. $20,000 worth has already been disposed of, leaving $200,000 to be offered to investors at $25.00 per share, with a guarantee that a dividend of 50 per cent. will be paid in cash in 1915, or whatever more it may be.

The Glenaladale Silver Black Fox Co., Limited, in 1913 guaranteed a dividend of 50 per cent. but are going to pay 50 per cent. in cash and 50 per cent., in stock in 1914. The Company is in good standing and to each and every investor the first of September, 1914, we can say:— "We have given you 50 per cent. more than we promised." And we feel sure that in 1915 all the shareholders in this re-capitalised company will be able to say they received more than they were promised.

This Company can truthfully say that they have not one cent of watered stock in the Company. Now Mr. Investor, if you were a Company and we the shareholders, we would look to you for justice to give us all that was honestly due us. We would not like for you to buy 3 pairs of foxes at $15,000 per pair ($45,000) and form a fox company and capitalize your concern at $90,000 and make us pay, as shareholders, for it. The Glenaladale Silver Black Fox Company, Limited, will ask you to do nothing like that. We want to let you in on the ground floor.

NOTICE

When a fox company guarantees any specified dividend to its shareholders, and when said company is an incorporated body, you need not be afraid of any unfair play, for such company is compelled to pay what they promise, and, besides, every interest is taken for the welfare of both the investor and the company.

The promoters of this Company are all above board and will not permit any crook to come in and do anything that is not right. Anyone holding stock in this Company who is dissatisfied can, by notifying the Secretary-Treasurer, have his or her money promptly refunded.

FORTUNES IN FOXES

There is money in fox ranching more than anything else ever known. It is good for the rich man and good for the poor man. A poor man cannot buy a pair of Silver Black Foxes but he can easily raise $25.00, $50.00 or $100.00. By investing in this Company he gets back his money in at least two years and then he will have an income for life and for his children to come—and after there will be money in fox farming. One of the reasons for this is that P. E. Island has now 95 per cent. of the world's foxes in captivity. For every one pelt that can be raised there are more than 25 wealthy people waiting for it in London, Russia, France and America.

PELT VALUES

The Fox Pelts have advanced greatly in price since 1910 and you can see for yourself what money was in them then.

Below are the particulars of sale of a consignment of Silver Fox Furs, shipped from Prince Edward Island ranches to London, England, and sold there in March, 1910:

A POINTER

Just to give you a little idea what the free ranching of foxes to the investor, we will figure it for you.

We have twenty pairs of foxes the ranch and suppose each pair duces a litter of only four this is equal to 40 pairs and $15,000 per year it would figure at $600,000. Now, if we had to even 15 per cent. of the increase ranching purposes (which is considerably lower than some companies it would mean that we would to pay $90,000 for ranching expe

We ranch the foxes free for the year, so that in addition to a anteed dividend of 50 per cent., save you this large outlay of m While we guarantee 50 per cent., should each pair in our ranch pr four pups it would mean that dividend would be about 200 cent. instead of 50 per cent.

FINAL WORD

A great deal has been written Ranches, Grades of Foxes, etc., after all the one object that eve vestor should keep before him dividend he is going to get. We tried to show you in plain E what we can do for you and now you have our proposition, it with the offer made by any company now in business— and judge for yourself to have been by some of the Charlottetown newspapers.

WHY GLASS CRACKS

Why does cold water crack hot glass? The reason why cold water cracks a hot glass is exactly the reason why hot water cracks a cold glass. But this does not always happen. If you use a very thin glass, it will not crack either by cold or hot water. The chemist often uses little tubes made of very thin glass, which he calls test tubes; and you can put these in a flame and boil water in them without their cracking.

You might think that the thinner the glass the more readily it would crack, but really it is just the other way about. When you fill an ordinary tumbler with hot water, the heat is conducted from the water to the glass, and the glass expands, or swells, but the heat has not yet reached the outside part of the glass, which stays as it was. And so, as the inner layer of the glass which has been made hot, swells, it cracks the cold outside. Just the opposite happens when a hot glass is filled with cold water; the inside shrinks before the outside does and so breaks it. But if you use very thin glass the heat gets through it so quickly, whether going into it or coming out of it, that it all swells or shrinks together, and does not crack.

A Nine-foot Giant

King Alfonso took a great interest at a circus performance in Madrid in a French giant named Eugene Arceau, who is nineteen years old, stands 7 feet 6½ inches, and weighs nearly 300 pounds.

The king sent for the giant to come to the royal box. There he made him hold out his arm horizontally while he himself stood beneath it. "If you were a Spaniard," said the King, "I should very willingly enrol you in my guard. I wish very much that I could do so."

Arceau sleeps sometimes for thirty six hours on end, it is stated, and when he awakes finds that he has gained as much as 4 inches in height. Doctors expect him to reach a height of 9 feet by the time he is twenty-five.

Telephones Everywhere

The one man, perhaps, who made the best use of the telephone was the late E. H. Harriman. He piled up a railroad fortune of $60,000,000, and he did most of his work by telephone It was in his library, his bathroom his private car, his camp in the Oregon Wilderness. In the mansion which he finally built for himself there were a hundred telephones, and sixty of them were linked to the long distance lines. Once he saved the credit of the Erie Railroad by telephone—loaned it $5,000,000 as he lay at home on a sick bed. "Harriman is a slave to the telephone," wrote a magazine writer. "Nonsense," replied Harriman; "the telephone is a slave to me."

"The greatest of all dangers for women of between 40 and 50," said Dr. Hole, "is a too minute attention to clothing and to changes of mode. When a young woman is unreasonably keen on fashion, that may mean mental disease; but when a woman getting on in life does so, that almost certainly means a mind unbalanced.

"One sign of all half-lunacy is an entire lack of sympathetic and human interests and a funny self-concentration on one's own petty, often insignificant, needs and imagined needs. This concentration is petty and insignificant when in an elderly woman it takes the form of dress. Women with grown-up children, perhaps grandchildren, who persist in leading fussy, 'worldly' lives, who think only of their complexions and their hats, are nearly always half way towards insanity."

How People Feel
When They Have
Tape Worm

Tape worm is bred from a parasite. This parasite is a creature male and female in one. It is a pear shape, having two, four and six suckers. It lays the eggs, which are only connected together with slime. They develop and form a body, which is the worm. Each joint is an individual, having a sucker or mouth. The worm grows to be much longer than the bowels where it is located, and sometimes a whole colony of them are found, enough to fill a quart of solid worm, and when put in a bottle of water would apparently fill it. It is the hardest task in the world to destroy this parasite without doing injury to the individual who may be so unfortunate as to have it, as the parasite clings to the bowels, freeing itself from the body of the worm, and remains there to breed another. It is an internal demon and causes its victims to suffer all the symptoms of disease imaginable. The cleverest physicians are led to believe the patient is suffering from some other disease, as nearly every person has different symptoms. Some have been treated for cancer of the bowels, consumption of the bowels, consumption of the lungs, chronic dyspepsia, nervous prostration, [illegible], hypochondria, hysteria, inflammation of the bowels, appendicitis and other complaints, when one or more of these internal demons were eating their lives away.

Prof. Mulvaney has made the discovery to free the victim of this monster without injury to the system, destroying the parasite as well as expelling the worm with one dose of medicine without any previous starvation. Visit his office, where he has in his possession the most wonderful collection of these death-dealing monsters in the world, which have been expelled from hundreds of people by his famous remedy, some bottles containing colonies of worms and anyone seeing them cannot imagine how a person could possibly live with them in his bowels. It is surprising the number of people that have them. Thousands have them and are not aware of the fact. The pictures and testimonials the Professor has in his possession are enough to convince one of this alarming fact. Some of the most prominent symptoms are: ravenous appetite, dizzy spells, headaches, cramps in the bowels, a feeling of something moving in the bowels, [illegible] a feeling as though something was crawling up the throat. The only certainty of having one in the system is when segments or joints are seen, which come away almost any time. They are flat and from ½ of an inch to 1 inch long, which have often been mistaken for pin worms by those who do not know the difference. There are many other feelings of distress which would take long to enumerate. Strange to say, some people of strong constitution have very little distress.

Prof. Mulvaney's world-famous Tape Worm Exterminator is safe, sure and harmless. No starvation, no danger, is not disagreeable to take. One dose nearly always effects a cure. NECTAR FROM WEEDS

Six and One-half Tons of Honey Raised by 100 Colonies of Bees

Six and one-half tons of pure extracted (not strained) honey in one season is the splendid record of the bees of Mr. J. M. Munro of Slate River Valley, near Port Arthur. Mr. Munro settled in the Port Arthur district fourteen years ago, on 200 acres of farm land. Instead of taking ten years to pay for it he had it all paid for in five years, and now owns 500 acres. Incidentally Mr. Munro has raised, besides farm crops and honey by the ton, a family of eleven children.

"Forty million pounds of honey have gone to waste through non-cultivation of the bee business," said Mr. Munro during an address to the Port Arthur Board of Trade, "and I estimate that over $6,000,000 has been lost to this district through the non-cultivation as honey-producers of the common flowers of the field and wayside."

Mr. Munro has 100 colonies of bees, and his honey weighs two pounds, on an average, to the gallon heavier than

MR. J. M. MUNRO of Slate River, Ontario, the champion apiarist, who from native wild flowers and weeds raised six and one-half tons of pure honey.

NEW ICE CUTTER

Saw Carried in Frame That is Mounted on Pair of Wheels

The old style way of cutting ice was by the use of a long hand-saw, sometimes operated by two men. A western man has designed a machine for the purpose and it is said that with this machine one man can cut ice quicker than two men could with the hand-saw. A frame with spaced side bars, is mounted on a pair of wheels. Between the bars, at their lower end a saw is mounted and this saw is driven up and down by a chain gear that is operated by the turning of a handle at the top. Adjustable gage shoes are pivoted at one end to one of the side bars and these shoes keep the saw running straight, so that the cut it makes is at all times the same distance from the former cut that it must parallel. The saw in this machine instead of being of the regulation stiff blade type, is in the form of a chain.

TURN HANDLE TO SAW.

Japanese Thrift

In Japan examples of thriftiness are amazing. On account of the rapidly growing population the people cannot afford to waste the value of a straw. Even the seaweed and octopus serve for food. Hillsides that would be given up in Canada as absolutely untillable have been converted into rice fields in forty irrigated terraces rising above each other in a single slope and made permanent by walls of masonry. If there is no water, it can be carried in the topmost terrace of the farmers, and if the hillside is rocky, even soil itself may be taken from some distant deposit to the terrace.

RAISING POULTRY

Only those who have tried chicken-raising can form any adequate idea of the passionate interest these beautiful fowls inspire. They lend themselves perfectly to scientific treatment in various respects; they are harmless, confiding, and affectionate; they are comparatively little liable to diseases when properly cared for; they appeal strongly to children as companions and pets; and they may with care and attention, but without hard toil, become a means of making a pleasant and profitable living.

An enormous step in advance was made when the incubator was invented, and another when there was produced the comfortable and safe retreat that fills, to some extent, the place of the natural mother. The cost of poultry production has been by these means very much reduced, and the net profits correspondingly increased. Moreover, it is just as easy as in the case of dairy cows to detect and eliminate the hen that is a good feeder but a poor layer. There is enough in the poultry industry to keep both body and mind in activity. —The Toronto Globe.

OSCAR STRAUSS

Oscar Strauss, a leader of social reform in the United States and a close friend of Theodore Roosevelt is studying England's social justice laws. "England is far ahead of the United States," said Mr. Strauss, "in enacting into laws old-age pensions minimum wage, industrial insurance, and other phases of social justice, and we can profit by studying her methods."

An Invisible Clock

A public clock which can be heard but not seen is one of London's curious possessions. It is in the tower of St. Mary Abbott's Church, Kensington, and is the only public clock in the immediate neighborhood. It chimes the quarters and the hours, but commits itself no further. It has no dial, no hands, no outward and visible sign of any kind to show that it is a clock. This eccentricity, it is explained, is the result of two causes, one aesthetic, the other financial. When the tower was built in 1879 a clock was suggested as an afterthought, but the architect protested that it would mean the addition of 15 feet to the tower, and the ruin of its cherished proportions. A second point was that the church, having but slender funds could not afford a clock with a dial. A compromise was arrived at by installing the works of a chiming clock in the belfry, without dial or hand

Former and Present Prices.

When the Rope Was Cut.

A few days ago two well known local young men went on a fishing trip a few miles below the Locks. They had with them a keg of lager. They arrived at their camping ground too late in the evening to tap the keg. The fishermen tied a rope securely round the keg and lowering it, for coolness sake in the river, tied the rope to a float. About 11 next morning a thirst had developed. They paddled out to haul up the keg and found that someone had severed the rope four inches below the float. As the current was strong and the barrel would roll, they did not dive for it. However it is reported that their language was stronger than the current.

Joke on Local Detectives.

A local man put up a joke on Messrs. Newhall and Meagher, the detectives. He got them, mysteriously, aside, and asked "Is it not forbidden to carry a loaded revolver on one's person?" They replied "Yes. Do you know anyone here who is carrying a revolver?" Their informant told them that within the past hour he had seen an American flourishing a revolver. That the pistol still loaded was on the man's person. Not only that, he had seen the man fire a shot on Hunter and had, in his pocket an empty brass shell that had been fired. The officers asked "Where is this lawbreaker?" Their informant replied, "What's the use of telling you, you wouldn't arrest him!" The officers replied "Lead us to him and you'll see." The informant asked "Would you like to see the empty shell as Exhibit A?" "Yes," He then produced the brass shell which measured less than one eighth of an inch in length. It had been fired from a watch chain charm in the form of a perfectly formed miniature revolver. The cartridges, which are "blanks" make the noise of a 22 calibre cartridge. No arrests were made.

HEALTH AND BEAUTY AIDS

BY MRS. MAE MARTYN

[illegible]

L. S. Every woman wants to be slender nowadays, so I don't blame you, and since this reliable and inexpensive home-remedy parnotis, was discovered, we may all make our figure to suit the latest mode. Parnotis allows you to reduce flesh without danger or discomfort, and it leaves the skin firm and unwrinkled. Simply get four ounces of parnotis from your druggist, dissolve it in 1½ pints hot water and strain. Take a tablespoonful three times a day. Avoid cereals. They are too starchy. This remedy is cheap and harmless and rapid in effect.

ADA S. Your eyes are probably overturned and overworked. Rest the nerves, brighten the color and clear the lids of inflammation by this method. Dissolve one ounce of crystos in a pint of soft water. Drop 2 drops daily in each eye. This is a sample, economical tonic. If troubled with dark rings or flabbiness under your eyes try saturating a cloth in the solution and laying it over the eyes while lying down. It tests the nerves and starts circulation. Both are necessary to beauty of eye.

HELEN O. You are one of many who ask me about my shampoo, and I gladly quote an eminent London beauty specialist : "The slimy egg cannot dissolve the scalp impurities, but adds to them so that the pores are completely closed, the substance sticks, decomposes, causing the hair to assume a dead, dull color." I endorse every word. Avoid eggs (and soap too) on your hair. Try the fine preparation made by stirring a teaspoonful canthrox in a cup hot water. It will bring out new beauty-possibilities in your hair, will cure and prevent dandruff, and promote growth and fluffiness. It removes excess oil.

LILLAH G. I don't believe your skin is seriously affected, and I am sure it can easily be helped. There is a preparation I am always glad to recommend because it is so reliable and cheap and easily made. And it is a splendid substitute for ordinary face powder which is at the bottom of many complexion troubles. Get 4 ounces of spurmax dissolve it in half a pint hot water, add two teaspoonfuls glycerine, stir thoroughly and let the mixture cool. There you have a real "beautifier" all your complexion needs. The shiny sallowness is instantly relieved, and the effect is lasting.

HATTIE L. You are evidently not old enough to worry about wrinkles or losing your good looks, but you are wise in taking every precaution against the loss of your complexion, and the coming of premature wrinkles. Keep the skin firm and the complexion clear with a nightly massage using this simple, inexpensive preparation: Mix together an ounce of almozoin, two tablespoonfuls glycerine and ½ pint cold water. Stir and let stand for a few hours. This will give a healthy resistance to the tissues and prevent the large pores which come from a weak, oily condition of skin. Try this faithfully for a while and note how it encourages the natural contour without undue flesh. Many have found in it a return of skin-health.

BEATRICE B. From what you write of, your frequent "blues" and nervous spells I am quite sure you are run down and need a good tonic, something to sharpen your appetite, and regulate your whole system. Here is an excellent blood purifier that tones the body generally. Dissolve half a cup of sugar and one ounce kardene in half a pint alcohol (not whiskey) Add enough hot water to make a full quart of the mixture Take a tablespoonful before each meal You will feel benefitted right away, the whole world will look brighter, and it will improve your looks too.

D.B.V. I am not surprised that your hair is falling out when you confess that you have tried everything on the market.' Scientists agree on the wonderful merits of quinine preparations, but they must always be made fresh. This you can do, with little cost, at home. Simply dissolve one ounce quinzoin (get it at any drugstore) in ½ pint alcohol, and mix with ½ pint water and you have a delightful home-made tonic that will keep the scalp healthy and give you back your 'crowning glory.' Use twice a week. I know nothing better to prevent baldness. —Betty Dean's Beauty Book, $5.00—adv.

BAKERS SHOULD EXPLAIN

The Times learns that three of our leading local bakers are selling bread in Campbellford at 8c. per large loaf wholesale and 10c. retail, while the price in Peterborough is 11c. retail and 9c. to dealers. This is a difference of a cent per loaf. There should be some explanation forthcoming in regard to this from those concerned.

PRINCIPALS IN CELEBRATED PARIS MUDER CASE.

Paris—Joseph Cailaux held the court for two tense hours testifying in defense of his wife, who satin the prisoners' inclosure, charged with the killing of Gaston Calmette, editor of the Figaro, last March 16.

The appearance of M. Caillaux was hardly less dramatic than that of Mme Caillaux yesterday. The ex-Premier and Finance Minister, still one of the most powerful men in France, dominated the proceedings, imposing upon them his personality and uncommon gifts of leadership.

'CHIP ROBINSON' KILLS HIMSELF IN CELL

Robber Accused of Slaying Police Inspector Norton Hid Spoon, Which He Sharpened

Boston, July 28.—Determined not to go to the electric chair nor to serve a long prison sentence, Lawrence Robinson, on trial for the murder of Police Inspector Thomas J. Norton early yesterday committed suicide by cutting his throat and an artery in his wrist in his cell at the Charles street jail.

Three horrified officials found his body, dead only a few minutes in all probability, beneath a blanket that concealed the self inflicted wounds. Their first sensation of horror was followed by a feeling of amazement that Robinson had been able to steel himself against any outcry that would have revealed his act.

Robinson brought about his death with a steel shank that had been pried out of one of his shoes. He had sharpened this by rubbing it on his cell floor until it was keen enough to sever completely the artery in his left wrist. Then he hacked repeatedly at his throat until a number of blood vessels had been cut.

Jail and medical officials believe that he kept up the hacking process in all probability until his strength left him. He died within 20 to 40 minutes, it is estimated, after he first began the grim work, and he bled sufficiently so that the mattress was soaked through and more than a quart of blood gathered in a pool on the floor.

The rudely fashioned weapon with which the gunman killed himself was found on the floor of the cell close to the bed. Near his body were two letters—addressed to the general public, and to his mother and wife.

She shook her head wearily and crouched on the prisoner's bench with her face buried in her hands as Maitr Labori, her defender, greeted her.

The day's proceedings started with a speech from Edouard Seligman, one of the attorneys representing the family of the murdered editor.

Madame Caillaux again fainted, and Judge Albanel suspended the sitting.

GENERAL VILLA PREPARING TO START COUNTER-REVOLUTION

Is Making Wholesale Demands Upon Ranch Owners for Horses--Smuggling Arms Across the Border

Washington, July 18.—Secretary of State Bryan appealed to-day to General Carranza, asking him to call a halt upon Villa, who is reported to be making wholesale demands for horses upon ranch owners in the state of Chihuahua. Consular advices to the State Department also declared the northern general was smuggling arms across the border as rapidly as they were available. There was no doubt in the minds of the people of Chihuahua as to the meaning of Villa's activity, the despatch to the department added.

Recent reports from the border have intimated that Villa intended to concentrate his forces in Chihuahua with the aim of demanding certain concessions from Carranza after the Constitutionalists occupy Mexico City. However, in response to an appeal from the Washington Government urging him to forget personal differences with Carranza, General Villa declared he intended to co-operate with the other revolutionary leaders and would do all in his power to inaugurate an era of peace in Mexico.

COUNTER - REVOLUTION

While administration officials then expressed assurances that Villa would not permit any dissention with Carranza to develop into a counter revolution, yet to-day's reports renewed speculation over the ultimate position that the military chief will make. The consular advices of Villa's new activity confirmed complaints that have reached the State Department from individual property owners. In some instances it was declared Villa had demanded as many as one hundred horses from one ranch.

STILL STRIVING TO MAINTAIN PEACE

Chicago, July 28.—New proposals submitted by the Federal Mediators in an effort to avert a strike of 55,000 locomotive engineers and firemen on the ninety-eight western railroads were under consideration by both sides today. "I am not at liberty to say what the proposals are" asserted Judge Martin A. Knapp, a member of the mediation board, "but we hope they will bring peace. The situation however, still is grave."

AMERICAN BUYS FAMOUS CLOCK

London, July 28.—"Master Humphrey's clock," the timepiece made famous by Dickens, was sold today to a New York dealer by the local auctioneer with whom it had been placed.

It is a grandfather clock inscribed with the name of the maker, William Humphreys of Barnard Castle, and dated 1829. The case is of Dutch lacquer with architectural top and dial of brass and silvered metal.

The clock attracted the attention of Dickens during the six weeks the novelist spent in the King's Head inn at Barnard Castle working on the Dotheboys portion of "Nicholas Nickerby." The clock then stood in Humphreys shop opposite the inn.

TREMENDOUS DROP IN STOCKS ON THE DECLARATION OF WAR

Toronto and Montreal Exchanges Close to Ward Off Panic But New York Market Suffers From Heaviest Selling in Years

Toronto, July 28.—Panicky feeling was the cause of the closing of the Montreal and Toronto Stock Exchange to-day. The war news has made conditions so uncertain that the Boards of these institutions decided to stop operations. When Montreal Exchange closed for luncheon, it was decided to keep closed during the afternoon. The Toronto Exchange was opened for about ten minutes this afternoon.

As far as can be learned, all Toronto brokerage houses are in good condition, but during the noon hour a number of selling orders on Montreal account accumulated for execution on the Toronto Exchange. C. P. R. opened at 175 and dropped to 157 Brazil dropped from 57 to 53.

Scene in Chicago.

In Chicago Exchange news that British battleships had been ordered to mobolize was received just ten minutes before the gong sounded for the noon closing. There was then a wild scene, all the members being much excited. September wheat closed at 92⅛, a jump of nine cents within 24 hours. The close was at the topmost point of the day.

PETES DEFEAT TORONTO, 2-1

It was ladies' day at the park yesterday and a large number of the fair fans turned out to see the game between the Petes and Toronto, and were treated to a fine exhibition of ball. Bob Sterling did the twirling and was well supported by the boys, who played errorless ball. Kelley did the receiving. The Petes won by a score of 2—1.

MORE RIOTS IN DUBLIN

Dublin, July 28.—Rioting broke out again last night. Rumor went abroad that the Scottish Borderers would entrain at the Amiens street station. A great crowd, for the most part from the slums, surrounded the station and amused themselves by stoning the street cars.

Six hundred volunteers paraded through the streets, a crowd of four thousand following them, marching in step and singing.

HEAVY RUNS MADE ON GERMAN BANKS

Government's Refusal to Participate in Mediation, Causes Financial Alarm

Berlin, July 28.—The German Government to-day returned an unfavorable reply to the British proposal for a conference of the Ambassadors in London of the European powers in an endeavor to bring about a settlement of the Austro-Servian difficulty.

In its communication, Germany declared that it considers the suggestion of Sir Edward Grey, the British Foreign Secretary, as well meant and good in principle, but not feasible, in practice and impossible to carry out.

It says that it cannot be expected that a great power having a dispute with a smaller neighbor will submit the matter to the decision of a European areopagus. Far less can it be hoped that two great powers will submit to be summoned in the role of accused before such a tribunal.

Germany makes the counter suggestion that negotiations for peace be conducted between the Cabinets instead of by a conference.

DISCUSSIONS ON THE AMENDING BILL INDEFINITELY POSTPONED

Sunday's Clash at Dublin Widens Gap Between Contending Parties

London, July 28.—The first effect of the Dublin tragedy has been to smash Premier Asquith's plans for taking up the amending bill to-day. The Premier announced yesterday that the matter had been indefinitely postponed. The Irish members are so exasperated over the killing of four persons and the wounding of many others in the clash between the regular troops and the Nationalist volunteers, that they are in no frame of mind to grant any concession to Ulster. The Laborites and many Liberals support them.

The Government announced in the House of Commons yesterday that Deputy Police Commissioner Harrell, who ordered out the troops, had been suspended and that his superior, Commissioner Sir John Ross, who expressed a desire to share the responsibility, had resigned his office.

Special Inquiry.

A special inquiry will be held, probably by judicial commission. In the meantime, the demand for the removal of the Scottish Borderers from Dublin has not been granted, largely because an attempt to march them out would be the signal for attacks by the mobs. They will remain prisoners in the barracks until the anger of the people has cooled.

The Nationalist members of Parliament held a meeting yesterday and showed more animus against the castle than the Government. They consider Viceroy Aberdeen's official family prejudiced against the Nationalists.

Heated Discussion.

A heated discussion was started in the House of Commons by Mr. John Redmond, the Nationalist leader, who demanded an impartial inquiry into into the conduct of the troops, and their punishment, if the shooting was not justified. He demanded also that the regiment should be removed from Ireland, that the proclamation against the importation of arms into Ireland should be withdrawn because it constituted a serious danger and that, the law be administered impartially.

He called for the suspension of Sir John Ross, the police commissioner of Dublin, and said: "We had an experience of him in the Larkin riots. He is unfit to hold his office. He is a well-known political partisan."

GAINS NEW COMPLEXION BY PEELING HER SKIN

"Keep still, sad heart, and cease repining: behind the clouds is the sun still shining." I was forcibly reminded of these lines when, after months of fretting over my ugly complexion I found how easy it was to remove the cloudy, muddy skin and bring forth a bright, new complexion. I got an ounce of ordinary mercolized wax at my druggist's and used it like cold cream every night for two weeks, washing it off mornings. Lo and behold! That old skin had all peeled off! The healthy young skin underneath gave me a complexion as pure, white and soft as a young girl's. I experienced no discomfort, the skin came off so gradually and gently. Several friends have been similarly benefited. I'm sure anyone whose skin is soiled, tanned, withered, blotchy, pimply or freckled, can acquire the loveliest complexion imaginable by using this remarkable treatment.

Another treatment that brought more sunshine was one to remove wrinkles. A face bath made by dissolving 1 oz. powdered saxolite in ½ pt. witch hazel, soon erased every line. It's wonderful.—Julia Orff in The Queen.

THE BOY AND THE FARM

Several Reasons Why the Call of the City is Alluring

To keep the boy on the farm is a problem that seems to be seriously agitating the minds of some of our agriculturists and more of our would-be agricultural advisers. Why should anyone wish to tie the boy to the farm if there is a better sphere for him? If there is not then why does the boy leave the farm? Why is it though that a large percentage of farm boys, yes and girls too, will jump into the great city maelstrom to take that one chance of a hundred of coming up from that undercurrent and making a livelihood among the middle class. There must be a reason. That reason is, to find something that is lacking on the farm. It may be one thing or another; sometimes it is a lack of social life, too often it is freedom from drudgery that is craved. But always there is some reason.

The farm boy is not hasty in his decisions—he is usually given credit for being the opposite; but he generally has good reasons for his actions. If he leaves because the life of the city calls him his social life at home is too often a mere void that he has brooded over for years. If he goes to another farm to work it is usually to get away from some useless drudgery.

There is, however, one feature of this problem, if it can be called such that has been overlooked. It is the fact that for one boy that goes directly to the city another leaves the farm to become a hired man on another farm, which goes to show that this is an individual problem for each farm. Each boy finds something lacking on his particular farm or in his community which he hopes to find on another farm or in the city.

All this has no reference to the boy who leaves the farm because the size of the family demands that some must seek livelihood elsewhere, or the boy whose natural abilities fit him for other work, but the greater number who should be eminently fitted for agricultural work and who should further develop the farm their fathers pioneered, yet who leave it just when they could begin some work to better the farm and their social conditions. —Farmers Advocate.

PIANO POWER

Great Strength Developed in Fingers of Famous Players

The amount of power expended on playing on a piano has recently been figured out in a way which, if not altogether accurate, is at least interesting. Commenting on the statement that it already requires more force to sound a note gently on this instrument than it does to lift the lid of a kettle, it is easy to verify it if one takes a small handful of coins and piles them on a key of the piano.

When a sufficient quantity is piled on to make a note sound they may be weighed, and the figures will be found to be true. If the pianist is playing fortissimo, a much greater force is needed. At times the force of six pounds is thrown upon a single key to produce a solitary effect. With chords the force is generally spread over the various notes sounded simultaneously, though a greater output of force is undoubtedly expended. This is what gives pianists the wonderful strength in their fingers that is often commented on.

A story used to be told of Paderewski that he could crack a pane of French plate-glass, half an inch thick, merely by placing one hand upon it as if upon a piano keyboard, and striking it sharply with his middle finger.

Chopin's last piece in C minor has a passage which takes two minutes and five seconds to play. The total pressure brought to bear on his, it is estimated, is equal to three full tons. The average "tonnage" of an hour's playing of Chopin's music varies from twelve to eighty-four tons. Wagner has not yet been calculated upon these lines.

Feeding Brood Mares

An interesting experiment carried out by G. L. Carlson in connection with the feeding of brood mares seems to show that oats are better than corn for breeding mares; that oats and bran are better than oats alone, that hay without grain is better than with grain, and that natural conditions on grass beat everything. The following table gives the results:

Feed	Mares Breed	Av. Age	No. of Foals	%
Range feed	468	10.1	425	91
Grass in summer	182	9.9	161	81
Hay, oats, bran....	206	9.2	147	71
Hay and corn	398	8.7	195	49
Corn, bran, hay...	221	8.9	117	52
Corn, alfalfa, or clover	306	8.8	177	58
Hay, oats	418	9	284	68

POLAR CANADA LURES THIS ARTIST

Arctic Explorer and Painter Will Depict Northlands' Icy Fields on Canvas

Jacques Suzanne who understands much about the frigid northland and a painter of no mean ability, will spend three years in the Polar region of Canada where he will brave the cold and hardships in order to give a pictured story of the white solitude to the world.

"I go to paint," said M. Suzanne, speaking to some friends in New York, "I have many commissions to execute for people in Russia and France, and I go also that I may satisfy my curiosity in regard to those blond Esquimaux. I have been much in the North. When I was a very young man—I am 33 now—I spent a year among the Samoyedes Indians or peoples in Northern Siberia. No white man had ever been among them before, and their existence was regarded as a myth. I lived with them and hunted and painted, and it was all very wonderful.

"We go north to Albany and then to Ottawa, Canada, and will travel at the rate of thirty miles a day. The dogs have been trained for the past three months, and are ready to keep up that average. Our traveling will be done in two starts of fifteen miles each day. That is, we will travel from dusk until midnight, and from daybreak until noon. The other twelve hours will be resting periods during which we will work on our gear and make repairs.

Has Great Dogs

The chief feature of my equipment are the two sledges. These are my own invention, and are made of white ash and bound with rawhide thongs. These sledges are equally good for land, ice, or water travel. The motor cycle wheels are placed exactly at the balance point, and each sledge can carry 500 pounds on the ground without fatiguing the dogs. For ice and snow travel, the wheels are removed, and then each sledge will take up to 1,500 pounds. When we strike water, I have heavy oiled canvas covers that fit about the sledges and make them into boats, and they will carry a ton each.

"I am proudest of my dogs. The leader is one that was with Peary, and the others are all the finest I could get. I have over thirty near Ottawa. In the pack is also the largest sledge dog in the world. He is from the kennels of the Czar of Russia, and weighs nearly 200 pounds. He is my strongest puller. My dogs are very fast. Once on a test run with the snow very deep, and with eleven dogs and 250 pounds on the sledge, I ran eight miles in thirty minutes and thirty-four seconds. This is said to be a world's record.

"It is a fascination to paint in the North, but it has its difficulties. The cold is so intense that the paints freeze, and on my last trips I have always had to use a red-hot stone to place my paintbox on. This was unsatisfactory because it would quickly lose its heat. Thanks to a suggestion and design made for me by a man, I will not have this trouble on this trip. He designed a paint box combined with a hot water jacket, protected from the cold by a vacuum that will keep the paints liquid. The vacuum will keep the water hot for many hours, and as my palette fits the lid of the box, its paints will always be ready for use."

Jacques Suzanne was born in Trouville, and first went to the North before he was of age. His parents still live in France. He is unmarried.

Football is said to have originated with the ancient Britons. Be this as it may, the game certainly was very popular in the Middle Ages.

In 1314 we find Edward II. warmly censuring the excessive enthusiasm of football players; and Edward III., in 1349, following his example. Henry VIII. and Good Queen Bess attempted to suppress the game, but, despite their efforts, it continued to be played until about 1650.

Then, apparently, it went into a decline, but was revived during the last century, first by the public schools, then by certain clubs, notably Sheffield and Hallam, established in 1857, and Blackheath and Richmond established in 1858.

The formation of the Football Association in 1863, and of the Rugby Football Union in 1871 ensured the future of the game.

Our Point of View

The fact that the Duke of Connaught recently suffered from stomach ache is more proof that he has a human side.

—o—

Earl Kitchener may become Viceroy of India. The general opinion in the Empire is that no honor is too great for him and no responsibility too heavy.

—o—

After a few more Bisley teams from Canada fall down, the people in Great Britain will realize that Canadians don't spend half their time raising Indians.

—o—

From the way Vic Huerta strutted on the streets of Porto we are inclined to believe that he has provided himself with a new set of last legs.

—o—

Senor Carbajal is the gentleman to whom Vic Huerta passed the Mexican lemon, and his name is pronounced as though it were spelled Carbahal. The "J" in Spanish having the sound of our "h."

—o—

It is a good rule to size up a situation right before trying to deal with it. An Atchison minister and his choir recently sang in front of a house, for the sake of practice, and the inmates of the house, believing that they were being serenaded, began to pull corks.

—o—

The danger from vicious dogs may be judged from the fact that 118 persons in New York city were bitten by them from June 1 to July 7. Twenty to twenty-five persons report daily at the city health department for treatment to prevent hydrophobia.

Lightning Rods

A bulletin advocating the use of lightning rods on buildings has just been issued by the Ontario Department of Agriculture. Prof. W. H. Day, of the staff of the Ontario Agricultural College, is the author of this bulletin, and he demonstrates, after a series of investigations covering thirteen years, that lightning rods are the protection that science claims them to be. In Ontario in 1912 the efficiency of rods was 94½ per cent. From the reports of insurance companies Prof. Day found that in every 200 farm buildings insured, 42 were rodded, which is 21 per cent., but out of every 200 farm buildings struck by lightning only 3 were rodded. In this connection Prof. Day observes, "We should have expected 42 if the rods were no good."

Lightning rods in Iowa are recorded as showing an efficiency of 98.7 per cent., and inspected rods in Michigan show an efficiency of 99.9 per cent. Records in Iowa show that for the eight years 1905-1912 the average number of insurance companies carrying risks on rodded buildings was 55. The highest number of companies reporting in any one year was 66 and the lowest 46. The total lightning claims paid by all these companies for the whole eight years on rodded buildings was only $4,464.30, an average of $10.15 per company per year. On unrodded buildings they paid lightning claims amounting to the large sum of $341,075.32, which is an average of $775.15 per company per year, and the number of unrodded buildings was the same as the rodded ones.

In Michigan where a company insures only rodded buildings which have been inspected a risk of $55,172,073 was carried during four years and damage claims arising from lightning during that time totalled only $32.

These and other proofs submitted by Prof. Day are practical demonstrations of the scientific fact that lightning rods properly installed are a protection. In giving directions for the proper rodding of buildings the reader is reminded that lightning is electricity. Prof. Day asserts that rods should be in metallic connection with the building, and that no insulators should be used. This method of attachment is directly opposite to that adopted when lighting rods were first used.

Knee Joints Stiff Three Years

CURED BY NERVILINE

Anyone would marvel at my recovery, writes Mr. Leonard Lotham, a young man well known about Chatham. I had inherited a rheumatic tendency through my mother's family, and in my early days suffered frightfully. About three years ago the pain and stiffness settled in my left knee joint. I was lame and walked with a very distinct limp. Nerviline was brought to my notice and I rubbed it into the stiff joint four or five times a day. It dispelled every vestige of pain, reduced the swelling, took out the stiffness and gave me the full use of my limb again. I don't believe there is a pain-relieving remedy, not a single liniment that can compare with Nerviline. I hope every person with pains, with sore back, with lameness, with lumbago, with neuralgia— I do hope they will try out Nerviline which I am convinced will quickly and permanently cure them."

If Nerviline wasn't a wonderful painless remedy, if Nerviline didn't quickly relieve, if Nerviline wasn't known to be a grand cure for all rheumatic conditions, it wouldn't have been so largely used as a family remedy for the past forty years. No better, stronger, or more soothing liniment made. Get the large 50c. family size bottle; small trial size 25c.; sold by any dealer, anywhere.

IT WON'T WORK.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—The Times publishes an account of a fight in Montreal between the Government of France and the R. C. heirarchy of Quebec. Politicians get credit for being more duplex than other people, and I guess they deserve it, but the long-headed attempt to put it all over the French Consul didn't work, nor did the long-headed attempt to reconstruct the party in West Peterborough by throwing it into the jack-pot again and getting it away from them that have been doing things. Hot water when applied to the skin opens the pores. Cold water closes them. Hot water should not be used more than once a day to cleanse the skin of the face, as it robs the skin of too much of its natural oil.

Bicarbonate of soda dissolved in cold water is excellent for bites or eruptions on the skin due to heat. It is both cooling and healing in its effect.

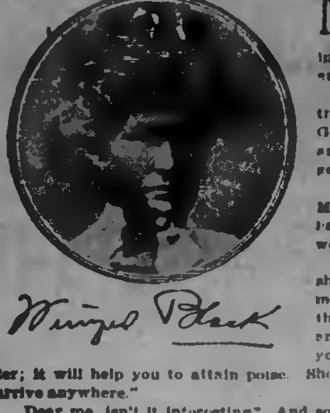
How "Shocking" Works; The Cost of Impudence

By Winifred Black

Copyright, 1914, by Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.



Winifred Black

MRS. Charlotte Perkins Stetson Gilman says we've got to be shocking. Absolutely shocking—we women—or we'll never get anywhere in the world.

I don't know exactly where it is that Mrs. Charlotte Perkins Stetson Gilman thinks we want to go—but, anyhow, we needn't think we'll ever get there—unless we shock people.

"Practice on your families," says Mrs. Gilman. "Do something you have refrained from doing because it would shock their conventions.

"Go home from this meeting—and shock your sister. Get up in the morning—and shock your brother. In the afternoon—shock your mother and your grandmother. It will give you courage; it will make for character; it will help you to attain poise. Shock the conventions—if you want to arrive anywhere."

Dear me, isn't it interesting? And so easy, too; why, anybody can do it. I'm going to start in this very day.

Why, I begin to feel freer already—just to think of it.

There's cousin-in-law. Cousin-in-law is a queer little man who has never really quite grown up. He likes to fish and to tell fish stories, and he thinks it is a terrible thing for a man to have to work.

Whom Shall I Shock?

It's near the opening of the fishing season—that's the idea. I'll break up cousin-in-law's special [illegible] that he bought with the money his wife gave him—I'll break it into pieces no bigger than a minute.

How shocked dear cousin-in-law will be.

Here he comes now—what big hands he has! They tell me that down in his part of the country when a woman is unreasonable—somebody slaps her.

What if cousin-in-law should think me not only shocking—but unreasonable?

No, I won't shock cousin-in-law.

Grandma—she's the one—she's so mild and good. It won't do the least bit of harm to shock her.

Let's see!—I know—I'll ravel out her knitting—just like that. And I'll laugh while I'm doing it.

Grandma does love her knitting; she keeps count of just how many stitches she must take in a week. Won't it be fun to show her that I don't care a yarn ravelling about those stitches, or the one who did them? Grandma is the ideal.

What is it grandma is doing this week? Making strawberry preserves. She cooks them by the sun, doesn't she? Anyhow, they're perfectly delicious. What if she should shock me—by not giving me any of the preserves. I think I won't risk it—not at this season.

Grandma shall go unshocked, for all of me.

It's an awful nuisance—finding the right person to "shock."

I wonder how Mrs. Charlotte Perkins Stetson Gilman manages?

Everybody seems to be so tied up some way—everybody that I know.

Either I owe them something in some way, or they owe me something in some way, and if I shock them such strange things might happen.

My life seems to be so complicated.

Doubtless Mrs. Charlotte Perkins Stetson Gilman leads the simple life; that must be it.

It's an Old Idea.

It isn't quite a new idea, this fad for shocking people, is it?

I had it when I was about 15, didn't you?

It seems to me that most young persons do have it. They love to be thought wild and free, and reckless and daring—poor things!

But, somehow, the people they tried to shock always laughed—and that is so discouraging.

Still, there must be something in Mrs. Stetson-Gilman's idea—or she wouldn't have it.

The great thing about all these ideas is to be perfectly serious. A sense of humor is fatal.

I have a serious aunt. She thinks the world is a vale of tears, and, Oh, how they do cheat you at the grocers'! She'd be a lovely one to shock.

She'd never think of smiling—she never does.

I'll tell her I don't believe in the book of Job. I hope it won't be pathetic to see how shocked she is.

I met a woman who used to have a lovely time shocking people, when she was a girl.

It's a long time since that woman was a girl. She doesn't try to shock people now—she does it without trying.

Poor soul, I suppose it got to be a habit.

She looks as if she wishes she were dead—I wonder if the people who loved her when they tried to keep her from shocking them years ago do not wish so, too?

The Good Night Story

The Height of Wisdom :: By VERNON MERRY

THERE was once a good-hearted farmer who loved to laugh; his one fault was that he delighted in playing practical jokes. He made other people very uncomfortable, but Farmer John seemed never to mind that at all. He wasn't the one that was made uncomfortable. He enjoyed his own jokes and laughed hard at them. He thought himself very clever.

One day his friend William decided to get even with Farmer John for all the uncomfortable jokes he had played on him. So William set out for a pretty road near where he knew Farmer John would pass on his way to market. In his hand William carried a large sack and a piece of rope.

When William arrived at the road he instructed the hired man he had brought with him just what he wanted him to do. In a short time William was bound hand and foot inside the bag, and the bag was drawn up to the top of a tree. Then the hired man ran away and hid himself, for he saw Farmer John approaching.

As soon as Farmer John came under the tree he looked up and saw the bag hanging there. William, who could see him through a tiny hole, called out: "Long may your days be in the land!"

"Who are you and what are you doing?" gasped Farmer John.

"I have found the way to wisdom," William answered. "How would you like to learn?"

"Fine," replied Farmer John. "I'm clever, but I want to be wise."

"All right," said William, "but I can let you take my place only for one hour. Take the rope tied to the tree and let me down."

Farmer John did as William asked and when he was untied from the ropes and out of the bag, William made him very anxious to take his place by telling him of the wonderful things that he had learned. So Farmer John permitted William to tie him up in the bag and hoist him up to the top of the tree.

When William had him safely up there he cried out: "Now stay there for awhile. Don't you already feel something of wisdom that comes from experience? You think you are clever with your practical jokes, but you aren't. Stay there until you really are clever—and that'll be a long while."

Then William went away and left Farmer John to think upon the seriousness of practical jokes that hurt other people.

DAY DREAMS :: :: By Michelson

YOU have them whether you sit before a typewriter, an engine, a cash window or a kitchen table. You never know how they drift to you. You perhaps don't realize they have happened until they melt away—that is to say, until you WAKE UP.

Generally they move with a miraculous smoothness. Just now they are likely to be green dreams, sweet with the perfume of wonderful sylvan life. There is likely to be another figure beside your own, while all the tasks and obligations of your accustomed day melt utterly away. The songs of thrush and robin and lark slant through the soft murmur of breezes that are never harsh, and that don't interrupt even the lowest whisper of words.

Are you foolish to let these dreams come? Certainly NOT. The best things in life are dreamed FIRST.

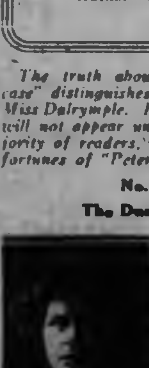
The Dust Hunter.



LEONA DALRYMPLE

ALL of which brings me to some very definite thoughts on housekeeping. A woman who thinks and dreams dust is as great a bore as a nagging wife. She is a nagging wife, for she hunts a man to death with her views on order. A dust expert can never be a philosopher! There's something about the microscopic inspection of corners and the backs of pictures that kills every germ of mental growth. A head hunter is a mild lunatic compared with a genuine dust hunter. Both, however, have that wild, determined look in their eyes.

The dust hunter furtively runs her fingers over inaccessible mantelpieces in a neighbor's house; she finds the dark patch inadvertently forgotten; she longs to dust the trees and fences. With some excellent women this sort of thing is an obsession. And I am not one to decry the beauty of orderly, systematic housekeeping. I like to see a house run with perfect regularity. I don't want to see dust. Neither do I want to hear about it constantly. The wheels of a perfect house machine should run without creaking, and the family who are not immediately concerned in the oiling should not be troubled by the sound of wheels.

Many a man has been driven forth to his club by a frantic housekeeper. The husband of a real dust hunter may never unexpectedly bring his friends home to dinner. Not but what the house will be spotless—it assuredly will—but the mind of the dust hunter will be so disarranged and upset by his unmethodical conduct that he'll never repeat the experiment. For the genuine dust hunter who thinks of nothing else never has a sense of humor. She couldn't have and stay a dust hunter.

If her husband brings a man home to dinner she'd rather know about it days before and make endless preparations, for if by chance he does succumb to temptation and bring home the unexpected guest, she's sure to remember that the southwest corner behind the bathtub hasn't been dusted for two hours, and she will be distraught for the rest of the meal.

A man once told me how his wife had been very ill for weeks and how finally there was much preparation when it was time for her to come downstairs for her first dinner with the family. One of the daughters, knowing her mother's inordinate passion for dustlessness, had conscientiously gone over and over the house until she was utterly tired out, and when at last it was time to escort the invalid mother down they all assembled at the foot of the stairs tired—but smiling.

And the mother? Well, she was a real dust hunter. She didn't see the spotless order of the rest of the house. She looked at her oldest daughter, and pointed suggestively up the stairs.

"Amelia," she said, "there's a patch of railing up there on the stairs that hasn't been dusted for days I'm sure."

And Amelia nearly fainted. She'd tucked a memorandum of that section of railing away in her mind for reference and forgotten it completely. But she trotted dutifully upstairs and dusted it before her mother could go on with her dinner.

Now that mother was a real dust hunter! She didn't have any regard for feelings—merely for dust. A real philosophical homekeeper would have smiled and praised the beautiful order of the house, she would have thought first of the loving, patient fingers that had tried so hard to make it faultless, and she'd have wisely forgotten and forgiven that single forgotten patch of dust.

And the difference, I take it, is this. Some women are homekeepers and some are housekeepers. They're very, very different jobs. The dust hunter is a housekeeper. The mother with philosophy and humor, a wholesome desire for neatness and an equally wholesome desire for the comfort of her family is a homekeeper in the truest sense of the word. Mary is getting to be a wonderful housekeeper. Mother, thank heaven, is a homekeeper.

Secrets of Health and Happiness

Why Your Skin Sunburns; What Tanned Faces Show

By DR. LEONARD KEENE HIRSHBERG

A. B., M. A., M. D. (Johns Hopkins).

DR. HIRSHBERG

THE light that through yonder window breaks from the east will tan many a fair Juliet's cheek this summer. The pretty cheeks, which hold pretty dimples and Cupid's bows—hollows made by health and love—are buried in a sea of tan.

The spots of certain summer animals and creatures of the tropics are due both remotely to ancestry and directly to the effects of the sun. Pigmentation is the name given to this condition in mankind. It is a peppery black deposit in the skin due to the invisible rays of Old Sol. These rays burn the hemoglobin, or red blood stuff, out of the tissue units and deposit them in the upper layers of the skin.

Ethiopians, Moors, Indians, Cubans and inhabitants of the tropics have this pigmentation to an extensive degree. Yet a man or girl who spends July, August and September in the glorious outdoors returns in the autumn with this great, dark badge of health. He or she is indistinguishable from a Japanese or other big brown man.

The fetish of the sun bath is wooed, nourished and worshipped justly in some instances—unjustly in others. That is to say, the sun is essentially a boon and yet at times a hindrance to health. Notably to infants, the aged and the debilitated when it causes "insolation" or sunstroke.

Have you observed the silhouette of tan upon a swimmer or a bather? If you are one of those who wore a peek-a-boo waist you may have noted last summer the tattoo of tan in beautiful outlines of lace upon your bosom.

If you did not burn and then tan, you were ill, or, physically speaking, below par. If you tan after a few weeks in the burning summer sun, it is the high sign of health. If you remain pale and unaffected by the season's rays, you must, perforce, look to your health.

The Arab tanned by tropic sun, the galley slave browned beside his oar, the nomad with sandals torn by toilsome travel and face tawny from the scorching rays show by this pigmentation the vitality that is theirs.

Useful Hints for the Housewife

By Ann Marie Lloyd

WHY is it, when the old-fashioned biscuit crust is so delicious for shortcakes, and every one seems to prefer it, that the average restaurant serves a dry, tasteless cake abomination with a mess of berries thereon and calls it "shortcake"? The genuine biscuit shortcake is simply made, and the veriest amateur need have no fear in attempting it.

Here is a rule given me by a southern cook whose biscuits have delighted the palate of many great men and famous women: "It's as easy made, honey," said she, "as rollin' off a log—only, you got to be light-handed. Heavy-handed folks ain't got no bisness messin' round cookin' nohow."

Take two cups of flour, into which have been sifted four teaspoonfuls of baking powder and half a teaspoonful of salt. Work into it with the fingers four tablespoonfuls of lard or butter. Add gradually a scant cup of milk, and mix with a knife.

Toss on a floured board and roll to about three-quarters of an inch thickness. Bake in individual cakes as biscuit or in jelly cake tins and split.

Shortcake is so allied to bread that it may not be amiss to give a recipe for corn bread, as this same good old cook gives it:

One cup cornmeal, one cup flour, one-quarter cup sugar, three and one-half teaspoonfuls of baking powder, half a teaspoonful of salt.

Mix them thoroughly, then add a well-beaten egg, a cup of milk and two tablespoonfuls of melted butter. "And beat like the very old mischief," admonishes the cook. Bake in a shallow pan for 20 minutes, or if you wish to have it in the form of muffins, fill muffin pans with the same mixture and add five minutes to the baking time.

A woman who has a family of growing boys and girls with ever whetted appetites, says there is nothing to equal nut bread for wholesome deliciousness, and that, served with a glass of milk, it forms the midsummer luncheon for herself and her children at least six days in the week.

To make this nutritious and palatable bread, mix well together four cups of flour, seven teaspoonfuls of baking powder, a teaspoonful of salt and three-quarters of a cup of sugar. (She says "The brown sugar seems to give a better flavor than the white.") Then add a cup and a half of milk, into which an egg has been beaten. When thoroughly mixed, stir in a cup of chopped nut meats and bake in an ordinary long bread tin for three-quarters of an hour.

These warm summer mornings when fruit forms so large a part of the diet and even toast has an unpleasantly substantial sound, popovers, which are the nearest to "nothing to eat," and yet very appealing to nearly all palates, have a distinct place.

Add enough of a scant cup of milk to a cup of flour, into which a salt spoon of salt has been sifted until it is a paste. Then add the rest of the milk and a well-beaten egg, and beat the whole mixture for five minutes. To be made really good popovers must be beaten. Have the gem pans hot and buttered, and fill them within a third of the top. Bake for 30 minutes, reducing the temperature of a very hot oven after the first 10 minutes.

If they are a success they will literally pop over the edge of the pan and be crispy, and, as the old cook said, "fittin' to melt in your mouf."

Advice to Girls

By ANNIE LAURIE

Dear Annie Laurie:

I am corresponding with a young man, and have been for a few months, and he wishes to come to see me this summer. I am undecided about telling him to come, for I have never met him. What shall I do about it? Let him come or not?

UNDECIDED.

WHY don't you want him to come to see you? Are you afraid he won't like you, or do you fear that you won't like him?

What is it you want for a friend, a dream or a reality? Ask him to come, tell him you'll be delighted to see him, and then have him come straight to your home.

Put on your prettiest frock, do your hair your prettiest way, smile your sweetest, and get in and get acquainted with the real man who will want to know the real you as you really are.

Letters tell so little, so very little. A man may write the most charming letter in the world and be at heart a selfish brute. He may write a tiresome, conventional letter and turn out to be—when you know him—a man of real character and great charm of personality.

Don't worry if you're not pretty. If he likes you he'll think you're pretty. If he doesn't like you he'd think you hideous if you were the Venus de Milo herself, even with the arms.

Don't put on airs, don't pretend to be something or to know something or to look something that you are not.

Is your home simple and old-fashioned? Don't be ashamed of it. Probably the man lives in a boarding house and is so homesick that an old-fashioned sitting room with a plush album on the centre table and a what-not with shells on it in the corner will look like paradise to him.

Write and tell him you're waiting for him and want him to come, and when he comes you'll know more about whether you'll like him or not in the first five minutes you're with him than you would through a year's correspondence.

I hope he'll get there in June when the roses are all ablow. And I hope you'll look like the sweetest rose of all—to him.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only Constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

Returning From a Wake

Mary McGoan, aged seventy, Donegal, was returning at a late hour with her daughter from the wake of a relative in the district. The night being very dark the daughter carried a lamp, which was blown out by the wind, and the pair became separated. The old woman in the darkness lost her way and fell into a drain. She succeeded in extricating herself, but, not knowing her whereabouts, crossed a field and stumbled over a stone into another drain, where she perished.

A signalwoman was employed on a line between Morebath and Bampton, in England, for twenty-three years. At other English stations there are women who not only manage the signals, but issue tickets and do all the work in connection with the trains. More women probably are employed on the railways in Russia than in any other European country. There are computed to be between 25,000 and 30,000 women working on the Russian State railways. They act as gatekeepers, clerks, and telegraphers. Their salaries are small. Women attendants at the stations receive only about $21.25 a year, with free lodging and certain extras. Women clerks receive about $300 a year.

COPPER

The Red Metal

MILLIONS OF TONS OF PAY ORE

We have coal, fluxes and copper ores in unlimited quantities—

We have an estate of about 11,500 acres—

We have water, timber, and as fine a climate as there is in the world, which admits of working throughout the entire year—

We have spent years of time and thousands of dollars in getting this project into shape where we can consistently offer you a share in it—where your investment will be safe—where your interests will be safeguarded and your profits much greater than they are in the average manufacturing or commercial undertaking.

By cutting through the formation with streams, ages old, Nature has done much to demonstrate the existence of these great ore bodies and this, supplemented by the openings made by man, has proven that within this area there are at least five veins more than three miles long, and having an average width of fourteen feet, with an average content of 2.51 per cent. of copper metal.

Coal for fuel, Lime and Iron for fluxes, are abundant, easily mined and all within the boundaries of this estate. They can be cheaply obtained and economically transported to the site where it is proposed to build a smelter for reducing to matte or bullion this unlimited supply of copper ore.

Costs of every needed thing will be minimized to a degree impossible under less favorable conditions, and profits proportionately increased. Labor is cheap, and much of the food supply required is raised on the estate.

The ore supply is practically inexhaustible; engineers and geologists have estimated the depth of these enormous veins to be at least 3,000 feet.

At this time the enterprise is just getting under way and those who take advantage of the opportunity to secure a share in it now will, so far as finite judgment can reach, reap rewards far beyond the proportions of any investment at present made. For particulars and details of this magnificent enterprise, address

The known quality of high-grade springs proves the standard efficiency of the Temco — long double coil sensitive to the least jar— tough and tested quality to outlast any car. Headlight on Horse

A lover of horses has adopted a novel method of protecting his driving animals from automobiles. An electric light is fitted to the bridle between the ears, being fed by a storage battery carried in the harness saddle.

By this means the horse warns an approaching automobile of danger and also enables his master to pick his way with more certainty on dark roads.

Nelson's Battered Hands

Battling Nelson, who has quit the fight game many times and has finally decided never again to appear in the ring blames it all on his hands. Every other part of him that counts—his jaw, eyes, heart and strength—they're all there. But the fists that have put many a fighter under an anesthetic are feeble and broken, and they have become useless as a means of earning a living in the ring. Everyone knows what a wonderful fighter Bat was when going at his real clip. He would be just as good to-day if he had a pair of hands he could use. Every bone in them has been broken at least once. "I've made quite a bit at fighting," says Nelson. "But if my hands had been able to stand up under the wear and tear as well as my legs and jaw and eyes and wind, I'd still be there. There's no fun in being a second-rater—and a man can't fight without a pair of hands."

Maeterlinck on Boxing

Maurice Maeterlinck, the Belgian author, said in an interview on the subject of boxing: "It is the discipline of violence; it is violence civilized by conventions that are almost courtesies. The boxer is never a rowdy. On the contrary, his knowledge gives him self-confidence. Combative instincts are an integral part of our nature; the man who lacks them lacks mental energy."

A THREE-HOUR BOUT

The Great "Hack" Tells of His Hardest Mat Struggle

"In the course of a lengthy career as both an amateur and professional wrestler," says George Hackenschmidt, the famous wrestler, in the Strand, "I have taken part in so many strenuous bouts on the mat that I find it a matter of extreme difficulty to pin myself down to one performance as being my best. However, after carefully running over my record, I think I must give my vote to my success in the Great Budapest tournament.

"In this important Continental tournament I defeated Albert de Paris in five minutes, Aimable in 25 minutes, and Vandenberg in 24 minutes. 'So far,' I remember thinking at the time, 'things seem fairly easy for me.' Then came my bout with the famous Turk Kara Ahmed. The struggle which followed I shall never forget as long as I live. For three solid hours we wrestled and wrestled, until it seemed as if the contest would go on far into the night. At one moment Kara Ahmed seemed to be possessed of a winning advantage; then positions were reversed, and I looked to be 'top dog.' At the end of the third hour we were both almost as strong as at the start, but at last I saw a favorable opportunity. With the quickness of a panther I seized it, and in a trice the Turk's mountain of shoulders were pinned to the ground."

Scratching Post For Hogs

If a hog knew how to tell his wants he would demand a scratching post for himself. A successful hog-grower adopts this plan. Firmly plant a hickory or oak post four inches in diameter in the hog run. Coil a rope around the post as high as a hog stands and staple it on securely. Then thoroughly saturate the rope with crude petroleum and it becomes an ideal scratching post for hogs and pigs. They will rub against it continually and oil is fatal to vermin. Kerosene can be used but it evaporates too readily.

How People Feel

When They Have

Tape Worm

Tape worm is bred from a parasite. This parasite is a creature male and female in one. It is a pear shape, having two, four and six suckers. It lays the eggs, which are only connected together with slime. They develop and form a body, which is the worm. Each joint is an individual, having a sucker or mouth. The worm grows to be much longer than the bowels where it is located, and sometimes a whole colony of them are found, enough to fill a quart of solid worm, and when put in a bucket of water would apparently fill it. It is the hardest task in the world to destroy this parasite without doing injury to the individual who may be so unfortunate as to have it, as the parasite clings to the bowels, freeing itself from the body of the worm, and remains there to breed another. It is an internal demon and causes its victims to suffer all the symptoms of disease imaginable. The cleverest physicians are led to believe the patient is suffering from some other disease, as nearly every person has different symptoms. Some have been treated for cancer of the bowels, consumption of the bowels, consumption of the lungs, chronic dyspepsia, nervous prostration, melancholia, hypochondria, hysteria, inflammation of the bowels, appendicitis and other complaints, when one or more of these internal demons were eating their lives away.

Prof. Mulveney has made the discovery to free the victim of this monster without injury to the system, destroying the parasite as well as expelling the worm with one dose of medicine without any previous starvation. Visit his office, where he has in his possession the most wonderful collection of these death-dealing monsters in the world, which have been expelled from hundreds of people by his famous remedy, some bottles containing colonies of worms and anyone seeing them cannot imagine how a person could possibly live with them in his bowels. It is surprising the number of people that have them. Thousands have them and are not aware of the fact. The letters and testimonials the Professor has in his possession are enough to convince one of this alarming fact. Some of the most prominent symptoms are: ravenous appetite, dizzy spells, headaches, cramps in the bowels, a feeling of something moving in the bowels, also a feeling as though something was crawling up the throat. The only certainty of having one in the system is when segments or joints are seen, which come away almost any time. They are flat and from [illegible] of an inch to 1 inch long, which have often been mistaken for pin worms by those who do not know the difference. There are many other feelings of distress which would take long to enumerate. Strange to say, some people of strong constitution, have very little distress.

Prof. Mulveney's world-famous Tape Worm Exterminator is safe, sure and harmless. No starvation, no danger, is not disagreeable to take. One dose nearly always effects a cure. Further information free. Send stamped envelope, telephone Parkdale [illegible], or call at 167 Dundas street, Toronto. Open from 6 a.m. to 10 p.m. daily.

THE READING HABIT

Sooner or later we all of us need some kind of consolation and diversion; for the world is not invented to suit any one man's fancy, and the continuous clash of wills is bound to bring about a certain amount of sorrow to everyone. Of all consolations, the cheapest, the easiest, the most effective, is a passion for the printed page. To be able to step out of our immediate environment at will, to roam the centuries, to scour the earth, to beckon the spheres, to have all the best minds ready to serve our need—this is the gift for the reader.

Reading, like everything else, is a matter of habit. The little child, as a rule, finds it painful and certainly less alluring than action. But habit perfects one in this matter, and the life with books may become as vital, as real, as consoling as a life with society. Moreover, as soon as one has learned to love them, books never fail us; they are always accessible, always willing to yield up their secrets, always sympathetic.

In life one cannot always cultivate the associations we would like. The people you want to know may live at the other ends of the earth, or their moods may be variable, or their interests other than yours; but in a world of books we can literally choose just what we want for our own immediate consolation.

On the whole, there is nothing in the world, perhaps, so repays a person as acquiring the habit of reading.—"Harper's Weekly."

DANGEROUS CARGOES

The average landsman believes dynamite to be the worst cargo a ship can carry, but the sailor knows better. Jack would tell you that carbide of calcium is a deal more dangerous than dynamite. This is the chemical from which acetylene gas is made, and the gas is constantly given off if the carbide is exposed to air. Some time ago the Hamburg barque "Hebe" was towed into Plymouth Sound in a disabled condition. Aboard her were 200 tons of carbide. All the war vessels in the Sound were ordered to take refuge, and the "Hebe" forbidden to come in for repairs until the whole of her perilous cargo had been removed by a War Department barge.

The cargo carried by the burned "Volturno" was of a sort calculated to make a pretty bonfire. It included rags, meat meal, barrels of spirits, tar, and oils, together with drums of various chemicals. Small wonder that water had little effect in subduing the flames.

Chemicals form a very dangerous cargo, especially acids, such as nitric or sulphuric, which are both carried in tens of thousands of tons in the course of a year.

COST OF GOOD ROADS

The Coast Province Has Spent Much Money and Will Spend More

In the past 10 years the government of British Columbia has spent over $30,000,000 in roads and trails. There are in existence 30,000 miles of completed or partly completed roads, and from all parts of the province come numerous demands for roads, bridges, etc.

With a view to determining the requirements in the way of new roads, and in the bringing up to standard of existing roads, the Department of Works compiled estimates for the necessities of the future. The information was derived from road superintendents throughout the province, and was supplemented by statements of the character of the country to be served and the reasons for their construction.

To link up the system of roads, as shown by the estimates received, will require the sum of $55,000,000, not including the requirements of the years to come. In a rougher way it has been estimated that between $100,000,000 and $125,000,000 will be ultimately required.

What an asset, this inherited instinct to work! I inherited an instinct as strong to shoot and ride to hounds. I know heaps of things which are darkest mystery to you. You know absolutely nothing about the most interesting subject on earth—woman.—From "Loot" by Horace Annesley Vachell.

You've made a new man out of me, maybe the stuff isn't much, but there is a soul in it somewhere. You've given that soul something to get a grip on.—From Randall Parrish's "Gordon Craig, Soldier of Fortune."

If a horse thief knows that there's merely a chance the community will get mad enough to hang him, he'll take that chance in hope it may not be the time. If on the other hand he knows that every time he steals a horse he's going to be caught and fixed even, he thinks a long time before he steals it.—From "Gold," by Stewart Edward White.

"Nothing makes a woman more glad than to have a well-seen husband."—From "Ladies Whose Bright Eyes," by F. M. Hueffer.

My one idea is to make him as happy as I can, and when a woman does this for a man, I don't think she has time to run around by herself.—From Ellen Glasgow's "Virginia."

Try This at Ottawa

A protest has been raised against the amount of public money which American legislators spend on baths. The sum expended by the House of Representatives last year was $4,200. But the free bath is not the only privilege the representatives of the American people enjoy. They can get a free shave and a free hair-cut as often as they have a mind to. They can even get their faces massaged and their hands manicured at the public cost.

Footrace Decides Rent

An ancient custom of a race deciding the rent was witnessed at Bourne (Lincolnshire) recently. A race was run by two boys during the letting of the Whitebread Meadow, and upon the return of the winning boy the last bidder was returned the tenant for the year. After expenses are paid the rent money is spent in bread, which is distributed to householders in the town.

To Clean a Coat Collar

A tablespoonful of powdered ammonia in half a teacupful of water is a safe cleaning mixture. Dip into it a piece of cloth and rub the soiled coat collar until it is clean. Alcohol or benzine will do the work, but should be applied out of doors, away from fire or lights, to prevent accident.

LATEST FROM APSLEY.

Berry picking is the principal occupation of the women and kids these days. Strawberries and raspberries were a fairly good crop; huckleberries are scarce. It has been unusually dry in this section. Hay is light. Other crops are not up to the standard, grasshoppers are doing a great deal of damage in parts of Chandos and Coe Hill.

A gentleman of Toronto has purchased Mr. Kennedy's cottage, Loon Lake and with his family is now occupying it. He is much pleased with the location.

A much needed rain fell here Thursday 23rd., which will help the root crop and pasture. It will help to put out the fires that have been raging in the P.L. Company's limits N. W. of Apsley the past few days. Surely the warning from last summer's fires should have made people more careful about setting out fire in such a dry time. The law in that respect seems to be a dead letter with some people. It was in that section the big fires started last year.

The Methodist Minister, Rev. Mr. Carr and family, have taken up their residence in Apsley.

J. D. Hardill of Rishors Ltd., made his regular trip to Apsley on the 22nd John has never failed to be on time, and as usual secured good orders from the Apsley merchants.

The Story of the Films

One of the strongest features of the moving picture industry, which has ensured the permanency of the new field, is the compelling interest the Camera Stories have for us all. The appeal of the movies is felt by everyone who has witnessed the mute triumph of the story-teller, the faithful limning of the artist, the guiding hand of the educator and economist. The film takes amuse us with rollicking comedies, entertain us by reproduction of the world-famous dramatic efforts portrayed by the greatest living artists, educate us by placing before our eyes secrets of science which would never have been revealed to the casual eye in the passing. The amount of good accomplished by the various uplift societies in teaching the unfortunates how to better conditions cannot be estimated.

Thus it will be seen the Movie is no longer a fad or a toy, but a useful and important factor in our economic system, and of vital importance to every phase of society.

We all know how it "struck" us at first—the younger members of the family tried to induce us to go to the "picture show." Finally, a grudging consent was given, and we went. Our mind was all made up, we'd go once and get it over with. If you have made that first trip you know the rest. You are a confirmed "Movie Fan." David Belasco, perhaps the most famous and brilliant playwright and producer in the world, said that after avoiding the moving picture for five years, "within the past three months I have witnessed magnificent photo-play productions, which not alone converted me into being a 'Movie Fan,' but practically demonstrated to me that motion pictures within a few short years will surpass in splendor and perfectness of production the stage productions at their best."

The story of the growth of the industry during the past few years reads like a fairy tale. Those who did the pioneer work made fortunes, but the newer demands have created a scope of usefulness such as the early comers never dreamed of. Most of the film-producing companies are close corporations, and it is impossible to secure accurate statistics as to earnings.

It is said the Vitagraph Company commenced business with three stockholders and only $10,000 in capital. The business is now worth many millions.

The Mutual Company has paid 7 per cent. on its preferred stock since organization in April, 1912, and six months later commenced paying 1 per cent. per month on the common stock which had been given away as bonus. The gross business of this company is stated to be $7,000,000 annually.

The New York Motion Picture Company pays 2 per cent. monthly. Has an authorised capital of $1,000,000.

The Biograph Company pays 1 per cent. monthly on $1,990,000 outstanding.

Century Film Co.

Has entered the field as a producer of high-class moving picture films. Its officers and directors are men of long and successful experience in the theatrical business, and its various branches, each with a peculiar skill essential to the successful conduct of the moving picture business, together forming a combination which should rapidly bring the company to the top amongst high-class producers.

The Company is incorporated under the laws of the State of New York, with an authorized capital of $300,000, divided into 60,000 shares of $5.00 each, 24,000 of which are being offered at par.

We offer for Public Subscription a Limited Amount of These Shares at Five Dollars.

Bones Like Egg-shells

Remarkable medical evidence was given at an inquest at Newport, Isle of Wight, on a Parkhurst convict named Coe. It was stated by the medical officer that the man suffered from malignant cancer, which, starting in the bone of the nose spread all over the body, rendering the bones as thin as an egg-shell, and quite unable to support the body. In this condition he had a fall, fracturing both his arms and both his legs.

Why They Are Cold

Do you know why a dog's nose and a woman's elbow are always cold? Because, according to an old country superstition when Noah went into the Ark he found that he had forgotten his tools, and had to use first a dog's nose, and then his wife's elbow, to stop a leak.

Belgrade is Bombarded--Germany Tells Russia to Stop Mobilizing Her Army Soldiers

SERVIAN CAPITAL HAS BEEN STORMED AND A BIG BRIDGE IS DESTROYED

Bombardment Takes Place Despite Official Advice By Austria That the Territorial Rights of Servia Would Be Respected--Nations are Missing Troops at Strategic Points

St. Petersburg, July 29.—A despatch from Belgrade says the Servian capital has been bombarded and the bridge over the River Save was blown up.

Berlin, July 29.—Orders for the mobilization of the German army were drawn up and signed to-day. They will be promulgated at the first official information of a warlike movement on the part of the Czar.

The German diplomatic office in St. Petersburg is in constant communication with the Government here. It is known that the Kaiser and the Czar have been in direct communication during the last twenty-four hours.

Paris, July 29.—The Temps says Russia was officially informed about half-past twelve to-day, that Austria-Hungary would respect the territorial integrity of Servia, and wishes even to abstain from occupying Belgrade, the Servian capital.

British Fleet Sails.

Portland, Eng., July 29.—The first British fleet left her moorings to-day under secret orders from the Admiralty. Its destination is believed to be the North Sea. All patients were removed from the ships' hospitals before the fleet's departure. Admiral Callaghan is in command.

Prepare for War.

St. Petersburg, July 29.—Russian officials believe their country will be at war within a short time. Prince Trubetzkoi, Chief of the Near Eastern Division of the Foreign Office, said to-day: "The situation has reached the most dangerous point." It is known that all the members of the Crown Council have advised the Czar to prepare for war.

Prepare for Greater War.

London, July 29.—While Austria-Hungary was to-day preparing to strike at Servia, against whom she yesterday declared war, the rest of the European nations, although still hoping that the conflict would be localized, were getting ready for the greater war that must ensue in case Russia should intervene on behalf of the small Slav nation.

The state of the stock market in London showed to-day that the situation was considered grave and the anxiety was added to by the issue of orders to the British fleet at Portland to sail for a destination which was not revealed to the public.

THE WEATHER.

To-day—Fine and cool.

WHY ULSTER RESISTS

At bottom the Irish question is a religious question. It is for national and religious reasons that Mr. Redmond and his allies desire a Legislature at Dublin. It is for national and religious reasons that Ulster fears and resists the Nationalist movement. Without consultation with the leaders of Ulster the Home Rule Bill was forced through the Imperial House of Commons. By coercion Ulster is to be made subject to the south of Ireland. But no people worth the bread that gives life or the independence that commands respect would submit to such treatment, and Radical journals ought to know that if the people of Ulster did not fight for exclusion they would deserve the world's contempt.

TERROR REIGNS IN RUSSIAN POLAND

Revolutionists Blew Up Powder Magazine With Dynamite Bombs

MANY PERSONS ARE KILLED

Warsaw Citadel Also Said to Have Been Blown to Pieces

Vienna, July 29.—A reign of terror prevails in Warsaw, Russian Poland. Revolutionists have blown up several powder magazines with dynamite bombs. Several bombs were exploded at the principal post office, and many persons were killed and injured. One despatch asserts that the whole Warsaw citadel was blown up. The structure known as the Alexandria citadel was the chief military headquarters on the north side of the city. The first sign of an outbreak came on Monday when a magazine of one of the fifteen Warsaw forts was blown up. Explosions in others followed.

The town Council of Lindsay has hired a woman at $10 a week to look after an old lady who is going to be sent to a sanitarium at the town's expense.

ONLY A FEW SHOTS HAVE BEEN FIRED

Belgrade is at Mercy of Enemy and Servian Army is in Hiding

London, July 29.—The correspondent of The Daily Chronicle at Semlin telegraphing Tuesday, says there have been no active hostilities between Austria and Servia beyond the exchange of shots between frontier and river patrols.

"The last of the foreign residents in Belgrade," the correspondent adds "have just crossed to this side of the river on a steamer flying the Russian flag. Meanwhile the Servian army gives no sign of life. No trace can be found of such an army. Searching parties have been unable to locate the elusive Serbs. It seems as if the campaign is to be carried on under revised war rules—a game of hide and seek, in which until now the Servians are hiding. Belgrade itself is now at the mercy of the enemy."

GREAT BRITAIN CAN SAVE SITUATION

Such is Brief in Russia--Report of Closing of Black Sea Lighthouse

London, July 29.—The Times Constantinople correspondent says "Russia has ordered all the lights along Russian Black Sea coast extinguished except the Chersonese lighthouse, near Sebastopol. The harbor of Sebastopol has been closed to all but Russian warships, the correspondent adds. A despatch to The Times from St. Petersburg says Russian statesmen are unanimous in the belief that Great Britain alone can save the situation.

A Durazzo despatch to The Times says a report received in Durazzo from an Austrian Lloyd source, declares that the Austrians have blockaded the Montenegrin port of Antivari.

POLICE FED STARVING

Swansea, July 29.—Before placing her husband under arrest on a charge of stealing $157 from the Matthews-Blackwell Co., wholesale provision merchants, Detectives Newton and Levitt supplied Mrs. Charles Boyce with enough money to buy food for her starving children when they called at the house at Windermere avenue last night. They found Mrs. Boyce and her two children in a starving condition. The house was barely furnished and there was not a sign of food in the place. The officers handed her some money and then escorted her husband to the police station.

Boyce was employed as a driver for the company and is charged with not having turned in all the money he collected. He says that he turned in every cent that he collected.

LAST SECTION TRENT CANAL UNDER WAY

Whole Scheme in Sight of Early Completion

The Borden Government has let the contract for the last section of the Trent Canal. This is just one more example of what may be done by an administration that does not attempt to play politics with great public works, but concerns itself solely with the business of giving the public the proper facilities they require as speedily as those facilities can be provided.

The history of the Trent Canal under the Laurier Government is a history of shameless political by-play. The canal project is a very old one. Construction was begun many years ago. Under the Laurier administration the Trent Canal was the most remarkable waterway in the world. It had no outlet. Projected from Lake Ontario to the Georgian Bay, it had no terminal at either point. The Lake Ontario section was never placed under contract by the Liberals for the reason that political capital might be made out of inaction. The towns of Port Hope and Trenton were rival aspirants for the lake terminus of the canal, and by giving half promises to each place the Laurier Government sought to get votes from both.

Remained Uncompleted.

The game was played for years and all the time the canal remained uncompleted. As to the Severn River division connecting with the Georgian Bay, the Liberal Government never bothered about it at all. Then there was the famous Holland River section, the little side canal which was to be built to Newmarket from Lake Simcoe, in a then Liberal constituency. The Laurier Government, for political purposes, started the construction of this section at heavy expense. There was no business offering in such volume as to warrant the construction, and there was no means of filling the canal with water after it had been dug. The Borden Government stopped this farce on coming into office. They stopped work on the Holland River section, they put the canal under contract down to Lake Ontario at Trenton and they sent engineers to go over the Severn River division connecting with the Georgian Bay. That division is now all under contract.

All Under Contract.

The whole canal is either completed or under contract. It will in a short time be a reality, after being for so many years no more than a dream. It will bisect Ontario, providing another channel for the outlet of the Western wheat, and providing also a tourist route of unequalled beauty and great historic interest, connecting, as it will, the chain of lakes and rivers followed by Champlain in his journey of discovery to the Georgian Bay.

Warrant Issued for Arrest of Missing Physician After Discovery--Fatal Operation is Now Suspected--Detectives Now Scouring the Country for Trace of the Doctor

Tamworth, July 29.—In the unearthing last night in the basement of Dr. C. K. Robinson's house, of the body of Miss Blanche Yorke, who mysteriously disappeared from here three weeks ago, what appears to be one of the most revolting and cunningly-executed crimes in recent history has been brought to light. The case is only paralleled by the famous Dr. Crippen case of three years ago.

To-day the country is being scoured for traces of Dr. Robinson, who also vanished seven days after the disappearance of the girl. A warrant for his arrest has been issued on a charge of murder.

That the young woman met her death in the doctor's house is practically certain. In the early part of the evening of July 8 she had been treated by him for an hour and forty minutes in his office on Main street.

Police Far From Scent.

So far from the correct scent were the police, that two searches of the house by Detective Miller failed to reveal what a furniture dealer at length discovered yesterday, when he visited the house to make a seizure of the doctor's effects for debt. The detective also had the guard removed from the house.

The body was discovered about 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon, while Mr. J. Taylor, acting under an order of seizure, was removing unpaid for furniture from the house. While taking a mattress from one of the beds he noticed several bloodstains. This aroused his curiosity and upon raising the blind he found others on the floor.

Brothers Found Body.

He immediately sent out an alarm. With the two Yorke brothers and town constable Woods a further search was started in the house.

In the basement a sickening odor was encountered. The party became excited. Moving a number of old boxes, they found that the earth underneath had been freshly dug.

With a spade one of the brothers began removing the earth. Three inches from the top of the ground he discovered the body of his sister.

The news spread like lightning through the town and in a few minutes the house was crowded with the townspeople.

An inquest was later open.

AMERICA'S SOCIAL LEADERS CAPTURED BY GREEK DANCING.

At Mrs. Lawrence L. Gillespie's lawn fete, given on the spacious Gillespie estate at Newport, one of the principal features was the Greek dancing by society girls who had been trained in the intricate movements of the classical dances by Mlle. Inga Sentum, a social favorite at the Newport colony.

In addition to appearing in the group dances Mlle. Sentum danced a solo, polka classique, which took the assemblage by storm. Newport's leading families, as well as members of the Spanish, Russian and German embassies summering at the resort, and army and navy officers of the naval station, witnessed the dance.

Included in the audience were Mrs. Stuyvesant Fish, Mrs. Elsie French Vanderbilt, Mrs. Lorillard Spencer, Jr., Mrs. Eugene Renaud, Mrs. Herbert Harriman, Mrs. August Belmont, and others of the social elect.

PETES WIN THE RUBBER FROM TORONTO, WELL-PLAYED GAME

Fox Makes Home Run in Second Inning--Good Fielding a Feature--Booster Day With Hamilton Here

There was a large attendance at the Baseball Park yesterday afternoon, to witness the struggle for the rubber in the series with Toronto, and it was some struggle.

Schettler did the twirling for the Petes and in his usual good style had the Toronto aggregation eating out of his hand, and the boys gave him the best of support.

In the second innings Fox planted the pill down the first base line and before it stopped it had reached the river. Frank kept on going and when he came to he had crossed the home plate and incidentally captured a fine pipe and a good box of cigars which were put up for the first home run made by one of the Petes at Riverside Park by the Central Cigar Store (Clydesdale's).

Another feature of the game yesterday was the fielding of Mr. Blount, who on one occasion in the ninth innings, pulled down a long one and the ball was travelling so fast that the force of it turned the little fellow in the centre garden over twice, but Curley does not let a little thing like that bother him he hung on to the pill and the game.

The score stood 3—2 for the Petes.

To-day is Boosters Day and it is expected that a large number will be on hand to boost. A band will be in attendance.

Hamilton is the visiting team for to-day and the tail-enders will no doubt be a little chesty while being led to the grounds by a band, but we hope that the Ambitious aggregation will not get nervous when they see a real large crowd at a ball game.

UNLIMITED DIGESTIVE POWERS

The Eskimo Suffers No Ill Effects From His Great Appetite

The Eskimo is said to defy all the laws of hygiene and thrive. He eats until he is satisfied, but is said to never be satisfied while a shred of the feast remains unconsumed. His capacity is limited by the supply and by that only.

The Eskimo cannot make any mistake about the manner of cooking his food, since, as a rule, he does not cook it. Nor, so far as the blubber or fat of the Arctic animal is concerned, is the Eskimo concerned about his manner of eating it. Indeed he may be said not to eat it at all. He cuts it into long strips an inch wide and an inch thick and then lowers the strip down his throat as one might lower a rope down a well.

Despite all this, the Eskimo does not suffer from indigestion. He can make a good meal off the flesh and skin of the walrus, provisions so hard and gritty that in cutting up the animal the knife must be continually sharpened.

The teeth of the little Eskimo child will, it is said by those in a position to know, meet in a bit of walrus skin as the teeth of a Canadian child will meet in the flesh of an apple, although the hide of the walrus is from half an inch to an inch in thickness and bears considerable resemblance to the hide of an elephant. The Eskimo child will bite it and digest it and never know what dyspepsia

ABOUT EMERALDS

The emerald was the gem most highly prized by the ancients. Nero, who was near-sighted, looked at the contests of gladiators through an eyeglass of emerald, and concave glasses of emerald seem to have been particularly esteemed among the old Romans. The emerald is supposed to bestow hope, constancy, and fidelity in love affairs and in friendship, and is much prized as a betrothal ring. The power of bestowing faith, immortality, and wealth has also been attributed to the emerald, as well as that of revealing falsehood and treachery.

Emeralds were said at one time to have strong medicinal virtues. Reduced to powder and swallowed, they were believed to cure the bites and stings of all venomous creatures, and to be a remedy for fever and other ailments. An emerald hung round the neck was supposed to be efficacious in melancholia, and to restore sight and memory, dispel terror, guard against epilepsy, and drive away sorcerers and evil spirits, and if applied to the mouth it was said to stop hemorrhage.

If the jewel turned dull or pale, however, it was thought an ill omen for the wearer, and it was also considered unlucky if the stone fell from its setting. At the coronation of George III., a large emerald dropped from the crown; this was considered an omen of the loss of America, and the madness of the unhappy monarch in later years. Old writers dwelt much on the beauty of the stone, which "passeth all grene thing in grenenesse." Pliny related many curious things about the stone, which he highly esteemed, and Chaucer mentions "emeraudes" among the gems in the sparkling circlet which adorned the head of Richesse.

A Queer Bird

The shoe-bill is the Mona Lisa of the Zoo. Born to blush unseen in the almost inaccessible swamps of the White Nile this wonderful bird has a face that brings a fortune to its captor. Perched on one leg like patience on a monument, the shoe-bill smiles and smiles and winks its pale blue eyelids like camera shutters. Whether the rare old bird is a heron or a stork no man can tell, but any way his smile makes him a valuable catch for a circus man and a prize for the Zoo.

Manuring Young Trees

The common practice of using large quantities of stable manure in planting fruit trees cannot be recommended. When a tree is planted its activity should be the development of a strong and extensive root system. If large amounts of fertiliser are placed around the roots of a tree, the root growth will naturally not be so extensive as under normal conditions because there will be no necessity of its searching far for sustenance, and when the supply of food materials provided at planting by the addition of stable manure is exhausted, the root system will not have grown sufficiently to secure food enough to keep up normal conditions in the growing tree. What was done with the idea of helping the tree will thus only serve to retard its growth.

Men who know baseball closely realize the power that lies in a great catcher like Bresnahan, Kling, Thomas and a few more of the top notchers. In the club of youngsters he built up to startle the baseball world, Clarke Griffith, manager of the Washington team, has a splendid catching department. His best catcher is Ainsmith, who handles the lightning delivery of Walter Johnson. John Henry comes [illegible] handling [illegible] Tom Hughes and [illegible] [illegible] friend of [illegible]

SEWS HAIR TO SCALP

Remarkable Cure For Baldness—Gold Wires For Anchor

A method of sewing hairs to the human scalp in cases of baldness has been successfully used by Dr. Szekely at the Hospital of Saint Stephane in Budapest. The number of hairs planted in the head of one patient was as high as 50,000. One hundred hairs are drawn through punctures in the scalp in every square centimeter, and as both ends are left free this makes over 1,000 hairs to each square inch.

In the operation very fine gold wires are used 1-500 of an inch in diameter and fine long hairs from a woman's head are attached to these. The gold loop acts as an anchor, which after sterilization is introduced into the subcutaneous tissue, where it is slightly twisted, thus holding the hair in permanent position. It is claimed that 500 hairs can thus be planted in three-quarters of an hour. A special instrument has been designed by Dr. Szekely for planting the gold wires, which are so fine that after the work is completed for planting 50,000 hairs there is only one gramme of gold left in the scalp. The hair becomes perfectly natural after a capsule of tissue forms around the gold knot. The inflammation entirely disappears within ten days after the operation and no evil results have ensued from any of the planting. The doctor's earliest patient, who underwent the operation seven years ago, now has a beautiful head of glossy hair.

COMPULSORY TRAINING

Advocated by Preacher as Best Means to Secure Peace

"I look forward to the day when compulsory military training will be enforced throughout Canada. Military organizations and military training are one of the strongest agencies for the upbuilding of a strong, virile manhood," said Rev. T. Crawford-Brown, chaplain of the 48th Highlanders, addressing Toronto's citizen soldiery.

"To be prepared for war is the best security for peace; to be armed to the teeth and to be prepared for every emergency is the best course to take to maintain the honor and prosperity of a nation. Has not British prestige done more to maintain peace than any other force in the world? Where there is no security there cannot be national prosperity.

"How can we go on enjoying this security without assuming our part in the maintenance of that security. No British subject is worthy of the name of patriot who is not willing to aid in upholding this prestige which has so long protected us. The soldier is actuated by the highest ideals of citizenship."

The dangers which he might be called upon to face for the sake of his country were described. True patriotism w[illegible] was necessary to have discipline developed, for even God himself could not lead a mob to victory.

THE SPAN OF LIFE SHOWN BY FIGURES

For Those Under Thirty the Expectation of Longevity Has Increased—Married People Fortunate

How long do you expect to live?

Perhaps you have never given the matter a thought. The majority of people simply want to live as long as they can and let it go at that. Therefore maybe it would be better to ask: How long can you expect to live?

Suppose you are between 40 and 45 years of age. If that is the case you may expect to live 2[illegible].4 years more—if you happen to live in a city. The matter of where you live changes the figure slightly but not much.

It occurred to the health department of one city to prepare a table of the expectation of life among the inhabitants of its city, in the hope that the people would help fight disease and so prolong their calculated allotted span.

The preparation of a table of this sort is a very complicated proceeding that requires an expert. But the results obtained are highly valuable. The figures are practically the same for all sections of the country. These show that there has been an increase in the expectation of life, as it is called, from the age of 1 year to the age of 30 and a decrease from 30 years on. For instance, a child 5 years old might expect to live 52 years more. That is an increase of 11 years over the expectation of life calculated a third of a century ago. An adult between 25 and 30 years of age has 33.6 years more to live, according to this table, while a person 85 years old may reasonably expect to live only 3 years and 3 months longer.

The expectation of life for men and women is different, for people in different trades it is different. These differences bring to light some curious facts. For instance comparison of the sexes instead of ages shows that women in general have about 6 years longer to live than men. The figures also show that married men live longer than single men and that married women live longer than single women. The Jew lives longer than the Gentile by a round dozen years. The negro appears to have less chance of life than the white man.

You wash dishes about two hours every day. That's one hour wasted!

Dishes get dirty, greasy and sticky and soap will not clean them. Soapy dish water merely cleans the surface; it doesn't dig into the corners and drive out the decayed food particles.

Gold Dust is the sanitary dish washer. It not only cleans the surface, but digs deep after hidden particles of dirt and kills the germs of decayed food which ordinary dish-water overlooks. Gold Dust sterilizes as well as cleanses.

Besides doing the work better than soap or any other cleanser can, Gold Dust will save just half the time you spend in washing dishes.

Gold Dust is sold in 5c size and large packages. The large package means greater economy.

Our Point of View

The State of Washington is to vote on the question of prohibition, but with its easy referendum it can change its mind whenever it wants a drink.

—o—

We judge by the wild way in which Sir Thomas is talking about capturing the America's Cup that something considerably stronger than tea is putting the hip in Lipton.

—o—

In Wisconsin a woman has been indicted under the Mann law for luring a young man away from his home. We are glad to hear it and hope that she will get a dose of "equal rights" which is the aim of the feminist movement.

—o—

A headline says: "Head of lettuce picked by a Manitoba man that weighs two pounds." Which indicates that in addition to Manitoba hard wheat that Province is producing a race of featherweights.

—o—

So many of Uncle Sam's rich heiresses have gone, and are still going to Europe to marry dukes and lords that we believe it would be a good idea for the national government at Washington to add to its revenue by selling titles of nobility. A duke should pay $100,000, a lord $50,000, a baron $10,000 and a colonel $1.25.

—o—

One hundred dollars an acre is a pretty fair price for agricultural land but a Kentucky paper figures out that at that price a dime will buy a piece over five feet square. Its advice to save the dimes is all right, but it takes a good many of them to buy a building lot, even out in the country.

The Freedom of Travel

Any man who makes a study of the personal columns during the summer must feel that the American people are doing an enormous amount of traveling.

It is not merely that the millionaires are on the go, flitting hither and yon to kill ennui, anxious to be somewhere where they are not. Even the little country town shows that simple-hearted people of very moderate means are visiting here and there and taking long journeys.

The type of person who used to stick closely at home year after year has almost disappeared. A generation ago it was common to see old-timers who boasted that they had not slept outside their own homes for 10, 20 or 30 years. The inertia that settled over them was appalling. It seemed an unsettling and revolutionary effort for them to pack a little grip and go over to the next town to spend a week-end with a relative.

Of all the modern ways of spending money on things not strictly necessities, traveling probably brings the largest returns of intelligence. Narrowness is a result of hearing only one point of view. the moment a fellow stirs around and gets into another state and another section, he begins to see that his home folks are not the only guardians of wisdom. He learns that there are other points of view and some of them are good ones.

The benefits derived from travel differ greatly. Some people on their return can talk of little save of the food they got at the hotels and the comfort or discomfort provided by the railroads. To others every tree in the fields, every building, every person met, suggests subtile and interesting differences from the scenery, the manners, and the customs of the home environment. Such persons also get a great many good business suggestions. The farmer finds an object lesson in every field, and the merchant a selling idea in every street.

Chest Colds and Hoarseness Quickly Rubbed Away

"Nerviline" Gives Speedy Relief and Cures Over Night.

Got a cold?

Is your voice raspy—is your chest congested or sore?

If so you are the very person that Nerviline will cure in a jiffy.

Nerviline is strong and penetrating. It sinks right into the tissues, takes out inflammation and soreness, destroys colds in a truly wonderful way. Rub Nerviline over the chest—rub on lots of it, and watch that tightness disappear. Nerviline won't blister, it sinks in too fast—doesn't simply stay on the surface like a thick, oily liniment would. If the throat is raspy and sore, rub it well outside with Nerviline, and use Nerviline as a gargle diluted with warm water. Just one or two treatments like this and your voice and throat will be quite normal again.

Just think of it—for forty years the largest used family medicine in this country—Nerviline must be good, must quickly relieve and cure a hundred ills that befall every family. Try it for earache, toothache, coughs, colds, sore chest, hoarseness and muscular pains in every part of the body. Large family size bottle 50c.; trial size 25c. at all dealers.

LIGHT SLEEPING BAG

Only Waterproof Material Obtained From Seed Pods

For his Antarctic expedition Sir Ernest Shackleton had made a sleeping bag said to be the lightest in existence. It was constructed of Kapok, a fibrous, silk material, obtained from the seed pods of a tree grown largely in Java. It is six times as light as cotton, and is so oily that it is quite waterproof.

The reason why Kapok is not more generally known is because hitherto the attempts which have been made to invent machinery for the purpose of making Kapok of real commercial value have met with indifferent success. It is reported, however, that a new machine has now been invented with the assistance of which it will be possible to "card" Kapok fibre, so that it can be used for coat linings, bed quilts, and so on.

A mattress stuffed with Kapok was tested in the water, and though only weighing 10 pounds, it supported a man weighing 200 pounds lying on it. As a matter of fact, for some years now, owing to its peculiar waterproof nature, this vegetable fibre has been employed as stuffing for life-buoys and life-belts.

Although Kapok is mostly produced in Java, it is also grown to a small extent in India, British Honduras, and Ceylon, and there is little doubt that if the latest machines prove a success they will bring fortunes to the lucky inventors.

MATRIMONIAL PARADOXES

"Weddings to me have often been a matter of considerable curiosity," writes a clergyman in "Church Life." "There is surely here no accounting for taste. To see a beautiful young bride giving her heart and hand to a rough, burly, ignorant fellow is almost beyond comprehension. [illegible] which verges on the ridiculous [illegible] behold a gnat of a man reaching up to take the hand of a woman, who the latter is almost a giantess in stature, and as broad in proportion to her height, and hearing her humbly repeat that she promises to obey the diminutive creature at her side. But such things do happen, and will to the end of time. It was Solomon of old who confessed that "the way of a man with a maid" was one of the few things too great for him to solve and since his day we have made little progress in unravelling the problem.

Little vicious minds abound with anger and revenge, and are incapable of feeling the pleasure of forgiving their enemies.—Chesterfield.

PUBLIC OPINION

LOCAL POLICE COURT

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—Without passing any comment on the local magistrate, I would like to mention a few cases I have read about, in the local papers during the past week that have been tried in the Peterboro police court. A poor little married woman who has a child two years old, but not living with her husband, at present, for stealing a dress was given six months in the Mercer Institute, where she will have to associate with women of loose character. This theft was committed whilst the woman was under the influence of morphine. A gypsy, who was caught with a stolen $5 bill in her possession was allowed to go scott-free provided she leave the city. A young man, whilst drunk, hits his own mother and his father-in-law, interferes with arrest, runs a mile and a half, pursued by officers who fire three shots at him and is brought to the police station in an automobile, is fined $5. Two thieves who rob a drunk old man in a hay loft, one of whom bites a policeman, are given respectively six months and the other let go on suspended sentence. Is it not time for a change of some sort?

Justice.

WHY A FISH LAPS WHEN IT FEELS THE HOOK

You may have been a fisherman all your life and never stopped to consider why a fish leaps in air when it feels the hook. Naturally you might think that it is the frenzy of terror, born of feeling himself fast that makes him leave his element, and, by a convulsive movement of his body, strive to shake the deadly hook from his jaw, and in this you would be right, but only in a measure so.

A fish, particularly those of the game variety, such as the trout and bass, are never beaten until they are drawn breathless and spent on the grass or into the landing net, and even then they will fight until the merciful angler administers the quietus. Surprise would be the better qualification of the feeling a fish experiences when first he feels the sharp bite of the hook; terror later, perhaps in his second or third rush.

Very often a fish will leap, when feeding, if he, by mistake, grasps something which tastes unpalatable to him; or he will leap in quest of some juicy morsel, or out of chagrin if he misses the fat leader of a minnow shoal. Very often, too, he will leap out of pure exuberance of spirits, for all fish love play.

When you strike a bass and he leaps, it is because he has made, according to fish reasoning, a little mistake. He hasn't the slightest doubt in the world but that he can throw the unwelcome mouthful from him by a twist of his muscular body and a shake of his head. Then, when he feels his native element again and the stinging thing which he has grasped refuses to be dislodged, anger takes possession of him. He will run away from it, he tells himself, and then comes his first mad run, called by anglers "the rush."

It is when you snub your reel and he feels the force of an hitherto unknown resisting element that terror wakes within him, and the fight flames up in him, and he proceeds to give you battle which those amongst us who have fished with light tackle consider the best of sport.

Perhaps the great terror does not find him until you have reeled him close in beside your boat and he catches a glimpse of you from his opal eyes. Then indeed is it terror, and the rush which follows makes all previous ones seem trivial indeed. It is a critical moment for both angler and fish, this swift, frenzied rush for freedom through the blue-green depths where dangerous snags and twisted lily-roots reinforce the fish's chance of escape.

It is in this last rush that the hooked fish entirely loses his head; it is this last rush where the angler must certainly keep his if he is to win the battle.—Archie P. McKishnie

Coloring Live Trees

We have known for some time that plain horsehair can masquerade as the costly aigrette, but it has remained for the chemist to do a more daring deed. He can transform a cottonwood tree into Circassian walnut or something of that sort. The milliner does not cause horses to grow plumes fit their dignified persons, but the chemist injects dye solution into the tree, and lo! the character of its wood changes. The amount of liquid some trees absorb is astonishing. One Scotch fir is reported to have had a capacity for three gallons in two days, at which time its appetite was sated. Now that trees have taken to drinking, it is hard to say what deception the future may show in the way of wood.

Where Clocks Are Curiosities

Clocks are regarded as curiosities by many of the Hindus, and for this reason half-a-dozen or more timepieces are often found in the apartments of the wealthy Hindustanees. They are not used as timepieces, but simply for ornament, since the old-fashioned way of telling the hour in India, by calculating the number of bamboo lengths the sun has travelled above the horizon, is entirely satisfactory to the natives.

It is said that in the country police-stations in India, where the European division of the hours is observed, time is measured by placing in a tub of water a copper pot in which a small hole has been bored. It is supposed that it will take one hour for the water to leak into the pot so as to fill it and sink it. When the policeman sees that the pot has disappeared he strikes the hour on a bell-like gong. If he is smoking or dozing the copper pot may have disappeared several minutes before he discovers the fact, but the hour is when he strikes the gong.

GETTING RID OF FLIES

They Quickly Vacate Places With Blue Tinted Walls

A French journal states that it has been found that flies have a great objection to the color blue, and if tenements infested with flies are washed with a blue instead of a white wash, flies will desert the place. In support of this the following instance is reported. A farmer had 170 cows housed in different sheds; they were pestered with flies, but he observed that in one shed, the walls of which were a blue tint, the cows were not worried. He therefore added a blue color to the lime with which he washed the walls of his buildings, and from that time the flies deserted the place. The following formula is used by him for the wash:

To twenty gallons of water add 10 pounds of slacked lime and 1 pound of ultramarine. The washing is done twice during the summer.

A Shrinking Sea

The surface of the Caspian, which lies 85 feet below sea level, has, since June, 1910, been continually sinking without a plausible explanation having hitherto been found. No great importance was at first attached to the phenomenon, but the shrinkage went on, and is now even beginning to be inconvenient for navigation, as steamers in many places cannot reach the landing stages. It is believed that the river water flowing into the sea is not sufficient to make good the loss caused by evaporation.

BATH FOR EYEGLASSES

Good Results Follow a Good Soap and Water Wash

Do you ever give your eyeglasses a bath? If not, give them a surprise and see how you like the result.

Dampness and dust form a gummy combination on the eyeglasses, and the wearer of glasses or spectacles will find his vision, apparently, much improved by giving them a thorough washing daily with soap and warm water, followed by drying and polishing with tissue paper. The gummy substance which collects on the lenses cannot be removed by a mere rubbing with chamois or tissue paper.

An oculist, who knows the importance of well-washed lenses, carries in his pocket a vial of alcohol. It takes but a moment to moisten the corner of a handkerchief and remove the combination of dust and moisture from his glasses. Another has the case of his glasses interlined with a folded bit of soft tissue, such as is used for copying letters in offices. This is so soft that it is easily folded into the small space of the receptacle case. No dust collects on this as it does on the velvet lining, and the tissue interlining is renewed every day or two.

Hatched in a Top-boot

Thrushes on the Lilford estate, Northamptonshire—a famous bird sanctuary—built their nest in a top-boot in a railway hovel between Barnwell and Wigsthorpe. Now there are three young thrushes in the nest, although the platelayers use the hovel at meal times.

Voted at 103

Mr. John Durrant, of Weybridge, aged one hundred and three, was probably the oldest voter in the local elections throughout England. Mr. Durrant accepted a lift by motor car to the polling booth, but he marked his paper without resorting to the aid of glasses.

Stealing Horse Hair

WANT MILLION FARMERS

Peace River District Has Room For All

"The Peace River country" is really a very indefinite term applied to the enormous territory within the basin of the Peace River, where there is such a diversity of natural characteristics that it is impossible to give any description which will apply accurately, or even approximately to all parts of it. From the confluence of the Finlay and Parsnip rivers, west of the Rocky Mountains, to where it empties into the Slave River, near Lake Athabasca, is about 600 miles in a direct line but about 1,000 miles as the river flows, and approximately 100,000,000 acres of arable land are drained by this mighty river and its tributaries, including the North and the South Pines and the Halfway rivers. Of this area at least 60,000,000 acres are park land or open prairie, and 40,000,000 acres are covered with heavy timber. There is room for a million farmers. There is no longer any question as to the agricultural possibilities of that vast pampas. It has already passed the experimental stage, for it has been proven by actual demonstration that the climate is admirably adapted to the maturing of the entire range of farm products of the temperate zones; and, further, that the grains attain a maturity and quality there which are not excelled anywhere else in the known world. The hard varieties of spring wheat grown there show a yield and weight, and also milling qualities in advance of that produced on the prairies of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, which are now recognized as the producers of the standard wheat of the world. And in those great stretches of natural meadows the pioneer meets with little difficulty in preparation of his land, as it is possible for him to begin breaking the sod and actual farm operations during the first season in the country. All that is lacking now is transportation, and this problem is being solved as quickly as steel can be laid by two or three different railroads, which are racing for the choicest territory.

ROTATION OF CROPS

Fertility is Best Maintained by Varied Crops

In discussing rotation of crops a writer in the Journal of the Board of Agriculture points out the fact that left to itself without change land in course of time gathers a fresh stock of fertility, but seeing that in many cases land in the beginning is exhausted, crop rotation must be followed in order to maintain fertility and to bring worn-out soil up to a productive standard. The writer points out that the main reason for growing a series of crops is that the requirements of the various classes of crops grown on the farm vary greatly in their capacity to extract and utilize the various materials known as plant food. Some crops require much of certain classes of this, while others demand large quantities of food of another class. Some are shallow-rooted some are deep-rooted and some occupy the land for a much longer period than others, that is, they have a longer growing season. All these things must be taken into consideration when working out a rotation. No matter how rich the land is in the beginning continuous cropping with one kind of crop sooner or later exhausts certain elements of plant food which the crop grown requires in largest quantities.

Owl in Engine Cab

While the driver of the "Flying Scotsman" from Euston to Carlisle was driving his train at sixty miles an hour near Leighton, Cheshire, the look-out window on his engine was suddenly smashed. Pieces of broken glass flew in all directions, and a portion struck and cut the driver under the eye. Lying at his feet the driver found an owl, dead.

Electric Lighted Aeroplane

Costing $30,000, a huge aeroplane, with a comfortable cabin lighted by electricity and heated by a gas engine, has been built by the Russian engineer Sikorsky. There is room in the cabin for six people to walk about without jostling each other. They are completely protected from the wind, and have eight windows and two portholes from which to look out.

Working Girls' Army

"There are about 110,000 milliners and dressmakers, 32,000 typists and clerks, and 14,000 girls under fourteen years of age earning wages in London," said Miss Emily Kinnaird, at a meeting in London in support of hostels for girls.

Seaweed Nourishment

Seaweeds obtain their nourishment from the water in which they grow, not from the ground in which they are rooted.

Separating Tumblers

If two glass dishes or tumblers stick together very tightly, try filling the inner one with cold water and holding the outer one in warm water. They will separate at once.

Dip Gas Mantles in Vinegar

If new gas mantles be dipped into vinegar and hung up to dry before being placed upon the gas fixtures they will give a more brilliant light and last longer.

IMPORTANT NOTICE

CALGARY, July 23rd.—An official statement just issued by the Monarch Oil Company states that the drill has just passed through a 57-foot strata of oil bearing sand, at a depth of between 1775 and 1832 feet. A sample of the oil from this oil sand is on exhibition at the Company's office in Calgary. This is the fourth oil sand encountered in the well, and indicates that a good producing well should be obtained before going much deeper. The Hole-Woollard Oil Company is making preparations to drill on its property in the Monarch district, which adjoins the property of the Monarch Oil Company, and we are advised that the price of shares will be advanced as soon as drilling operations are started. The time to invest in the shares of the Hole-Woollard Company is NOW, before the advance in price.

The Directors of the Company have exercised every care in the selection of their properties, aggregating 1380 acres, which are situated in many townships bearing indications of oil. It will be noted from other companies already operating in the field, that several quarter sections of the holdings of this Company are adjacent to the properties of those Companies, that have employed expert advice in the selection of their holdings

Investors should also note that the Company has lands which are not situated in one particular spot, and as it has been assured that oil is existing in different districts, this Company, by having its holdings spread over a vast area, stands an excellent chance if oil be discovered by any of the Companies operating.

The Company proposes to pay to its Fiscal Agents for procuring subscriptions, for shares in this Company, a commission not exceeding 20 per cent on the selling price of such shares.

Primary expenses of the Company are estimated at $2500.

No amount is intended to be paid to any promoter, nor is any sum payable for good-will.

KELLY-SPRINGFIELD TIRES

COMPARISONS

In days of old, when knights were bold,
And warriors held their sway,
They fought and bled, at least 'tis said,
In a way we don't like to-day.
But now we go without fear of foe,
Or sword or the gun's hot fire,
The auto has come to make things hum,
And so has the KELLY TIRE.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only Constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

Heated Steering Wheels

Electrically-heated steering wheels are one of the latest devices in automobiles, and a novel improvement on these is a glove that becomes heated on contact with the wheel. Wheel without glove or glove without wheel is cold. A pair of gauntlets encases a pair of soft inner gloves, in the fabric of which a very tough and flexible wire circuit is interwoven in such a way as entirely to cover the back of the hand and all the fingers. Upon the steering wheel are two thin plates on the upper and lower sides, which are supplied with current by a wire from the battery passing up the steering column. The gloved hand in contact with these plates completes the circuit and the current acts.

COPPER

The Red Metal

MILLIONS OF TONS OF PAY ORE

We have coal, fluxes and copper ores in unlimited quantities—

We have an estate of about 11,500 acres—

We have water, timber, and as fine a climate as there is in the world, which admits of working throughout the entire year—

We have spent years of time and thousands of dollars in getting this project into shape where we can consistently offer you a share in it—where your investment will be safe—where your interests will be safeguarded and your profits much greater than they are in the average manufacturing or commercial undertaking.

By cutting through the formation with streams, ages old, Nature has done much to demonstrate the existence of these great ore bodies and this, supplemented by the openings made by man, has proven that within this area there are at least five veins more than three miles long, and having an average width of fourteen feet, with an average content of 2.51 per cent. of copper metal.

Coal for fuel, Lime and Iron for fluxes, are abundant, easily mined and all within the boundaries of this estate. They can be cheaply obtained and economically transported to the site where it is proposed to build a smelter for reducing to matte or bullion this unlimited supply of copper ore.

Costs of every needed thing will be minimized to a degree impossible under less favorable conditions, and profits proportionately increased. Labor is cheap, and much of the food supply required is raised on the estate.

The ore supply is practically inexhaustible; engineers and geologists have estimated the depth of these enormous veins to be at least 3,000 feet.

At this time the enterprise is just getting under way and those who take advantage of the opportunity to secure a share in it now will, so far as finite judgment can reach, reap rewards far beyond the proportions of any investment at present made. Double Spiral Vanadium Steel Springs

The known quality of high-grade springs proves the standard efficiency of the Temco — long double coil sensitive to the least jar— tough and tested quality to outlast any car. This is a new element in shock absorber construction, based upon scientific mechanical principles, not the production of a "cold blacksmith" or experimenter. The special creation of a master designer, whose work has won him great reputation. No friction whatever. Design and construction covered by our original patents (Sept. 9, 1913) and patents now pending covering double spiral spring and other improvements as here illustrated in sectional cut. All infringements will be vigorously prosecuted.

Observe the simplicity of mechanical construction —load is entirely suspended from warranted hanger bolts, yet neither bolts nor springs touch surfaces of polished steel—mud proof—ice proof—dirt proof

New Death Method

A well known scientist, who for some years has been professor of chemistry in the College de France, Paris, has suggested the use of carbonic oxide for the putting to death of criminals, as employed for the destruction of stray dogs. He states that this is a quiet and painless death and one that does not shock sensibilities.

Viscount Selby, chairman of the Eastern Canada Company, has the highest hopes of the oil producing possibilities of the Gaspe Bay District, Quebec. Shipping facilities there are he says, admirable. In view of the increasing attention being given to the adoption of oil in the Royal Navy and the decision of the Government to secure supplies as far as possible within the British Empire, there opens up the prospect of another large Canadian industry.

How People Feel When They Have Tape Worm

Tape worm is bred from a parasite. This parasite is a creature male and female in one. It is a pear shape, having two, four and six suckers. It lays the eggs, which are only connected together with slime. They develop and form a body, which is the worm. Each joint is an individual, having a sucker or mouth. The worm grows to be much longer than the bowels where it is located, and sometimes a whole colony of them are found, enough to fill a quart of solid worm, and when put in a bucket of water would apparently fill it. It is the hardest task in the world to destroy this parasite without doing injury to the individual who may be so unfortunate as to have it, as the parasite clings to the bowels, freeing itself from the body of the worm, and remains there to breed another. It is an internal demon and causes its victims to suffer all the symptoms of disease imaginable. The cleverest physicians are led to believe the patient is suffering from some other disease, as nearly every person has different symptoms. Some have been treated for cancer of the bowels, consumption of the bowels, consumption of the lungs, chronic dyspepsia, nervous prostration, melancholia, hypochondria, hysteria, inflammation of the bowels, appendicitis and other complaints, when one or more of these internal demons were eating their lives away.

Prof. Mulvaney has made the discovery to free the victim of this monster without injury to the system, destroying the parasite as well as expelling the worm with one dose of medicine without any previous starvation. Visit his office, where he has in his possession the most wonderful collection of these death-dealing monsters in the world, which have been expelled from hundreds of people by his famous remedy, some bottles containing colonies of worms and anyone seeing them cannot imagine how a person could possibly live with them in his bowels. It is surprising the number of people that have them. Thousands have them and are not aware of the fact. The letters and testimonials the Professor has in his possession are enough to convince one of this alarming fact. Some of the most prominent symptoms are: ravenous appetite, dizzy spells, headaches, cramps in the bowels, a feeling of something moving in the bowels, also a feeling as though something was crawling up the throat. The only certainty of having one in the system is when segments or joints are seen, which come away almost any time. They are flat and from ⅛ of an inch to 1 inch long, which have often been mistaken for pin worms by those who do not know the difference. There are many other feelings of distress which would take long to enumerate. Strange to say, some people of strong constitution, have very little distress.

Prof. Mulvaney's world-famous Tape Worm Exterminator is safe, sure and harmless. No starvation, no danger, is not disagreeable to take. One dose nearly always affects a cure. SCHOOL ATTENDANCE IN THE DOMINION

Interesting Figures Showing How Young Canada is Being Educated From Kindergarten to University

The school attendance of the population of the Dominion, between the ages of five and twenty-four years, is given in a Bulletin issued by Census and Statistics Office. The statistics are based on information collected by the enumerators for the year prior to the taking of the last census, and show that the total number of persons between the ages of six and twenty at that date, was 2,141,909, of whom 1,801,779, or 84.12 per cent., were Canadian-born; 6.65 were British and 9.23 per cent. foreign born. Of this number, only 44.82 per cent. were at school for more than six months in the year, and only 52.51 per cent. attended school for any length of time.

These figures do not seem very creditable or very promising at first sight, but further examination partially accounts for the low percentage at school. The smallest numbers are of children at the age of five, which many people think is too young for beginning school unless a kindergarten is available, and of boys and girls over fifteen, when the public school course is in most cases completed. The largest attendance is between the ages of seven and fourteen, at which period 921,454 children, or 79.83 per cent., attended school, but of these only 60.58 per cent. attended for more than six months in the year.

The proportions of boys and girls attending school in Canada are fairly equal at most age periods, the girls being in the majority between the ages of fifteen and twenty, thus indicating that more girls than boys go on to High Schools. Between the ages of twenty-one and twenty-four, the figures are 4,073 males and 1,749 females. Probably this is due to the fact that more young men enter college for the professions; also in some cases young men who have had their own way to make in the world manage to go to school for a part of the year to obtain a belated education. One notices that the proportions of boys and girls attending school are more nearly equal in the Canadian born population than in the foreign born. In the latter, the boys are in excess except at the five-year age period.

Viewing the figures in the negative, the statistics show that of the total number of children between seven and fourteen, the Province of Ontario had 157 children of every 1,000 who were not attending school; Quebec had 190 per 1,000, New Brunswick 200, Nova Scotia 171, and Prince Edward Island 154, whose education had apparently been neglected in the year the census was taken. The numbers not reported as attending school were proportionately larger in the Western Provinces, but this does not by any means indicate that opportunities for education are not valued in those provinces. On the contrary, new schools are opened up every week in the year. But the circumstances of settlement in a new country, particularly when settlers have to take up homesteads in remote districts, make it impossible sometimes to send the children to school, at least for some years until more settlers come in.

As might be expected, the attendance was proportionately larger in the cities and towns than in the country districts. The children of immigrants from foreign countries show the smallest percentage attending school, only 48.19 per cent. for over six months in the year.

Boy's Strange Mission

The body of John Thomson, fourteen, appearance [illegible], was found at the bottom of the [illegible] Tynebaggan Quarry, seven miles north of Aberdeen. His overcoat and cap were found on the side of the road about 100 yards from the quarry. Inside the coat pocket was a slip of paper with the words, "I have fallen into the quarry." A gamekeeper and the police searched and discovered the body lying at the foot of a precipitous cliff.

Gallant Double Rescue

At Inverness a mother and child named Mackenzie were rescued from drowning in the River Ness. The child first fell into the water, and the mother immediately plunged in after it, both being carried away. Amidst great excitement two men, James MacMillan and John MacDonald, swam out to mid-stream and brought them ashore in an exhausted condition.

Lost Life For Cap

Benjamin Owen, sixty-five, living at Pentneath Vaughan, an expert angler, was walking along the Pentneath Vaughan road towards home, when his cap was blown off his head by the strong wind, and it was carried into the river, which was in flood. Owen tried to recover the cap, and jumped into the river after it, but was carried away by the strong current and apparently drowned, for he was not seen again.

SCIENCE AND FORESTRY

Elimination of Wood Waste Will Save Country Many Thousands of Dollars

It has been estimated that in converting logs into finished lumber and lumber products, the waste amounts to over 50 per cent. of the bulk of all trees cut for lumber. This is equivalent to an annual loss of from $10 to $15 for every man, woman and child in the country. At present it is impracticable from a financial standpoint to reduce this waste as there is no market for the tree tops, culls and weed-trees left in lumbering operations, and only a very limited one for the bark, slabs, sawdust, edgings and trimmings of milling operations.

The Department of the Interior is recruiting the staff of its Forest Products Laboratories, recently established in connection with the Forestry Branch, with skilled mechanical and chemical engineers and by constant experimentation it is hoped to find a commercial use for these products.

Timber has often been shunned as a structural material because no reliable figures regarding its strength were available, and when complete tests have been made it is regarded as certain that a demand will be created for some of Canada's tree species which are now left in the woods as valueless.

The Forestry Branch of the Department of the Interior, Ottawa, of which these laboratories are one development, has recently issued a circular describing the various lines of investigation to be followed at these laboratories. Not the least important will be to develop chemical methods for utilising minor wood wastes and another circular written by the engineer in charge of this work deals with the general aspects of the subject. A large percentage of the small-sized waste wood can be utilized by the process known as "destructive distillation," but the machinery employed in this process is not very efficient. The manufacture of ethyl alcohol and producer gas from sawdust has already been proved feasible, and the securing as Superintendent of the Laboratories of John S. Bates, B.A., B.Sc., one of the foremost authorities on wood-pulp manufacture in America, ensures the development of this Branch of Wood Utilisation.

PITCHING REMAINS KEYSTONE OF BASEBALL

In Sixty Years Only Four Delivery Types Have Been Developed, With Speed Still Favorite

Pitching is the keystone of baseball. When it loosens the structure crumbles. "Beside the vastness of the importance of this position, the dash of infield and outfield fade," says F. C. Lane, in the Baseball Magazine.

The improvement in baseball has marked time with the development of pitching. As the batter overtook the pitcher, new methods were adopted. But in 60 years, only four types of pitching have been born, namely Speed, the curve, the slow ball and the spitball.

Speed, the earliest type, still rules favorite. When curves are being hit, 99 out of 100 pitchers fall back upon speed, because it is easily controlled. In a class by himself as a speed pitcher is Walter Johnson. His speed is dazzling. He revels in it. Speed and control make him the world's greatest pitcher. Contrary to opinion, speed is not wearing, because it is the natural delivery, while the curve, slow ball and spitter are acquired. The arm was designed to propel small missels at great speed, not to throw curves. Strength and nervous energy in abundance are necessary to great speed, but its use demands only a normal expenditure of both. It is a fact that men who depend chiefly upon speed outlive other pitchers in use.

MAGISTRATE GIVES HIS VIEWS

At yesterday's police court Magistrate Dumble called the reporters present to the rostrum. He noted that now the new Empress, formerly the National Hotel, is nearing completion something should be done to decorate the rear walls of the city and surrounding buildings so as to give a better impression to future guests. He pointed out that the rear of buildings over which the Empress faces are of all shades of color. He noted that the rear of the City Hall it not "Queen Anne" style of architecture, but "Mary Ann."

A Death Grip.

Passengers on the Tweed local (C. P.R.) last Saturday evening were treated to something not usually witnessed on a railway journey, when the train pulled into Havelock station. A well-known lady of that village with a highly prized black spaniel dog were pacing the platform looking for expected company when the spaniel ran foul of a vicious bull dog belonging to another resident of Havelock. Quick as a flash there was a piercing whine from the spaniel as the bull dog's jaws closed on his throat, and the combined efforts of a dozen strong men who were standing nearby could not break the grip of the big dog. Finally one of the station staff secured a large wrench from the baggage room and inserting it between the bull dog's collar and his neck the former was twisted so tight that it snapped like a bow string and froth spurted from the bull dog's jaws. His vice like grip was weakened, however, and a couple of blows on the head with the wrench, and a strong pull on the spaniel by willing hands separated the two canines. That a dog as vicious as the one here mentioned should be allowed to exist is questionable. He is a menace to any community, and might attack a human being just as quick as he would a spaniel.

WANT SAFE VESSEL FOR HERRING CARGO

Increasing Battles With Death Amid the Worst Weather of the Year

For nearly sixty years the New England fishermen have been prosecuting the herring industry in Newfoundland waters—in Placentia and Fortune Bays on the south, in Bay of Islands and Bonne Bay on the west, and in White and Green Bays on the east coast. The fish are cured in two ways: By salting until the frost sets in, and then by freezing. About sixty American and many Canadian and Newfoundland vessels engage in it, but the former, because of their long voyages, experience the most fatalities. The vessels, though averaging only one hundred tons burden, are of the very finest and staunchest in rigging and equipment, for no others could stand the dangers they have to face; and neither skippers nor crews will take any smack for a herring cargo which they are not satisfied with. Indeed, they will frequently test a vessel's gear in a preliminary cruise, and if found faulty will "chuck her up." This is not surprising when it is remembered that six or eight men have to handle these craft during trips that represent constant, unceasing battles with death, amid weather the worst in the year, with frost and floes to add new hazard to the navigation of waters dangerous enough at any time.

The rigors of a Newfoundland winter are but poorly imagined by those unfamiliar with its climate and coastline. Yet it is only in this season that the herring are to be found in these waters—the one part of the Atlantic seaboard where they resort then; and since they are used as bait for the American vessels which fish off the Nahant Peninsula, as well as for food purposes in all the eastern cities, they must be had, no matter at what cost to ships and men, because only at this season can they be frozen by exposure to the bitter night air, and carried to the American and Canadian ports in the vessels' holds without refrigerators or other artificial accessories to retain them in this state.

A BIRD OF GREAT PRICE

Fur-farming in Canada has become a recognized industry, and one that yields large remuneration derived from the pockets of the rich. In southern countries, particularly in Africa, the ostrich is being confined, and the production of plumes commercialized. Prime ostrich feathers realize from $150 to $300 a piece, and when one bird supplies several plumes it may be realized that society will contribute a handsome revenue to the enterprise. The British South Africa Company have set apart 12,000 acres of selected land as an ostrich ranch, 400 acres of which is fertile land well adapted for profitable agriculture. The birds desire solitude, and large enclosures are made on these farms whereby they may secure retreat from man and from their own kind. Naturally they live in flocks of four or five. One male and the remainder females. They all lay their eggs in the same nest, which is brooded by the male at night and by the females during the day. This practice enhances the protection of the nest more than it hastens incubation, for they will hatch if left in the warm sand. About thirty eggs are laid in the nest, and as many more are scattered around outside, which are broken to feed the young. At regular intervals the adults are deprived of their plumes. With judicious management the establishments yield considerable profit.

A Pan Broom

A Californian is the inventor of a pan to be attached to any broom to catch its sweepings.

Chasing Rust

Rust will disappear from steel if soaked in sweet oil for a day, followed with a rubbing with fresh lime.

Winter Stores in Labrador

The Indians of the barren lands of Labrador rely almost entirely upon the migrating caribou for winter sustenance. When the great herds of reindeer go south in the fall, the Indians lie in waiting for them, killing sufficient meat to keep them from starvation during the months of darkness and desolation. The meat, as killed, is packed into caches—either high in the trees, well out of reach of wolves, or in some natural cave which is barricaded with rocks and timber. When the last deer have south, the barren lands are almost destitute of life, and should anything happen to their store the Indians are confronted with starvation.

A REAL ESTATE YARN

Ex-Mayor Waugh of Winnipeg told a real estate yarn in a way that was as fetching as the story itself. A real estate agent, selling California city lots in the mid-West, entered a town when it appeared to be deserted. Discovering that the town was virtually paying its respects to one of its departed citizens, the agent, seeing no chance of doing business, joined himself to the company of mourners in the cemetery chapel. He entered as the clergyman was asking anyone who would like to say a word in memory of the deceased, let him now come forward. No one accepting the invitation, despite a repetition of the request, the real estate salesman rose and respectfully said: "Mr. Minister, as no one seems anxious to say a word for the deceased, and as I didn't know him when he was alive, perhaps you will permit me to tell you something about some California lots that I have to sell."

THE

Chinook Oil Co., Ltd.

of Calgary, Alberta

Capital $500,000 :: 500,000 Shares

Present Issue 50,000 Shares at $1.00 Par

The above Company takes this opportunity of urging upon the public the necessity for prompt action in securing some of the stock which is now being offered in a block of 50,000 shares of $1.00 per share. This issue is being taken up rapidly, and in order to secure any of the stock orders must be sent in immediately.

From the various reports it is expected that one, if not more wells will strike oil in the very near future and when this happens whatever stock may be left of this issue will be taken up at once.

The striking of oil at any of these wells will have the effect of increasing the value of our stock, due to the fact that our holdings of 2,320 acres are well scattered over the field.

It is almost a foregone conclusion that when this present issue is fully subscribed, it will be impossible to secure any of the stock of this Company at $1.00. For this reason, as well as those stated above, we urge the public to take advantage of the opportunity now offered to purchase stock in The Chinook Oil Company, Limited.

For full particulars and Prospectus write the Fiscal Agents.

BIG BATTLE ON THE DANUBE

Austrians Are Driven BacK; British Army Now Mobilizing

They Attempted to Cross the Danube East of Belgrade, But Were Driven Back by the Servians--Big Artillery Engagement Now in Progress

British Reserves Prepare.

Liverpool, July 30.—It is reported that the British reserves have been ordered to mobilize, and that the Aquitania, the largest of British merchant vessels, has been ordered to Portsmouth.

RUSSIA MOBILIZES.

London, July 30.—A newspaper despatch from St. Petersburg, states that the entire Russian army has been ordered mobilized. The Russian army in time of war numbers 5,500,000 men.

BIG ARTILLERY BATTLE.

London, July 30.—A telegram received by the Servian Legation says the Austrians attempted to cross the Danube twenty miles east of Belgrade, were repulsed by the Servians and that a big artillery engagement was in progress.

Another message received by the Servian Legation says the Servian troops successfully resisted the Austrian advance at Losnitza, to the west of Belgrade.

London, July 30.—The Servian Legation announced to-day that King Peter's troops were desperately resisting the advance of the Austro-Hungarian army. Official despatches received there stated that a battle was raging at Losnitza, on the Serbo-Bosnian frontier.

London, July 30.—A newspaper despatch from Rome says sharp resistance is being offered to the Austrian advance from the northwest by small detachments of Servian troops left to impede their progress. The news comes from Nish, Servia, by way of Salonika. The Austro-Hungarian invaders followed the valley of the River Morava and first encountered a body of Servian troops at Semendria, on the Servian side of the Danube. The Servians held their ground until nightfall and then retired. Both Austrians and Servians sustained heavy losses, several hundred soldiers being killed in the engagement.

Stubborn Defence.

On the western side of Morava, an Austrian column came into contact with a Servian force at Losnitsa, which put up a stubborn defence, and held the force there until dark, inflicting heavy losses on the Austrians. The southern Austrian column in Bosnia, remained stationary to-day, awaiting the movement of the Montinegrin troops.

The ancient fortress of Belgrade was reduced by the Austrian artillery, which caused only slight damage to other parts of the Servian capital. The British Legation was struck by an Austrian shell, and during the bombardment Servian sharpshooters greatly harried the Austrian artillerymen.

YOUTH WITH TOO MANY SWEETHEARTS JAILED

Julius Rabiner Had Three Who Couldn't Make Good $900

Chicago, July 30. Three sweethearts are too expensive for a young man of uncertain income. This is the decision Julius C. Rabiner of New York reached Tuesday immediately after he was arrested charged with passing four worthless checks.

Rabiner spent several hours trying to communicate with the young women to give them an opportunity to come to his rescue and make good $900 worth of bad checks he is said to have cashed. He telephoned to eight girls without success. Then he was locked in a cell for the night.

THE WEATHER.

To-day—Light winds, and fine.

WE ARE WAITING FOR THE WORST SAID A BROKER

Private Advices to Large Institutions Are Extremely Pessimistic

Toronto, July 30.—The Chicago wheat markets had a big rise to-day and the Canadian wheat followed right after the trend there. Canadian October wheat rose to 99¾, as compared with a close of 92 yesterday, and July at 100¼, which is an increase of 6¼ points from yesterday.

"We are waiting for the worst," was the brief comment of one of the biggest of Toronto's brokers this morning. This terse reply sums up the situation on the street to-day. Private advices to the large institutions have been extremely pessimistic, and brokers are glad the Canadian markets are closed. Locally, the situation has been practically unchanged from yesterday. Brokers have made up their impaired margins with the banks and the clients' accounts are getting into shape, although it has been strenuous work.

BLIND BY LIGHTNING CURED BY ANOTHER

London, July 30. Struck by lightning and blinded; struck again twenty-four hours later and cured of his blindness—this has been the extraordinary experience of a young Castleford miner named Isaac Barnes.

ORIGINATES OWN "WADDING SPOON"

Washington, July 30.—Speaker Champ Clark has originated a "wedding spoon." So many of the speaker's young friends are getting married that it occurred to him he should get up something with individuality to present with expressions of his best wishes.

The spoon contains a bas relief likeness of the speaker, finely executed. The handle of the spoon is engraved. A local jeweler has charge of the die and only the speaker and Mrs. Clark control orders for its use.

DUTY OF CANADA

There is desperate danger that Great Britain will be involved in the war which has begun between Austria and Servia. The world is nearer Armageddon than it has been for a century. If Great Britain must stand with her allies, the very life of the Empire will be at stake. Upon the one hand will be Austria and Germany and Italy, and upon the other Servia and Russia and France and Great Britain. Who can say what may come out of such a contest?

We, in Canada, in Australia, in New Zealand and in South Africa are as deeply interested as are the people of the Mother Islands. The Empire and British institutions the world over will call for defence by the whole British people. If fortune should go against us, the map of the world would be remade. An autocratic political system would be substituted for the freedom which is the very essence of the British Empire, and for a time many of the ideals that we most cherish would die or struggle feebly for life in strange and uncongenial ground.

Perhaps it is not much that Canada can do to assist the Mother Country, if honor and duty require her to join with her allies. What we can do, we must do, whatever that may involve in men or money. We are upon the edge of an emergency from which we cannot escape, and we must so bear ourselves as to retain our self-respect and stand worthily with the British people throughout the King's dominions.

TWO ARE JAILED IN MISSISSIPPI MURDER

Clarksdale, Miss., July 30.—Following the finding of the body of a man in the lake near Rosedale, Miss., this morning, Deputy Sheriff Foley and District Attorney Dan Brewer, arrested Richards Lee and a woman.

A bloody ax was found in the woman's home. Bedding in which the body was wrapped, was identified as having been in the house.

The skull of the man was crushed and the body decomposed so badly that authorities have been unable to determine as yet whether he was white or a negro.

Big industrial plants in St. Louis, Mo., are resuming activity, and a rash of orders is putting new life into that section of the city.

WHALES GAMBOL ROUND BOAT

On Board North German Lloyd S. S. Breslau, July 30.—In latitude 42.43 north, longitude 66.26 west, the Breslau ran into a large school of whales, ten or fifteen in number. They came so extraordinary close to the liner that the passengers inspected them as easily as if they had been in a zoological garden.

Trixie Friganza, in filing action for divorce in Chicago from her husband Charles A. Goettler, declares he refuses to work.

85-YEAR-OLD WOMAN GOES TO SUMMER SCHOOL

New Orleans, July 30.—There are "finished" young ladies at 20, "educated products of the high school at 18 or 19, and those who "come out of school" somewhere between 12 and 15.

But Mrs. Julia B. Montgomery, 85, perhaps the oldest college student in the United States, goes to the Tulane summer school.

"I believe one is never too old to learn," declared Mrs. Montgomery. "Death is the graduation into a broader, more useful life."

AIRSHIP WITHOUT RUDDER IS LATEST

Berlin, July 30.—An entirely new type of airship is being built for the navy at Kiel, the chief feature of which is that it will have no rudder.

The aircraft which is of the semi-rigid type and is 300 feet long, will be steered by a system of wings resembling venetian blinds, attached to the gondola.

It is expected to develop a greater speed than the Zeppelins.

As much hog cholera exists in New York state fairs have been asked to omit swine exhibits, as they believe them a menace.

ONE STYLE THAT NEVER CHANGES.

Grave Fear That Great Britain Cannot Remain Longer Neutral

Situation in Europe is Even More Tense and Chief Interest Now Centres in the Capitals of the Great Nations--Rumor Says Japan May be Involved

The situation in Europe is little changed to-day, although the tension is daily becoming greater and the hope of avoiding a general European war is correspondingly less. Advices from Great Britain indicate that the crisis is regarded there as extremely grave, and it is feared by the most sober-minded of the people, that Great Britain cannot maintain neutrality, but that the nation will surely be involved in a great European war. The workings of the war office are of course, not fully known to the public, and there probably is much which is not generally known. But that England is vitally interested in the embroglio, and that there is a very great and real notion that she may be actively involved at very short notice, cannot be doubted.

The Bank of England to-day took steps to protect the gold stock of Great Britain by an advance in the discount rate from 3 to 4 per cent., a full point, and the other nations of Europe have taken similar measures.

That Japan may come to the aid of Great Britain, her alley, is a rumor which is not possible of verification. Japan is not eager to become involved in a conflict in Europe in which she has no great immediate stake, although there is no question where the sympathies of Japan would be.

Some fighting is in progress along the Danube frontier, but the censorship prevents any very authentic or dependable information from reaching the outside world. What is filtering through indicates a very ugly situation with little prospect of immediate remedy.

But the chief interest has shifted from the immediate scene of hostilities to the capitals of Europe. An entire continent, and, in greater or lesser extent, the whole world, is involved, and the situation could not be more angry or more grave.

Had No Cheering News.

London, July 30.—Sir Edward Grey, a central figure in the controversy owing to his strong efforts to keep the powers of the Triple Alliance and the Triple Entente from flying at each other's throats, was not able to give any cheering news when he spoke about the crisis to the members of the House of Commons. The British Foreign Secretary said:—

"I regret that I cannot say the situation is less grave than it was yesterday. The outstanding facts are much the same. Austria-Hungary has begun her war against Servia and Russia has ordered a partial mobilization of her troops. This has not hitherto led to corresponding steps being taken by the other powers so far as our information goes."

BOOSTER DAY AT BALL PARK A SUCCESS--PETES WIN, 6-2

Yesterday saw a large crowd at Riverside Park, to witness the game between Hamilton and the Petes. Of course the Petes were right on the job again and trimmed the Hamilton bunch to the tune of 6 to 2.

It was Boosters' Day and the Boosters turned out in goodly numbers. Tracey, in his usual good style put up an excellent class of ball, and was well supported by his team.

Hamilton were credited with nine errors, while the Petes had one tally against them.

REBUKES AN EMPRESS FOR PICKING FLOWERS

Attendant in Tuileries Garden Warns Widow of Napoleon III.

Paris, July 30.—On the recent visit to Paris of the Empress Eugenie, widow of Napoleon III., she was walking in the Tuileries gardens, where once stood her splendid palace, and picked a flower from the border. An attendant saw her and said: "Picking flowers is strictly forbidden, I must report you."

He demanded her name and address and she answered timidly, "Eugenie." The attendant was struck by the melancholy aspect to the aged lady, and relented, saying: "That is not a name. However, never mind this time but do not do it again.

TINY BOY HELD AS SLAYER

Philadelphia, July 30.—The youngest prisoner ever committed by a coroner in this city was held by Coroner Knight at the request of Asst. Dist. Atty. Fox. He is Tandeuz Szkrdzynski, 7, 2741 Salmon St.

The child was committed because of the death of Stanislaws Ekterowicz, 7, 2725 Salmon st., who died on July 7, from blood poisoning, following a wound of the right knee. The child prisoner and the dead boy were playmates and it was testified that Tandeuz, while throwing a stick struck his friend on the knee.

COLDSPRINGS.

There is a very thriving Sunday School about three miles south of the city of which many of the citizens of Peterboro know very little. Nevertheless "Coldsprings Union Sunday School" is doing very satisfactory work and is able to keep up its average in the hot weather as in the cool. There are about one hundred names on the roll and it has a cradle roll and Bible Class. There is an efficient staff of teachers and the officers, headed by Miss Laura Bennett, Supt., are meeting with great success in their work. The School contributes to many societies, and also missionary work. There is a good library, from which the scholars may obtain the best reading. Now the School is holding its Annual Excursion per Steamer "Stoney Lake" to Bewdley, on Wednesday, August 5th. The steamer is running its first trip there and as Bewdley is a new place a good attendance is expected. A good program of sports has been arranged, the special attraction being a ladies' football match. The details of the excursion will be announced later. Every friend and member of the school is invited to come and make the outing a success. See the bills for further particulars.

TAN, RED OR FRECKLED SKIN IS EASILY SHED

To free your summer-soiled skin of its oiliness, muddiness, freckles, blotches or tan, the best thing to do is to free yourself of the skin itself. This is easily accomplished by the use of ordinary mercolized wax, which can be had at any drug store. Use at night as you use cold cream, washing it off in the morning. Immediately the offending surface skin begins to come off in fine powder-like particles. Gradually the entire cuticle is absorbed, without pain or inconvenience. The second layer of skin now in evidence presents a spotless whiteness, and sparkling beauty obtainable in no other way.

If the heat tends to loosen and wrinkle your skin, there's an effective and harmless remedy you can readily make at home. Just let an ounce of powdered saxolite dissolve in a half-pint witch hazel and bathe your face in the liquid. This at once tightens the skin and smooths out the lines, making you look years younger.

LIGHT SLEEPING BAG

Only Waterproof Material Obtained From Seed Pods

For his Antarctic expedition Sir Ernest Shackleton had made a sleeping bag said to be the lightest in existence. It was constructed of Kapok, a fibrous, silk material, obtained from the seed pods of a tree grown largely in Java. It is six times as light as cotton, and is so oily that it is quite waterproof.

The reason why Kapok is not more generally known is because hitherto the attempts which have been made to invent machinery for the purpose of making Kapok of real commercial value have met with indifferent success. It is reported, however, that a new machine has now been invented, with the assistance of which it will be possible to "card" Kapok fibre, so that it can be used for coat linings, bed quilts, and so on.

A mattress stuffed with Kapok was tested in the water, and though only weighing 10 pounds, it supported a man weighing 200 pounds lying on it. As a matter of fact, for some years now, owing to its peculiar waterproof nature, this vegetable fibre has been employed as stuffing for life-buoys and life-belts.

Although Kapok is mostly produced in Java, it is also grown to a small extent in India, British Honduras, and Ceylon, and there is little doubt that if the latest machines prove a success they will bring fortunes to the lucky inventors.

WOMEN CHAUFFEURS

Self-starters Tempt Women to Drive Cars

Considering the fact that only a short time ago the sight of a woman sitting at the wheel of a big machine was quite a novelty, the number of lady motorists who now act as their own chauffeurs has increased surprisingly fast. It is not an uncommon thing nowadays to see a woman, in many cases slips of girls, manœuvring big machines through the downtown section during the business traffic hours.

Many things have occurred in the development of the motor car to account for the increase in the number of women drivers. Probably the most important of the new features which have been added to the automobile of recent years and which has done more than anything else to promote the sport of motoring fr the ladies, is the self-starter. The fear that their machine might get stalled and that they would be unable to get it home, prevented many women from taking a chance alone in an automobile.

Now the pressure of a button when a machine "stalls," and the engine is whirring again; the driver slips into low gear, lets in the clutch, and away goes the machine. The knowledge that as long as there is any gasoline in the tank they will be able to start their car, has induced many women to take up the sport.

FOR THE HOME COOK

Cheese Croquettes

Melt three tablespoons of butter, add a quarter of a cup of flour, and two-thirds of a cup of hot milk. When boiling stir in the beaten yolks of two eggs. Remove from fire, add one cup and a half of grated cheese, salt and cayenne. Cool, shape, crumb, and fry in deep fat.

Curried Chicken Livers

Clean the livers thoroughly. Cook in boiling water for fifteen minutes, drain and brown in bacon fat. Remove the livers, put one ounce of butter with the small quantity of fat left in the pan, and brown in it two level tablespoonfuls of flour. When brown pour in one cupful of hot stock and season with salt, pepper, and curry. Reheat the livers in the sauce and serve at once.

To Make Egg Vermicelli

Take three hard-cooked eggs, one teaspoon of flour, four slices of toast, half a teaspoon of salt, one cup of milk, speck of pepper, two tablespoons of butter; prepare the eggs by general rule, prepare the toast, prepare the sauce (white); separate the yolks from the white, cut the white into fine pieces, a quarter of an inch square, mix with the sauce and pour over the toast; garnish with the yolks rubbed through a strainer over the whole; parsley may be used to garnish.

Tasty Apple Fritters

Beat one egg to a froth till it is very light, add half a cup of milk, two-thirds of a cup of flour, beat until smooth; one teaspoon baking powder, chop two large apples, add to the batter, and fry in boiling lard. Drain well and serve hot, powdered with castor sugar.

Delicious Cocoanut Ice

A pound of cocoanut, put into a basin, pour over it two wineglassfuls of milk, let it stand one night to soak. Put into a pan one and a half pound of sugar with one and a half wineglassful of milk;; let it simmer till it thickens, stirring all the time; add the soaked cocoanut, boil ten minutes. Pour half on buttered tin, add cochineal to other, then pour on to white; cut in strips when cold.

DEVELOPS THE FIGURE

To develop the figure and correct round shoulders, well bathe to the waist in cold water every morning, if you do not take a cold tub. Then with a skipping-rope skip for five minutes in front of an open window before you put on your corsets. Then stand straight up, heels together, stretch your arms out in front of you as far as they will reach, with the tips of fingers together; then, with mouth shut, spread them slowly open until quite wide apart, then stretch them backward, trying to touch the backs of the hands. Draw in a deep breath through your nostrils all this time. Then slowly bring your arms back to their first position, exhaling the breath through the mouth. Repeat this twenty times morning and night. Every evening massage the chin for a few minutes with this reducing massage lotion: Powdered tragacanth, 10 grains; boric acid, 15 grains; salicylic acid, 5 grains; glycerine, 6 drams; eau de Cologne, 2 ounces; water, 2 ounces. Wear low and loose neck-bands.

Cold potatoes, freed from lumps and rubbed into the flour, make cakes and pastry much lighter, and no baking powder is required.

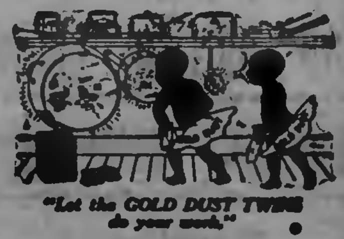
AS LIGHT AS LAGER
BUT BETTER FOR YOU



"Let the GOLD DUST TWINS do your work."

Clean pots and pans with GOLD DUST

Germs of decay accumulate on oft-used pots and pans, and ordinary soap and water only clean off the surface.

Gold Dust does the work—and does it right. It digs deep after germs, cleans like a new whistle and leaves your pots and pans as new, as bright as the day they were new—and sanitarily safe.

Gold Dust does this work in just half the time required by soap or any other cleanser. Does it better, too.

Gold Dust cleans everything like magic.

Gold Dust is sold in 5c size and large packages. The large package means greater economy.

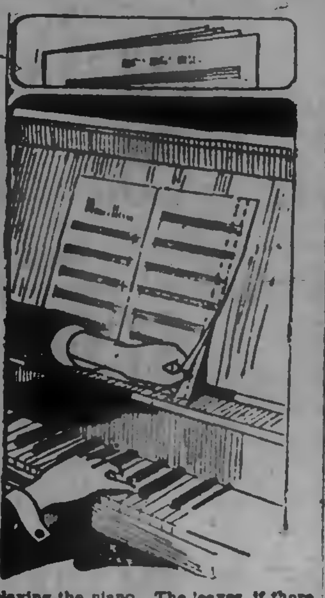
TURNING MUSIC

Trimmed Edges Solve a Long-suffered Nuisance



Musicians sometimes have trouble turning the pages of their music when playing the piano. The leaves, if there are more than two pages, for some reason seem to stick together just at the time when they should be turned quickly. A good way to obviate the difficulty is to trim each leaf with a pair of scissors so that it is about ¼ of an inch smaller than the one over it. In this way the edge of the the top leaf protrudes beyond the under leaf and is easily turned. As it is not necessary to trim the covers of the music, this does not render the sheets unsightly.

Wholesale Smuggling

Wholesale smuggling of horses, cattle and grain across the Canadian border, amounting to thousands of dollars was unearthed by Collector of Customs Judson La Moure, Jr., of the district of North and South Dakota and Northwestern Minnesota. According to information from Hallock, Man., near the centre of the smuggling district the operations were carried on along the border between St. Vincent and Warroal, Minn. There is no customs port between these two points, which are about 100 miles apart.

London City and Midland Bank has passed the Lloyds Bank and is now the biggest bank in the world, with deposits of $456,000,000.

SCREWS AND GEARS

Fremont, in his work on the origin of screws and gears, brings out some interesting points on this subject. The Greeks are supposed to have invented the screw, but the two Roman authors, Pliny and Vitruvius, give the most ancient record we possess on the subject, although it must certainly have been known long before their time. The principle of the screw seems to have been but little used until the middle ages, when it was first applied for wine and cider presses.

During the first centuries of our era bolt and nut was replaced by threadless bolts having a hole containing a conical pin, so that [illegible] in the pin increased the pressure. Such bolts had holes spaced along for adapting to different thicknesses of material. The Egyptian noria may account for the origin of gearing. This seems to have been a wheel working on a horizontal shaft and operated by a crank. Along the wheel surface were cleats for retaining the bucket chain which descended into the well, and in this way the buckets were raised, one after the other, full of water. But to drive the noria by an animal makes a vertical shaft necessary, and an ingenious person may have extended the cleats on one side in order to make them engage with a sort of lantern-shaped pinion placed on a vertical shaft.

"Porky" Out of Place

It is not very often we hear of porcupines walking through a flock of [illegible] ...h was the case when Fred Compton of Kingston discovered a large one a few yards from the house. The dog also had seen it and quickly made after the animal, when it took to a large pine tree, but not before the dog's mouth and nose were completely filled with quills; and it was not until the next day that, with the aid of a pair of pincers, the quills were pulled out of the poor animal's mouth. However, Compton ran and got his gun and soon put an end to the porcupine.

Lived in the Stone Age; Bones Found in Peterborough Clay Pit

Workman excavating for clay in the yards of a brick company at Peterborough found the skull and other remains of a woman which palæontologists believe may equal in age the skull of the primitive woman which was discovered in a pit at Piltdown Common, Sussex, and which evoked so much interest in the scientific world.

The skull is small, the occipital angle (back part of head) is acute, and the thigh bones are large. The top of the skull is fractured. The bones were found in the superficial gravel, and are in a good state of preservation. They were huddled together in the posture peculiar to burials of the Stone Age.

Near the place of the discovery is the site of the prehistoric river which once flowed over England from the Greenland glaciers, and the remains may have been brought down by the ice. There is no trace of the smaller bones, though most of the teeth are still in the skull.

The Young Man

From factory and office up to college and church the cry is for the young man. The world is his to do with as he sees fit.

The young man of to-day is master of a business at an age when his grandfather had scarce finish an apprenticeship. Universal education and quick and cheap communication bring to the young man now a practical grasp of affairs which only long years of experience could give to our fathers, fifty years ago. This is very well to know, if the young man will also keep in mind the fact that he will not always be a young man. In the same degree that he has opportunities when he is young he will be deprived of them when youth is gone. It behooves him therefore, to provide against the enforced retirement that awaits him just at the time when he may him for the best work. If he is past twenty he must get rid of the notion that he is "preparing" himself for life. It matters not who he is or what he is, he is living his life more tensely perhaps and more decisively in all probability than he will ever be doing at a later period. If the young man is waiting for some rich relative to die and leave him capital with which to start into business "right," he had better realize that the only way to start into business "right" is with his two hands, and that the best capital nowadays is a combination of industry, sense, pluck and application.

The young man who has this capital needs nobody's money. He who has it not would not succeed if he had a dozen fortunes as a foundation. Money to-day does less for a young man who will not also do for himself than it ever did before in world history. Money, lands, property, and all that, form a smaller part in human life to-day than ever before. Time was when these things comprehended almost all that men knew about or strove for. But the field of aspiration of effort, and accomplishment has immeasurably broadened and will continue to broaden as man develops.

There is no man on this earth so poor, so afflicted, so narrowed by environment but that there is a field of success for him. And the time to find it and fill it is in youth.

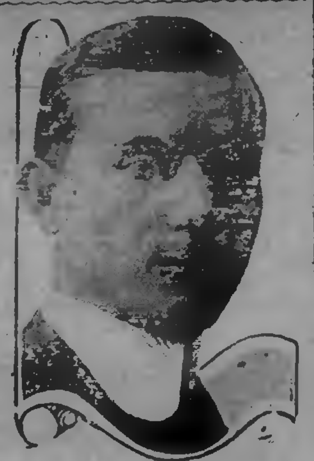
POPULAR FILM ACTOR



Eddie Lyons is a household word in the homes of picture show patrons. He's a happy young chap who can turn his personality into all sorts of twists in order to picture "somebody else" on the screen.

Lyons is usually cast for comedy, probably because he has a perfectly serious-looking face. Anyway he is very clever at comedy roles. He is often seen with Lee Moran and Victoria Forde, Stella Adams and the rest of the Nestor comedy company.

KING'S FAVORED TENANTS

Some Queer Rents Collected by King George

Some of the rents which are King George's due from certain of his loyal subjects are "more honored in the breach than in the observance." It would certainly surprise King George and Queen Mary if the Lord of the Manor of Addington, in Surrey should suddenly appear and plank down on the Royal breakfast table the bowl of porridge which constitutes his yearly rent in acknowledgment of his Sovereign's overlordship.

Whether the present owner of the Foulis Estates in Scotland regularly pays his rent we cannot say, or whether the King, as is likely, shuts his eyes to the omission of the bucketful of snow which is his rightful due. As the estates are near Ben Nevis, there would certainly be no difficulty in obtaining a trainload of snow once a year, and probably even a bucketful in summer; but, as the King has little use for snow, probably the rent is never paid.

Quite a different and much more desirable rent is the one which has been charged to the tenant of Crendon, in Buckinghamshire, from time immemorial. The rent consists of a garland of roses every June, and, needless to say, the garland is duly forwarded, and is a thing of beauty, as it ought to be.

In September every year two faggots are paid at the Law Courts by the City Remembrancer as rent for lands held by the City Corporation from His Majesty the King. This official not only has to deliver the two faggots, but has to see that they are properly received and accept a duly signed and witnessed receipt for them, which is filed in the City's archives.

The authorities of the Isle of Portland make a queer sort of collection every November on behalf of His Majesty. It is called the "King's Halfpenny"; but, as a matter of fact, every cottager on the island pays a farthing, every cottage with a garden a halfpenny, and every man with an acre of land or more threepence. This is called "quit rent."

When the King lately went across the Channel to pay his State visit to Paris, he ought to have been attended across the briny ocean by the present representative of Solomon Attfield, to whom King John gave his lands on condition that, whenever he or any of his successors crossed the Channel, the said Solomon or his heirs should be in attendance to hold up the King's head when he was seasick.

His title was the Royal Head-holder. However, as the last monarch to call for this service was Edward I., and, especially as his present Majesty is a sailor, it is very unlikely that the existing Solomon was called upon to perform his functions. Nevertheless, there is no doubt that if the King so desired he could call upon the tenants of the Attfield estates to do the service by which they hold the tenure of their land.

If the King should pay a visit to Aylesbury—where the ducks come from—the inhabitants are supposed to supply him with three eels if it is winter, and with two fat geese if it is summer. If the King should visit Chichester, by ancient usage he ought immediately to demand a string for his crossbow; and if the King should be engaged in war and riding at the head of his troops, it would be incumbent upon the successors to the Corbet Estates, in Shropshire to provide him with a flitch of bacon every day!

HAPPY CONVICTS

A Swiss prison appears to be the very place in which to spend a cheap holiday, as you have practically all you want—a comfortable cell, central heating, electricity, good food, a fair quantity of wine or beer and tobacco, and a library. You can learn a trade, have plenty of exercise, and there is little work to do in return for all these advantages. Until a year ago at Thorberg Prison, good conduct prisoners were even allowed out once a week on "parole," but, though no prisoners escaped, the custom has been suppressed.

Of all the Swiss prisons perhaps the jolliest is that of Kreuzlingen, in the Canton of Thurgau. The inmates have weekly smoking concerts, when the latest music hall songs can be heard, and good music, with the result that at evenings the townspeople—Kreuzlingen has nearly 6,000 inhabitants—gather enviously under the prison walls and promenade in the street enjoying the free entertainment, especially as some of the convicts have good voices. On these occasions there is no warden to prevent a conversation between the prisoners and their visitors across the wall, and thus the former learn the latest news.

It is noticed that the prisoners are very polite when young women are present. Packets of cigarettes and other small luxuries—not on the regular menu—find their way over the walls, and this custom, though strictly forbidden, is winked at. These pleasant little "soirées musicales" are now threatened with extinction.

It is only fair to the authorities to say that crime is decreasing, as the population increases, in the country.

HIVING SWARMING BEES

A Simple Solution to One of the Most Vexed Problems of the Bee-keeper

Bee-keeping, as interesting and not by any means unprofitable pursuit, is avoided by many farmers on account of the many perplexing problems the care of the busy workers presents to the uninitiated. A few practical hints on how to properly look after the natural swarmers may prove helpful.

When a swarm issues and forms into cluster—if in a warm sunny place—sprinkle the bees with water with any hair brush that is available. This will make them cluster more closely and be less inclined to fly away while you make preparations to hive them. Should the swarm be settled on the bough of a tree, hold a straw skep, or any substitute for it, with one hand, well under the bees, and around them if possible, and with the other hand give the bough a sudden, hard shake, which will cause the bees to fall in a mass into the skep; if the bough is bushy a few quick jerky shakes might be required to dislodge all the bees. A vigorous shake downwards stopped suddenly is very effective. Now quickly place over the skep a board or cloth large enough to cover it. Then turn it, mouth downwards, and place it on the ground as nearly as possible under the place the bees settled on. Raise one side of the skep an inch or more upon a stone or piece of wood and if the queen has been secured the stragglers will soon join the bees in the hive. If the sun is shining on the skep, shade it with a few boughs or an open umbrella, securing the handle to a stake. Nothing further need be done until the last bees have entered the skep in the cool of the evening, when the swarm can be transferred to a movable frame hive in a permanent position. Should the following day be warm, the hive should be shaded and the entrance opened to the full extent. Even in the height of the honey season, and in the best of bee-weather, a swarm is vastly improved by getting a pint of thin syrup daily for three or four days, but in broken weather which keeps the bees in their hives for days the treatment is absolutely necessary to keep a newly hived swarm from starving in its new foodless home. A comb of honey with some brood and eggs, from an old stock, would be a great advantage to a swarm starting in life. This is a very desirable plan in the case of second swarms or casts, as they frequently leave the hive never to return in company with the young queen in her mating trip, but while they have young brood and eggs in the hive they have no desire to leave it. It will not do to delay the hiving of the bees too long after they have settled in a cluster, for if the scouts, which have been previously sent out to find a suitable new home, return in the meantime the swarm will rise and follow them to, perhaps, parts unknown.

CURATE'S ADVENTURE

Taken For a Foreign Spy by a Devonshire Constable

How an innocent curate was suspected by a Devonshire constable of being a foreign spy when he had lost his bearings in the dark was related by the central figure in the incident, the Rev. I. M. Bankes-Jones of Sunningdale, on his return from a holiday in Devon.

At ten o'clock one night Mr. Bankes-Jones left his camp for a walk. He lost his way, but eventually came upon a policeman and two other men, and asked to be directed to a certain bridge. This request appeared to raise the constable's suspicions. He followed the stranger, and asked him for his name and address.

Treating the matter as a huge joke, the curate said, "My name is Tom Smith, and my address is Windsor Castle. But that is neither my correct name nor address. If I told you correctly you would be none the wiser."

"You must come to the station with me," said the policeman, "and make your explanations there," and in spite of a protest Mr. Bankes-Jones was taken three miles to the police station. There he discovered that the constable suspected he was a foreign spy inquiring for a bridge which might be in danger of being blown up.

The sergeant-in-charge was also told that the curate had been looking at telegraph poles very suspiciously. The curate was detained for some hours for inquiries and then liberated.

DOES INDIA HOARD HER YELLOW GOLD?

Many Millions of Precious Metal is Unaccounted For

From time immemorial India has absorbed gold as a sponge absorbs water. The flow of gold to India has always continued. In the last twelve years she has received $680,000,000 in gold, partly in sovereigns and partly in bullion, in addition to enormous quantities of silver. It all goes into the country, but very little ever comes out. Lord Rothschild observed some years ago that he had noticed that none of the smooth gold bars sent to India from England ever came back. What happens to this great stream of precious metal, which continuously disappears like those rivers in desert lands which lose themselves underground?

The testimony of experts is most conflicting. Some say it is hoarded, while a few are ready to prove by a formidable array of statistics that it cannot be extensively hoarded. Those who believe that India possesses a vast store of hoarded treasure make the wildest guesses at its probable total. The most popular estimate of the hoarded wealth of India puts the total of $1,500,000,000, which would amount to five dollars per head of the population; but some credible estimates are far higher. The experts quarrel, again, about the probable effect of India's absorbtion of gold upon the world's money markets and the prices of commodities. Some say that all gold-using countries benefit thereby, while others, such as Sir Edward Holden, appear to hold that "the drain of gold to India" is a potential menace. The commission, while declining to indorse either of these mutually destructive contentions has declared in effect that an increased use of gold in India should not in future be encouraged by the Government, but India already seems disposed to resent this recommendation.

India has been subjected to repeated invasions and innumerable internal wars, and her people have never completely lost their hereditary sense of insecurity. Banking facilities are still sparse, and it would be surprising if Indians did not hoard.

Hoarding does not necessarily mean burying in the ground or concealment in the roofs of houses, though those practices are doubtless extensive. Mr. J. M. Keynes, a member of the commission tells a story of a Brahman in Eastern Bengal who even hoards currency notes in his roof. Once a week he retires privily and spreads them out in the sun to remove the damp. A very large proportion of the hoarded wealth of India is however, in the form of gold and silver ornaments. It is into these ornaments that the bulk of the bullion and sovereigns, as well as much of the silver disappears.

Business Farming

Farming is always a business, but the average farmer keeps no books He pays a bill, makes no record of it, loses the receipt, or keeps it in one of a dozen cluttered boxes where it cannot be found.

In order to protect themselves in case of sudden death the wife and children should be made familiar with every detail of the business. There is recorded the case of a rich man who deposited his money in several banks was killed in an accident, and his family are living in absolute want because they cannot ascertain where the money was banked. Another instance is that of a man who placed thirty thousand dollars in a bank for the assistance of his family, died far away and his folks cannot find where the money is placed. One of my most valued books is a large blank book in which I record every detail of farm work with date of day, month and year. If we begin to plant or sow a piece of ground I put down date, how much seed it took, cost, kind of fertilizer used, name of variety, etc. If a debt is paid, down goes the date, amount paid, what for, and if I got a receipt.

By making the entries each noon or night the books can be so kept up-to-date that an executor can look over the record, stock, and produce books, etc., and see in a few moments how affairs stand; and the farmer himself knows about his work.—C. R. Davis.

DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS

COLD CHEERLESS HOMES

Igloos of Eskimos Crowded and Unsanitary

The igloos used by the Eskimos of the bleak north are small in size, necessarily overcrowded, and every crevice is carefully sealed during the long winter months in order to maintain a comfortable temperature within. The different forms of dwellings on the Arctic coast are the sod igloos, which are the standard and are constructed on two different plans.

The first type of igloo, with windows and doors in the walls, is a frame structure of logs or lumber. The walls and roof are covered thickly with sod, and one or two windows are set into the walls. The home contains two separate compartments, which are connected by a small door, the living-room proper and the entry or shed. The shed is somewhat smaller in size than the living quarters, and is used as a storeroom for provisions, clothing, sleds, and other articles too numerous to mention. The entrance into the igloo is also constructed of timber, and covered with sod, but the plan of construction differs somewhat from the one just described. This igloo also has two compartments, a living-room and a storeroom, connected by a low passageway. The entrance into the home is through an open hatch in the roof of the entry by means of a ladder. Then by passing through the tunnel one enters the living-room.

The living-room of some of the igloos are curtained off to separate the sleeping quarters from other parts of the household, but the majority have no such arrangements, all the household duties being conducted in the single room. The furniture equipment usually consists of a small stove, a few dishes, and improvised beds. The board floor, which is usually fairly clean, serves the purpose of chairs and tables. A few of the families own sewing machines and occasionally a phonograph.

Javanese Marriages

A marriage among the Javanese is quite a lengthy ordeal. Such a thing as courtship is practically unknown. The parents choose partners for their children, although the latter are consulted and their consent obtained. The parents discuss among themselves the terms of the marriage, and then the girl's parents give a betrothal pledge to those of the bridegroom, who soon after offer the purchase price for the bride in silver, jewels, stuffs, food, and so on. Each of the girl's parents also receives some special personal gift. On the day when the presents are delivered all the relatives and friends on both sides are invited to a series of festivities and banquets, which last several days, being furnished first by one side and then by the other. The eve of the actual wedding, which usually takes place a week later, is spent by the future husband and wife in a vigil, without which it is thought that great misfortune would follow. Next day the happy couple, with their parents and friends, appear before the priest, who duly unites them.

Two Goslings From One Egg

Two goslings were hatched from a single egg on one of the farms of Messrs. Chivers and Sons at Histon, Cambridge. Such an event is almost unprecedented, the birds from double-yolked eggs usually being deformed, if they hatch out at all, which is rarely the case. These twins are well shaped and healthily developed, and there is every indication that they are going to grow into fine vigorous birds. The egg that produced the twin birds was hatched out by a hen, who is devoted to her foster children.

IMPORTANT NOTICE

CALGARY, July 23rd.—An official statement just issued by the Monarch Oil Company states that the drill has just passed through a 57-foot strata of oil bearing sand, at a depth of between 1775 and 1832 feet. A sample of the oil from this oil sand is on exhibition at the Company's office in Calgary. This is the fourth oil sand encountered in the well, and indicates that a good producing well should be obtained before going much deeper. The Hole-Woollard Oil Company is making preparations to drill on its property in the Monarch district, which adjoins the property of the Monarch Oil Company, and we are advised that the price of shares will be advanced as soon as drilling operations are started. The time to invest in the shares of the Hole-Woollard Company is NOW, before the advance in price.

The property of the HOLE-WOOLLARD COMPANY adjoins that of the Monarch. The Monarch has reached the oil bearing sands. They have a well. The latest advices are that it is a 300-barrel well and that a gusher is looked for at any time. The price of the Monarch shares advanced from $2 to $20.00 over night, and should they bring in a gusher the price of HOLE-WOOLLARD shares will advance by leaps and bounds. The investors who are far-sighted enough to buy at the present low price will reap a golden harvest.

Every Dollar Invested Should Return Hundreds

The management of the HOLE-WOOLLARD OIL COMPANY is in the hands of well known and experienced oil operators and business men. Its property is in a direct line between two producing properties and is right in the centre of the Alberta oil fields.

Most of the stock which has been sold is held by people right here in Calgary. People who know the men at the head of the Company; people who know about the Company's property and prospects. That of itself is the strongest kind of a recommendation. If they believe in the Company and its prospects, the investment at this low price should surely interest you.

It is situated on the same anticline as the Monarch's producing well. You have just the same chance to make big profits in the HOLE-WOOLLARD shares.

Proven Ground

The property of the HOLE-WOOLLARD OIL COMPANY is, practically speaking, proven ground. The bringing in of the well on the Monarch has to all intents and purposes proven our ground. Eminent oil geologists have selected the location for drilling our wells and are convinced that oil in large quantities will be obtained at no great depth.

Buy HOLE-WOOLLARD shares to-day and secure your share of the big profits the Company will make when its wells are producing.

The Directors of the Company have exercised every care in the selection of their properties, aggregating 1380 acres, which are situated in many townships bearing indications of oil. It will be noted from other companies already operating in the field, that several quarter sections of the holdings of this Company are adjacent to the properties of those Companies, that have employed expert advice in the selection of their holdings

Investors should also note that the Company has lands which are not situated in one particular spot, and as it has been assured that oil is existing in different districts, this Company, by having its holdings spread over a vast area, stands an excellent chance if oil be discovered by any of the Companies operating.

The Company proposes to pay to its Fiscal Agents for procuring subscriptions, for shares in this Company, a commission not exceeding 20 per cent on the selling price of such shares.

Primary expenses of the Company are estimated at $2500.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only Constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

COPPER

The Red Metal

MILLIONS OF TONS OF PAY ORE

We have coal, fluxes and copper ores in unlimited quantities—

We have an estate of about 11,500 acres—

We have water, timber, and as fine a climate as there is in the world, which admits of working throughout the entire year—

We have spent years of time and thousands of dollars in getting this project into shape where we can consistently offer you a share in it—where your investment will be safe—where your interests will be safeguarded and your profits much greater than they are in the average manufacturing or commercial undertaking.

By cutting through the formation with streams, ages old, Nature has done much to demonstrate the existence of these great ore bodies and this, supplemented by the openings made by man, has proven that within this area there are at least five veins more than three miles long, and having an average width of fourteen feet, with an average content of 2.51 per cent. of copper metal.

Coal for fuel, Lime and Iron for fluxes, are abundant, easily mined and all within the boundaries of this estate. They can be cheaply obtained and economically transported to the site where it is proposed to build a smelter for reducing to matte or bullion this unlimited supply of copper ore.

Costs of every needed thing will be minimized to a degree impossible under less favorable conditions, and profits proportionately increased. Labor is cheap, and much of the food supply required is raised on the estate.

The ore supply is practically inexhaustible; engineers and geologists have estimated the depth of these enormous veins to be at least 3,000 feet.

At this time the enterprise is just getting under way and those who take advantage of the opportunity to secure a share in it now will, so far as finite judgment can reach, reap rewards far beyond the proportions of any investment at present made. Double Spiral Vanadium Steel Springs

The known quality of high-grade springs proves the standard efficiency of the Temco — long double coil sensitive to the least jar— tough and tested quality to outlast any car. This is a new element in shock absorber construction, based upon scientific mechanical principles, not the production of a "cold blacksmith" or experimenter. The special creation of a master designer, whose work has won him great reputation. No friction whatever. Design and construction covered by our original patents (Sept. 9, 1913) and patents now pending covering double spiral spring and other improvements as here illustrated in sectional cut. All infringements will be vigorously prosecuted.

WOMEN DOCTORS

Dr. Emily Stowe Was the First Woman to Practice in Canada

The distinction of being the first woman graduate in medicine in Canada belongs to Dr. Augusta Stowe-Gullen, a leading physician of Toronto who was born in Norwich, Ontario. She studied at the Toronto School of Medicine, graduating from Victoria and Trinity Universities. Her mother the late Dr. Emily Howard Stowe, was the first woman to practice medicine in Canada. Dr. Stowe graduated from the New York Medical College for Women in 1868, and was an untiring worker in the fight to secure the admission of women to the university.

In this day of enlightenment, when women doctors are many in Canada, it is not easy for one to recognize fully the difficulties that lay in the path of this pioneer. Dr. Stowe's struggle to practise in Toronto was filled with difficulties, but she surmounted them and won as well, for the women of this country, the opening to many spheres of activity.

Her daughter, moreover, did not find the path pleasant when she was studying for her life work, for there were many before she graduated in 1883, bitterly opposed to women entering the higher professions. But her perseverance made the way easier for the women who followed, and, for this, as well as her brilliancy in her profession and in other lines of endeavor, Dr. Stowe-Gullen is eminent among Canadian women just as her mother was revered for her fine qualities.

Daughter of Famous Fenian

A venerable figure at the Banagher Convent Jubilee celebrations was that of Mme. Adina, who was the third Irish nun to join the Banagher foundation after its establishment. She is the daughter of Stephen Joseph Meaney, the well known Fenian leader, who was arrested and imprisoned not only during the '67 period, but also in '48. She was absent from Ireland for forty years, and returned to the Bower Convent, Athlone. She noticed many changes for the better in the condition of the people.

Footballer Sent to Prison

At Newcastle John Armstrong, a well known Grimsby professional footballer, was sent to prison for eighteen months for housebreaking. Counsel asked the judge to deal leniently, as Armstrong's career as a footballer would be ended anyway. The judge said it was absurd to suggest that such an offence should be overlooked because the man was a professional footballer.

A Big Eagle Killed

Michael Carney, a farmer, residing near Westport, Ont., killed a bald headed eagle. The big bird was sitting on a fence, watching a flock of hens and chickens. When Mr. Carney saw it he picked up a broom-handle and, throwing it, struck the eagle with such force that it was stunned. It was then quickly despatched. The measurement was seven feet six inches from the tips of the wings.

How People Feel When They Have Tape Worm

Tape worm is bred from a parasite. This parasite is a creature male and female in one. It is a pear shape, having two, four and six suckers. It lays the eggs, which are only connected together with slime. They develop and form a body, which is the worm. Each joint is an individual, having a sucker or mouth. The worm grows to be much longer than the bowels where it is located, and sometimes a whole colony of them are found, enough to fill a quart of solid worm, and when put in a bucket of water would apparently fill it. It is the hardest task in the world to destroy this parasite without doing injury to the individual who may be so unfortunate as to have it, as the parasite clings to the bowels, freeing itself from the body of the worm, and remains there to breed another. It is an internal demon and causes its victims to suffer all the symptoms of disease imaginable. The cleverest physicians are led to believe the patient is suffering from some other disease, as nearly every person has different symptoms. Some have been treated for cancer of the bowels, consumption of the bowels, consumption of the lungs, chronic dyspepsia, nervous prostration, melancholia, hypochondria, hysteria, inflammation of the bowels, appendicitis and other complaints, when one or more of these internal demons were eating their lives away.

Prof. Mulveney has made the discovery to free the victim of this monster without injury to the system, destroying the parasite as well as expelling the worm with one dose of medicine without any previous starvation. Visit his office, where he has in his possession the most wonderful collection of these death-dealing monsters in the world, which have been expelled from hundreds of people by his famous remedy, some bottles containing colonies of worms and anyone seeing them cannot imagine how a person could possibly live with them in his bowels. It is surprising the number of people that have them. Thousands have them and are not aware of the fact. The letters and testimonials the Professor has in his possession are enough to convince one of this alarming fact. Some of the most prominent symptoms are: ravenous appetite, dizzy spells, headaches, cramps in the bowels, a feeling of something moving in the bowels, [illegible] a feeling as though something was crawling up the throat. The only certainty of having one in the system is when segments or joints are seen, which come away almost any time. They are flat and from ½ of an inch to 1 inch long, which have often been mistaken for pin worms by those who do not know the difference. There are many other feelings of distress which would take long to enumerate. Strange to say, some people of strong constitution, have very little distress.

Prof. Mulveney's world-famous Tape Worm Exterminator is safe, sure and harmless. No starvation, no danger, is not disagreeable to take. One dose nearly always affects a cure. WHY WE HAVE INDIAN SUMMER

It Does Not Occur as Regularly as Many People Argue—About One in Four Years

Why and what is Indian summer? There is more of tradition and less of fact about Indian summer than any other season of the year. Indian summer seems to be an accident of nature, pure and simple—and it has just the same chance of being repeated from year to year as any other accident, and no more!

The facts about Indian summer briefly are these:

The latter part of September is, as every one knows, noted for its severe wind and rain storms. People call these the "equinoxes" and other names. The storms are often very destructive. The sun has crossed the meridian and the temperature is beginning to go down. The influence of the sun on general weather conditions is now known to be very great. Therefore, at the time when the season of warm weather is changing to a season of colder weather, it is only natural that there should be more or less storm-and-stress in the atmosphere.

When we have several days of high winds and heavy rains it is also natural that the temperature should go down. As with all things of nature, the winds and the rains soon exhaust themselves and a dry period of sunshine succeeds.

The contrast between the cold, dreary, rainy, wind-blown days and bright, sunny, dry days is most marked, of course. And it is especially marked in the autumn. The air is dry and filled with smoke and dust, which makes it hazy in the extreme. Besides that, as the period is immediately following a severe atmospheric disturbance, there is little, or no, movement in the air and the tendency of the air-currents is downward from great atmospheric heights rather than horizontally across the face of the earth. Such is the explanation for the condition we call "Indian summer."

The experts of the weather bureau, however, made an investigation of the subject and they found that in a period of 41 years there had been but 9 years when there was a really

CANADIAN PLUMS

The Grower and the Value of the Home Nursery

The small quantity of plums entering into the export trade of Canada and the desire of the consuming public to procure fruit of the best quality have led W. T. Macoun, Dominion Horticulturist, to prepare an exhaustive work known as "Plum Culture." There is one thought brought out which might redound to the advantage of the fruit grower should he adopt the system of the Central Experimental Farm. This is the home nursery, where young trees may be developed and transplanted at any time. It is often more convenient to buy trees from the professional nurserymen, yet he who propagates plum trees by root grafting, crown grafting or budding for his own use should have a nursery in which to grow them until they are ready for the orchard. A good sandy loam soil, which does not bake, and is well drained, is best suited for this purpose and will grow the strong, healthy trees which are desired. The ground should be thoroughly prepared and the young trees planted about twelve inches apart in rows three feet apart. Cultivation should be thorough up to about the middle of July, when it should cease, as in colder climates especially, it is very desirable that the wood ripen well, and late cultivation would encourage late growth. It will be necessary the first year to cut off branches, if more than one develop from the graft, and at the end of the first year they may be transplanted into the orchard, if one-year-old stock is to be used.

ALUMINUM COOKING VESSELS

Tests Show They Are Safe From a Medical Standpoint

Medical men have made tests of aluminum cooking vessels under the varied working conditions of the kitchen, and carefully determined the amounts of this element taken up by the different materials in contact with the vessels.

From the results, it seemed to be necessary to give warning against only carbonate of soda in aluminum and the long standing of pure water. Common salt, beefsteak, tomatoes, soups, brussels sprouts and [illegible] cause some darkening of the vessels, but the slight traces of aluminum absorbed were not deemed sufficient to affect health.

With acetic or tartaric acid there was no darkening or other indication of any action. Carbonate of soda alone gave strong blackening and showed much dissolved aluminum, and against the use of this dealers in aluminum ware have often given caution.

Water boiled in the vessel seemed to have no effect. It was on standing twenty-four hours exposed to the air that cold water caused a white gelatinous substance to be created and this proved to contain aluminum and silica. Even this combined action of water and air may be avoided by a film of oil over the water.

SEWING SUGGESTIONS

A spool-board will be found a great convenience in the sewing room. Cover a light wooden board with cambric, cretonne, or any suitable material, or paint it. Drive into the board plenty of those long wire nails which are slender and have small heads. Hammer them only enough to hold firmly, leaving them protruding a good distance. Make holes with a gimlet through the upper two corners, to attach a cord or wire for hanging the board in the sewing room. Fill the spikes with spools of cotton and sewing silk. They will be out of the way, and at a glance you can tell which one you want.

To make strong buttonholes, place a fine piece of muslin or lawn underneath the buttonhole and work it the same as usual. When it is all finished cut away the muslin close to the stitch.

When putting hooks and eyes on a waist, try this quick way of doing it without measuring: Sew the eyes on the left front, the desired distance apart, with the loops cut far enough

QUEBEC FORESTRY

Forestry Engineers Who Work on Scientific Principle

The day of the ruthless pioneer is long past in the Province of Quebec, and the valuable forests which densely clothe such an enormous area are no longer regarded as an obstacle in the path of civilization. On the contrary, they are being carefully conserved, and forestry engineers, working on scientific principles, are being increasingly employed. The old haphazard methods are giving place to organized effort. There are six million acres of private forests in the province, and seventy-nine million acres of forests under government control. The work of classification and exploration will necessitate the employment of a great number of agents for a long period. Retimbering is beginning to assume truly colossal proportions, no less than 200 firms at the present time being engaged in lumber work in the Province of Quebec. Seven of these firms are now employing forestry engineers, and it is certain that several of the owners will soon follow their example, thus affording excellent opportunities for the engineers, who are being trained at the Forestry School.

Contractors Notified to Get Busy

Yesterday morning City Engineer Parsons wrote to notify Messrs. Foley and Gleason, who have the contract for some 29,000 yards of city paving here, that they must begin operations at once. The contract for this work, duly signed by Mayor and City Clerk was sent to Foley & Gleason on Wednesday. This prompt action by the City Engineer is well taken as Peterborough does not want her streets kept ripped open all winter.

A Millbrook Woodchuck

Millbrook Reporter: As though potato bugs and scratching chicks, were not sufficient to contend with, a ground-hog took up its habitation last week in the garden of one of the citizens, who resides in one of the central lots on Peterboro street. As a result delicacies in the neighboring gardens soon began to suffer. However a trap was hunted up and woodchuck fell into the toils with fatal results. Exit woodchuck! but now comes word of the army worm.

He has an account in the Dominion Bank at Lindsay.

How the Gates Are Operated

It may interest some of our readers to learn how the railway gates on Charlotte and Hunter streets are raised and lowered as a train passes by. There are those who think those gates are operated by electricity. Yesterday a Times scribe asked the "Safety First" guardian on Hunter Street for a demonstration of how these gates are operated. The man in charge very courteously invited the reporter up to his office and showed him how the device is worked. There are two upright levers, about three feet long which, to raise or lower the gates, are pulled forward or backward. In the well or lower part of the building are chains running underground to the gates. The raising and lowering of the gates is thus purely mechanical.

An Assault Case

At yesterday's police court, a local man was charged with having committed an assault on a woman. Mr. Wicdifield for the complainant, said that Dr. McPherson, a material witness had been called to the hospital on an operation case. The first witness was the woman who said the prisoner, Jeffries, chased her two boys. Prisoner tried to get into her house. She warned him three times not to come in. She struck prisoner on the face. All concerned live in Driscoll Terrace. Their respective children were the "casus belli." She had her baby in her arms when prisoner kicked her. She got her physician, Dr. McPherson in to examine her condition. Prisoner, whom she faced, kicked her partly on the leg and partly on the body. Prisoner said he could lick her father, her husband or any relation she had. Stephen Huard, father of the lady kicked saw Jeffries try to get into the house.

Lindsay has now begun holding Secret Sessions of its police court. An hotelman was tried "in camera" for selling liquor illegally and fined $40. It is time this 10th century style of court was banished!

MEXICO'S FAMOUS ROMANTIC SEAPORT

Tampico the Noted Harbor Has Many Prosperous Industries

Until the trouble arose between the United States and Mexico, the average person probably knew little about Tampico. Nevertheless, it is a town which provides one of the most remarkable of modern romances of industrial investment.

Tampico became famous in the money market at the beginning of the great oil boom, and some idea of its importance in connection with that industry may be gathered from the fact that in about ten years nearly two hundred and fifty million dollars has been invested in the oilfields in the State of Tamaulipas to which Tampico belongs.

Of this total over $75,000,000 represents British interests, and the amazing growth of oil properties in that corner of the world is illustrated by the fact that from the 1,000,000 barrels of oil secured in 1907, the figure has grown to 16,000,000, which was last year's total.

Apart from oil, however, Tampico, which shares with Vera Cruz the greater portion of the foreign trade of Mexico, has quite a number of other prosperous industries, which have been greatly developed of late years by British and American residents, who are more numerous in Tampico than in any other part of Mexico. The excellent harbor accommodation of the town makes it the chief port for the exportation of coffee, sugar rubber, copper ores, and asphalt, the most important products of the neighboring territory.

The [illegible] very rich, and it is expected that within a few years there will be an enormous increase in the [illegible] trade in fruit and vegetables. Furthermore, it is a fine centre for [illegible] fishing. Indeed, it is the happy hunting-ground of the enthusiasts who delight to catch the big game of the sea, for in no other waters can that giant fish, the tarpon, which attains a length of 6 feet or 7 feet, be found in such large numbers.

Most of the commerce of Vera Cruz is also in the hands of foreigners, although it is a place to be avoided by those who have a regard for their health. Its moist, hot climate is notoriously unhealthy, and the annual death-rate ranges from one in eleven to one in twenty of the population mostly from lung diseases and from yellow and other fevers. The full title of the city is Villa Nueva de la Vera Cruz, or "New City of the True Cross."

LOOKING AFTER YOUNG CHICKS

Plenty of Shade and Good Wholesome Food Give Best Results

Green food is absolutely essential during the growing period. It can be most economically supplied by growing it directly upon the range. Where the chicks are crowded on small areas, considerable expense must be incurred in supplying it from an outside source in the form of cabbage, grass-clippings or sprouted grains, says Harry Lewis of New Jersey College of Agriculture, in Suburban Life. A range which can be kept seeded to a permanent sod is the best, but, where the birds are kept in such numbers as to destroy the grass, it will be found desirable to divide the area into two plots, and rotate them by alternating the areas and raising quick-growing, succulent crops, such as peas and oats, rape, buckwheat, millet, and, during the winter, as a catch or cover crop, rye, wheat, vetch and crimson clover, singly or in combination. The birds can then eat the succulence directly off the root, and the plowing and seeding purify the runs and utilize the manure to grow the crop. An abundance of shade is necessary for a normal, healthy development. Natural shade is the most desirable; where it cannot be secured, artificial shelters must be constructed. Muslin frames, set at an angle to prevent birds roosting on them, are efficient. A rough shelter of bushes or boughs, elevated from the ground about two feet, by laying on crotched sticks, will answer very well. The most desirable shade is that given by a growing plant. It is much cooler, due to the large amount of moisture given off. An ideal practice is to plant the range in fruit trees—peaches, plums or apples being desirable. When trees are not present, or while thy are making a sufficient growth, it will be found profitable to plant such crops as corn, sunflowers and soja beans between the rows.

The summer colony or developing houses should provide three features—namely, fresh air, sufficient size, and must be easily moved, or portable. They should be portable to facilitate moving them from place to place rurring succeeding seasons as the range is changed, or, as is often the case, it is desired to use them for small laying flocks during the winter. The design should provide an abundance of fresh air, without causing drafts to blow across the roosting-place at night. Crowded, stuffy sleeping quarters will weaken the vitality of a lot of youngsters quicker than any other one cause. If the house can be constructed to furnish considerable shade, that is another advantage. It is a mistake to build small, tucked-up colony houses, as for example 2x4 feet, which are often seen on small plants. Such houses are hard to ventilate properly, and the tendency is to crowd too many chicks into one flock with disastrous results. The desirable colony unit is about fifty chicks, the exact capacity depending upon floor space and method of ventilation.

Prolific Cattle Tick

A male and a female tick hatched in April may by Oct. 15 give rise to 6,750,000,000 descendants, about half of which, being females, will lay about 1,500 more eggs apiece immediately or the following spring.

Take the cattleman's point of view: A thoroughly, although not exceptionally infested cow may carry several hundred thousand ticks at one time and, during one season, may be infested by four such broods. Now, 1,500 ticks, after having engorged themselves for three or four days, will weigh about a pound, this representing almost entirely the weight of the blood taken from the host. Thus the helpless beast may actually lose from 200 to 500 pounds of blood in a single season.

Little wonder that thousands of Southern calves never reach maturity; that the pitiful spectacle of valuable dairy or beef animals actually starving to death in the midst of rich nutritious pasture is not a nightmare but a terribly frequent reality.—World's Work.

Present Issue 50,000 Shares at $1.00 Par

The above Company takes this opportunity of urging upon the public the necessity for prompt action in securing some of the stock which is now being offered in a block of 50,000 shares of $1.00 per share. This issue is being taken up rapidly, and in order to secure any of the stock orders must be sent in immediately.

From the various reports it is expected that one, if not more wells will strike oil in the very near future and when this happens whatever stock may be left of this issue will be taken up at once.

The striking of oil at any of these wells will have the effect of increasing the value of our stock, due to the fact that our holdings of 2,320 acres are well scattered over the field.

It is almost a foregone conclusion that when this present issue is fully subscribed, it will be impossible to secure any of the stock of this Company at $1.00. For this reason, as well as those stated above, we urge the public to take advantage of the opportunity now offered to purchase stock in The Chinook Oil Company, Limited.

Kaiser Proclaims State of War—Defies Russia

RUSSIA AND GERMANY RATTLE SWORDS, COMMONS IS TOLD

British House Startled by Momentous Announcement by Premier Asquith--Russian Troops Destroy a Railroad Bridge

London, July 31.—The momentous announcement was made by Premier Asquith in the House of Commons to-day that Russia had proclaimed law had been proclaimed in Germany and fleet and in consequence martial the general mobilization of her army and a general mobilization in Germany would follow:

Premier Asquith's statement was as follows:

"We have just heard, not from St. Petersburg, but from Germany, that Russia has proclaimed the general mobilization of her army and her fleet and that in consequence of this martial law is to be proclaimed in Germany,

"We understand this to mean that mobilization will follow in Germany if the Russian mobilization is general and is proceeded with.

"In these circumstances I prefer not to answer any further questions till Monday."

London, July 31.—A Central News despatch from Paris says telephone communication between France and Germany has been interrupted since four o'clock this afternoon.

Russia Blows Up Bridge.

London, July 31.—A Central News despatch from Berlin says the Russian troops to-day blew up the frontier railroad bridge of the Warsaw-Vienna Railroad.

Vienna Grows Hungry.

Vienna, July 31.—The tension in Vienna is higher to-day than ever before. The international crisis is nearing its bright and public pessimism is more widespread to-day.

Premier Asquith's utterances before the British Parliament on the seriousness of the situation are thought to be entirely justified.

Though the war with Servia is only a few days old, the pinch of hunger is already felt here. Dealers have cornered food supplies and are holding them for exorbitant prices.

There is meat enough to last only three weeks in this city.

SHOULDERING THE BURDEN ALL ALONE

American Papers on British Naval Situation—Britain's Heavy Burden

The humiliating position of Canada, a wealthy young country, dependent for naval defence on the motherland and contributing nothing in return is emphasized by an American paper, the New York Journal of Commerce, in a recent editorial. The Journal of Commerce says:

> "It is an impressive fact that the total burdens in respect of the army and navy amount to about 38s per head of the population of the United Kingdom, while in Canada they amount to only 6s 8d per head. Whether the colonies are beginning to realize that the strain on the mother country very largely for their defence, is reaching the limit of endurance is somewhat doubtful. But there is nothing doubtful about the fact that such contributions as the colonies have been able to offer for the relief of the mother country have so far made no impression on her burdens."

To a self-respecting people like Canadians it is humiliating for a neighboring country to be able to make such statements.

The competition in armaments bears very heavily on the British people. A million pounds sterling of taxation means something very different when distributed among 65,000,000 of population, as in Germany, from what it means when distributed among 45,000,000 people in the United Kingdom. The cost of the German navy is only 7s per head of the population of Germany, while the cost of the British navy is 22s per head of the population of the United Kingdom. The average family of five persons is taxed £1 13s in Germany and £6 10s in the United Kingdom toward the cost of their respective navies. While, therefore, as a nation, the people of Great Britain are spending double the amount Germany is spending on the navy, the burden on the individual taxpayer really amounts to an expenditure of 3 to 1.

New Orleans, Aug. 1. The old trick of switching the roll was played successfully by two Italians, one short and the other tall, at the expence of Francisco Latrea, Spaniard, from Cuba who was on his way to California. Larrea is minus $135 as a result of his trusting nature.

WAR BULLETINS

Paris, July 31.—Military movements on the German side of the frontier were very active to-day, and the French covering troops sent out outposts. A German patrol at one point actually crossed the frontier, probably owing to a mistake.

Hong Kong, China, July 31. Most active preparations are going on here in view of eventualities. The Canadian Pacific steamer Empress of Asia has been chartered by the Government and guns are being mounted on board. At the dockyards work is proceeding night and day, and double guards have been put on duty. All the troops confined to barracks and leave has been stopped. The British battleship Triumph to-day took on her war stores and is prepared for action.

St. Petersburg, July 31.—An apparently authentic report in circulation here says that an order has been issued for a general mobilization of Russian troops in the district west of the Urals. All officers and reservists of the entire Russian navy have been ordered to the colors.

The Hague, July 31.—The Netherlands army was to-day ordered to mobilize.

Berlin, July 31.(Passed by Censor). --Orders to practically all ships in the German reserve navy, including liners capable of conversion into war vessels, directing them to remain in port, were issued to-day.

London, July 31.—Admission was made at the Foreign Office this evening that the Czar has ordered a general mobilization of all the armies of European Russia. Commanders of all Russian ports on the Black Sea and the Baltic have been ordered to seize all coal and fuel oil supplies, and to furnish no foreign merchantmen with more than enough fuel to reach the nearest foreign port.

London, July 31.—A Central News despatch from Berlin says the Russian troops to-day blew up the frontier railroad bridge of the Warsaw-Vienna railroad.

Peking, July 31.—The British fleet to-day deserted Wei-Hei-Wei and sailed at mid-day with sealed orders thus fulfilling its long standing orders. The British considered the place not worth defending.

Rome, July 31.—A Salonika despatch this evening reports that a flying squadron consisting of three Russian cruisers and two destroyers is speeding toward the Bosphorus with the objective of seizing any vessels flying the flag of either Germany or Austria, immediately war is declared.

NO MARKET ACROSS THE BOUNDARY

When the reciprocity campaign was in progress in 1911 the Liberals and advocates of reciprocity claimed that there was a great market for wheat in the United States, and that the republic had reached the limit of production. Subsequent events have shown the absolute fallacy of this statement. In 1912 and 1913 the United States was Canada's greatest rival in the sale of wheat and flour, and the republic produced more wheat for sale abroad than Canada. Instead of having a market for wheat from the Dominion, the United States' farmer has been our greatest competitor.

This year the United States has an even greater harvest, and will have a record production for export. The official forecast from Washington indicates a harvest of nearly 900,000,000 bushels of spring and fall wheat, together with record-breaking corn and cotton crops.

In 1850 the United States produced a little more than four bushels of wheat for every human being in the country. In the 80's the output rose to ten bushels per inhabitant. In 1900 the production was back to seven bushels per inhabitant.

THE MEANEST MAN IN TOWN.

EMPEROR'S BROTHER LEAVES FOR RUSSIA

London, July 31.—It was officially announced here to-day that conversations had been resumed between the Russian and Austro-Hungarian Governmets.

These "conventions" are being carried on in St. Peterburg and Vienna simultaneously and the fact aroused another flicker of hope in London that the opportunity for mutual explanation may form a startling point toward an improvement in the situation.

A Report stating that Prince Henry of Prussia has gone to St. Petersburg was regarded as a strongly favorable sign as Emperor William's brother is believed to have more influence over the Emperor of Russia than any one else.

YOUTH STABBED NEAR HEART, MAY DIE

New Orleans, Aug. 1.—As a sequel to an argument concerning the unloading of a carload of lumber, Frank Francis, 22, of 2823 Marais street, is in the charity hospital suffering from a dangerous stab wound in the left side, near the heart.

James Saucier, 22, 1240 Elysian Fields, is accused. The affair occured at Elmira and Patterson streets, Algiers, shortly after 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. Both are drivers for the Algiers Manufacturing Company, Algiers, according to police. Saucier alleges that Francis attacked him with a pair of brass nuckles, whereupon he stabbed his assailant.

The wound is thought to be dangerous, and Francis may die. Saucer is held pending an investigation.

BANK OF ENGLAND RATE HAS BEEN RAISED TO 8 PER CENT

Note-Holders Fear That Bank Cannot Maintain Redemption of its Paper Money and Demand Gold, While Steps Are Taken to Prevent Export of the Metal

Toronto, July 31. By far the most startling development of the day in the European war situation, inasmuch as it indicates an almost unprecedented condition of affairs, is the announcement of a run on the Bank of England and the raising of the Bank discount rate to 8 per cent. Only yesterday the rate was advanced to 4 per cent. from 3 per cent., which is about the normal. The doubling of the rate of yesterday is intended to protect the gold stock of Great Britain, and prevent export. But with the run on the Bank an even more serious menace than export has developed, because note-holders are apparently fearful that the notes will not be maintained at parity and are determined to hoard the gold.

Records show that the Bank of England discount rate, or the rate of discount on commercial paper, has not been as high as eight per cent. since 1873. In November, 1907, at the height of the last world depression, and immediately before improvement, the rate touched seven per cent.

It is interesting to note that the Bank of France has another method of protecting its gold reserves from demands for export. The bank can pay in either gold or silver, both being legal tender, and in case of need will pay silver, charging a premium for gold. In this was the disturbance of domestic business is at a minimum.

Censorship Is Strict.

A close censorship has been imposed on all news from Germany, Austria and Russia and probably will be imposed in France, Italy and Servia to-day. The British Foreign Office has requested correspondents and newspapers to refrain from publishing any news relating to military activities.

In the immediate war zone the Servians continue to offer a desperate and gallant opposition to the Austrian advance and engagements are in progress at a number of points all along the Danube frontier and the River Drina. Russia is feverishly preparing for war, and the Czar's men are already menacing the Austrian frontier.

Russia Invades Austria.

Berlin, July 31.—A series of explosions were heard on the Russian side of the Austro-Russian frontier at Myslowitz early to-day, and the Czar's troops are reported to have blown up a big bridge according to messages received here.

The bridge reported to have been blown up is an important one on the Vienna-Warsaw Railroad.

If the reports are true, the occurrence practically amounts to an invasion of Austria.

HAMILTON WIN FROM PETES

Visitors Trounce Petes in Last Innings to Score of 5–1

Yesterday the Petes went down to defeat before Hamilton at Riverside Park before a fairly large crowd of fans. The game was a battle up to the ninth period, when the score stood 2–1 in favor of Hamilton, but in the last lap Hamilton went after a few more and made the score 5–1. This was too much for the Petes to overcome, in fact the boys were tired out, that is, if one was to judge by the way they ran the bases.

Belting did the twirling and kept the Hamilton bunch guessing right up to the last innings, when he was touched for three hits.

Mully Miller did the receiving, but it was Mully's day off (all ball players have a day off, they take it in turns).

On the whole the boys have been playing excellent ball, and although they worked hard yesterday, poor base-running really was the cause of their defeat.

Come with the crowds this afternoon to Jubilee Point, where the Printers will run off a Grand Programme of Sports. Good Orchestra. George St. Wharf at 1.30 sharp.

CANADA'S REGULAR FORCES WILL GUARD CABLE STATION

CANADIAN FORCES UNDER ORDERS

Niagara-on-the-Lake, July 31.—Considerable excitement was occasioned here to-day when word was received from Ottawa that the Royal Canadian Regiment, of Toronto, which has been over here fixing things up after the drill camps were through, has been ordered to hold itself in readiness to go to Quebec.

The Royal Canadian Regiment is in command of Col. Fages, stationed at Halifax. There are divisions at London, Toronto, Fredericton, Quebec, Winnipeg, and Halifax. The Toronto company of 100 is in charge of Major Keye.

ROYAL CANADIAN REGIMENT READY FOR ALL EMERGENCIES

Thousands Offer Services for Either at Home or Abroad—Col. Hughes Filled With War Enthusiasm—England Has Loyal Support in Canada

Ottawa, July 31. That Col. the Hon. Sam Hughes will resign his portfolio as Minister of Militia and Defence, and lead in person the first Canadian Contingent to go to the aid of England if Great Britain becomes involved in a European conflagration, is the statement to-day of those who are the closest friends of the Minister. That there could be no better commander of Canadian forces is admitted, as Col. Hughes has the experience, the training and has made a record for himself in actual warfare as a skilful fighter. Col. Hughes before he left last night for Bracebridge, where he speaks at a banquet to-night, would make no statement, but only smiled knowingly.

Thousands Offer Services.

That there will be no dearth of Canadian volunteers for active service if England needs aid is shown by the applications to go to the front, which are pouring into the militia department. The offers to enlist, if required, came from the Atlantic to the Pacific and are from commanders of crack regiments down to privates.

Many old British soldiers are offering to enlist in the Canadian contingent. It is understood that the commandant of several regiments have intimated that practically every man will be ready to go to the front.

The Canadian Government is in constant touch with the British authorities. While no formal offer of Canadian troops has been made by the Government, it is understood that an intimation has been given to the War Office that if Canadian soldiers are required the Dominion, as in the case of the South African war will be prepared to do its duty.

BOMB HURLED IN HOUSE, FAILS TO EXPLODE

Monroe, D.A., July 31.—An accident to a fuse probably prevented serious damage and possibly life loss last night at the home of Walter Cheek Superintendent of the Benoit Lumber Company, at Cheniere, eight miles from here.

Some one constructed a crude bomb by filling a crayon with powder and attaching a fuse to it. The explosive was thrown through a window, but it struck the sash and the fuse was broken off.

The bomb was thrown into a room where two young son's of Mr. Cheek's were sleeping. A watchman at the mill near by saw a man running from the home during the night and fired at him. Two shots were returned, but no one apparently was hit.

It is believed the attempt on the lives of the Cheek family might have grown out of the testimony recently given at a trial here.

MONARCH DRILL GOES THROUGH 57 FEET OF OIL BEARING SANDS

Interesting Announcement Made by President Georgeson --Well Now Over 1800 Feet Deep---More Wet Gas Come in Contact With

Calgary, July 30.—Heavy oil showings are being found in the Monarch well, west of Olds, although the oil has not yet come in in commercial quantities.

To put the exact facts before the public, President William Georgeson and Treasurer G.W. Morfitt, of the company, this morning, issued an official statement from the drillers setting forth the results.

The heaviest oil seepage has been encountered through a stratum 57 feet thick and the well is now 1880 feet deep.

A sample of this oil baled out at 1775 feet was brought to the city this morning and is in the office of Mr. Morfitt, Grain Exchange building. The oil is a heavy black petroleum with the characteristic petroleum odor.

The statement issued by the officers is as follows:

In the absence of Mr. Dunn, Mr. Van Alst, the head driller, reports that from the depth of 1,775 feet to 1,832 feet he went through oil bearing sands for 57 feet. Throughout there was a heavy showing of black oil in the bailer. Two further showings of wet gas were met at 1,805 feet and 1,815 feet.

The well is now down 1,850 feet. Wet gas has shown at 633 feet, 1,440 feet, 1,805 feet and 1,815 feet.

Oil sands have shown at 808 feet, (18 feet), 1,430 feet (30 feet), 1,740 feet (14 feet), and 1,775 feet (57 feet.)

The well is now down 1,850 feet, and while there are good oil showings there is not as yet oil in commercial quantities.

To-day—Mostly fair and warm.

YOUTH WOULD TAKE A CHANCE ON DEATH

Montreal, July 31. Although he may have to face a court material and perhaps death, Adolf Otto, Droll a young Australian drug clerk in this city, is willing to go back to his native land and ask to be reinstated in the Red Cross corps of the Austrain army.

Droll served for three years and then, one night in a Vienna cafe, a superior officer insulted Droll's fiancee. Droll struck the officer on the mouth and, swords being drawn, followed up the blow by wounding in the officer's cheek.

Yielding to his sweetheart's persuasion, Adolf escaped to Canada, but now he is willing to face consequences and offer to serve in the ranks. The officer who insulted his girl has since apoligized to her.

SIMPLE HOME REMEDY FOR WRINKLED FACES

Thousands are spending fortunes in frantic efforts to remove the signs of premature age from their faces. Such women willingly pay almost any amount of money for worthless wrinkle removers, of which there are many.

If they only knew it, the only effective remedy imaginable is a simple harmless face wash which can be made up at home in less than a minute. They have only to get an ounce of powdered saxolite and half a pint of witch hazel at the drugstore and mix the two. Apply this daily as a refreshing lotion. The effect is almost magical, even after the first treatment a marked improvement is noticed and the face has a snug, firm feeling that is most pleasing.

NEED OF POLITENESS

Time to Revive Usages of Chivalry Young Germans Think

A number of young men of good standing in the German capital, displeased by the growing lack of chivalry to be seen in men's treatment of women, formed a league pledged to practice and encourage politeness in public places.

Members of the league obligate themselves, for instance, to surrender their seats in street cars to women and the aged; to offer assistance to women at street crossings and in other places of peril; and to revive so far as possible, all the little niceties of deportment which went into eclipse about the time that women began to compete largely with men as wage-earners.

The objection to chivalry is that it is only skin deep; that along with extreme politeness may go the most substantial injustice. That of course is true. But isn't it better to have the injustice with politeness than to have neither justice nor courtesy? Courtesy costs so very little, and it is so nice!

The Boy Scout movement has elements of usefulness in this direction; but a courtesy league for elders, as in Berlin, might also serve a good purpose in our careless age.

WANT SAFE VESSEL FOR HERRING CARGO

Increasing Battles With Death Amid the Worst Weather of the Year

For nearly sixty years the New England fishermen have been prosecuting the herring industry in Newfoundland waters—in Placentia and Fortune Bays on the south, in Bay of Islands and Bonne Bay on the west, and in White and Green Bays on the east coast. The fish are cured in two ways: By salting until the frost sets in, and then by freezing. About sixty American and many Canadian and Newfoundland vessels engage in it, but the former, because of their long voyages, experience the most fatalities. The vessels, though averaging only one hundred tons burden, are of the very finest and staunchest in rigging and equipment, for no others could stand the dangers they have to face; and neither skippers nor crews will take any smack for a herring cargo which they are not satisfied with. Indeed, they will frequently test a vessel's gear in a preliminary cruise, and if found faulty will "chuck her up." This is not surprising when it is remembered that six or eight men have to handle these craft during trips that represent constant, unceasing battles with death, amid weather the worst in the year, with frost and floes to add new hazard to the navigation of waters dangerous enough at any time.

The rigors of a Newfoundland winter are but poorly imagined by those unfamiliar with its climate and coastline. Yet it is only in this season that the herring are to be found in these waters—the one part of the Atlantic seaboard where they resort then; and since they are used as bait for the American vessels which fish off the Nahant Peninsula, as well as for food purposes in all the eastern cities, they must be had, no matter at what cost to ships and men, because only at this season can they be frozen by exposure to the bitter night air, and carried to the American and Canadian ports in the vessels' holds without refrigerators or other artificial accessories to retain them in this state.

A BIRD OF GREAT PRICE

Fur-farming in Canada has become a recognized industry, and one that yields large remuneration derived from the pockets of the rich. In southern countries, particularly in Africa, the ostrich is being confined, and the production of plumes commercialized. Prime ostrich feathers realize from $150 to $300 a piece, and when one bird supplies several plumes it may be realized that society will contribute a handsome revenue to the enterprise. The British South Africa Company have set apart 12,000 acres of selected land as an ostrich ranch, 400 acres of which is fertile land well adapted for profitable agriculture. The birds desire solitude, and large enclosures are made on these farms whereby they may secure retreat from man and from their own kind. Naturally they live in flocks of four or five. One male and the remainder females. They all lay their eggs in the same nest, which is brooded by the male at night and by the females during the day. This practice enhances the protection of the nest more than it hastens incubation, for they will hatch if left in the warm sand. About thirty eggs are laid in the nest, and as many more are scattered around outside, which are broken to feed the young. At regular intervals the adults are deprived of their plumes. With judicious management the establishments yield considerable profit.

A Pan Broom

A Californian is the inventor of a pan to be attached to any broom to catch its sweepings.

Chasing Rust

Rust will disappear from steel if soaked in sweet oil for a day, followed with a rubbing with fresh lime.

ABOUT BIRDS

A Column of Interesting Facts on the Bird Kingdom

The humming birds of South America are quite fearless of man. They will readily enter the open windows of houses if they see bowers.

The Sparrow

Perhaps the greatest enemies of our native birds are the house cat and the English sparrow. Cats kill vast numbers of young birds while they are yet in the nest or shortly after leaving it, while the English sparrow may not molest our native birds to any great extent. Yet it has simply taken possession of their habitations and crowded them out.

The Curlew

The curlew, a bird of Eskimo that used to fly south in enormous flocks has within the past ten years become practically extinct. An explanation has been discovered in the fact that the pampas lands of Argentina, where the birds used to winter, are now under cultivation for wheat. So does man prove enemy to the lower animals, even when pursuing a harmless vegetable diet.

Our Friends

A French naturalist asserts that if the world were to become birdless, man could not inhabit it after nine years' time, in spite of all the sprays and poisons that could be manufactured for the destruction of insects. The bugs and slugs would simply eat up our orchards and crops.

WHEN A YOUNG MAN BUILDS A HOUSE

Text: "When thou buildest a new house, then thou shalt make a battlement for thy roof, that thou bring not blood upon thine house, if any man fall from thence."—Deut. 22:8.

A new house is being built! The man bought the lot three years ago, just after his marriage, and he has been making weekly visits to it ever since. He has been seen stepping it off, marking the boundaries of the prospective house, planting a tree, grading a lawn. His wife and he have been drawing plans and debating the size of parlor and dining room. She has been insisting on having enough closets. Now the house is going up. It might be said that it is being built by saying "No." You might stamp "No" on every brick. Every dollar going into that home has meant a refusal. Did there arise a suggestion to indulge appetite, to buy luxuries, to go to high-priced amusements, to take expensive vacations? "No, we must save our money for the house."

Now the house is going up. The roof will on by Saturday. The plasterers will soon be busy. The plumbers and the painters will soon do their work. Ah, there is a thrill in the phrase, "when thou buildest a new house."

There is a bit of sociology in it too. These Jews were just entering Canaan. This was a law for a new nation. The first thing to do was to build homes. A temple and a palace would come in due time, but homes came first. Happy homes make great nations. If only France had had more kings like Henry IV! He gave the kingdom prosperity by looking after the condition of the common people. Asked what was his greatest wish for France, he replied: "That every peasant might have a chicken in the pot every Sunday." Wise king! How unlike the hapless days just before the revolution, when Queen Marie Antoinette, on being told that the people were crying for bread, asked, "If they have no bread, why don't they eat cake?"

Homes will make Canada great. I do not rejoice so much in the building of another great hostelry or another immense apartment house. Many married folks are in hotels who ought to be in homes. Hotels are poor places in which to bring up children. And not to want to have babies is a crime against God and against Canada. Divorces come out of hotels and apartment houses. But the snug little homes that are going up will make Toronto great. The sod houses of Alberta will make Canada great. I bade good-bye to two young giants who were going up to Saskatchewan with their widowed mother last month. A sod house, twelve by fourteen, with one door and two windows, is to be their home. All rig[illegible]

Hang up the motto, "God Bless Our Home." The wheat fields will soon be bringing them enough to build a little palace. Meanwhile, that mud house is a frontier headquarters of civilization and Christian culture.

A new house ought to mean a new start. It is a time to take stock, a time to improve manners, to leave bad habits behind, and set up a new standard of conduct. "Wife, I promise never to come into this house staggering!" That was the vow of a man who had disgraced his family in the eyes of the community. They moved to another part of the city to start afresh. He has been as good as his word. "Husband, in our new home I will never be petulant and fretful." The wife, also, has been as good as her word. Their moving day has been a blessing.

Nuggets

A lock that should never be bolted is wedlock.

The level-headed man is not apt to be a rounder.

The love of money proves that the world is full of rooters.

A theory is anything that is easier to preach than practise.

Some people indulge in the pastime of splitting hairs until they haven't any left.

Some people are almost as stuck up as though they had been tarred and feathered.

If it were really true that man wants but little here below, we should all get what we want.

Some men are kept so busy maintaining their dignity that they never have time to do anything else.

It should be a very easy matter to bear other people's burdens. They are always so much lighter than ours.

Winter Stores in Labrador

The Indians of the barren lands of Labrador rely almost entirely upon the migrating caribou for winter sustenance. When the great herds of reindeer go south in the fall, the Indians lie in waiting for them, killing sufficient meat to keep them from starvation during the months of darkness and desolation. The meat, as killed, is packed into caches—either high in the trees, well out of reach of wolves, or in some natural cave which is barricaded with rocks and timber. When the last deer have south, the barren lands are almost destitute of life, and should anything happen to their store the Indians are confronted with starvation.

Famous Vocalist Was First Singer to Insure Her Voice

From time to time we hear of fancy fees being paid to famous singers, but no singer has earned the money that was paid to Patti when in her prime. During one year alone she made the huge sum of $350,000. At one time it was a common experience for her to make five thousand dollars inside two or three hours.

In 1870 she was paid $48,000 for sixteen appearances at Covent Garden and when she went on her American tour she received as much as $6,000 a night at New Orleans. Curiously enough no opera star has been paid such a big fee as Patti not to sing.

BUT BETTER FOR YOU

You wash dishes about two hours every day. That's one hour wasted!

Dishes get dirty, greasy and sticky and soap will not clean them. Soapy dish water merely cleans the surface; it doesn't dig into the corners and drive out the decayed food particles.

Gold Dust is the sanitary dish-washer. It not only cleans the surface, but digs deep after hidden particles of dirt and kills the germs of decayed food which ordinary dish-water overlooks. Gold Dust sterilizes as well as cleanses.

Besides doing the work better than soap or any other cleanser can, Gold Dust will save just half the time you spend in washing dishes.

Gold Dust is sold in 5c size and large packages. The large package means greater economy.

Our Point of View

They are having a milk war in Milwaukee, but as everybody there drinks beer no excitement is reported.

—o—

The Globe says that a liar may be told by his breathing, but the trouble is that when most of them are doing their finest lying they don't breathe, but blow, and blow hard.

—o—

In Lilyville, Que., two young men called on two young ladies the other evening and upon returning to where the bright lights of the town are located, proceeded to acquire a joyful jag, which finally steered them into the hands of the police. The cub reporter who did the police news wrote up the arrest and got his commas twisted, with the following result: "The two men spent the earlier part of the evening with two young ladies and after they left, the girls got drunk." Whereupon the brother of the two girls sought out the reporter and put a number of dents in his countenance. This should furnish material for a story entitled, "The tragedy of the Misplaced Comma, or Hell's Belfs in Lilyville."

Boating and Bathing Perils

One of the most distressing aspects of the summer season is the number of drowning accidents. Every Monday through the warm weather brings a catalogue of deaths from this cause. While the number of accidents is greater on Sunday than on any other day in the week, from the surf bathing beach to the village swimming hole, come stories of sorrow and death. Overturned canoes and rowboats contribute a heavy toll.

And the parent does not secure safety for his youngsters by teaching them how to swim. That may encourage them to go far out into deep water, without friends to accompany them, taking chances of sudden attacks of cramps and chills.

Certainly every boy and girl ought to learn to swim. With a little pains and effort this can be arranged almost anywhere. Also let them know that many accidents are all the time happening from too venturesome a spirit. So many disasters occur from "rocking the boat" that young people should keep out of boats until they have learned to quit foolong on the water.

Comfort in the Pulpit

Probably having in mind the scriptural promise that "he that overcometh the same shall be clothed in white raiment," the Rev. Paul M. Spencer, pastor of a prominent New York church, gave his congregation quite a shock last Sunday morning by discarding the conventional black of the minister and appearing in his pulpit resplendent in creamery flannel with shoes, socks, shirts and necktie to match.

Of course such a daring departure from the customary sombre habiliments of the profession created quite a flutter, but before the services had proceeded to the reading of the lesson, the good sense of the attire had completely won the commendation of the congregation, and the majority of the male contingent in their hot walking suits, wondered, no doubt, why they were not similarly attired.

But in spite of his courage in thus becoming sartorial pioneer of the public, it appears that the Rev. Spencer found himself still the slave of convention in the evening, when he was not brave enough to defy fashion and wear the white raiment out-of-doors where it would make him conspicuous. Yet, with a few more examples of the kind to give encouragement, the city stay-at-home in the summer might be prevailed upon eventually to adopt clothing suited to the weather instead of to a fashion plate.

Cure Children's Colds By External Treatment

Mothers Will Find Nothing So Speedily and Reliable as Old-Time "Nerviline"

It's really a shame to upset a young child's stomach by internal dosing, when external treatment will so promptly break up a cold.

When your boy comes in after play with his feet soaking wet, his throat hoarse and sore, his little chest tight and congested, just apply Nerviline. Give him a vigorous rubbing over his throat, and put lots of Nerviline on his chest and rub it right in. To make Nerviline penetrate more quickly cover his chest and throat with a hot flannel bandage. This treatment WON'T fail. Your boy will be feeling better in half an hour, and you will have the satisfaction of knowing you have warded off perhaps a cold, or grippe, or illness that might have laid him up.

Nerviline is mighty good for preventing colds and for breaking up a bad one, too. For general family use it cures all sorts of external aches and pains—you simply can't beat it. Try it for earache, toothache, neuralgia, sciatica, lame back, rheumatism, or lumbago. Wherever there is congestion, inflammation or pain in the joints or muscles, Nerviline will cure mighty quick. The large 50c. family size is so economical, so useful, it should be in every home. There is also a small 25c. size. Dealers anywhere sell Nerviline.

BIG WARS CAUSED BY MINOR AFFAIRS

Events, Trifling in Themselves, H[illegible] Sent Nations Armed Against Nations in Conflict

A Mexican's refusal to fire a salute of twenty-one guns seems an absurd trifle to sacrifice human life for, but that affair provided but another illustration of the manner in which little sparks sometimes bring about big international blazes. The war in which Great Britain lost the United States, for example, began because the citizens of Boston emptied a number of tea chests into Boston harbor. They objected to having their tea taxed for the benefit of England, and showed their resentment by tipping it into the sea. The result was that hostilities began at once.

And it was really because a [illegible] people lost their heads in the excitement of the moment that South Carolina began the war between North and South in the sixties. While negotiations regarding the slavery question were in progress the North sent a ship to reinforce the garrison at Fort Sumter. The South Carolina Secessionists saw the ship arriving and [illegible] into a fever of excitement. [illegible] It was a sign that [illegible] [illegible] the ship bombarded [illegible] all the men [illegible] the garrison [illegible]. It was this [illegible] which precipitated [illegible] North [illegible] which cost [illegible] and the [illegible]

Religion and War

The question of the guardianship of the Holy Sepulchre really led to the disastrous Crimean War. France had it; Russia wanted it; and Great Britain sent a messenger to ask Russia to withdraw. But the messenger was ultimately informed that the Russian Emperor had nothing to reply, and a few days later an enormous crowd gathered in front of the Royal Exchange in London to hear war declared.

It was quite a trifling affair which led to the conflict between Russia and Turkey in 1877, a war which was really originated by the blow of a blacksmith's hammer. In the 'seventies the province of Bosnia and Herzegovina, long under Turkish rule, but now under the administration of Austria-Hungary, was groaning under the excessive taxation levied by the Turks. In some parts of the province all persons over the age of sixteen had to pay a poll tax.

One day a collector went to a small mountain village to collect the tax, when a dispute arose between him and the village blacksmith concerning the age of the latter's daughter. The blacksmith insisted that she was a minor, and when the tax-collector made some insulting remark about her the smith brained him with his hammer. The blow of that hammer was heard in every Court in Europe, for the smith fled to the mountains, taking his daughter with him, gathered a band of malcontents, and began an insurrection which set the whole province in a blaze. The war spread to Servia, and ultimately Russia became involved.

"Jenkins's Ear"

scended in history as that of "Jenkins's ear," led to the war between Britain and Spain in 1739. At that time the Spaniards, encouraged by a secret compact with France, began to exercise with great severity their right to search English vessels on the high seas. In 1731 an English merchant vessel was boarded by the Spanish guardship and the captain, named Robert Jenkins, was cruelly [illegible]. After his release Captain Jenkins made his way to England, where the story of his torture by the Spaniards and the tearing off of one or both of his ears, aroused general anger. Some years later [illegible] the House, told his narrative to the assembled members. His story caused a thrill of indignation to run through England and war ensued.—Tit-Bits.

OIL THE GREAT WEALTHMAKER

We hold over 3,000 acres, more or less, of oil leases North and South of Monarch and several of our leases are in the same range as the Monarch well.

Many companies claim to be close to Monarch but we are one of the very few who are in Range Six upon which the Monarch Well is situated. Therefore, we must be on the same anti-cline and as it is a foregone conclusion Monarch will get oil, so will we.

Fifty-Seven Feet of Oil Bearing Sands Passed Through in Monarch Well

OFFICIAL STATEMENT IS GIVEN OUT BY PRESIDENT GEORGESON—WELL IS NOW DOWN OVER 1,800 FEET AND FLOW OF WET GAS HAS BEEN STRUCK IN LOWER LEVELS—GEOLOGIST DUNN IS AWAY AT PRESENT

Heavy oil showings are being found in the Monarch well, west of Olds, although the oil has not yet come in in commercial quantities.

To put the exact facts before the public, President William Georgeson and Treasurer G. W. Morfitt, of the company, this morning issued an official statement from the drillers setting forth the results.

The heaviest oil seepage has been encountered through a stratum 57 feet thick, and the well is now 1850 feet deep.

A sample of this oil baled out at 1,775 feet was brought to the city this morning and is in the office of Mr. Morfitt, Grain Exchange Building. The oil is a heavy black petroleum with the characteristic petroleum odor.

The statement issued by the officers is as follows:

In the absence of Mr. Dunn, Mr. Van Alst, the head driller, reports that from the depth of 1,775 feet to 1,832 feet he went through oil bearing sands for 57 feet. Throughout there was a heavy showing of black oil in the baler. Two further showing of black wet gas were met at 1,805 feet and 1,815 feet.

The well is now down 1,870 feet. Wet gas has shown at 633 feet, 1,420 feet, 1,805 feet and 1,815 feet.

Oil sands have shown at 598 feet, (18 feet), 1,420 feet (10 feet), 1,730 feet (11 feet), and 1,775 feet (57 feet).

The well is now down 1,870 feet, and while there are good oil showings there is not as yet oil in commercial quantities.

Our stock is on the market at 50 cents a share, a Dollar par, and will be advanced without notice any day pending Monarch Well developments. It is practically a certainty that Monarch will be in oil in commercial quantities within two weeks, Our stock will jump away above par and you had better hurry if you wish to share our prosperity.

The Directors of the Company have exercised every care in the selection of their properties, aggregating 1380 acres, which are situated in many townships bearing indications of oil. It will be noted from other companies already operating in the field, that several quarter sections of the holdings of this Company are adjacent to the properties of those Companies, that have employed expert advice in the selection of their holdings

Investors should also note that the Company has lands which are not situated in one particular spot, and as it has been assured that oil is existing in different districts, this Company, by having its holdings spread over a vast area, stands an excellent chance if oil be discovered by any of the Companies operating.

The Company proposes to pay to its Fiscal Agents for procuring subscriptions, for shares in this Company, a commission not exceeding 20 per cent on the selling price of such shares.

Primary expenses of the Company are estimated at $2500.

COPPER

The Red Metal

MILLIONS OF TONS OF PAY ORE

Copper is one of the world's chief necessities, and the demand for it is constantly increasing. Growth of the electrical industry largely accounts for this. Telegraph and Telephone Wire—Trolley Wire—Trolley Wheels and the multitude of other Electrical Machines and Parts—Power Transmission Wire and the use of the metal in various valuable Alloys—these are some of the places where copper is consumed, and while its production is enormous it is used about as rapidly as it can be mined and made ready. THIS IS WHY OWNERSHIP IN A COPPER MINE IS ONE OF THE MOST SATISFACTORY SOURCES OF INCOME POSSIBLE TO IMAGINE.

TIME TO START

Naturally the time to secure an interest in any sort of enterprise is at the start, because it is then that money for development and equipment is needed and this is, of course, the reason why shares in the project are released! When these necessities are provided for the Opportunity passes.

For years we have been spending time, effort and money in getting together one of the largest known copper deposits, and we now own and control thousands of acres of land, covering veins of copper, ore carrying gold and silver values, extensive veins of coal, iron and lime.

The geology is so well defined as to make identifications of size and location of the copper bearing veins a perfect definite matter. In addition to this the estate has been thoroughly prospected by some 4,000 feet of work, there being more than 100 shafts, pits, cuts and tunnels, every one of which shows copper in paying quantities. The dumps of these openings run from 2 to 8 per cent in copper metal.

Facilities for economically winning the copper from its ores are remarkably fine. In the company's own ground are five known coal beds, insuring a perpetual supply of cheap fuel, easily accessible and located within a very short distance of the site chosen for its furnaces. Water and timber are also abundant and easy of access.

One of Colorado's most eminent mining engineers, after thoroughly examining this property, states in his report that the net profits resulting from operation of this property should range from $250,000 to $1,000,000 each year.

There is no uncertainty, no guesswork, about this project. Applied to it, a definite cause will inevitably produce an equally definite effect. Equipment for mining these immense bodies of ore and reducing the metal in them to bullion means dividends—it can't mean anything else—and it is to provide this equipment and the funds required for its installation and the preliminary operating expenses of the estate that an interest in the project is offered to you.

It is YOUR OPPORTUNITY to join in a well planned, conservative, and exceptionally profitable business undertaking. The foundations are laid, the property is acquired and the next step—providing the equipment—is now being taken. So soon as this is accomplished your chance to secure a share in the enterprise will be gone.

INTRODUCTION

The Glenaladale Silver Black Fox Company, Limited, was incorporated in 1913 with six pairs of foxes, at $90,000. This Company re-capitalised in 1914, with 20 pairs of beautiful Silver Black Foxes, at $15,000 per pair, making a total capitalization of $300,000.

THE FOXES

Six pairs (one year old) proven breeders, and fourteen pairs (1914 pups), making a total of 20 pairs — all young foxes— good for at least 10 years. This Company has bought some of this year's options on foxes with a guarantee that they are pedigreed and of the highest strain and very best quality P. E. Island famous foxes.

THE RANCH

The ranch is situated on the well known Glenaladale Farm, owned by Major C. McKinnon, formerly the homestead of Sir William McDonald, and is only 12 miles from Charlottetown, in a quiet locality sufficiently removed from any disturbance.

THE RANCHER

Mr. Arthur W. McKinnon, our Ranch Manager, has had much experience in breeding foxes, and has the practical knowledge necessary to efficiently manage and care for the animals.

The foxes will be ranched free of charge to the Company for the first year. This means a large saving to the shareholders, as some companies have to pay as high as 25 per cent. of the increase for ranching purposes.

The promoters of this Company are retaining $80,000 worth of stock for themselves. $20,000 worth has already been disposed of, leavinb $200,000 to be offered to investors at $25.00 per share, with a guarantee that a dividend of 50 per cent. will be paid in cash in 1915, or whatever more it may be.

The Glenaladale Silver Black Fox Co., Limited, in 1913 guaranteed a dividend of 50 per cent. but are going to pay 50 per cent. in cash and 50 per cent., in stock in 1914. The Company is in good standing and to each and every investor the first of September, 1914, we can say:— "We have given you 50 per cent. more than we promised." And we feel sure that in 1915 all the shareholders in this re-capitalized company will be able to say they received more than they were promised.

This Company can truthfully say that they have not one cent of watered stock in the Company. Now Mr. Investor, if you were a Company and we the shareholders, we would look to you for justice to give us all that was honestly due us. We would not like for you to buy 3 pairs of foxes at $15,000 per pair ($45,000) and form a fox company and capitalize your concern at $60,000 and make us pay, as shareholders, for it. The Glenaladale Silver Black Fox Company, Limited, will ask you to do nothing like that. We want to let you in on the ground floor.

NOTICE

When a fox company guarantees any specified dividend to its shareholders, and when said company is an incorporated body, you need not be afraid of any unfair play, for such company is compelled to pay what they promise, and, besides, every interest is taken for the welfare of both the investor and the company.

The promoters of this Company are all above board and will not permit any crook to come in and do anything that is not right. Anyone holding stock in this Company who is dissatisfied can, by notifying the Secretary-Treasurer, have his or her money promptly refunded.

FORTUNES IN FOXES

There is money in fox ranching more than anything else ever known. It is good for the rich man and good for the poor man. A poor man cannot buy a pair of Silver Black Foxes but he can easily raise $25.00, $50.00 or $100.00. By investing in this Company he gets back his money in at least two years and then he will have an income for life and for his children to come—and after there will be money in fox farming. One of the reasons for this is that P. E. Island has now 95 per cent. of the world's foxes in captivity. For every one pelt that can be raised there are more than 25 wealthy people waiting for it in London, Russia, France and America.

PELT VALUES

The Fox Pelts have advanced greatly in price since 1910 and you can see for yourself what money was in them then.

Below are the particulars of sale of a consignment of Silver Fox Furs, shipped from Prince Edward Island ranches to London, England, and sold there in March, 1910:

SHARES

Shares are selling at $25.00 each; 25 per cent. with application and the balance on or before September 1st, 1914.

Simply fill out the application form and mail to Major C. McKinnon, Secretary-Treasurer, Glenaladale, P. E. I.

All cheques must be made payable to "The Glenaladale Silver Black Fox Co., Ltd."

A POINTER

Just to give you a little idea of what the free ranching of foxes mean to the investor, we will figure it out for you.

We have twenty pairs of foxes in the ranch and suppose each pair produces a litter of only four foxes this is equal to 40 pairs and at $15,000 per year it would figure out at $600,000. Now, if we had to pay even 15 per cent. of the increase for ranching purposes (which is considerably lower than some companies pay) it would mean that we would have to pay $90,000 for ranching expenses.

We ranch the foxes free for the first year, so that in addition to a guaranteed dividend of 50 per cent., we save you this large outlay of money. While we guarantee 50 per cent., still should each pair in our ranch produce four pups it would mean that your dividend would be about 200 per cent. instead of 50 per cent.

FINAL WORD

A great deal has been written about Ranches, Grades of Foxes, etc., but after all the one object that every investor should keep before him is the dividend he is going to get. We have tried to show you in plain English what we can do for you and now that you have our proposition, compare it with the offer made by any other company now in business— and then judge for yourself to have been paid by some of the Charlottetown daily newspapers.

IMPORTANT NOTICE

CALGARY, July 23rd.—An official statement just issued by the Monarch Oil Company states that the drill has just passed through a 57-foot strata of oil bearing sand, at a depth of between 1776 and 1893 feet. A sample of the oil from this oil sand is on exhibition at the Company's office in Calgary. This is the fourth oil sand encountered in the well, and indicates that a good producing well should be obtained before going much deeper. The Hole-Woollard Oil Company is making preparations to drill on its property in the Monarch district, which adjoins the property of the Monarch Oil Company, and we are advised that the price of shares will be advanced as soon as drilling operations are started. The time to invest in the shares of the Hole-Woollard Company is NOW, before the advance in price.

FIGHTING PLANTS

Thorns, poisons and Daggers Used In Their Defence

Plants have to defend themselves from their enemies in the same way as men. They have to fight with each other for room enough in the soil to live, and the weaker plants often go under in the struggle for existence. The battles of plants, however, are mainly fought against the animals and insects which are always threatening to destroy them.

Many plants have wonderful weapons for their protection. The thorn of the rose bush bramble and gorse prevent cows and horses from eating them, as well as keeping off snails and slugs. The cactus family of plants have a formidable armor of prickles and daggers. The plant known as the Spanish bayonet is armed with taper pointed spears that have file-like edges. Some plants, such as the ragged robin, have sticky stems, covered with fine hairs to which insects stick if they climb up to try to steal the honey.

Many plants use poison as a means of protection. The sun spurge has a poisonous juice which kills any insects which approach it, while the poisonous properties of the deadly nightshade are well known.

The common bladder wort, an aquatic plant, not only defends itself against insects and animals, but catches worms and fish for its food.

Perhaps the most original means of self-defense is that possessed by a strange plant called the rattlesnake iris, which grows on the prairies of America. When ripe its seeds give a rattling noise very similar to that made by a rattlesnake. This is greatly feared by animals, who will never go near the plant.

Baseball in England

Baseball has invaded at least one school ground in England. With the aid of a diagram of the diamond and a more or less accurate description of the game cut from the papers, the youngsters of a London County Council school equipped themselves for the fray. A piece of broomstick served as a bat. In stern adherence to the rules of the game the pitcher provided himself with a hard heavy ball also. He understood it to be his duty to hurl it as fast as he could. Unfortunately the players were not able to perform the miracle of the American champions and at the end of ten minutes the catcher was weeping and the first baseman was staunching the flow from his wounded nose, while centre field was hopping around on one foot. Baseball is off for the present in that school.

A Dainty Gift

Buy some inner soles and sew pink ribbon about four inches wide around them, closing at the back with an over hand seam. On the upper edge of this ribbon, about a half inch from the top, make a small tuck, through which you run a rubber cord that will draw up the ribbon to the foot.

On the toe put a blue daisy, made of loops of pale blue baby ribbon, with a flat yellow button in the center.

How People Feel

When They Have

Tape Worm

Tape worm is bred from a parasite. This parasite is a creature male and female in one. It is a pear shape, having two, four and six suckers. It lays the eggs, which are only connected together with slime. They develop and form a body, which is the worm. Each joint is an individual, having a sucker or mouth. The worm grows to be much longer than the bowels where it is located, and sometimes a whole colony of them are found, enough to fill a quart of solid worms and when put in a bucket of water would apparently fill it. It is the hardest task in the world to destroy this parasite without doing injury to the individual who may be so unfortunate as to have it, as the parasite clings to the bowels, freeing itself from the body of the worm, and remains there to breed another. It is an internal demon and causes its victims to suffer all the symptoms of disease imaginable. The cleverest physicians are led to believe the patient is suffering from some other disease, as nearly every person has different symptoms. Some have been treated for cancer of the bowels, consumption of the bowels, consumption of the lungs, chronic dyspepsia, nervous prostration, melancholia, hypochondria, hysteria, inflammation of the bowels, appendicitis and other complaints, when one or more of these internal demons were eating their lives away.

Prof. Mulveney has made the discovery to free the victim of this monster without injury to the system, destroying the parasite as well as expelling the worm with one dose of medicine without any previous starvation. Visit his office, where he has in his possession the most wonderful collection of these death-dealing monsters in the world, which have been expelled from hundreds of people by his famous remedy, some bottles containing colonies of worms and anyone seeing them can not imagine how a person could possibly live with them in his bowels. It is surprising the number of people that have them. Thousands have them and are not aware of the fact. The letters and testimonials the Professor has in his possession are enough to convince one of this alarming fact. Some of the most prominent symptoms are ravenous appetite, dizzy spells, headaches, cramps in the bowels, a feeling of something moving in the bowels, also a feeling as though something was crawling up the throat. The only certainty of having one in the system is when segments or joints are seen, which come away almost any time. They are flat and from ½ of an inch to 1 inch long, which have often been mistaken for pin worms by those who do not know the difference. There are many other feelings of distress which would take long to enumerate. Strange to say, some people of strong constitution, have very little distress.

Prof. Mulveney's world-famous Tape Worm Exterminator is safe, sure and harmless. No starvation, no danger, is not disagreeable to take. One dose nearly always affects a cure. Further information free. Send stamped envelope, telephone Parkdale 4830, or call at 167 Dundas street, Toronto. Open from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m. daily.

[illegible] Y CONVICTS

A Swiss prison appears to be the very place in which to spend a cheap holiday, as you have practically all you want—a comfortable cell, central heating, electricity, good food, a fair quantity of wine or beer and tobacco, and a library. You can learn a trade, have plenty of exercise, and there is little work to do in return for all these advantages. Until a year ago, at Thorberg Prison, good conduct prisoners were even allowed out once a week on "parole," but, though no prisoners escaped, this custom has been suppressed.

Of all the Swiss prisons perhaps the jolliest is that of Kreuzlingen, in the Canton of Thurgau. The inmates have [illegible] rambling concerts, when the latest music hall songs can be heard and good music, with the result that at evenings the townspeople—Kreuzlingen has nearly 6,000 inhabitants—gather anxiously under the prison walls and promenade in the street enjoying the free entertainment, especially as some of the convicts have good voices. On these occasions there is no warden to prevent a conversation between the prisoners and their visitors across the wall, and thus the former learn the latest news.

It is noticed that the prisoners are very polite when young women are present. Packets of cigarettes and other small luxuries—not on the regular menu—find their way over the walls, and this custom, though strictly forbidden, is winked at. These pleasant little "soirées musicales" are now threatened with extinction.

It is only fair to the authorities to say that crime is decreasing, as the population increases, in the country.

WHITE LEGHORNS ON FARM

Upon close analysis it will be found that Leghorns are better adapted to artificial conditions of poultry keeping than are most other breeds, says M. A. Jull in Weekly Witness. They are a small active, breed with a nervous disposition, and they will stand crowding more than will general purpose or meat breeds. Under average conditions they will give better success when artificial conditions of hatching and rearing are employed than with heavier breeds. The chicks are easy to raise. For two years in succession we have raised far more White Leghorn chicks in proportion to the eggs set than can be said of our utility classes of poultry, so that, all things concerned, the White Leghorn will probably stand a little rougher use and more careless treatment than other breeds, although this is not to be considered as a distinct advantage. On the other hand, it is doubtful if the Leghorns will stand our winter weather quite as well as our Plymouth Rocks, Rhode Island Reds, or White Wyandottes. I think they should be given warmer houses, and then they will do practically as well. We have had some White Leghorn cockerels with some Plymouth Rock and Rhode Island Red cockerels in a colony house 8x12 feet, and it dropped to 20 below zero in the house during our cold snap. The Plymouth Rock and Rhode Island Red cockerels had their combs frozen, while the Leghorn cockerels had their combs frozen off almost entirely.

The chief value of the White Leghorn lies in its ability to produce broilers quickly, and more especially, to produce a large number of eggs rather cheaply. Leghorn, of course, is not a good table bird except as a broiler, and the broiler business must be considered as a side line in poultry keeping. No attempts should be made to fatten Leghorns for roasting purposes, as such attempt usually results in loss of time and money. The great asset of the White Leghorn is its egg laying ability, and this is the factor which should be considered chiefly in keeping of White Leghorns on the farm or on commercial poultry plants. Then, above all, more important than breed is the strain, and by all means great care should be taken to select and breed as good a strain of Single Comb White Leghorns as is possible to obtain.

Fable of a Land-tiller

Once there lived a farmer who worked so hard he was too tired to go to church on Sunday. His hired men refused to stand for the first and last call to breakfast at 3.45 a.m. and left before the end of the week. His wife milked the cows and hoed the garden because help was so hard to keep. The farmer voted against hard roads, and when he was elected to the School Board hired for teacher a young girl just out of High School, because she would take the job for thirty dollars a month. In short, he squeezed the dollars so hard the eagle screamed. He would steal acorns from a blind pig.

When the farmer was fifty he had a half section of good black land in the corn belt and money in the bank. He moved to town to enjoy a hard-earned rest. But his stomach was so tired of corn bread and bacon that it went 'on strike' and the farmer ate milk toast. He could predict a storm before the first cloud appeared, by the creaking of his joints, and he had to call for help to turn over in bed. One day his doctor said he had made enough money to buy a new touring car, and the farmer died of heart disease.

Moral: It's a losing proposition to make a human barometer of yourself.

These natives are Eskimos, or half breeds. In return for furs and fish they sell to their visitors and for services they render, they get much cheap finery, and often utility articles, such as cooking utensils, clothing, stoves, furniture and—whiskey.

Double Tracking C. P. R.

While the vast enterprise of double tracking the entire Canadian Pacific system is one that cannot, in the nature of the case, be fully realized for years, yet when it is stated that there will be shortly 1,095 miles of double track between Port Arthur and Calgary, leaving gaps of only something like 165 miles one gets realizing notion of the work involved, of great distance covered and of the courage and persistence involved in this large and notable undertaking of duplicating the whole system, which comprises some 13,000 miles of track. Of course the chief consideration is the West, whose rapid development called for this new policy; but the East will be similarly treated in time, especially the lines which connect large centres of population, and promise bigger business. The cost will be so enormous as to baffle exact figures at the moment; the double tracking, too, will be built in a vastly different way from the original railway, which was put through in a tremendous hurry. The present double tracking will offer a finished railway, in every respect both as regards the weight of rails, the strength of bridges, and the perfection of roadbed. Thus applied, the new policy will work out for immediate return.

BUILDING LOTS FOR SALE

Mr. J.W. Fitzgerald is offering for sale some beautiful building lots on Benson and Geraldine Avenues. This property lies within two minutes walk of the Street Railway and within ten minutes walk of the heart of the City. The City water, gas, light and sewer service are installed, the property being already completely surrounded by beautiful homes. The site is an ideal one with a gentle South-easterly slope and being considerably elevated above the City and not in the immediate vicinity of any manufacturing industries. The air is always pure, healthy and invigorating. Nearly all the lots are already beautifully wooded with foreign and domestic shade trees, and for anyone contemplating the erection of a home there are certainly no lots in the City that offer equal advantages.

Copies of Registered Plan No. 149, which covers the property may be seen and all other information may be had at the offices of Mr. D. J. Wright, T. O'Connell & Coy., C. J. Carroll & Coy., also at the office of the owner Mr. J.W. Fitzgerald, Ontario Land Surveyor, 435 George St. Phone 885.

A MASTER MARINER

The great liner fills the public eye, but the greater part of the world's work on salt water is done by the "tramp" steamer, and it is the 'tramp' captain who is the real hero afloat. There have been few finer feats of seamanship ever accomplished than that of Captain Charles Charleton, of the Liverpool ship Harold, a master mariner of rare courage and resource. Unable to get officers for his ship at Adelaide, Melbourne, or Sydney, Captain Charleton took the amazing resolve of navigating his ship home with his crew, all of whom, with the exception of two men, were foreigners. He brought her safely into Queenstown Harbor, after a voyage of 15,000 miles, during which he was his own skipper and mates as well. Captain Charleton went for stretches of six weeks without removing his clothes, and slept on the poop of the ship on a cabin chair during most of the 108 days the voyage lasted.

How to Cut Glass

There is a method of cutting glass without the aid of a diamond which is very little known. Take a piece of common string and dip it in alcohol and squeeze it reasonably dry. Then tie the string tightly around the glass on the line of cutting. Touch a match to the string and let it burn off. The heat of the burning string will weaken the glass in this particular place.

While it is hot plunge the glass under water, letting the arm go under well to the elbow so that there will be no vibration when the glass is struck. With the free hand strike the glass outside the line of cutting, giving a quick, sharp stroke with any long flat instrument, such as a stick of wood or a long-bladed knife, and the cut will be as clean and straight as if made by a regular glass cutter.

VOL. XLI, NO. 178 MONDAY MORNING, AUGUST 3, 1914 PRICE TWO CENTS

GERMAN TROOPS INVADE FRENCH TERRITORY AND ARE REPULSED

THE GERMAN FEUDAL MILITARY SYSTEM THE REAL MENACE

Toronto, Aug. 1.—Our mother country, England, and the republic of France, the two foremost nations of Europe, are being forced to take part in what may be the greatest war of history, and out of which they both may come dismantled, perhaps totally unfit to continue in the proud position of leaders of humanity and civilization. A position threatened is as bad as the actual experience. In fact we would prefer being degraded in the scale of nations to resting under the daily menace of it as we have been for years.

And whence comes this menace? It comes from Germany, most of all from the Germany navy, modelled on our own. We are living in the twentieth century under free government, supposed to be living at a time when enlightened public opinion must rule the destinies of Europe. Instead of that England and France have alongside of them a great and growing nation, highly civilized, highly organized, and yet under a feudal system of one-man government with a fighting machine that is the last word that science and all the knowledge and experience of the past can devise. That man is absolutely irresponsible—claims that he holds divine right, and therefore that he is entitled to control the destinies of his own people and by consequence those of his neighbors.

This is an intolerable condition and must come to an end, or British supremacy must come to an end. And therefore, if not gladly, the British people will of necessity be forced to seek by any and every means to end it. It is intolerable that a fourteenth century feudalism should with the most highly organized and strongest fighting machine, rule the civilization of the twentieth century. That is the issue.

No matter how sensible the war lord may be, the risk is too great. The kaiser has grown into a homicidal egotist, and such a man in responsible position is highly dangerous. He is developing a son and successor on the same lines!

We not only, therefore arraign the system and the man before the bar of the public opinion of the world, but we also advise our Canadian Government to join the mother country in taking up the sword, if we must, to end it.

We also arraign the people of Germany, before the public opinion of the world, for continuing this system and this menace. We concede to them the leadership in science, in criticism, in art, in industrial organization, and we recognize in them a strong sentiment for the uplift of humanity; but the English nation owe it to themselves to say to the German people that they must put modern responsible government in place of feudal military rule, and until it is done, and as long as we are menaced by it, we will not lay down the sword once it is unsheathed. And we believe what is a menace to us is equally a menace to the United States. They have a taste of the same kind of tyranny in another form in Mexico.

MR. W. H. ROBERTSON, PROPRIETOR OF THE TIMES DIED YESTERDAY

The many friends of Mr. W. H. Robertson, proprietor and editor of The Times, will be shocked to learn that he passed away at two-thirty yesterday afternoon, at the family residence, 526 Water street.

As is generally known throughout the city, the late Mr. Robertson sustained a stroke at seven o'clock on Thursday morning, from which he never rallied.

The deceased gentleman was born in Cobourg in 1852. He was twice married, first to Miss Carlisle, by whom he leaves a daughter, Mrs. Harper, now residing in Peterborough. Some years after his first wife's demise, he married Miss Eliza Brandon, of Fenelon Falls, by whom he is survived, together with a daughter by the second nuptials, Miss Mattie.

The late Mr. Robertson was one of the most brilliant journalists in this part of Canada and his loss to the newspaper field, will be deeply regretted and difficult to replace. Deceased was a consistent member of St. Paul's Presbyterian church, and also of the Orange Order. He was all but the bereaved family will have the sympathy of the whole community in their sad affliction.

The funeral will be held to-morrow from the family residence, at an hour to be announced later.

THE BRITISH FORCES WILL ASSIST FRANCE AT ONCE

Ambassador Has Assured French Cabinet of This--Onus of Breaking Peace of Europe Placed on the Kaiser

Paris, Aug. 1.—Britain has thrown in her fortunes with France and Russia. The British Ambassador called at the Elysee Palace this evening and formally assured the President that Britain is prepared to stand by her treaties and co-operate with France in connection with the present International crisis.

This announcement placed the burden for an armed break squarely in the hands of the Kaiser.

The British Ambassador called at the Palace during the Cabinet conference. He was at once received by the President. He explained the various moves of the day and recited the development of the conference with the German Ambassador. The British Ambassador then stated he had been authorized by his Government to say that Great Britain endorsed the position that France has taken, and was prepared to stand by her as promised.

Germany formally declared war on Russia shortly before eight o'clock to-night.

The onus of breaking peace was placed on the Kaiser.

The German Ambassador to Russia formally placed in the hands of the Russian Premier a formal declaration of war. It recited the failure of Russia to comply with the Kaiser's ultimatum and declared that the only thing left was recourse to arms. The declaration was against Russia.

France's action in ordering the mobilization of her army to-morrow forced the Kaiser's hand.

The declaration followed a day of unbroken conferences between the Kaiser and his Council.

German diplomatic representatives in Russian and French territory will be recalled at once.

London, Eng, Aug. 1.—The King and Cabinet went into conference to-night immediately following the announcement that Germany had formally declared war on Russia at 7.30 to-night.

A GERMAN VESSEL RACING DOWN THE RIVER ST. LAWRENCE

Her Cargo Would be a Valuable Prize--Government Cruisers Are Keeping Track of Her, With a View to Capture It England Declares War

Montreal, Aug. 1.—Watched grimly all along the St. Lawrence by those who believe her flag will shortly be that of their enemy, the German steamer "Willehad," to-day, with wheat and flower for Germany, is racing toward high sea. She steamed twenty-four hours ahead of schedule to-day in the hope of getting out of Canadian waters before the expected declaration of war. It will be three days before she can possibly hope to get on the high sea. Her cargo would be a valuable prize. The Government cruisers around the mouth of the St. Lawrence have been told to keep track of her.

PRINTERS PICNIC ON SATURDAY BIGGER AND BETTER THAN EVER

Saturday afternoon the trim little steamer, Stoney Lake, under command of the local veteran navigator, Captain Stoddard, pulled from the Government wharf at half past one, calling at the street car wharf at 2.15. The boat was well filled with picnickers who were on their way to Jubilee Point with the local printers. As was anticipated, and as has been demonstrated in past years, the printers certainly know how to conduct a successful and enjoyable outing.

All the way down to the Point and all the way back, pretty girls tripped it on the light fantastic toe to the tune of inspiring music. Waltzes, quadrilles, lancers (and don't give this away, but even the tango were danced. Even staid matrons renewed their youth as they circled round on the arms of admiring cavaliers. The beautiful park at Jubilee Point was reached about 4 p.m. Here the beaux and belles wandered, "fancy free" through the trees, and all went merry as a wedding bell. Mine Host Devaneour put up a most excellent fish supper at the hotel, while the cook of the Stoney Lake also provided a splendid meal. The party got back at eleven p.m.

FINAL WAR OF THE WORLD JAPAN ASSEMBLES FLEET

Imperial Council Calls Meeting to Determine Course That Japan Will Take in the Far East

Tokio, Aug. 1.—The Japanese navy has been prepared to meet any emergency, and the Minister of Marine, Vice-Admiral Rokuro Yashiro, to-day went to Nikko to consult the emperor on the international situation. In the meantime the second battle squadron had assembled at the naval station, Sasebo.

The premier, Count Shigenobu Okuma, who is to confer with the emperor to-morrow, in a speech to-day as to the gravity of the situation, said that to bring about a great peace, a great war was sometimes unavoidable. He added that perhaps a general disturbance in Europe would resolve itself into the final war of the world, leading to permanent and industrial peace. The Japanese Government had postponed its proclamation of neutrality between Austria-Hungary and Servia and is in constant communication with the British Government.

200,000 AMERICAN-AUSTRIANS MUST GET PAST GIBRALTAR

British Fortress May Prevent Huge Force Mobilized in America From Reaching Scene of War

New York, Aug. 1.—Official notice was received at the Austro-Hungarian consulate here to-day that the reserves had been called for general mobilization. Two hundred Thousand Austrians and Hungarians, it was said at the consulate, would, therefore, immediately return home from this country and join the colors.

How to get the two hundred thousand men back to Austria-Hungary was a problem officials at the consulate were to-day trying to solve. It was at first planned to have the reservists sail from New York on Italian steamers. These steamers, however, it was said at the consulate would have to pass Gibraltar, where they might be seized by England, and the reservists taken as prisoners of war.

RESERVISTS LEAVE MONTREAL

Montreal, Aug. 1.—Three hundred Austrians and other foreigners sailed from Montreal this morning on various liners for the war fields of Europe.

Some of them were reservists responding to the call of their countries, others were adventurers returning for the love of the fight.

WHAT GERMANY'S DECLARATION MEANS

Much as peace-loving citizens the world over would desire to keep their respective nations out of the whirlpool of war, once it begins, like a raging conflagration, there is no telling where it will end, or who may be involved. Declaration of war against Russia by Germany places the great Slav power on the defensive. Austria and Germany thus both take the offensive in the new war of the world. Italy pleads this fact to preserve here own neutrality, as she was only bound to assist in the Triple Alliance when they were attacked. In the same way France is bound to assist Russia against Germany. And La Bella France may be trusted to do this with a heart and a half on account of the oldscore of 1871. England is in honor bound to maintain France's part, and cannot afford to do otherwise lest the balance of Europe be disturbed, and Britain be left to fight the conquering dictator. Britain is also bound by treaty to protect the Belgian frontier, and all authorities agree that a war between Germany and France without a violation of Belgian territory is incredible. Whether France will follow up Germany's declaration of war by one on her own account, remains to be seen, but this may be expected. Delays are dangerous above all in warfare, and if there is to be war, he who strikes quick and strikes hard, strikes triumphantly. Under the circumstances, wherever the German fleet is, it may be believed that the British fleet is not far away.

FOUR HUNDRED WOMEN BEG FOR MERCY FOR WIFE, SLAYER

Petition to Iberia Judge on Eve of Sentencing Mrs. J. D. Bohannan

New Iberia, La., July 31.—Mrs. J. Bohannan, convicted of manslaughter shooting and killing her husband in their Jeanerette home, lost first fight this morning in the district court for new trial.

Judge Simon overruled motion after lengthy arguments, for a rehearing of the entire case. Mrs. Bohannan will be called for sentence Thursday morning. After sentence an appeal to the Supreme Court will be taken.

A petition signed by four hundred women was presented by a committee of women, who called on Judge Simon today. They asked mercy for Mrs. Bohannan.

BLACKMAIL TALE WINS CLEMENCY

New York, July 20.—John T. Hayden, husband, and father of a growing boy and girl and employed as a confidential bookkeeper, who confessed to stealing $18,000 from the B. T. Babbit Soap concern, pleaded for clemency today in general sessions. He said he had stolen the money to satisfy the demands of a blackmailer who was aware that years ago he served a prison sentence for embezzling $35,000 from a meat packing company.

Judge Crain was so impressed with the story, which was verified by Deputy Assistant District Attorney Van Rensselaer, that he sentenced Hayden to only two and a half years in Sing Sing prison instead of ten years, the term usually imposed in such cases.

Hayden said that William Arnold, now in the Tombs under $5,000 bail, charged with forgery, is the man who forced him to steal, after he had been making an honest living for eight years since released from prison.

NOT "LOADED BULLET

Boston, July.—Harold Back, aged 20, Maple street, Hamilton, and Margaret Mason, 2-year-old daughter of Arthur Mason, Willow street, are the victims of a peculiar accident, when one bullet went through the legs of both, inflicting painful, though not dangerous, wounds.

A 25-calibre revolver, purchased in Ipswich of William Landers, age 16, of Hamilton avenue, Hamilton, was being shown to Back by the youthful purchaser. Back was telling Landers how the revolver should be used, and when the latter asserted that the weapon was not loaded, Back pulled the trigger. The shot that echoed through the street proved the contrary, and the bullet pierced Back's left leg below the knee, continued in its course and made a hole in little Margaret Mason's right leg above the knee, as well as an abrasion on her left leg. All three were seated on the steps at the time of the accident, which accounts for the strange path of the bullet.

Toronto Star: The town of Lindsay wants the proposed Hydro-Electric Radial Railway to Port Perry extended to Lindsay, and a meeting of the Ontario Municipal Railway Association will be held at Agincourt in about two weeks' time, at which the proposal will be considered.

THE OWL TO FLOURISH

Bounty on Big Horned Species Removed in West

No more bounties will be paid by the British Columbia Government for the destruction of the big horned owl. This owl is supposed to be very destructive of game birds, and this may have been the case in the past, but the rabbits have now come back and the big horned owl finds himself once more in a land of plenty. As he is said to even prefer rabbit to grouse there is no longer any particular object in having him destroyed.

The bounty, which was two dollar per owl, proved unexpectedly expensive, $13,000 being paid out in a few months. Some enterprising hunters are said to have made as much as a hundred and fifty or two hundred dollars a month from this source. Moreover, the government is convinced that a certain amount of fraud was practiced and that the harmless little horned owl has frequently been made to do duty for his big horned cousin, at two dollars per head.

SHEEP FOR BREEDING

Some Things to Observe in Founding the Farm Flock

In starting a farm flock of sheep, it is important that the farmer should have an ideal before him as to the kind of sheep he wants. We cannot say that there is any best breed, for each breed has its own merits and deficiencies. The mutton-producing sheep are divided into two classes, the long-wools and the Downs. Of the former we have the Leicesters, Cotswolds, and Lincolns; of the latter the Shropshires, Oxford Downs, Southdowns, and Hampshire Downs. Both these classes of sheep have their merits. The long-wools are larger, yield a larger clip of wool, and are possibly slightly more prolific than the Downs. On the other hand, however, neither their mutton nor their wool is quite so good quality, and they are not so hardy. This latter fact is due to the nature of their fleece, writes Donald Ewing in Farmer's Magazine. Being long and open, it "parts" down the centre of their backs when wet. This allows the rain to penetrate to the skin of the sheep, so that they are wet through after every rain, and cold and catarrh are more or less prevalent among them during the fall and spring. Against this the wool of the Down breeds is close and tight, and even a very heavy rain does not penetrate it. After a drenching fall rain they will get up from under the fence or tree where they have found shelter, shake themselves, and be as dry and comfortable as before the rain. Added to this is the fact that the Downs yield a fine quality of mutton and wool slightly more valuable than the long-wools. Still, as we said before, we cannot claim that there is any "best" breed. Every prospective sheep-raiser must choose for himself, following his own preferences.

Selecting Sheep

Having chosen the breed, it is important that certain well-defined principles be followed in selecting the individuals. We are not dealing here with the raising of breeding stock, but of sheep-raising in a commercial way. At the same time, when selecting the foundation for the flock, it is better to get pure-breds or good grades, conforming very well to breed type, rather than cross-breds or mongrels. It lends character and value to our lambs if they conform fairly well to some recognized breed type. Aside from breed type, there are certain characters we must have.

First, we want constitution. This is indicated by a good heart-girth, bright eye, wide muzzle, and pink skin. This last I regard as rather important. If we will part the wool so that we can see the skin, we will notice a decided difference in different sheep. Some will be decidedly bluish in tinge, while others are quite pink. We should avoid bluish or pale skins, and choose a good, pink skin as indicating a good constitution and good circulation.

Then we must look for flesh-producing qualities. As the best meat is found along the back and loin, and in the hindquarters, we must look for a strong, broad back and loin, and for deep hindquarters, carrying the flesh well down toward the hock. In fact, the same general form which indicates meat form in the steer also indicates it in the sheep. The general form should be blocky and square, with good top and underlines, not too long legs, and that general roundness and smoothness, as indicated by feeling the animal over, which shows quality in the sheep as well as in the steer.

The wool, though of minor importance, is still important, and we must see to it so far as we can that the sheep we are selecting to form our breeding flock have reasonably good wool-producing characteristics.

Pearls of Great Price

There was exhibited at a Court jeweller's in Bond Street a striking collection of pearls. One magnificent rope is valued at no less than $200,000; while for a single pear-shaped drop pearl, perfectly symmetrical, $70,000 was asked. But probably the most exquisite article in the collection was a single necklet of gems of extraordinary hue, the matching and gradation being superb. The cost of this article was $190,000.

If one of the stones were lost it would be impossible to replace it with an exact duplicate. Black and pink pearls also found a place in the exhibition; whilst a passing reference must be made to a pair of button-shaped ear rings valued at $40,000.

Illicit Distilling in the Highlands

Smuggling appears still to continue in the Highlands. The Excise officers recently discovered in the district of Kintail a new smuggling still and head hidden in a cairn between the fishing village of Bundalloch and Camushuinie.

A Sick Room Hint

If you have to keep up a fire in an invalid's room provide yourself with an old glove and a stick that can be used as a poker. With the glove on a piece of coal can be picked up and put on the fire with the minimum noise, and the wooden poker is far less noisy than any other. Little things, perhaps; but little things make an enormous difference in the comfort or otherwise of an invalid.

WHEN A YOUNG MAN BUILDS A HOUSE

Text: "When thou buildest a new house, then thou shalt make a battlement for thy roof, that thou bring not blood upon thine house, if any man fall from thence."—Deut. 22:8.

A new house is being built! The man bought the lot three years ago, just after his marriage, and he has been making weekly visits to it ever since. He has been seen stepping it off, marking the boundaries of the prospective house, planting a tree, grading a lawn. His wife and he have been drawing plans and debating the size of parlor and dining room. She has been insisting on having enough closets. Now the house is going up. It might be said that it is being built by saying "No." You might stamp "No" on every brick. Every dollar going into that home has meant a refusal. Did there arise a suggestion to indulge appetite, to buy luxuries, to go to high-priced amusements, to take expensive vacations? "No, we must save our money for the house."

Now the house is going up. The roof will on by Saturday. The plasterers will soon be busy. The plumbers and the painters will soon do their work. Ah, there is a thrill in the phrase, "when thou buildest a new house."

There is a bit of sociology in it too. These Jews were just entering Canaan. This was a law for a new nation. The first thing to do was to build homes. A temple and a palace would come in due time, but homes came first. Happy homes make great nations. If only France had had more kings like Henry IV! He gave the kingdom prosperity by looking after the condition of the common people. Asked what was his greatest wish for France, he replied: "That every peasant might have a chicken in the pot every Sunday." Wise king! How unlike the hapless days just before the revolution, when Queen Marie Antoinette, on being told that the people were crying for bread, asked, "If they have no bread, why don't they eat cake?"

Homes will make Canada great. I do not rejoice so much in the building of another great hostelry or another immense apartment house. Many married folks are in hotels who ought to be in homes. Hotels are poor places in which to bring up children. And not to want to have babies is a crime against God and against Canada. Divorces come out of hotels and apartment houses. But the snug little homes that are going up will make Toronto great. The sod houses of Alberta will make Canada great. I bade good-bye to two young giants who were going up to Saskatchewan with their widowed mother last month. A sod house, twelve by fourteen, with one door and two windows, is to be their home. All right. Hang up the motto, "God Bless Our Home." The wheat fields will soon be bringing them enough to build a little palace. Meanwhile, that mud house is a frontier headquarters of civilization and Christian culture.

A new house ought to mean a new start. It is a time to take stock, a time to improve manners, to leave bad habits behind, and set up a new standard of conduct. "Wife, I promise never to come into this house staggering!" That was the vow of a man who had disgraced his family in the eyes of the community. They moved to another part of the city to start afresh. He has been as good as his word. "Husband, in our new home I will never be petulant and fretful." The wife, also, has been as good as her word. Their moving day has been a blessing.

Winter Stores in Labrador

The Indians of the barren lands of Labrador rely almost entirely upon the migrating caribou for winter sustenance. When the great herds of reindeer go south in the fall, the Indians lie in waiting for them, killing sufficient meat to keep them from starvation during the months of darkness and desolation. The meat, as killed, is packed into caches—either high in the trees, well out of reach of wolves, or in some natural cave which is barricaded with rocks and timber. When the last deer have south, the barren lands are almost destitute of life, and should anything happen to their store the Indians are confronted with starvation.

Famous Vocalist Was First Singer to Insure Her Voice

From time to time we hear of fancy fees being paid to famous singers, but no singer has earned the money that was paid to Patti when in her prime. During one year alone she made the huge sum of $350,000. At one time it was a common experience for her to make five thousand dollars inside two or three hours.

In 1870 she was paid $48,000 for sixteen appearances at Covent Garden and when she went on her American tour she received as much as $6,000 a night at New Orleans. Curiously enough no opera star has been paid such a big fee as Patti not to sing.

"There is a plunging tendency in the crest of the anticline which causes its crest to sink toward the Elbow river. The crest of this dome-shaped structure seems to be in the neighborhood of Section 31, of Township 24, and Section 6 of Township 25."

Our Point of View

War correspondents in Europe must be puzzled as to where to be in the thick of the fighting.

●

Many of the "unemployed" would certainly go back to fight. As Bacon says, "Man prefers danger to labor."

●

One cannot help noticing how quiet Mr. Lloyd George and other "little navy" men are these days.

●

Undoubtedly this is an unfortunate time for the Hindus who were recently at the coast to get back to India.

●

General Villa announces himself as head of the church in Mexico. Mexico is in for a run of successful "go to church" Sundays.

●

If many more Balkan countries decide to fight, we in America will be reduced to shining our own shoes, that's what.

●

The first direct Canadian contribution to the Nationalists Home Rule fund has been started at Toronto. What!

●

With war imminent, the price of wheat keeps jumping and the farmers may learn to view military preparations in a better light.

●

Huerta is said to have left Jamaica for Toronto. They ought to prepare quarters for him at the Ontario Club of lengthy wine-list fame.

●

The Kaiser has sent the Crown Prince to a seaside resort in order to keep him out of mischief. Women and children first.

●

United States Senator J. Hann Lewis says he is going to shave off his whiskers because so much fun has been poked at them. He will find that his whiskers were not to blame.

●

A strange thing at this time is the lack of force in arguments as to the economic undesirability of war. The man who decides to fight seldom cares if he soils his shirt or not.

●

New York stole $131 and spent it all to buy luxuries for a poor family. Her act may be punished on earth, but it will be overlooked where charity covers a multitude of sins.

Much is heard these days of the Socialists of Germany. These Social Democrats, it is well to remember, include all those who oppose the Government. They are not all Socialists by any means, and a vast number of them have no sympathy with all that is known as Socialism.

Are Battleships Useless?

The craze for building great battleships at $10,000,000 apiece has been a very costly one to the great nations of the world, and it is all the more costly for this season, that the effective life of a battleship is confessedly a very brief one the march of events rendering the most costly and expensive ships practically useless in ten or fifteen years even if they have never fired a broadside. But now comes Admiral Sir Percy Scott with the story that already "battleships are useless," either for offence or defence as the settlement of future naval disputes will rest with the submarine and the aeroplane. Sir Percy declares that the scouting aeroplanes can keep in such close touch with the submarines as to apprize them of the whereabouts of the enemy; and, once located, Sir Percy declares that no battleship can evade or resist the attack of its unseen adversary. Sir John Fisher, who retired from the chief command of the fleet only four years ago, is said to share the same view. So far as the general public is concerned, at present the submarine seems to be somewhat unreliable in its working, but these ex-admirals certainly ought to know something about the matter, and to continue the wild competition in building most expensive battleships seems to be, under the circumstances, both costly and foolish. However, the British Admiralty, which is no doubt in closest touch with its best naval authorities, has so far given not the slightest hint of any change in its naval policy.

Best Liniment of All Destroys Every Pain But Never Burns

How thankful we are to get hold of such a wonderful household remedy as Nerviline," writes Mrs. E. P. Lamontagne from her home near Wetaskawin, Alberta. "In this far-away section, far away from a doctor or druggist, every family needs a good supply of liniment. Nerviline is the best of all. It destroys every pain but never burns. We use Nerviline in a score of ways. If it's rheumatism, aching back, pain in the side, sciatica or stiff neck, you can laugh at them if you have lots of Nerviline handy. For earache, toothache, or cramps I don't think anything could act more quickly. For a general all-round pain remedy I can think of nothing more valuable and speedy to cure than Nerviline."

The above letter is convincing—it tells how reliable and trusty this old-time remedy is. Nerviline for forty years has been a household word in Canada. Scarcely a home in Canada you can find without Nerviline. Every community has its living examples of the wonderful curative properties of Nerviline which will cure pains and aches anywhere in the joints or muscles. It's penetrating, soothing, warming and safe for young and old to use. Get the large 50c family size bottle; it's the most economical. Small trial size 25c, at any dealer's anywhere.

Warning From the Canadian West

At the annual convention of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association in Montreal a short time ago an address that was unpalatable to most members was made by Charles A. Dunning, general manager of the Saskatchewan Co-operative Elevator company.

Speaking of the western Canadian farmers, Mr. Dunning expressed the opinion that the flow of farmers from the land to the cities was chiefly attributable to the increased cost of farm production, which had gone up twelve per cent. since 1909, and to the increase in transportation rates, which had jumped fourteen per cent. since 1909. This, he asserted, was a very serious matter because the western Canadian farmer is geographically worse off in regard to his markets than any other farmer in the world; that he has thousands of miles of rail and water transportation to reckon with, and is to-day selling his wheat for perilously close to the cost of production.

Mr. Dunning demonstrated that many farmers were pressed down heavily by implement workers to whom they paid toll from the first day they started farming; that 100,000 farmers in the province of Saskatchewan owed $35,000,000 for machinery alone. No wonder, he said, that western Canadian farmers were overwhelmingly free traders, because it is they who bear the burden of tariffs without receiving any benefit from them. And he predicted that if the protectionists of eastern Canada put on the screws too hard there would be a great political change, due to the increased voting power of the west.

Canada's Oriental Problem

Asia is knocking in real earnest at the door of Western America. The Orientals are not only eager to enter, but are now and then willing to pay large sums in furtherance of their claims. A rich Calcutta merchant one Gurdit Singh, has just expended $66,000 to make a test case, and 375 Hindus brought to Vancouver in a vessel chartered by him have been giving the British Columbians a bad quarter of an hour. Their arrival raises imperial as well as Canadian issues. The Hindus regard themselves as of genuine Indo-European stock, as much entitled to share in its privileges as Europeans; as subjects of the King of England and Emperor of India they maintain their right to move freely from one part of the British empire to another. If they are admitted, there will be danger of an outbreak even more serious than the attack on Japanese and Chinese quarters at Vancouver in 1907. Should the Dominion Government exclude them, India will be shaken from end to end, as it was by the recent prohibition of Hindu migration in South Africa.

The situation is complicated by the fact that the Orientals have already "invaded" Canada. In British Columbia, with a total population of only 392,480, nearly 2500 Hindus have acquired rights of domicile, and the Japanese in that province number 8587. Its sawmills, operated 20 years ago by Canadians, are now almost wholly worked by Chinese, Japanese and Hindus. In the fisheries on Canada's Pacific coast from 8000 to 10,000 Japanese have displaced that number of white men. There is now an agreement with Japan to restrict the emigration of her subjects to the Dominion, but no such understanding yet exists with China. The demand for cheap labor has thus far put both tax-gatherer and legislator out of the running. Between 1900 and 1904 over 16,000 Chinese immigrants paid a tax of $500 each for the privilege of entry; in 1911 and 1912 the total revenues accruing to Canada from Chinese immigration amounted to the extraordinary sum of $1,022,357.

The government has not always been at high tide in its opposition to this world movement. Restrictive acts passed by the provinces have been disallowed by the Dominion. Suspicion of the Laurier government's laxity in the matter had its effect at the last general election. But public opinion is now urging the administration to drastic action, and British Columbia, which feels the pinch most, will make good her attitude in the House of Commons. OIL THE GREAT WEALTHMAKER

We hold over 3,000 acres, more or less, of oil leases North and South of Monarch and several of our leases are in the same range as the Monarch well.

Many companies claim to be close to Monarch but we are one of the very few who are in Range Six upon which the Monarch Well is situated. Therefore, we must be on the same anti-cline and as it is a foregone conclusion Monarch will get oil, so will we.

Fifty-Seven Feet of Oil Bearing Sands Passed Through in Monarch Well

OFFICIAL STATEMENT IS GIVEN OUT BY PRESIDENT GEORGESON—WELL IS NOW DOWN OVER 1,800 FEET AND FLOW OF WET GAS HAS BEEN STRUCK IN LOWER LEVELS—GEOLOGIST DUNN IS AWAY AT PRESENT

Heavy oil showings are being found in the Monarch well, west of Olds, although the oil has not yet come in in commercial quantities.

To put the exact facts before the public, President William Georgeson and Treasurer G. W. Morfitt, of the company, this morning issued an official statement from the drillers setting forth the results.

The heaviest oil seepage has been encountered through a stratum 57 feet thick, and the well is now 1850 feet deep.

A sample of this oil baled out at 1,775 feet was brought to the city this morning and is in the office of Mr. Morfitt, Grain Exchange Building. The oil is a heavy black petroleum with the characteristic petroleum odor.

The statement issued by the officers is as follows: In the absence of Mr. Dunn, Mr. Van Alst, the head driller, reports that from the depth of 1,775 feet to 1,832 feet he went through oil bearing sands for 57 feet. Throughout there was a heavy showing of black oil in the baler. Two further showing of black wet gas were met at 1,805 feet and 1,815 feet.

The well is now down 1,850 feet. Wet gas has shown at 633 feet, 1,430 feet, 1,805 feet and 1,815 feet.

Oil sands have shown at 908 feet, (18 feet), 1,430 feet (10 feet), 1,740 feet (14 feet), and 1,776 feet (57 feet).

The well is now down 1,850 feet, and while there are good oil showings there is not as yet oil in commercial quantities.

Our stock is on the market at 50 cents a share, a Dollar par, and will be advanced without notice any day pending Monarch Well developments. It is practically a certainty that Monarch will be in oil in commercial quantities within two weeks. Our stock will jump away above par and you had better hurry if you wish to share our prosperity.

WHY LITTLE JOHNNIE GETS TWISTED

Some Schoolboy Howlers and How They Originated

Schoolboy howlers are produced by four causes. First comes the inability to distinguish between the present age and the slow-moving centuries that preceded it. A scholar was asked what Prince Harry did when he heard of the illness of his father, Henry IV. He answered that he sent a postcard to say he was coming at once!

Another source of howlers is the confusion of mind caused by similar sounds. There is the case of the child to whom the words, "Lord, who hatest nothing that Thou hast made," became "Lord, who hatest nothing but the housemaid." Also the child who, having heard in church the words, "For in six days the Lord made heaven and earth, the sea and all that in them is," apprehended that besides the heaven, earth, and sea, which she knew, there had been created some mysterious creatures or things called "all the ninomies," which she vainly endeavored to depict on paper.

One child used to ponder with wonder the strange question in Cowper's hymn, "Can a mother's tender care cease toward the child she bear?" The tiny mite wanted to see a "child she bear."

The two other sources of howlers are undigested knowledge and pure guessing. Into these classes come the following. Attempts at an examination for the London County junior scholarships to "explain as fully as you can how Londoners are supplied with coal and water" produ[illegible] fragments of undigested "science," such as, "Trees that are now on Clapham Common will be nearly coal in the twentieth century." "Water," wrote another candidate, "is put into large tanks and filleted."

No fewer than eighty-seven different spellings of "reservoir" were recorded, a list which, the report suggests, deserves scrutiny by advocates of reformed spelling and teachers of reading. The most remarkable rendering was that of the boy who wrote, "These pipes lead to what we call a viceroy; this viceroy is filled with water."

Water was frequently stored in a "system," and released by a "tap." "Their water comes from a system which is called a Feudal system." Some quotations were significant of the unpopularity of water in too many of the po[illegible] [illegible]. "Some of us drink it." "Water has a lot to do with drinks, and teetotallers have very little to drink." "When people have no money to have a drink, they go to the tap, and have a drop of water."

The following were given as examples of the uses of ships: "To go to foreign countries and teach savages how to dress"; "To poets, who can get their living writing about ships." "If there were no ships people could not go and see models of them"; "Ships do not wear out the bottom of the sea, because they can't."

Farmers' Co-operation

The following is a list of some half dozen of the most active and important co-operative societies:

The Eastern Counties Farmers' Co-operative Association, the Southern Counties Agricultural Trading Society, Carmarthen Farmers' Co-operative Society, Newport and District Agricultural Trading Society, Midland Farmers' Co-operative Association, West Midland Farmers' Association. All show capital progress.

Now, in spite of such splendid object lessons as are furnished by these and other examples of agricultural co-operation, it is still difficult to persuade the average farmer that the movement holds out any advantage to him, and it is this inherent suspicion, this distrust and dislike of any pronounced change, which is responsible for the somewhat slow growth of co-operative methods among the farming community.

When I begin to enumerate the many advantages offered by association [illegible] membership with the Agricultural and Horticultural Association, [illegible] I cannot understand how it is [illegible] farmer or smallholder can remain outside its bene[illegible].—"Agricultural Economist and [illegible] Review."

CHINESE COAST PIRACY

Government Helpless to Stop Evil on Account of Lack of Funds.

Seventeen Chinese pirates shipped as passengers the other day on a small steamer plying the China Sea, overpowered the crew and made off with $39,000.

As a matter of fact, the China Sea is the only part of the globe where this ancient and bloodthirsty means of livelihood is still in a flourishing condition. There ancestor worship is still practised by the pirates and it would be considered scarcely honorable for a man to give up the profession by which his forefathers have subsisted for generations.

At present, according to officers of the Japanese liner Nippon Maru piracy is in a more flourishing condition than it has been for years, for the Government is without funds to operate a coast patrol. The whole coast of China is infested with sea bandits, who lie in wait in the mouths of creeks and rivers and pounce upon small native boats. So far their activities have been confined to Chinese vessels, although the steamer Shanghai, which was robbed by the 17 w[illegible] shipped as passengers, was flying British flag.

During the days of the opium tr[illegible] Chinese piracy was in its glory. [illegible] pirates chose the opium ships as t[illegible] special prey, and those who did [illegible] pay tribute before their ships s[illegible] were very likely to have the [illegible] confiscated before it ever came t[illegible] An anonymous writer in Chamb[illegible] Journal, an English publi[illegible] of one adventure [illegible] the pirates were beaten o[illegible] man bark, the Etienne, [illegible] from Hong Kong for Tien-T[illegible] had six chests of opium abo[illegible] second day out the vessel [illegible] calmed, and lay "like a pai[illegible] upon a painted ocean," with[illegible] of Mirs Bay, a pirate stron[illegible]

Through marine glasses th[illegible] the Etienne could see a crow[illegible] swarming like ants down [illegible] at sunset and preparing t[illegible] boats. The Chinese carrie[illegible] and they propelled their b[illegible] long sweeps. There was [illegible] artillery aboard the Etienne, [illegible] ade, which is a short gun [illegible] calibre, useful only at close ra[illegible]

The carronade was fired [illegible] [illegible] loaded and preparations [illegible] ceive the pirates. On th[illegible] three big boats, black [illegible] [illegible] yelling loudly [illegible] [illegible] to the wais[illegible] [illegible] were served w[illegible] [illegible] and three barrels of [illegible] beer which had been [illegible] the ship just before it [illegible] the officers were [illegible] on deck. The beer was emptied [illegible] tubs on deck and the bottles smashed. The deck was then strewn with broken glass.

The pirate ships as they approach[illegible] fired several times, and one 12-pound shot struck the main mast of the Etienne. When they were within [illegible] yards the carronade of the European ship was discharged and there w[illegible] a thinning of the Chinese aboard [illegible] of the vessels. The short cannon was hastily reloaded, and when another Chinese ship drew alongside was fired point blank into its bows. Then the Etienne's crew, very small in comparison with the number of the pirates swarmed into the rigging in order to pick off the Chinese with more [illegible]

As the barefooted Chinamen swarmed upon the deck of the Etienne they were thrown into the greatest confusion by the broken glass and leaped howling about the deck nursing their wounded feet, while the crew aloft poured down an effective fire upon them. But it was not long before the pirates began to clamber up the rigging. With rifles and revolvers the Europeans picked them off. "They fell like overripe fruit into the sea." says the author. But there were plenty more waiting to take the places of those who fell. Eventually, however, the pirates were repulsed and forced to flee after heavy loss in the sharp sea battle.

The Directors of the Company have exercised every care in the selection of their properties, aggregating 1380 acres, which are situated in many townships bearing indications of oil. It will be noted from other companies already operating in the field that several quarter sections of the holdings of this Company are adjacent to the properties of those Companies, that have employed expert advice in the selection of their holdings

Investors should also note that the Company has lands which are not situated in one particular spot, and as it has been assured that oil is existing in different districts, this Company, by having its holdings spread over a vast area, stands an excellent chance if oil be discovered by any of the Companies operating.

The Company proposes to pay to its Fiscal Agents for procuring subscriptions, for shares in this Company, a commission not exceeding 20 per cent on the selling price of such shares.

Primary expenses of the Company are estimated at $2500.

COPPER

The Red Metal

MILLIONS OF TONS OF PAY ORE

Copper is one of the world's chief necessities, and the demand for it is constantly increasing. Growth of the electrical industry largely accounts for this. Telegraph and Telephone Wire—Trolley Wire—Trolley Wheels and the multitude of other Electrical Machines and Parts—Power Transmission Wire and the use of the metal in various valuable Alloys—these are some of the places where copper is consumed, and while its production is enormous it is used about as rapidly as it can be mined and made ready. THIS IS WHY OWNERSHIP IN A COPPER MINE IS ONE OF THE MOST SATISFACTORY SOURCES OF INCOME POSSIBLE TO IMAGINE.

TIME TO START

Naturally the time to secure an interest in any sort of enterprise is at the start, because it is then that money for development and equipment is needed and this is, of course, the reason why shares in the project are released. When these necessities are provided for the Opportunity passes.

For years we have been spending time, effort and money in getting together one of the largest known copper deposits, and we now own and control thousands of acres of land, covering veins of copper, ore carrying gold and silver values, extensive veins of coal, iron and lime.

The geology is so well defined as to make identifications of size and location of the copper bearing veins a perfect definite matter. In addition to this the estate has been thoroughly prospected by some 4,000 feet of work, there being more than 100 shafts, pits, cuts and tunnels, every one of which shows copper in paying quantities. The dumps of these openings run from 2 to 8 per cent in copper metal.

Facilities for economically winning the copper from its ores are remarkably fine. In the company's own ground are five known coal beds, insuring a perpetual supply of cheap fuel, easily accessible and located within a very short distance of the site chosen for its furnaces. Water and timber are also abundant and easy of access.

One of Colorado's most eminent mining engineers, after thoroughly examining this property, states in his report that the net profits resulting from operation of this property should range from $250,000 to $1,000,000 each year.

There is no uncertainty, no guesswork, about this project. Applied to it, a definite cause will inevitably produce an equally definite effect. Equipment for mining these immense bodies of ore and reducing the metal in them to bullion means dividends—it can't mean anything else—and it is to provide this equipment and the funds required for its installation and the preliminary operating expenses of the estate that an interest in the project is offered to you.

It is YOUR OPPORTUNITY to join in a well planned, conservative, and exceptionally profitable business undertaking. The foundations are laid, the property is acquired and the next step—providing the equipment—is now being taken. So soon as this is accomplished your chance to secure a share in the enterprise will be gone.

INTRODUCTION

The Glenaladale Silver Black Fox Company, Limited, was incorporated in 1913 with six pairs of foxes, at $60,000. This Company re-capitalised in 1914, with 20 pairs of beautiful Silver Black Foxes, at $15,000 per pair, making a total capitalization of $300,000.

THE FOXES

Six pairs (one year old) proven breeders, and fourteen pairs (1914 pups), making a total of 20 pairs — all young foxes— good for at least 10 years. This Company has bought some of this year's options on foxes with a guarantee that they are pedigreed and of the highest strain and very best quality P. E. Island famous foxes.

THE RANCH

The ranch is situated on the well known Glenaladale Farm, owned by Major C. McKinnon, formerly the homestead of Sir William McDonald, and is only 12 miles from Charlottetown, in a quiet locality sufficiently removed from any disturbance.

THE RANCHER

Mr. Arthur W. McKinnon, our Ranch Manager, has had much experience in breeding foxes, and has the practical knowledge necessary to efficiently manage and care for the animals.

The foxes will be ranched free of charge to the Company for the first year. This means a large saving to the shareholders, as some companies have to pay as high as 25 per cent. of the increase for ranching purposes.

The promoters of this Company are retaining $80,000 worth of stock for themselves. $20,000 worth has already been disposed of, leavinb $200,000 to be offered to investors at $25.00 per share, with a guarantee that a dividend of 50 per cent. will be paid in cash in 1915, or whatever more it may be.

The Glenaladale Silver Black Fox Co., Limited, in 1913 guaranteed a dividend of 50 per cent. but are going to pay 50 per cent. in cash and 50 per cent., in stock in 1914. The Company is in good standing and to each and every investor the first of September, 1914, we can say:— "We have given you 50 per cent. more than we promised." And we feel sure that in 1915 all the shareholders in this re-capitalized company will be able to say they received more than they were promised.

This Company can truthfully say that they have not one cent of watered stock in the Company. Now Mr. Investor, if you were a Company and we the shareholders, we would look to you for justice to give us all that was honestly due us. We would not like for you to buy 3 pairs of foxes at $15,000 per pair ($45,000) and form a fox company and capitalize your concern at $60,000 and make us pay, as shareholders, for it. The Glenaladale Silver Black Fox Company, Limited, will ask you to do nothing like that. We want to let you in on the ground floor.

NOTICE

When a fox company guarantees any specified dividend to its shareholders, and when said company is an incorporated body, you need not be afraid of any unfair play, for such company is compelled to pay what they promise, and, besides, every interest is taken for the welfare of both the investor and the company.

The promoters of this Company are all above board and will not permit any crook to come in and do anything that is not right. Anyone holding stock in this Company who is dissatisfied can, by notifying the Secretary-Treasurer, have his or her money promptly refunded.

FORTUNES IN FOXES

There is money in fox ranching more than anything else ever known. It is good for the rich man and good for the poor man. A poor man cannot buy a pair of Silver Black Foxes but he can easily raise $25.00, $50.00 or $100.00. By investing in this Company he gets back his money in at least two years and then he will have an income for life and for his children to come—and after there will be money in fox farming. One of the reasons for this is that P. E. Island has now 95 per cent. of the world's foxes in captivity. For every one pelt that can be raised there are more than 25 wealthy people waiting for it in London, Russia, France and America.

PELT VALUES

The Fox Pelts have advanced greatly in price since 1910 and you can see for yourself what money was in them then.

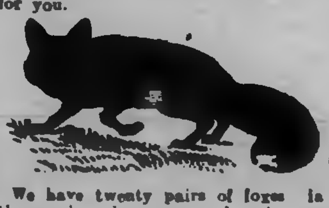
A POINTER

Just to give you a little idea of what the free ranching of foxes mean to the investor, we will figure it out for you.



We have twenty pairs of foxes in the ranch and suppose each pair produces a litter of only four foxes this is equal to 40 pairs and at $15,000 per year it would figure out at $600,000. Now, if we had to pay even 15 per cent. of the increase for ranching purposes (which is considerably lower than some companies pay) it would mean that we would have to pay $90,000 for ranching expenses.

We ranch the foxes free for the first year, so that in addition to a guaranteed dividend of 50 per cent., we save you this large outlay of money. While we guarantee 50 per cent., still should each pair in our ranch produce four pups it would mean that your dividend would be about 200 per cent. instead of 50 per cent.

FINAL WORD

A great deal has been written about Ranches, Grades of Foxes, etc., but after all the one object that every investor should keep before him is the dividend he is going to get. We have tried to show you in plain English what we can do for you and now that you have our proposition, compare it with the offer made by any other company now in business— and then judge for yourself to have been paid by some of the Charlottetown daily newspapers.

IMPORTANT NOTICE

CALGARY, July 23rd.—An official statement just issued by the Monarch Oil Company states that the drill has just passed through a 57-foot strata of oil bearing sand, at a depth of between 1775 and 1832 feet. A sample of the oil from this oil sand is on exhibition at the Company's office in Calgary. This is the fourth oil sand encountered in the well, and indicates that a good producing well should be obtained before going much deeper. PROPER HANDLING OF FRESH EGGS

Consumers Should Demand Strictly Fresh Article

We have frequently had occasion to observe the detrimental influence of dirt and moisture on the keeping qualities of eggs, says a bulletin from Storrs Experimental Station. Of a large number of eggs which were stored in an ordinary refrigerator all were found, after three or four weeks, to be permeated with moulds. In other instances we have found bacteria, under similar conditions. In a crate filled with eggs which had been placed in a damp, dark basement and which had remained there for several weeks, all of the eggs were in an advanced state of rotting when brought to light and examined. These eggs had come from the same hens the eggs of which had been tested constantly and found as a rule, to be free from bacteria.

It is a well known fact that eggs which have been incubated under hens, and which failed to hatch, are usually foul. We have observed this again and again, especially during the warm summer months. It is quite probable that the hen which is incubating the eggs is responsible for the rotting, in that the eggs become more or less soiled by her, and, furthermore, the hen imparts a certain amount of moisture to the eggs, especially during warm weather, which aids the bacteria which are on the soiled shell to gain an entrance into the egg. On the other hand, eggs which are incubated artificially remain undecomposed, with very few exceptions, for at least two or three weeks, and undoubtedly much longer, providing they are clean, fresh eggs when they are put into the incubator.

It is of the greatest importance that a general campaign be waged to secure eggs for consumption, and especially when they are to be preserved in cold storage, which are clean and perfectly fresh. The solution of this problem rests with both the producer and the buyer. In the first place, the gathering of eggs from the nests soon after they are laid cannot be urged too strongly. They should be collected at least once a day, and whenever possible two or three times. This is usually done on large plants where trap-nests are used; but on the smaller plants, and especially on regular farms where poultry-raising is but one of many pursuits in the making of a livelihood, there is often no system in the poultry management. Eggs are frequently left in the nests two or three days, and under broody hens. Furthermore, many eggs enter the market which have been under setting hens for several days in so-called "stolen nests."

The movement which is on foot in parts of this country to purchase and pay for eggs according to their quality or soundness, rather than by mere weight or numbers, should meet with hearty support. In many instances this has been done, but the practice should become general. Producers would then be brought face to face with the necessity of keeping nests in sanitary condition, and of gathering eggs soon after they are laid.

The handling and keeping of eggs should also receive much consideration. It is necessary that the eggs be kept clean, dry and reasonably cool. They should be transported under the best conditions of sanitation, and when placed in cold storage the rooms in which they are kept should be dry.

How People Feel When They Have Tape Worm

Tape worm is bred from a parasite. This parasite is a creature male and female in one. It is a pear shape, having two, four and six suckers. It lays the eggs, which are only connected together with slime. They develop and form a body, which is the worm. Each joint is an individual, having a sucker or mouth. The worm grows to be much longer than the bowels where it is located, and sometimes a whole colony of them are found, enough to fill a quart of solid worm, and when put in a bucket of water would apparently fill it. It is the hardest task in the world to destroy this parasite without doing injury to the individual who may be so unfortunate as to have it, as the parasite clings to the bowels, freeing itself from the body of the worm, and remains there to breed another. It is an internal demon and causes its victims to suffer all the symptoms of disease imaginable. The cleverest physicians are led to believe the patient is suffering from some other disease, as nearly every person has different symptoms. Some have been treated for cancer of the bowels, consumption of the bowels, consumption of the lungs, chronic dyspepsia, nervous prostration, melancholia, hypochondria, hysteria, inflammation of the bowels, appendicitis and other complaints, when one or more of these internal demons were eating their lives away.

Prof. Mulveney has made the discovery to free the victim of this monster without injury to the system, destroying the parasite as well as expelling the worm with one dose of medicine without any previous starvation. Visit his office, where he has in his possession the most wonderful collection of these death-dealing monsters in the world, which have been expelled from hundreds of people by his famous remedy, some bottles containing colonies of worms and anyone seeing them cannot imagine how a person could possibly live with them in his bowels. It is surprising the number of people that have them. Thousands have them and are not aware of the fact. The letters and testimonials the Professor has in his possession are enough to convince one of this alarming fact. Some of the most prominent symptoms are: ravenous appetite, dizzy spells, headaches, cramps in the bowels, a feeling of something moving in the bowels, also a feeling as though something was crawling up the throat. The only certainty of having one in the system is when segments or joints are seen, which come away almost any time. They are flat and from ½ of an inch to 1 inch long, which have often been mistaken for pin worms by those who do not know the difference. There are many other feelings of distress which would take long to enumerate. Strange to say, some people of strong constitution, have very little distress.

Prof. Mulveney's world-famous Tape Worm Exterminator is safe, sure and harmless. No starvation, no danger, is not disagreeable to take. One dose nearly always affects a cure. TIRED METALS

Metals get tired with over-working just as much as human beings do. And, like human beings, they need a holiday and complete rest in order to recover from the strain and rush of modern life!

It was Lord Kelvin who showed that metals suffer from fatigue. He kept iron wires in constant motion during a week, and watched the way they acted. At the end of the week they had lost a considerable amount of their original elasticity. He gave them a day's rest and they completely recovered. He further experimented and discovered that an iron bar, after a three weeks' rest, gained ten per cent in elasticity. In repeated experiments he found that steel and wrought iron deteriorated very rapidly if they were worked continuously, and, in the long run, break up completely, just as the human being does. Knocking them off work at regular intervals adds years to their powers of resistance.

A good instance of this was shown by Lord Kelvin. A steel rail, which had done service for over twenty years, suddenly broke into half-a-dozen pieces under the weight of a passing train. For the whole of that twenty years it had not had a day's holiday. Lord Kelvin pointed out that if that rail had had proper rests it would have done duty for another twenty years. As it was the strain was too great for it.

Motor Car Window Opener

The cumbrous method of raising or lowering the windows of motor cars and other carriages by means of a strap will soon be superseded by a German invention. By the new device the inmate of the carriage presses upwards or downwards a handle, and the window rises or falls accordingly. Moreover, the window can be raised or lowered to any required height, and will automatically stay where it is placed. This ingenious device has been brought before the notice of motor car body builders and its practical use demonstrated by means of a working model.

RAISING GEESE

A Profitable Side-line on the Farm—Pointers on Management

The breeding and raising of geese calls for altogether different treatment from the breeding and raising of ducks, the necessary conditions being very dissimilar. While the ducks will do very well when closely confined in yards and fed such green food as we have, geese will not thrive if kept in this manner. The breeding birds need a large, practically free, green range, and if well watered, either by pools or streams, the breeding results will be much more satisfactory than if the runs are unwatered.

Breeding geese require very little grain food. Through the winter they should be fed largely on vegetable foods. Cabbage, turnips, beets, cut clover, and other vegetable matter may be fed freely, together with a good quality of bran and oats. Corn and meal will prove rather too fattening, and should be fed sparingly even in the coldest of weather.

Very little shelter is required. A rough shed, free from extreme draughts, is all that is absolutely necessary. It should be littered with some dry material, and cleanliness will add much to the health and worth of the birds.

Old geese do not lay as many eggs as young ones, but they hatch good, vigorous birds. To the amateur it would be well to say, if your young geese (females) are but one year old, do not expect too many goslings, as you will do well to raise any from one-year-old females. Many a would-be geese raiser has given up the business because he did not know this.

The birds generally mate in February, and at this time such birds as are to be mated together should be shut apart from the others.

There is some question as to which is the best breed for general purposes. The three breeds which have the strongest following are the Toulouse, African and Embden. Each has its special virtues. The Toulouse is the largest of the three and produces a very strong and quick-growing gosling. The goslings require very little attention, except for the first day or two when they should be kept dry and warm.

A green run is really one of the necessary aids in the proper growth of young goslings. A little grain can be fed, say three times a day. This, with an abundant supply of green food, will cause them to grow and yield a profit to the producer.

Let them have free access to grit and oyster shell. They should be ready to kill when the first flight feathers are grown, and should be full fed at that time with corn, oatmeal and animal food.

Eight Graduate Cadets Per Year Admissable to King's Ships

Arrangements have been made by the Dominion Navy Department with the British Admiralty whereby not more than eight graduates of the Royal Canadian Naval College at Halifax, N.S., will be taken every year into the British navy as cadets.

For some time the Admiralty has not been taking any young men from the college at Halifax, and, as the number of the ships in the Canadian navy is very limited, the prospects were not encouraging for lads who desired to go to sea. Cadets in the British navy get very small wages, so that young men thinking of going as such need to be assured of an allowance from their parents.

CURIOUS FISH

Some Finny Creatures Croak; Some Hum and One Shrieks

Fishes have often been referred to as "voiceless, emotionless creatures," but scientific investigation has demonstrated that like land animals they are largely swayed by the same emotions, and that in a limited way they give expression thereto. There are more than 200 species of fish which are known to produce sound. One particular kind of fish, which are called "maigres," emit sounds having a duration of about twenty-five seconds, and also various notes, usually degenerating into a mere humming, either from excess or want of intensity. When these fish are travelling in shoals the sounds given out by them may be heard from a depth of twenty fathoms. More than once it has been suggested that the story of the sirens had its origin in the utterances of these fish.

When captured, the scad, or horse mackerel, the globe fish, the grunt, the pig-fish, and the hog-fish all emit sounds resembling the grunt of a pig, while one, well known along the Atlantic coast as the croaker, derives its name from the croak it gives when taken into a boat. The barbel and the carp also croak when taken from the water.

There is a species of "sea-frog," found by the natives of Malabar, and so-called on account of the noise it makes when captured. The red gurnard has been dubbed the "sea-cock" by reason of its crowing. The armado, a fish found in the Rio Parana is most remarkable for the harsh grating sound it emits when caught with hook and line. It is said that this noise can be heard distinctly while the fish is yet beneath the surface.

There is a fish in the Tagus that emits sounds resembling the vibrations of a deep-toned bell, gong, or pedal pipe of an organ. Herrings, when the net has been drawn round them, have been observed to do the same, and similar accounts are given of the river bullhead. An amphibious siluroid fish, on being taken into the hand, is said to shriek, and certain of the blennies emit similar sounds. In the Gulf of Mexico the big jewfish breaks the stillness of the night and the waters with his sonorous "boom! boom!"

DON'T HAWK, SPIT, SNEEZE, CURE YOURSELF! BREATHE "CATARRHOZONE"!

Gives Instant Relief, Clears Out Nose, Throat and all Breathing Organs.

In this fickle climate, repeated colds very easily drift into Catarrh.

The natural tendency of Catarrh is to extend through the system in every direction.

Exposure to cold or dampness intensifies the trouble and nasal catarrh is the result.

Unless a complete cure is affected, inflammation passes rapidly to the throat, bronchial tubes and then to the lungs.

You can't make new lungs — hence Consumption is practically incurable.

But Catarrh can be cured, except in its final and always fatal stage.

Catarrh sufferers, meaning those with colds, sore throat, bronchial trouble, etc., can all be cured right at home by inhaling "Catarrhozone."

In using Catarrhozone you don't take medicine into the stomach—you just breathe a healing piney vapor direct to the lungs and air passages.

The purest balsams and the greatest antiseptics are thus sent to every spot where catarrhal trouble exists, germs are killed, foul secretions are destroyed, nature is given a chance and cure comes quickly.

Colds and throat troubles — can't last if the pure healing vapor of Catarrhozone is breathed.— sneezing and coughing cease at once, because irritation is removed.

Use Catarrhozone to prevent—use it to cure your winter ills. It's pleasant safe and guaranteed in every case. Complete outfit $1.00. Smaller size 50c., at all dealers.

NOTICE

That New Main.

The Public Utilities Commission visited Romaine street and inspected the spot near Monaghan road, at which it is proposed to lay a new main. The matter was laid over until to-day for discussion.

Illegal Duck Shooting.

Reports are being received from the upper and lower Scugog to the effect that ducks are being slaughtered by unscrupulous sportsmen in great numbers, some of them even before they are able to fly. This utter disregard for the game calls for prompt action, and those guilty, if apprehended, should be handed pretty severe punishment.

Assaulted a Woman.

At Saturday's police court, Albert Crowder pleaded guilty to having committed an assault on a married woman. It seems he went into the woman's apartments, upset the stove and struck her on the face whilst drunk. He was fined $5 to be paid forthwith. Crowder asked for time to raise the money, but was refused.

Saturday's Police Court.

At Saturday's police court, Hector Smith pleaded guilty to having been drunk. He was fined $2 to be paid forthwith. F. McGee was charged with having been D. & D. P. C. Downs said prisoner tried to lift a grating in front of the Scotland WoollenMills and hammered the plate glass window with his fist $5.75.

Saturday's Market.

There was a good market on Saturday morning, about 225 farmers' wives and daughters were selling in the inside market. Prices ruled high, spring chickens of very small size were fetching $1 a pair; butter has soared to 30c lb. eggs brought 26c dozen. The outside market was very good also, a large quantity of vegetables being offered.

Pickpockets at Lindsay.

Lindsay Warder—A number of pickpocket cases are reported, although authentic reports are not yet at hand. Mr. Geo. Maloney, township councilman for Ops, is reported to have lost about $25 while purchasing tickets at the Agricultural Park. Mr. Roenigk, of Bowmanville, brother of Bandmaster Roenigk, of Lindsay, is also reported to have lost a considerable sum.

Steamer Loses Her Rudder.

Lindsay Warder—Last evening when the Str. Listonia was making its final trip to Sturgeon Point for the day, the rudder fell off when the boat was about two miles down the river, and it was unable to proceed any further. Word was sent back to Lindsay and the Bob Hall, the little Government boat, was sent to the rescue. It towed the Listonia to Sturgeon Point, where the passengers were safely landed.

An Automobile Case.

At Saturday's police court, John Doble was charged with having whilst driving an auto car, passed a street car whilst the latter was discharging passengers. P. C. Newhall said he and Detective Meagher were about to alight from a northbound car at Charlotte street. Four or five ladies, who had alighted from the car had to step back quickly to escape being knocked down by defendant's car. Defendant refused at first to give his name.

Yesterday's Fire Alarm.

Yesterday morning at 11 o'clock, the fire brigade was given a run to the lane between the Times Building and George street stores. Here a lot of boxes filled with papers, straw and other inflamable substance had caught fire, presumably from a dropped or thrown cigar or cigarette. The fire laddies turned on the hose and quickly extinguished the fire. This place owing to past and present conditions is recognized as one of the most dangerous spots, from a fire standpoint in Peterborough, under present conditions

The Army Worm.

Lindsay Post—The army worm, which has made its appearance in Victoria County will have to fight for its existence, as it appears to have a deadly enemy in the shape of a tiny scorpion which has made its appearance. Mr. Knight of the Dept. of Agriculture showed the Post an interesting exhibit in a jar. It consisted of a number of army worms surrounded by these diminutive scorpions, who were consuming the worms at a rapid pace. A worm did the disappearing act in about fifteen minutes. These scorpions, it is understood, do no harm to the crops, but are strong on army worms.

Fireman Hurt at Lindsay.

During the whole celebration yesterday only one serious accident occured which marred the day. Mr. Thomas Sheridan a member of the Parry Sound Fire Brigade, had the misfortune to break his leg above the knee while taking part in the hose wagon contest. The Parry Sound brigade were taking their turn in the contest when Mr. Sheridan jumped from the wagon at the double semaphore. The team was going at full speed, and Mr. Sheridan was thrown against the iron semaphore with terrific force. Several men carried him to the side of the track, where he was cared for until an automobile was summoned to convey him to the Ross Memorial Hospital. During his confinement in the hospital here his expenses will be paid by the Lindsay Fire Department.

MONKS OF ST. BERNARD ARE EXCITED

First Crime Stirs Community—Austrian Alpinist Found Stabbed to Death

Geneva, July.—Karl Empel, an Austrian Alpinist, has been found murdered on the Grant St. Bernard not far from the summit of the pass

He had climbed from the swiss side, and passed the night with the monks at the hospice, leaving at dawn to sume his journey. Some time later a St. Bernard dog discovered the body near the main road, and by its baying brought the monks to the spot.

The Alpinist's body was covered with knife wounds, one of which was over the heart. Robbery was evidently the object of the crime, as nothing of value was found on the body.

The murder has caused a sensation, as the St. Bernard is an open highway where people are passing summer and winter, and a crime has never before been committed there. The and their dogs act as gendarmes, and the arrival of visitors is telephoned to them from the valley on every occasion. The police so far have found no clues to the criminal.

BRITAIN IS LIKELY TO DECLARE WAR AT ONCE

REPORTED BRITISH FLEET SINKS 7 GERMAN SHIPS IN A NORTH SEA CONFLICT

It is Said That Premier Asquith Will Tell Commons That Germany Has Committed Acts of War Upon Great Britain--Important Announcement Expected

LONDON, Aug. 3.—In a naval conflict that is reported to have occurred in the North Sea, Germany is said to have lost seven ships and the British two.

LONDON, Aug. 3.—The following forecast of the statement that Premier Asquith will make in the House of Commons was given to the International News Service to-day by an official who spoke authoritatively:

"Premier Asquith will undoubtedly announce in Parliament that Germany has already committed what constitutes acts of war against Great Britain by seizing two British ships, and ordering the British subjects to leave Kwoe Chow."

This despatch foreshadows a declaration of war by England. The correspondent who sent it from London adds:

"The censor does not permit me to send more than this. The importance of this statement cannot be overshadowed."

CITY COUNCIL RESOLVES THAT CANADA SHOULD FIGHT WITH BRITISH EMPIRE

In Case of European War Evolving Out of Present Crisis--Resolution of Condolence With Family of the Late W. H. Robertson, an Ex-Member of Peterborough Council

The City Fathers met in regular monthly session last night, Mayor Buller presiding. There were also present Aldermen Anderson, Langford, Johnston, G. Walter Green, Duffus, Duncan and Saunders.

Half Holiday for City Officials.

On motion of Aldermen Anderson and Duncan, the city officials were granted a half holiday on Thursday afternoon, August 28th to attend a picnic down the river. It is understood that sufficient police and firemen be left in town on the foregoing date for protective purposes.

Legal Committee Report.

Ald. Duffus submitted the following report:

Gentlemen,—Your Legal Committee beg leave to report and recommend as follows:

1. That the City Solicitor be authorized without prejudice to settle the claim of the Peterborough Hardware Company for damage caused to goods in their cellar by water, by paying the Company up to $50 and that the City Treasurer be authorised to issue a cheque up to that amount for this purpose on the order of the City Solicitor.

2. That no action be taken on the claim of E. J. Hickey for damages on account of accident on George street last January.

3. That the City Solicitor be authorized to procure stationery for his office for City business.

The report was adopted as read.

Fence Viewers' By-law.

This measure was left over until another meeting, although Ald. Duffus moved that Messrs. T. A. S. Hay, Ed. Hickey and Wm. Langford, Sr., be appointed fence viewers.

Attitude of Canada in Event of War

The following telegram from the editor of the Montreal Star was received by his worship:

"In the present emergency we would greatly appreciate a short expression of your opinion of what the attitude of Canada should be if Great Britain is involved in a European war."

On motion of Aldermen Langford and Duncan, City Clerk was instructed to reply that any condition which affects the Mother Country affects the Empire and should England be involved in war, Canadians would respond most liberally to the call to arms.

Resolution of Condolence.

On motion of Ald. Duncan and Saunders, a resolution of condolence with the family of the late Mr. W. H. Robertson, editor and proprietor of The Morning Times, who passed away, on Sunday last, was passed unanimously. The late Mr. Robertson was at one time a member of Peterborough Town Council.

ASSASSIN KILLS SOCIALIST LEADER

Jaurez, Who Led His Party in French Chamber, Shot in Cafe

Paris, Aug. 3.—Jean Leon Jaures, the Socialist leader in the chamber of deputies, was assassinated to-day.

M. Jaures was sitting in a cafe when a young man entered and fired several shots at him. Two of the bullets took effect in the head of the Socialist leader and he expired in a few minutes.

The assassination occurred in the Rue Croissant in the heart of the Paris newspaper district. He died immediately after being removed to the Cafe Croissant, a haunt of French newspapermen.

Jaures was having dinner in a restaurant near the office of La Humanite, his own newspaper. This restaurant is frequented largely by French journalists. A number of youths started a manifestation against war, which apparently aroused a journalist connected with La Patrie. The latter pulled out a revolver and fired three shots, wounding Jaures in three places. A shot through the head proved fatal.

London, Aug. 3.—A Central News dispatch from Paris gives a different version of the assassination of the famous Socialist leader, Jaures. According to this version, the assassin was a Russian student who was immediately arrested. The assassin is said to have fired through the window.

NAVAL RESERVISTS TO REPORT AT ONCE

Canadian Government is Asked to Make Announcement for the Admiralty

Ottawa, Aug. 3.—The Admiralty has issued a call for Royal Naval reservists to report for duty at once. The Canadian Government has asked to make the announcement.

Men of the Royal Naval Reserve are asked to accept this as notification and report.

FRENCH RUSE FAILS DRESSED AS GERMANS

Coblenz, Germany, Aug. 3.—A party of 80 French officers dressed in Prussian uniforms, attempted yesterday, to cross the German frontier in automobiles, near Walbeck, on the Dutch frontier, to the west of Geldern. The attempt was unsuccessful.

PRAY FOR ME, WRITES WOMAN; SEEKS DEATH

New Orleans, Aug. 3.—"I am just tired of life; that is all. Pray for me. Am suffering so. What is life. Tell Charley D'll goodbye."

These lines, scrawled, were on a bit of note paper in the folds of the dress of Mrs. D.B. Cook, 1407 Canal, who attempted to commit suicide late Monday on the ferryboat Thomas Pickles, at the Canal street landing. Mrs. Cook was about to leap into the river when Edgar Landry, ticket taker, seized her. She was dressed in black, as if in deep mourning.

To police, she stated that she was to have gone to a physician Monday afternoon. She has been an invalid some time. She was held for a while at the Harbor Precinct on the charge of disturbing the peace, but later relatives took charge of her.

How to Lose Your Tan, Freckles or Wrinkles.

A day's motoring, an afternoon on the tennis ground or golf links, a sunbath on the beach or exposure on a sea trip, often brings on a deep tan or vivid crimson or, more perplexing still, a vigorous crop of freckles. A very necessary thing then is mercolized wax, which removes tan, redness or freckles quite easily. It literally peels off the affected skin just a little at a time, so there's no pain or injury. As the skin comes off in almost visible flaky particles, no trace of the treatment is shown. Get an ounce of mercolized wax at your druggist's and use this nightly as you would cold cream, washing it off mornings. In a week or so you will have an entirely new skin, beautifully clear, transparent and of a most delicate whiteness.

Wrinkles, so apt to form at this season, may be easily and quickly removed by bathing the face in a solution of powdered saxolite, 1 oz., dissolved in witch hazel, ½ pt. This is not only a valuable astringent, but has a beneficial tonic effect also.

SHOESTRINGS FIGURE IN A MURDER TRIAL

Wakefield Was Strangled With Pair and Shoes Without Any Were Found in Wife's Trunk

New Haven, Aug. 3.—A detailed description of the wounds which caused the death of William O. Wakefield in the Cheshire woods, on June 23, 1913, was given to-day to the jury in the trial of Mrs Bessie J. Wakefield the widow, for the murder of her husband, and the state continued to build up its case around this evidence.

It was shown that in a trunk which Mrs. Wakefield shipped from her home on the day Wakefield's body was found was a pair of shoes from which the laces had been taken. The medical examiner, Dr. M.M. Scarborough, who performed the autopsy, told of a tightly drawn cord made of twisted shoe strings around the neck of Wakefield and this cord apart from several wounds inflicted by a bullet and a sharp instrument would have caused death in ten minutes.

State policeman Downey told of finding, among other articles in Mrs. Wakefield's trunk a number of post-cards signed James Plew, who was recently hanged for the murder. The cards contained expressions of tender sentiment and one had this printed verse:

"O, promise me that some day you and I will take our love together to some sky.

BIGGEST DROP IN COFFEE SINCE SULLY DEPRESSION

New York, Aug. 3.—The European news was reflected today in the wildly excited opening of the coffee market. Prices opened at 72 to 84 points down from last night, representing a break of approximately a cent and a half since the first of the week.

From Havre came a cable saying that the coffee exchange there had decided to make only one quotation at 3 o'clock — daily, provisionally. The Hamburg market is operating as usual.

This is the biggest drop in coffee since the depression resulting from the Sully failure a few years ago. At that time coffee fell off about the same number of points. When the Brazil valorization scheme was announced another record-breaking drop in coffee resulted.

SPURNED BY GIRL, IS JAILED AS "VAG"

Denver, Aug. 3.—After being spurned by the girl to whom he had just declared his love, C. P. Ettinger, of Dayton, O., received a second blow yesterday when Justice Stapleton told him that he had been found guilty of vagrancy and would have to spend thirty days in jail. The second bit of hard luck seemed to be an antidote for the first, and Ettinger heaved a sigh of relief when he heard the sentence.

Mary Bogert, on trial for masquerading as a boy, is the girl who blighted the hopes of Ettinger when he declared before the whole court that he was in love with Miss Bogert and had come from Dayton to marry her. She told the court she did not care for any man. She was told by Justice Stapleton that she must either go home to her parents in Dayton or spend ninety days in jail.

"I'll take the ninety days in jail," she said unhesitatingly.

JOHN BULL KEEPS WATCH ON GERMANY'S WAR DOGS.

GERMANY REFUSED BRITAIN'S REQUEST TO RESPECT NEUTRALITY OF BELGIUM

Sir Edward Grey Makes Important Declaration in the House of Commons To-day, and Was Greeted With Tumultuous Cheering--Army and Navy Mobilization Announced

London, Aug. 3.—Sir Edward Grey in the House of Commons this afternoon announced that orders for the mobilization of the British army as well as the navy have been issued.

When Sir Edward Grey was recognized he declared, amid frenzied cheering:

"England must now consider this crisis from the viewpoint of honor and obligation as well as from interest."

Belgium Made a Supreme Appeal

"The King of Belgium has telegraphed a supreme appeal to England to safeguard his country's integrity. The big question for England, now, the question that overshadows all else, is the question of Belgium, her neutrality, and the respecting of her integrity."

Germany Responsible for Break

Sir Edward Grey placed responsibility for the break on Germany when he declared:

"England has tried consistently to secure peace. It was not possible, however, because of the briefness of the time and the disposition in some quarters to force matters rapidly to an issue."

Dealing with the question Great Britain's obligations, Sir Edward said:

Public Opinion Would Rally to France

"Up to yesterday, we had given no promise of more than diplomatic support. I was asked at the time of the Algiers crisis if we would give armed support, and I said I could promise nothing to any foreign power unless it received the whole-hearted support of public opinion.

"I gave no promise, but I told both the French and German ambassadors that if war was forced on France, public opinion in the British Isles would rally to France."

This part of the speech was received with loud cheering.

England Could Not Stand Aside

Sir Edward added that if a foreign fleet came down the English Channel to bombard the French coast, "we could not stand aside."

The Foreign Secretary stated that the British fleet had been mobilized, and the mobilization of the British army was taking place, but that no engagement had yet been made by the British Government to send an expedition abroad. He continued:

British Fleet Will Give Protection

"We felt strongly that France was entitled to know at once whether in the event of an attack on her unprotected coasts she could rely on our support.

"I gave the engagement to the French ambassador last night that if the German fleet goes into the English Channel, or into the North Sea to attack French shipping or the French coast, the British fleet will give all the protection in its power.

"That answer is subject to the approval of Parliament. It is not a declaration of war.

Germany Wants England to Be Neutral

"I understand that the German Government would be prepared if we would pledge ourselves to neutrality to agree that its fleet would not attack the northern coast of France.

"That is far too narrow an engagement."

The house broke out into cheers at this remark. Sir Edward then recited the history of the Belgian neutrality.

Reported That Young Son of Calmette Shot Former French Premier

London, Aug. 3.—A news agency report, which because of the war interferring with the telegraphs cannot be confirmed, says that Joseph Caillaux, former Premier, was shot dead in a cafe at Dieppe by the 12-year-old son of Calmette, Figaro's editor, who was killed by Mme. Caillaux.

FRENCH ARMS VICTORIOUS

PARIS, Aug. 3.—The French army have scored a victory in a sharp but bloody engagement at Petit Croix. A corps of Uhlans attacked the French forces that were entrenched just beyond the town. The defenders replied with machine guns and mowed dowp the advance guard of the Germans. The Uhlans then charged several times but were unable to withstand the withering fire of the defenders and finally retired in disorder, leaving a number of dead on the field; among the wounded were some officers. The French also took a number of prisoners.

BELGIUM PREFERS BRITAIN'S SUPPORT.

LONDON, Aug. 3.—That Belgium prefers British aid to a German pledge was evidenced at noon to-day (British time), when the Belgian Cabinet, in response to a German note, offering an entente in Belgium, if that country would facilitate the movement of German troops, made a respectful but definite refusal to Germany's request.

THE OWL TO FLOURISH

Bounty on Big Horned Species Removed in West

No more bounties will be paid by the British Columbia Government for the destruction of the big horned owl. This owl is supposed to be very destructive of game birds, and this may have been the case in the past, but the rabbits have now come back and the big horned owl finds himself once more in a land of plenty. As he is said to even prefer rabbit to grouse there is no longer any particular object in having him destroyed.

The bounty, which was two dollar per owl, proved unexpectedly expensive, $15,000 being paid out in a few months. Some enterprising hunters are said to have made as much as a hundred and fifty or two hundred dollars a month from this source. Moreover, the government is convinced that a certain amount of fraud was practiced and that the harmless little horned owl has frequently been made to do duty for his big horned cousin at two dollars per head.

SHEEP FOR BREEDING

Some Things to Observe in Founding the Farm Flock

In starting a farm flock of sheep, it is important that the farmer should have an ideal before him as to the kind of sheep he wants. We cannot say that there is any best breed, for each breed has its own merits and deficiencies. The mutton-producing sheep are divided into two classes—the long-wools and the Downs. Of the former we have the Leicesters, Cotswolds, and Lincolns; of the latter the Shropshires, Oxford Down Southdowns, and Hampshire Downs. Both these classes of sheep have their merits. The long-wools are larger, yield a larger clip of wool, and are possibly slightly more prolific than the Downs. On the other hand, however, neither their mutton nor their wool is quite so good quality, and they are not so hardy. This latter fact is due to the nature of their fleece, writes Donald Ewing in Farmer's Magazine. Being long and open, it "parts" down the centre of their backs when wet. This allows the rain to penetrate to the skin of the sheep, so that they are wet through after every rain, and cold and catarrh are more or less prevalent among them during the fall and spring. Against this the wool of the Down breeds is close and tight, and even a very heavy rain does not penetrate it. After a drenching fall rain they will get up from under the fence or tree where they have found shelter, shake themselves, and be as dry and comfortable as before the rain. Added to this is the fact that the Downs yield a fine quality of mutton and wool slightly more valuable than the long-wools. Still, as we said before, we cannot claim that there is any "best" breed. Every prospective sheep-raiser must choose for himself, following his own preferences.

Selecting Sheep

Having chosen the breed, it is important that certain well-defined principles be followed in selecting the individuals. We are not dealing here with the raising of breeding stock, but of sheep-raising in a commercial way. At the same time, when selecting the foundation for the flock, it is better to get pure-breds or good grades, conforming very well to breed type, rather than cross-breds or mongrels. It lends character and value to our lambs if they conform fairly well to some recognized breed type. Aside from breed type, there are certain characters we must have.

First, we want constitution. This is indicated by a good heart-girth bright eye, wide muzzle, and pink skin. This last I regard as rather important. If we will part the wool so that we can see the skin, we will notice a decided difference in different sheep. Some will be decidedly bluish in tinge, while others are quite pink. We should avoid bluish or pale skins, and choose a good, pink skin as indicating a good constitution and good circulation.

Then we must look for flesh-producing qualities. As the best meat is found along the back and loin, and in the hindquarters, we must look for a strong, broad back and loin, and for deep hindquarters, carrying the flesh well down toward the hock. In fact, the same general form which indicates meat form in the steer also indicates it in the sheep. The general form should be blocky and square, with good top and underlines, not too long legs, and that general roundness and smoothness, as indicated by feeling the animal over, which shows quality in the sheep as well as in the steer.

The wool, though of minor importance, is still important, and we must see to it so far as we can that the sheep we are selecting to form our breeding flock have reasonably good wool-producing characteristics.

Pearls of Great Price

There was exhibited at a Con[illegible] jeweller's 14 Bond Street a striking collection of pearls. One magnificent rope is valued at no less than $200,000 while for a single pear-shaped drop pearl, perfectly symmetrical, $70,000 was asked. But probably the most exquisite article in the collection was a single necklet of gems of extraordinary hue, the matching and graduation being superb. The cost of this article was $190,000.

If one of the stones were lost it would be impossible to replace it with an exact duplicate. Black and pink pearls also found a place in the exhibition; whilst a passing reference must be made to a pair of button shaped ear rings valued at $40,000.

Illicit Distilling in the Highlands

Smuggling appears still to continue in the Highlands. The Excise officers recently discovered in the district of Kintail a new smuggling still and head hidden in a cairn between the fishing village of Bundalloch and Camusluinie.

A Sick Room Hint

If you have to keep up a fire in an invalid's room provide yourself with an old glove and a stick that can be used as a poker. With the glove or a piece of coal can be picked up and put on the fire with the minimum noise, and the wooden poker is far less noisy than any other. Little things, perhaps; but little things make an enormous difference in the comfort or otherwise of an invalid

AS LIGHT AS LAGER
BUT BETTER FOR YOU

You wash dishes about two hours every day. That's one hour wasted!

Dishes get dirty, greasy and sticky and soap will not clean them. Soapy dish water merely cleans the surface; it doesn't dig into the corners and drive out the decayed food particles.

Gold Dust is the sanitary dish washer. It not only cleans the surface, but digs deep after hidden particles of dirt and kills the germs of decayed food which ordinary dish-water overlooks. Gold Dust sterilizes as well as cleanses.

Besides doing the work better than soap or any other cleanser can, Gold Dust will save just half the time you spend in washing dishes.

Gold Dust is sold in 5c size and large packages. The large package means greater economy.

HINTS FOR HOUSEWIVES

Wire "Dish-cloth"

Use a wire dish-cloth, which may be bought for a trifle, for cleaning pots. It will save much time.

Stamps Stuck Together

If stamps have become glued together, lay a thin paper over them and run a hot iron over it. Take stamps apart at once.

Making Eyelets

When punching eyelet, place the material over a cake of white soap. This makes a firm edge, which is easily worked over.

Chopped Cheese

When preparing macaroni and cheese, put the cheese through the food-chopper instead of grating it. Much less time will be required.

To Remove Ink Spots

To remove ink spots from wash materials soak the spot with kerosene. Finally rinse with kerosene, then wash as usual.

Keeping Bread Warm

A good way to keep a pan of bread dough warm over night is to set it on a warm soapstone wrapped in a clean flannel.

A Darning Hint

Sew black netting over the hole in stockings and darn in the usual way, but through the meshes, skipping every other one. The result will be a firm, neat darn. If white netting be used, the same idea may be used for knitted underwear.

To Clean a Steel Buckle

Steel buckles and ornaments that have become slightly rusted, may be cleaned as follows: Rub well with sweet oil; let stand for a couple of days, then rub with powdered, unslaked lime, and polish with chamois.

To Test a Broom

When buying a broom, test it by pressing the edge against the floor. If the straws bristle out and bend, the broom is a poor one. They should remain in a solid, firm mass.

To Run Ribbon

To run ribbon through beading, or through a hem, fasten a small safety pin to one end of the ribbon and use as though it were a tape-needle, which is seldom to be found when wanted.

Loose Knife Handles

When knife handles loosen, fill the cavity in the handle two-thirds full of mixed resin and brickdust, then heat the shaft of the knife and press it into its place. Hold it till firmly set.

Enamel Ware Cement

Take equal parts soft putty, finely sifted coal ashes and sifted table salt, mix and pack well into the hole. Place pan on stove with a little water in it until the cement hardens. Afterwards the vessel will hold water as well as ever.

Cleaning Woodwork

Woodwork may be easily cleaned by rubbing it with a little kerosene, polishing well afterwards with clean cloths. If you dislike using the coal oil, use mild soap. Rub dry and polish.

New Shirtwaists From Old

Very good shirtwaists may be made from men's shirts which have been discarded because frayed at the cuffs. Cut the shirt carefully apart, leaving the front opening intact to serve as the front finishing of the shirtwaist.

A Doughnut Wrinkle

As you take each cake from the kettle after frying it, dip it immediately into a pot of boiling water and take it out as soon as wet. This will take all superfluous grease from the doughnuts.

Flowers as Food

Preserved violets are so far the only crystalized flowers the majority of English-speaking people venture to consume, and even these flowers are mostly used for decorative purposes.

Turkish ladies have a favorite sweetmeat of rosebuds boiled in sugar and preserved. In China dried rosebuds are candied. Banana blossom pickled in vinegar is specially liked by the little Japanese ladies, also by Indians, who use it for flavoring jellies and pastries.

A bitter shrub grown in Burmah, and elsewhere, yields small red flowers which the natives put through a process of their own and make into bread.

The lily known as "Thunbergi" is one of the biggest delicacies of the Chinese, and is specially grown for ordinary consumption. They are plucked just before they begin to open, and cooked as a vegetable in much the same manner as we cook spinach, and many people have testified to their excellence.

FISH STORIES

Lightning Killed a Bass Weighing Eleven Pounds

From the Eastern Townships of Quebec there came a story of an eleven-pound black bass killed by lightning. That was pretty good. Nobody had ever seen an eleven-pound black bass before in the world, and nobody had ever seen a fish killed by lightning. The story was a double-edged stroke of genius. Next from the New England States there came a story of a lad who rammed his fist into the gills of a fish in diving and landed another big one. And this was followed up by a story from Baltimore, where an old tar tells of having his ship lifted out of the water on the back of an enormous whale.

Our Point of View

Remember this summer when they tell you how much drier the seasons are becoming.

—o—

In the face of great events how small men look—whether they are kaisers or kings!

—o—

New York state politics must be in a bad way when a candidate for Governor can make his whole platform honesty and decency.

—o—

English critics of Roosevelt's explorations are still dividing their wonder between the adventures and the peradventures.

—o—

Fortunately while the young men in the street call for war, King Peter and the Emperor Franz Joseph are old enough to be for counsel.

—o—

In New York city all dogs at large must be muzzled at all times. By similar laws strictly enforced in England hydrophobia in that country has been exterminated.

—o—

To the Toronto Mail and Empire it appears "quite in accord with the fitness of things that the army worm should invade the military grounds at Niagara-on-the-Lake."

—o—

During a hundred days of the California campaign this year the women voters of San Francisco are to publish a paper. Good luck to it! But will they have a Man's Page?

—o—

The Austro-Servian war has just begun, and yet a Vienna dispatch says: "There is a dark side in consequence of the difficulty of transportation. The price of food has risen enormously, an event which has led to riots at the markets" Is there anything more infernal than war?

Wireless Telephone Talks

So rapidly is modern science conquering the secrets of nature that new discoveries, no matter how startling their nature, create only a mild ripple of curiosity. Last week a human voice from a ship at sea was distinctly heard in the offices of The New York Herald, and that through the medium of the telephone apparatus in common use. The discoverer of this latest developement of wireless communication is Dr. D.G. McCan, of Lancaster, Pennsylvania, and it opens up a wide vista of possibilities. Hereafter it may be possible for every vessel at sea to be in communication with other vessels and with the land, by means of a simple apparatus that necessities no specially trained operator such as is required in the case of wireless telegraphy.

As for Caillaux

Mme. Caillaux has been found not guilty of a deliberate and cold-bloodeu murder. To one familiar with the Parisian temper, that event is not surprising. But let us not play the Pharisee. In our own great cities, where gutter sentimentality is vitiating the most ordinary ethical perceptions, similar verdicts are common enough. Our good fortune is that the protagonists affected have not attained to national celebrity.

After all, the fate of the woman in the case is of far less importance than the fate of her husband. After his exhibition as a voluptuary cad of the cheapest and vilest sort, will the public opinion of France longer tolerate him in the councils of the nation?

Suppose he has been a successful premier, admit that he is a powerful political factor, can a people morally sound permit this creature, who holds the obligations of marriage no dearer than something that may be discharged with coin, to remain in public life?

Here is a direct test of the fitness of the French people. When Caillaux was re-elected to the deputies his true moral measure had not been taken. Today, as the result of this trial, it is known throughout the length and breadth of France.

Good-Bye, Old Backache Nerviline Will Fix You

Stiffness Is Rubbed Right Out: Every Sign of Pain Disappears.

Gee whiz—think of it!

No more stomach dosing necessary to cure your lame back.

Every trace of lameness, every bit of stiffness, every sign of weakness in the back's muscles can be rubbed away for all time to come by good old "Nerviline."

No other liniment can do the work so quickly, can penetrate so deeply, can bring ease and comfort to the back-weary sufferer as Nerviline invariably does.

Backache isn't the only malady Nerviline is quick to cure. For lumbago or sciatica you would go far to find relief so speedy as Nerviline gives. For chronic rheumatism there are pain-destroying properties in Nerviline that give it first rank. The way it limbers up a stiff joint and takes soreness out of the strained or rheumatic muscles is simply a wonder.

If you have an ache or a pain anywhere, if you have a sore back, a stiff neck, a stiff joint, a strained muscle—if you have lumbago, congested chest or sore throat, just try Nerviline. Rub it on plentifully—it won't blister—it can't do anything but cure you quickly. The large 50c. family size bottle is the most economical, of course, but you can, from any dealer, also get the 25c. small size of Nerviline, the king of all pain-relieving remedies.

He Got a Fish.

A well known local Irishman went out fishing at Chemong a few days ago. He rowed a boat far four miles without getting a nibble. Pulling in to the shore he started a fire to prepare lunch. Just as he was bemoaning his hard luck a two pound pass fell from the azure sky at his feet. Looking up he saw soaring towards the clouds a big bird that he took to be a large hawk or an eagle. The bird had evidently by accident dropped its prey. The Irishman remarked to his companion "Be jabers its raining fish manna"!

OIL THE GREAT WEALTHMAKER

We hold over 3,000 acres, more or less, of oil leases North and South of Monarch and several of our leases are in the same range as the Monarch well.

Many companies claim to be close to Monarch but we are one of the very few who are in Range Six upon which the Monarch Well is situated. Therefore, we must be on the same anti-cline and as it is a foregone conclusion Monarch will get oil, so will we.

Fifty-Seven Feet of Oil Bearing Sands Passed Through in Monarch Well

OFFICIAL STATEMENT IS GIVEN OUT BY PRESIDENT GEORGESON—WELL IS NOW DOWN OVER 1,800 FEET AND FLOW OF WET GAS HAS BEEN STRUCK IN LOWER LEVELS—GEOLOGIST DUNN IS AWAY AT PRESENT

Heavy oil showings are being found in the Monarch well, west of Olds, although the oil has not yet come in in commercial quantities.

To put the exact facts before the public, President William Georgeson and Treasurer G. W. Morfitt, of the company, this morning issued an official statement from the drillers setting forth the results.

The heaviest oil seepage has been encountered through a stratum 57 feet thick, and the well is now 1850 feet deep.

A sample of this oil baled out at 1,775 feet was brought to the city this morning and is in the office of Mr. Morfitt, Grain Exchange Building. The oil is a heavy black petroleum with the characteristic petroleum odor.

The statement issued by the officers is as follows: In the absence of Mr. Dunn, Mr. Van Alst, the head driller, reports that from the depth of 1,775 feet to 1,832 feet he went through oil bearing sands for 57 feet. Throughout there was a heavy showing of black oil in the baler. Two further showing of black wet gas were shot at 1,805 feet and 1,815 feet.

The well is now down 1,850 feet. Wet gas has shown at 633 feet, 1,430 feet, 1,805 feet and 1,815 feet.

Oil sands have shown at 808 feet, (48 feet), 1,430 feet (40 feet), 1,740 feet (14 feet), and 1,776 feet (57 feet).

The well is now down 1,850 feet, and while there are good oil showings there is not as yet oil in commercial quantities.

Our stock is on the market at 50 cents a share, a Dollar par, and will be advanced without notice any day pending Monarch Well developments. It is practically a certainty that Monarch will be in oil in commercial quantities within two weeks, Our stock will jump away above par and you had better hurry if you wish to share our prosperity.

WHY LITTLE JOHNNIE GETS TWISTED

Some Schoolboy Howlers and How They Originated

Schoolboy howlers are produced by four causes. First comes the inability to distinguish between the present age and the slow-moving centuries that preceded it. A scholar was asked what Prince Harry did when he heard of the illness of his father, Henry IV. He answered that he sent a postcard to say he was coming at once!

Another source of howlers is the confusion of mind caused by similar sounds. There is the case of the child to whom the words, "Lord, who hatest nothing that Thou hast made," became "Lord, who hatest nothing but the housemaid." Also the child who, having heard in church the words, "For in six days the Lord made heaven and earth, the sea and all that in them is," apprehended that besides the heaven, earth, and sea, which she knew, there had been created some mysterious creatures or things called "all the ninomies," which she vainly endeavored to depict on paper.

One child used to ponder with wonder the strange question in Cowper's hymn, "Can a mother's tender care cease toward the child she bear?" The tiny mite wanted to see a "child shebear."

The two other sources of howlers are undigested knowledge and pure guessing. Into these classes come the following. Attempts at an examination for the London County junior scholarships to "explain as fully as you can how Londoners are supplied with coal and water" produ[illegible] fragments of undigested "science," such as, "Trees that are now on Clapham Common will be nearly coal in the twentieth century." "Water," wrote another candidate, "is put into large tanks and filleted."

No fewer than eighty-seven different spellings of "reservoir" were recorded, a list which, the report suggests, deserves scrutiny by advocates of reformed spelling and teachers of reading. The most remarkable rendering was that of the boy who wrote "These pipes lead to what we call a viceroy; this viceroy is filled with water."

Water was frequently stored in a "system," and released by a "tape." "Their water comes from a system which is called a Feudal system." Some quotations were significant of the unpopularity of water in too many of the [illegible] some of us drink it." "Water has a lot to do with drinks, and teetotallers have very little to drink." "When people have no money to have a drink, they go to the tap, and have a drop of water."

The following were given as examples of the uses of ships: "To go to foreign countries and teach savages how to dress"; "To poets, who can get their living writing about ships." "If there were no ships people could not go and see models of them"; "Ships do not wear out the bottom of the sea, because they can't."

Farmers' Co-operation

The following is a list of some half dozen of the most active and important co-operative societies:

The Eastern Counties Farmers' Co-operative Association, the Southern Counties Agricultural Trading Society, Carmarthen Farmers' Co-operative Society, Newport and District Agricultural Trading Society, Midland Farmers' Co-operative Association, West Midland Farmers' Association. All show capital progress.

Now, in spite of such splendid object lessons as are furnished by these and other examples of agricultural co-operation, it is still difficult to persuade the average farmer that the movement holds out any advantage to him, and it is this inherent suspicion, this distrust and dislike of any pronounced change, which is responsible for the somewhat slow growth of co-operative methods among the farming community.

When I begin to enumerate the many advantages offered by association or membership with the Agricultural and Horticultural Association, Ltd., I cannot understand how it is that any progressive farmer or smallholder can remain outside its beneficent fold.—"Agricultural Economist and Horticultural Review."

Invented New Word

French scientists have adopted the word "frigory," meaning the amount of cold necessary to reduce the temperature of a kilogram of water one degree Centigrade, as a unit of measurement for refrigerating and allied industries.

Cooking by Gas-jet

For cooking small articles a Western inventor has patented a pan, adjustable at varying heights along a rod, to be clamped on a gas light burner.

Spectacles as Binoculars

Ordinary spectacles can be made to serve as binoculars by the invention of a frame holding an auxiliary pair of lenses to be fastened in front of the others.

CHINESE COAST PIRACY

Government Helpless to Stop Evil on Account of Lack of Funds.

Seventeen Chinese pirates shipped as passengers the other day on a small steamer plying the China Sea overpowered the crew and made off with $30,000.

As a matter of fact, the China Sea is the only part of the globe where this ancient and bloodthirsty means of livelihood is still in a flourishing condition. There ancestor worship is still practised by the pirates and it would be considered scarcely honorable for a man to give up the profession by which his forefathers have subsisted for generations.

At present, according to officers of the Japanese liner Nippon Maru, piracy is in a more flourishing condition than it has been for years, for the Government is without funds to operate a coast patrol. The whole coast of China is infested with sea bandits, who lie in wait in the mouths of creeks and rivers and pounce upon small native boats. So far their activities have been confined to Chinese vessels, although the steamer Shanghai, which was robbed by the 17 who shipped as passengers, was flying the British flag.

During the days of the opium traffic Chinese piracy was in its glory. The pirates chose the opium ships as their special prey, and those who did not pay tribute before their ships sailed were very likely to have the cargo confiscated before it ever came to port. An anonymous writer in Chambers' Journal, an English publication, told of one adventure of this sort in which the pirates were beaten off. A German bark, the Etienne, had started from Hong Kong for Tien-Tsin. It had six chests of opium aboard. The second day out the vessel was becalmed, and lay "like a painted ship upon a painted ocean," within a mile of Mirs Bay, a pirate stronghold.

Through marine glasses the crew of the Etienne could see a crowd of men swarming like ants down the shore at sunset and preparing to launch boats. The Chinese carried spears and they propelled their boats with long sweeps. There was one bit of artillery aboard the Etienne, a carronade, which is a short gun of large calibre, useful only at close range.

The carronade was fired once, in the hope of bringing assistance, then reloaded and preparations made to receive the pirates. On they swept in three big boats, black in the sunset glow, and yelling loudly. The pirates were naked to the waist. The crew of the Etienne were served with rifles and cutlasses, and three barrels of bottled beer which had been sent aboard the ship just before it sailed as a gift to the officers, were brought on deck. The beer was emptied into tubs on deck and the bottles smashed. The deck was then strewn with broken glass.

The pirate ships as they approached fired several times, and one 12-pound shot struck the main mast of the Etienne. When they were within 100 yards the carronade of the European ship was discharged and there was a thinning of the Chinese aboard one of the vessels. The short cannon was hastily reloaded, and when another Chinese ship crew alongside was fired point blank into its bows. Then the Etienne's crew, very small in comparison with the number of the pirates swarmed into the rigging in order to pick off the Chinese with more ease.

As the barefooted Chinamen swarmed upon the deck of the Etienne they were thrown into the greatest confusion by the broken glass and leaped howling about the deck nursing their wounded feet, while the crew aloft poured down an effective fire upon them. But it was not long before the pirates began to clamber up the rigging. With rifles and revolvers the Europeans picked them off. "They fell like overripe fruit into the sea," says the author. But there were plenty more waiting to take the places of those who fell. Eventually, however, the pirates were repulsed and forced to flee after heavy loss in the sharp sea battle.

COPPER

The Red Metal

MILLIONS OF TONS OF PAY ORE

Copper is one of the world's chief necessities, and the demand for it is constantly increasing. Growth of the electrical industry largely accounts for this. Telegraph and Telephone Wire—Trolley Wire—Trolley Wheels and the multitude of other Electrical Machines and Parts—Power Transmission Wire and the use of the metal in various valuable Alloys—these are some of the places where copper is consumed, and while its production is enormous it is used about as rapidly as it can be mined and made ready. THIS IS WHY OWNERSHIP IN A COPPER MINE IS ONE OF THE MOST SATISFACTORY SOURCES OF INCOME POSSIBLE TO IMAGINE.

TIME TO START

Naturally the time to secure an interest in any sort of enterprise is at the start, because it is then that money for development and equipment is needed and this is, of course, the reason why shares in the project are released! When these necessities are provided for the Opportunity passes.

For years we have been spending time, effort and money in getting together one of the largest known copper deposits, and we now own and control thousands of acres of land, covering veins of copper, ore carrying gold and silver values, extensive veins of coal, iron and lime.

The geology is so well defined as to make identifications of size and location of the copper bearing veins a perfect definite matter. In addition to this the estate has been thoroughly prospected by some 4,000 feet of work, there being more than 100 shafts, pits, cuts and tunnels, every one of which shows copper in paying quantities. The dumps of these openings run from 2 to 8 per cent in copper metal.

Facilities for economically winning the copper from its ores are remarkably fine. In the company's own ground are five known coal beds, insuring a perpetual supply of cheap fuel, easily accessible and located within a very short distance of the site chosen for its furnaces. Water and timber are also abundant and easy of access.

One of Colorado's most eminent mining engineers, after thoroughly examining this property, states in his report, that the net profits resulting from operation of this property should range from $250,000 to $1,000,000 each year.

There is no uncertainty, no guesswork, about this project. Applied to it, a definite cause will inevitably produce an equally definite effect. Equipment for mining these immense bodies of ore and reducing the metal in them to bullion means dividends—it can't mean anything else—and it is to provide this equipment and the funds required for its installation and the preliminary operating expenses of the estate that an interest in the project is offered to you.

It is YOUR OPPORTUNITY to join in a well planned, conservative, and exceptionally profitable business undertaking. The foundations are laid, the property is acquired and the next step—providing the equipment—is now being taken. So soon as this is accomplished your chance to secure a share in the enterprise will be gone.

INTRODUCTION

The Glenaladale Silver Black Fox Company, Limited, was incorporated in 1913 with six pairs of foxes, at $90,000. This Company re-capitalised in 1914, with 20 pairs of beautiful Silver Black Foxes, at $15,000 per pair, making a total capitalization of $300,000.

THE FOXES

Six pairs (one year old) proven breeders, and fourteen pairs (1914 pups), making a total of 20 pairs—all young foxes—good for at least 10 years. This Company has bought some of this year's options on foxes with a guarantee that they are pedigreed and of the highest strain and very best quality P. E. Island famous foxes.

THE RANCH

The ranch is situated on the well known Glenaladale Farm, owned by Major C. McKinnon, formerly the homestead of Sir William McDonald, and is only 12 miles from Charlottetown, in a quiet locality sufficiently removed from any disturbance.

THE RANCHER

Mr. Arthur W. McKinnon, our Ranch Manager, has had much experience in breeding foxes, and has the practical knowledge necessary to efficiently manage and care for the animals.

The foxes will be ranched free of charge to the Company for the first year. This means a large saving to the shareholders, as some companies have to pay as high as 25 per cent. of the increase for ranching purposes.

The promoters of this Company are retaining $80,000 worth of stock for themselves. $20,000 worth has already been disposed of, leaving $200,000 to be offered to investors at $25.00 per share, with a guarantee that a dividend of 50 per cent. will be paid in cash in 1915, or whatever more it may be.

The Glenaladale Silver Black Fox Co., Limited, in 1913 guaranteed a dividend of 50 per cent. but are going to pay 50 per cent. in cash and 50 per cent., in stock in 1914. The Company is in good standing and to each and every investor the first of September, 1914, we can say:—"We have given you 50 per cent. more than we promised." And we feel sure that in 1915 all the shareholders in this re-capitalized company will be able to say they received more than they were promised.

This Company can truthfully say that they have not one cent of watered stock in the Company. Now Mr. Investor, if you were a Company and we the shareholders, we would look to you for justice to give us all that was honestly due us. We would not like for you to buy 3 pairs of foxes at $15,000 per pair ($45,000) and form a fox company and capitalize your concern at $90,000 and make us pay, as shareholders, for it. The Glenaladale Silver Black Fox Company, Limited, will ask you to do nothing like that. We want to let you in on the ground floor.

NOTICE

When a fox company guarantees any specified dividend to its shareholders, and when said company is an incorporated body, you need not be afraid of any unfair play, for such company is compelled to pay what they promise, and, besides, every interest is taken for the welfare of both the investor and the company.

The promoters of this Company are all above board and will not permit any crook to come in and do anything that is not right. Anyone holding stock in this Company who is dissatisfied can, by notifying the Secretary-Treasurer, have his or her money promptly refunded.

FORTUNES IN FOXES

There is money in fox ranching more than anything else ever known. It is good for the rich man and good for the poor man. A poor man cannot buy a pair of Silver Black Foxes but he can easily raise $25.00, $50.00 or $100.00. By investing in this Company he gets back his money in at least two years and then he will have an income for life and for his children to come—and after there will be money in fox farming. One of the reasons for this is that P. E. Island has now 95 per cent. of the world's foxes in captivity. For every one pelt that can be raised there are more than 25 wealthy people waiting for it in London, Russia, France and America.

PELT VALUES

The Fox Pelts have advanced greatly in price since 1910 and you can see for yourself what money was in them then.

Below are the particulars of sale of a consignment of Silver Fox Furs, shipped from Prince Edward Island ranches to London, England, and sold there in March, 1910:

SHARES

Shares are selling at $25.00 each; 25 per cent. with application and the balance on or before September 1st, 1914.

Simply fill out the application form and mail to Major C. McKinnon, Secretary-Treasurer, Glenaladale, P. E. I.

All cheques must be made payable to "The Glenaladale Silver Black Fox Co., Ltd."

A POINTER

Just to give you a little idea of what the free ranching of foxes mean to the investor, we will figure it out for you.

We have twenty pairs of foxes in the ranch and suppose each pair produces a litter of only four foxes this is equal to 40 pairs and at $15,000 per year it would figure out at $600,000. Now, if we had to pay even 15 per cent. of the increase for ranching purposes (which is considerably lower than some companies pay) it would mean that we would have to pay $90,000 for ranching expenses.

We ranch the foxes free for the first year, so that in addition to a guaranteed dividend of 50 per cent., we save you this large outlay of money. While we guarantee 50 per cent., still should each pair in our ranch produce four pups it would mean that your dividend would be about 200 per cent. instead of 50 per cent.

FINAL WORD

A great deal has been written about Ranches, Grades of Foxes, etc., but after all the one object that every investor should keep before him is the dividend he is going to get. We have tried to show you in plain English what we can do for you and now that you have our proposition, compare it with the offer made by any other company now in business—and then judge for yourself to have been paid by some of the Charlottetown daily newspapers.

IMPORTANT NOTICE

CALGARY, July 23rd.—An official statement just issued by the Monarch Oil Company states that the drill has just passed through a 57-foot strata of oil bearing sand, at a depth of between 1776 and 1832 feet. A sample of the oil from this oil sand is on exhibition at the Company's office in Calgary. This is the fourth oil sand encountered in the well, and indicates that a good producing well should be obtained before going much deeper. The Hole-Woollard Oil Company is making preparations to drill on its property in the Monarch district, which adjoins the property of the Monarch Oil Company, and we are advised that the price of shares will be advanced as soon as drilling operations are started. POPULAR FILM ACTOR

Eddie Lyons is a household word in the homes of picture show patrons. He's a happy young chap who can turn his personality into all sorts of twists in order to picture "somebody else" on the screen.

Lyons is usually cast for comedy, probably because he has a perfectly serious-looking face. Anyway he is very clever at comedy roles. He is often seen with Lee Moran and Victoria Forde, Stella Adams and the rest of the Nestor comedy company."

The Oldest Oddfellow

It is claimed for Thomas Blades of Yarwell, a Northamptonshire village, that he is the oldest Oddfellow in the world. Blades, who is within two years of being a centenarian, has completed seventy-four years' membership of the Manchester Unity. As a boy of seven he was working for 24 cents a week in minding cows and scaring birds from crops. He is hale and hearty, enjoys his pipe, and believes that the secret of keeping young is "a contented mind and something in it."

American Roads

United States Secretary of Agriculture Wilson says 300,000 miles of road throughout the country need improvements, and estimates it would cost nearly $2,000,000 to do the work.

Coal Briquets

Coal briquets to the amount of 181,859 short tons, valued at the plants at $1,007,227, were manufactured last year in the United States.

Only Gums Now

The "Dublin Daily Express" refers to a "Mr. Tooth, whose name was in everybody's mouth a generation or so ago."

Balkan War Echoes

Many of the Greek soldiers who went to fight the Unspeakable Turk in the Balkans brought back Turkish wives, and war continues at home.

How People Feel
When They Have
Tape Worm

Tape worm is bred from a parasite. This parasite is a creature male and female in one. It is a pear shape, having two, four and six suckers. It lays the eggs, which are only connected together with slime. They develop and form a body, which is the worm. Each joint is an individual, having a sucker or mouth. The worm grows to be much longer than the bowels where it is located, and sometimes a whole colony of them are found, enough to fill a quart of solid worm, and when put in a bucket of water would apparently fill it. It is the hardest task in the world to destroy this parasite without doing injury to the individual who may be so unfortunate as to have it, as the parasite clings to the bowels, freeing itself from the body of the worm, and remains there to breed another. It is an internal demon and causes its victims to suffer all the symptoms of disease imaginable. The cleverest physicians are led to believe the patient is suffering from some other disease, as nearly every person has different symptoms. Some have been treated for cancer of the bowels, consumption of the bowels, consumption of the lungs, chronic dyspepsia, nervous prostration, melancholia, hypochondria, hysteria, inflammation of the bowels, appendicitis and other complaints, when one or more of these internal demons were eating their lives away.

Prof. Mulvaney has made the discovery to free the victim of this monster without injury to the system, destroying the parasite as well as expelling the worm with one dose of medicine without any previous starvation. Visit his office, where he has in his possession the most wonderful collection of these death-dealing monsters in the world, which have been expelled from hundreds of people by his famous remedy, some bottles containing colonies of worms and anyone seeing them cannot imagine how a person could possibly live with them in his bowels. It is surprising the number of people that have them. Thousands have them and are not aware of the fact. The letters and testimonials the Professor has in his possession are enough to convince one of this alarming fact. Some of the most prominent symptoms are: ravenous appetite, dizzy spells, headaches, cramps in the bowels, a feeling of something moving in the bowels, or a feeling as though something was crawling up the throat. The only certainty of having one in the system is when segments or joints are seen, which come away almost any time. They are flat and from ½ of an inch to 1 inch long, which have often been mistaken for pin worms by those who do not know the difference. There are many other feelings of distress which would take long to enumerate. Strange to say, some people of strong constitution, have very little distress.

Prof. Mulvaney's world-famous Tape Worm Exterminator is safe, sure and harmless. No starvation, no danger, is not disagreeable to take. One dose nearly always affects a cure. SECRET OF LONG LIFE

From Japan comes the secret of long life. It is in the form of twelve commandments, as follows:

1. Arise and retire early.

2. Sleep six to seven hours daily in a room perfectly dark with open windows.

3. Spend as much time as possible in the open air.

4. Eat meat only once a day.

5. Drink moderately tea and coffee, and do not smoke or drink.

6. Take a warm bath every morning.

7. Give up silk garments for woollen ones.

8. Rest one day a week and in that day do not even read or write.

9. Avoid warm places, especially those heated artificially.

10. Re-establish your exhausted organs with identical animal's organs.

11. Avoid getting excited and do not fatigue your intellect.

And the twelfth commandment is the most interesting one:

12. If you are a bachelor get married without delay; if you are a widower, contract a second marriage immediately.

Work and Food

According to a French scientist a man who eats liberally should recuperate in weight every 24 hours; if he loses weight, he works to excess; if he gains he has not expended his maximum effort.

LOOKING AFTER YOUNG CHICKS

Plenty of Shade and Good Wholesome Food Give Best Results

Green food is absolutely essential during the growing period. It can be most economically supplied by growing it directly upon the range. Where the chicks are crowded on small areas, considerable expense must be incurred in supplying it from an outside source in the form of cabbage, grass-clippings or sprouted grains, says Harry Lewis of New Jersey College of Agriculture, in Suburban Life. A range which can be kept seeded to a permanent sod is the best, but, where the birds are kept in such numbers as to destroy the grass, it will be found desirable to divide the area into two plots, and rotate them by alternating the areas and raising quick-growing, succulent crops, such as peas and oats, rape, buckwheat, millet, and, during the winter, as a catch or cover crop, rye, wheat, vetch and crimson clover, singly or in combination. The birds can then eat the succulence directly off the root, and the plowing and seeding purify the runs and utilize the manure to grow the crop. An abundance of shade is necessary for a normal, healthy development. Natural shade is the most desirable; where it cannot be secured, artificial shelters must be constructed. Muslin frames, set at an angle to prevent birds roosting on them, are efficient. A rough shelter of bushes or boughs, elevated from the ground about two feet, by laying on crotched sticks, will answer very well. The most desirable shade is that given by a growing plant. It is much cooler, due to the large amount of moisture given off. An ideal practice is to plant the range in fruit trees—peaches, plums or apples being desirable. When trees are not present, or while thy are making a sufficient growth, it will be found profitable to plant such crops as corn, sunflowers and soja beans between the rows.

The summer colony or developing houses should provide three features—namely, fresh air, sufficient size, and must be easily moved, or portable. They should be portable to facilitate moving them from place to place during succeeding seasons as the range is changed, or, as is often the case, it is desired to use them for small laying flocks during the winter. The design should provide an abundance of fresh air, without causing drafts to blow across the roosting-place at night. Crowded, stuffy sleeping quarters will weaken the vitality of a lot of youngsters quicker than any other one cause. If the house can be constructed to furnish considerable shade, that is another advantage. It is a mistake to build small, tucked-up colony houses, as for example 2x4 feet, which are often seen on small plants. Such houses are hard to ventilate properly, and the tendency is to crowd too many chicks into one flock with disastrous results. The desirable colony unit is about fifty chicks, the exact capacity depending upon floor space and method of ventilation.

KING'S FAVORED TENANTS

Some Queer Rents Collected by King George

Some of the rents which are King George's due from certain of his loyal subjects are "more honored in the breach than in the observance." It would certainly surprise King George and Queen Mary if the Lord of the Manor of Addington, in Surrey should suddenly appear and plank down on the Royal breakfast table the bowl of porridge which constitutes his yearly rent in acknowledgment of his Sovereign's overlordship.

Whether the present owner of the Foulis Estates in Scotland regularly pays his rent we cannot say, or whether the King, as is likely, shuts his eyes to the omission of the bucketful of snow which is his rightful due. As the estates are near Ben Nevis, there would certainly be no difficulty in obtaining a trainload of snow once a year, and probably even a bucketful in summer; but, as the King has little use for snow, probably the rent is never paid.

Quite a different and much more desirable rent is the one which has been charged to the tenant of Crendon, in Buckinghamshire, from time immemorial. The rent consists of a garland of roses every June, and, needless to say, the garland is duly forwarded, and is a thing of beauty, as it ought to be.

In September every year two faggots are paid at the Law Courts by the City Remembrancer as rent for lands held by the City Corporation from His Majesty the King. This official not only has to deliver the two faggots, but has to see that they are properly received and accept a duly signed and witnessed receipt for them, which is filed in the City's archives.

The authorities of the Isle of Portland make a queer sort of collection every November on behalf of His Majesty. It is called the "King's Halfpenny"; but, as a matter of fact, every cottager on the island pays a farthing, every cottage with a garden a halfpenny, and every man with an acre of land or more threepence. This is called "quit rent."

When the King lately went across the Channel to pay his State visit to Paris, he ought to have been attended across the briny ocean by the present representative of Solomon Attfield, to whom King John gave his lands on condition that, whenever he or any of his successors crossed the Channel, the said Solomon or his heirs should be in attendance to hold up the King's head when he was seasick.

His title was the Royal Head-holder. However, as the last monarch to call for this service was Edward I., and, especially as his present Majesty is a sailor, it is very unlikely that the existing Solomon was called upon to perform his functions. Nevertheless, there is no doubt that if the King so desired he could call upon the tenants of the Attfield estates to do the service by which they hold the tenure of their land.

If the King should pay a visit to Aylesbury—where the ducks come from—the inhabitants are supposed to supply him with three eels if it is winter, and with two fat geese if it is summer. If the King should visit Chichester, by ancient usage he ought immediately to demand a string for his crossbow; and if the King should be engaged in war and riding at the head of his troops, it would be incumbent upon the successors to the Corbet Estates, in Shropshire to provide him with a flitch of bacon every day!

EDUCATED CLASS DECREASES

Femininist Movement Menaces Its Supremacy

Edwin Grant Conklin, head of the department of biology in Princeton University, in a lecture, declared that the time has come when society must take account of the immense importance of heredity in the development of man. "Hitherto all the attention of society has been fixed on education and environment," he said. "Hereafter, more attention must be given to improvements of heredity or eugenics."

At the present rate of reproduction, Prof. Conklin said, the more highly educated classes would be unknown within a period of fifty years. Eugenics is right, he continued, in insisting that the higher classes pay more attention to reproduction. The lower classes are increasing in number and the outcome of it will be that the higher classes will be swallowed up by the lower, he said.

Prof. Conklin decried the feminist movement of to-day, because it shows unmistakable signs of women escaping the duty of motherhood, a sign which means degeneration of the race in time, he said.

CITY AND DISTRICT

DASHES HERE AND THERE BY TIMES REPORTERS.

A Peculiar Lindsay Accident.

Lindsay Warder: Mr. Jack Clarke, an employe of Boxall and Matthie had his face severely burned this morning as the result of letting a lighted match drop into a can of asphalt paint. The asphalt paint is used for roofing and contains a certain per cent. of gasoline.

A Sprig of Heather.

The Times was yesterday in receipt of a very handsome booklet entitled: "Just a Sprig of Mountain Heather". To the binding is attached a piece of the plant named. The booklet is gotten out by the Parks branch of the Department of the Interior, Ottawa, and is descriptive of Canada's National playgrounds.

Yesterday's Police Court.

At yesterday's police court, a local gardner was charged with causing a disturbance on a public street. He pleaded guilty and was fined $2 to be paid forthwith. He was also charged with driving a horse whilst drunk. That is the man was drunk not the horse. He was fined $2 with $2.40 costs.

Stoney Lake Regatta.

The Stoney Lake regatta which is billed for Monday, August 10, promises plenty of excitement in the way of an unusually large program of sailing events. It is said that Mr. Bob Aikens, of Toronto, is confident that his new boat the "Gull," will put it over several of the others, and probably land the silverware, while others are just as confident.

Local Contractor Hurt.

Contractor Bogue, of this city who has had charge of the work on the Lindsay post office had a rather peculiar and painful accident happen him when he had the top of his index finger on his left hand badly bruised. In some unknown manner the vault door which has been installed in the new part of the post office slammed shut, catching his finger and bruising it severely. The wound was dressed by a local doctor and will be painful for a few days.

When Greek Meets Greek

At yesterday's police court Tony Rotanto was charged with having been drunk and disorderly. Tony paid $2 for his hilarity with $3.75 costs. Nicholas Douros, the local Greek restauranteur, was charged with assault. Mike Mikelovetch, first witness, could not speak English, so Mr. Haggis was telephoned for to act as interpreter. Mr. Basil Hall acted for the complainant and Mr. Gordon for the defense. It seems that the complainant worked for defendant as cook at $45 a month. A row took place over payment of wages. Douros slapped complainant's face. The case was adjusted by the opposing counsel.

A Dangerous Attack.

Lindsay Warder: Mr. Thos. Arnold, agent for the McLaughlin-Buick automobile, had a thrilling experience late yesterday afternoon when he was attacked by a man, formerly in his employ, who was, it is claimed, in an intoxicated condition. It appears that Mr. Arnold was working on his farm, near the barn, when the man approached from behind and without any warning whatever grabbed his employer by the neck and proceeded to choke him. It was all Mr. Arnold could do to wrench himself free and offset the frenzied attack. However, he finally accomplished the task and as the man was quite dangerous County Constable Thornburg was telephoned for.

CITY IN PARAGRAPH

The Central Ontario Bowling Tournament that opened here yesterday was a great success.

Mr. Frank Montgomery yesterday shipped his horse, Jimmy Direct, to Burk's Falls to enter the 2.15 class to-morrow.

Mr. John Kylie, the Hunter Street Shoe dealer, moved his place of abode from the Times Office to the house he recently purchased at 580 Downie Street.

An Ottawa dispatch says that Hon. Col. Sam Hughes may resign the portfolio of Militia to head a Canadian contingent should one go to England.

A Washington despatch says that women in Niagara only wear beads. A glance at a girl here yesterday garbed in an X-ray skirt, showed she wore garters.

It is absolutely without foundation that Sandy Saidlaw and Jim Davidson are pulling out with the Bessie Butler from Cobourg to-day. The Butler's corkscrew has been lost and a committee is now engaged in looking for it. War may come and war may go, but the Bessie Butler never sails without a corkscrew.

GERMANS INVADE FRANCE AT TWO POINTS.

Paris, Aug. 4.—Germans have penetrated French territory at two points. The first army entered Longlaville, in the department of Meurthe-Et-Moselle, a part of old Lorraine, near Longwy, and later invaded Cirey-Sur-Vesoure in the same department.

The German entry into the Duchy of Luxemburg was headed by thirty-five automobiles filled with officers, these being followed by cavalry in force.

Several fresh violations of French territory by the German troops were reported to-day. Detachments visited outlying farms at Lepuix, near Belfort, and requisitioned cattle.

Doctor Speaks Out to Tea and Coffee Drinkers

The Boston Advertiser of June 15, 1914, quotes Dr. D. H. Kress, of Chicago, in an address as saying that tea, coffee and cocoa cause more deaths than alcohol.

"These table beverages are sapping the life of our nation. They are making us a race of weak-kidneyed, weak-livered beings, unable to reproduce ourselves. The kidneys and liver do not perform their proper functions, and the waste matter left in the system tends to bring on arteriosclerosis.

"Statistics show conclusively that as the consumption of coffee, tea and cocoa have increased, the number of nervous diseases and insanity have increased proportionately."

This strong statement from a medical authority, cannot be lightly disregarded.

It is easy to prove in one's own case whether tea and coffee cause the frequent "spells" of nervousness, indigestion, biliousness, liver complaint, headache, heart disturbance and other ills.

Try quitting both tea and coffee 10 days, and use

POSTUM

—then note the difference.

Made from prime wheat and a bit of molasses, Postum is a pure food-drink, entirely free from the pernicious drugs in tea and coffee, or any other harmful substance.

In thousands of homes Postum supplies a table beverage pleasant to the taste, and to be used freely as a rebuilder, where tea and coffee tear down.

Postum comes in two forms:

Regular Postum, must be boiled, 15c and 25c pkgs.

Instant Postum, a soluble form, made in the cup instantly, 30c and 50c tins.

Grocers everywhere sell both kinds and the cost per cup is about the same.

ALBERTA OID FIELD RAPIDLY DEVELOPING

Possibly in no branch of business or endeavor have more collosal fortunes been made by an initial investment of comparatively small capital than on crude petroleum.

Reports from Calgary indicate that a phenominal find of oil has been made in Alberta.

As is generally known the demand for oil and its by-products such as naptha, gasoline, etc., more, than equals the supply. With the present European war the use of oil for fuel aboard battleships will stimulate the oil market.

In this issue appears an advertisement of the Windsor Oilfields that commends itself to local people seeking investment for capital.

BANDITS HOLD UP THEATRE CASHIER, ESCAPE IN AUTO

Chicago, Aug. 4.—Two well-dressed bandits tonight held up Chester Houston cashier of Cohen's Grand Opera House, across from the City hall, and in the busiest section of the Loop, and escaped in an automobile, with $7,100 in cash, Houston reported to the police.

Houston said he was in the ticket office making out the week's payroll when two strangers entered the almost deserted lobby. One of them, he said, asked for tickets to tonight's performance. When he returned to the window with the tickets, one of the men thrust a revolver in his face. Another employe of the theatre who entered the ticket office, was covered by the second robber, Houston said.

"Then one man took both guns and covered the two of us while the other reached through the window and raked up all the money in sight," said Houston. "There was $4,100, our weekly payroll for employes, and $2,000 additional, part of the receipts of the Whirl of the World Company. The two men then ran out of the lobby, jumped into an auto and sped away."

INDIANS SING DIRGE AT GRAVE OF THEIR CHIEF LONE WOLF IN LONDON

London, Aug. 4.—Fifteen stalwart North American Indians, clad in full war paint, recently rose from the 101 Ranch at the White City to Brompton Cemetery, where they sang dirges at the grave of Chief Lone Wolfe, who died in England in 1892 while on tour with Buffalo Bill.

Red Shirt, chief of the Sioux, led the party of mourners. Crouching by the grave, he delivered a long oration eulogizing the bravery of Lone Wolf, and thanking the English people for "taking care" of the body.

Then Chief Little Bull planted feathers in the turf above the grave in acknowledgement of Lone Wolf's courage, a small quantity of food was placed in a hole in the turf, and a solemn chant, sung in unison, completed the ceremony.

GIRL AND WIFE ON STAND ACCUSE HASEMANN

"It Was My Husband—I'd Know Him Onywhere," Says Victim of Attack

New Orleans, Aug. 4.—Statements of Mrs. Louis Hasemann and Camille Bartels were heard at the opening of the preliminary hearing given Louis Hasemann in the First City Criminal Court, Wednesday. Hasemann is accused of beating his wife insensible with a wagon spoke.

On the stand Mrs. Hasemann told of the attack made upon her as she entered the rear yard of Carrollton home on the night of June 13. As a result of the beating she received from a hoe wielded by a man, whom she declares was her husband, she was confined to the Charity Hospital for some time.

"It was my husband —I recognized him," declared Mrs. Hasemann Wednesday. "We've been married twenty-three years and I'd know him any place.

Camille Bartels, 15-year-old niece of Mrs. Hasemann, who was with her at the time of the assault, declares that she recognized the woman's assailant as Hasemann.

The court room was crowded. To aid in the prosecution, Mrs. Hasemann has engaged Attorney Joe Generelly. Attorneys Henriques and Otero are handling the prosecution.

Mrs. Hasemann, on June 13, after visiting relatives, returned to her home. She tried to get in the back door, but it was locked and as she turned to go around the front a man—her husband, she says— jumped out and clubbed her nearly to death.

She says she and her husband quarrelled over money mattess.

ENGLISHMEN URGED TO TAKE OFF COATS

Agitation Being Started for American Fashions During Hot Weather

London, Aug. 4. England's hot spell has started an agitation for reform in men's summer dress, but so for none have had courage to follow the American fashion of appearing in the street in shirt and belt. An Englishman never dispenses with the coat except when playing tennis and cricket and boating on the river. To appear without a coat on the links is quite as unpardonable in England as to go coatless in the street.

"My long-suffering brothers," asks one writer in a daily paper, "why not defy the women, take off our coats and waistcoats and be cool? They do these things in America, where woman is a very independent creature. Why can't we do them here? Haven't we the pluck?

"I was moved to these remarks," he continues, "by the sight of a gentleman, presumably from the States, sauntering down Shoe-Lane. He looked radiantly cool and serenely happy. And for the first time in my mortal career I envied an American. As a fact, he also looked smart. His straw was neat; his soft collar and horizontal tie were dressy; the awkward transition from gauze to tweed was masked in a becoming silken band. He did not look at all feminine; on the contrary, he looked far more male than the poor fellows in bales of tweed and homespun slouching around him."

"We do not like our muggy dress, we do not hug our fetters, we suffer though with tears, for the sake of the ladies. The ladies like to see us looking 'smart.' Smart! Good Gracious! And we are not even allowed to Powder our greasy complexions."

MURDERER OF MONTGOMERY GIBBS, SENTENCED FOR LIFE, ESCAPES AT AUBURN PRISON

Buffalo Police Notified and Asked to Be on Lookout for Clarence Robinson, Who Killed Prominent Buffalo Lawyer and Clubman in Deleware Avenue on April 28, 1894

Buffalo, Aug. 4.—Clarence Robinson of Buffalo, who had only seven months more to serve for the murder of Montgomery Gibbs, lawyer and clubman of this city, before he would have completed a twenty year term to be eligible for parole, made a successful dash for liberty yesterday morning from the convict road camp in the town of Fleming, five miles south of Auburn. He may have had four hours' start, for the last seen of him was at 10 o'clock last night, when all the other men were asleep.

Supt. Regan of Buffalo and police chiefs of other cities have been notified, but nothing had been heard of the fugitive up to a late hour last night.

Robinson was sentenced for life after pleading his guilt of second-degree murder. With his wife he was accused of killing Gibbs.

By commutations, Mrs. Robinson's sentence expired July 22, 1909. Before her term expired she was transferred from Auburn prison to Matteawan. She is now a patient at Beacon, N.Y., hospital.

Robinson with twenty-three other prisoners composed one of four gangs that have been making repairs to state highways in central New York within a radius of thirty miles of Auburn. Robinson's gang was in charge of Capt. Skillett. Robinson's escape is the first to be recorded this year from any of the convict camps. Last year there were four. One of these returned voluntarily.

THE BRITISH AND GERMAN FLEETS MAY MEET TO-DAY

King George Wires Personal Message to North Sea Fleet With Assurance of Confidence--Crowds Cheer the King's Proclamation--Sweden Will be Neutral

London, Aug. 5.--Flash--At 1 a.m., London time, King George wired personal message to Battle Fleet sailing against German arms assuring them of British confidence.

London, Aug. 5.--Flash--It is expected that the British and German North Sea Fleets will meet in terrible conflict at dawn.

KING GEORGE READ MOBILIZATION ORDER.

London, Aug. 4.—A proclamation by King George, commanding the mobilization of the British army, was read to-day from the steps of the Royal Exchange. A huge crowd cheered and the British National Anthem was sung.

HOLLAND'S DYKES REPORTED BROKEN.

London, Aug. 4.- Germany has sent an ultimatum to Holland demanding the right to use Dutch territory in operations against France.

Holland refused to answer Germany's ultimatum declaring that her attitude has already been clearly stated.

It is reported that Holland has opened her sea dykes to flood the country and stop the German invaders.

GERMANY'S QUICK REPLY.

London, Aug. 4.- Germany's reply to Sir Edward Grey's speech, indicating the British attitude in regard to the violation of Belgian territory by Germany, was a second ultimatum from Berlin to Brussels, saying Germany was prepared to carry through her plans by force of arms, if necessary.

The British Government was officially informed by Belgium to-day that German troops had invaded Belgium and, that the violation of that country's neutrality, which the British Foreign Secretary yesterday intimated must be followed by action on the part of the British, has become an accomplished fact.

German Troops Moved Quickly.

The open breach between France and Germany was rapidly followed by the appearance of German troops on French territory, and by an incursion of bomb hurling German aeroplanes, which attacked the fortified town of Luneville without doing anything more than damage a roadway.

French airmen and outposts were also reported to have made raids on German territory.

A more tangible occurrence was the bombardment of a French naval station at Bona, Algeria, by a German cruiser, which, however, took to its heels before doing much damage, and is cruising around the Mediterranean Sea, where considerable numbers of French war vessels are looking for such marauders.

Sweden Will Remain Neutral.

Stockholm, Aug. 4.- It was stated to-day that both Germany and Russia made inquiries on Sunday as to whether Sweden would remain neutral Germany's note was brief, merely demanding to know whether Sweden was "for or against us."

The Ministers declined to say what reply was given, but they are preparing to defend the nation's neutrality.

The German ultimatum to Belgium created a deep impression here and it is believed that if a similar ultimatum was addressed to Sweden she would follow the Belgian example in refusing to aid Germany.

Scene of Another Waterloo?

London, Aug. 4.—Belgium, which was the scene of the last great world struggle just about a hundred years ago, when Waterloo was fought, bids fair to be the theatre of the most gigantic land battle in history when British troops pour on to the continent.

Foreigners Forbidden to Leave.

Washington, Aug. 4.—No Americans may leave Germany for the present. Through the German Embassy at Newport, the State department has been informed that during the progress of mobilization no foreigners will be permitted to depart.

Rich Gold Seizure.

Berlin, Aug. 4.- It is reported that Germany has seized $20,000,000 in gold at Stuttgart, destined to Russian bankers, for use of the Czar's Government.

STRONG-ARM MEN ROB GEO. WILSON

Lockport, Aug. 4.— Given the "strong arm," George Wilson, thirty-five years old, a farmer of the North Ridge, was attacked and robbed of $15 about eight o'clock Saturday night by two men after being enticed to a lonely spot at the rear of the Stoddard Union Co., on the bank of the Erie Canal. The robbers were not armed and made a getaway.

FUNERAL SERVICE.

The funeral service in memory of the late Mr. W. H. Robertson, was held at the family residence last night, conducted by Rev. Robt. Pogue pastor of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, and Rev. Mr. Bradley, of Berlin, who is officiating for Mr. Pogue during his summer vacation. Mr. Pogue returned home especially for the occasion. A large gathering of relatives, friends and acquaintances was present. The floral tributes to the memory of the deceased gentleman were many and costly, testifying to the esteem and respect in which he was held in the community. The remains will be conveyed to Fenelon Falls this morning for interment, the funeral cortege leaving the house at seven-thirty.

THE WEATHER.

To-day—Unsettled with a few local thunderstorms.

QUICK, SAFE WAY TO REMOVE HAIRS

Keep a little delatone powder on your dressing table and when ugly, hairy growths appear, make a paste with a little of the powder and some water, apply and let remain on the hairy surface for 2 or 3 minutes, then rub off, wash the skin and the hairs vanish. This treatment is quite harmless and rarely more than one application is required, but to avoid disappointment care should be used to buy the real delatone.

THE OWL TO FLOURISH

Bounty on Big Horned Species Removed in West

No more bounties will be paid by the British Columbia Government for the destruction of the big horned owl. This owl is supposed to be very destructive of game birds, and this may have been the case in the past, but the rabbits have now come back and the big horned owl finds himself once more in a land of plenty. As he is said to even prefer rabbit to grouse, there is no longer any particular object in having him destroyed.

The bounty, which was two dollars per owl, proved unexpectedly expensive, $18,000 being paid out in a few months. Some enterprising hunters are said to have made as much as a hundred and fifty or two hundred dollars a month from this source. Moreover, the government is convinced that a certain amount of fraud was practiced and that the harmless little horned owl has frequently been made to do duty for his big horned cousin at two dollars per head.

SHEEP FOR BREEDING

Some Things to Observe in Founding the Farm Flock

In starting a farm flock of sheep, it is important that the farmer should have an ideal before him as to the kind of sheep he wants. We cannot say that there is any best breed, for each breed has its own merits and deficiencies. The mutton-producing sheep are divided into two classes the long-wools and the Downs. Of the former we have the Leicesters, Cotswolds, and Lincolns; of the latter the Shropshires, Oxford Downs, Southdowns, and Hampshire Downs. Both these classes of sheep have their merits. The long-wools are larger, yield a larger clip of wool, and are possibly slightly more prolific than the Downs. On the other hand, however, neither their mutton nor their wool is quite so good quality, and they are not so hardy. This latter fact is due to the nature of their fleece, writes Donald Ewing in Farmer's Magazine. Being long and open, it "parts" down the centre of their backs when wet. This allows the rain to penetrate to the skin of the sheep so that they are wet through after every rain, and cold and catarrh are more or less prevalent among them during the fall and spring. Against this the wool of the Down breeds is close and tight, and even a very heavy rain does not penetrate it. After a drenching fall rain they will get up from under the fence or tree where they have found shelter, shake themselves, and be as dry and comfortable as before the rain. Added to this is the fact that the Downs yield a fine quality of mutton and wool slightly more valuable than the long-wools. Still, as we said before, we cannot claim that there is any "best" breed. Every prospective sheep-raiser must choose for himself, following his own preferences.

Selecting Sheep

Having chosen the breed, it is important that certain well-defined principles be followed in selecting the individuals. We are not dealing here with the raising of breeding stock, but of sheep-raising in a commercial way. At the same time, when selecting the foundation for the flock, it is better to get pure-breds or good grades, conforming very well to breed type, rather than cross-breds or mongrels. It lends character and value to our lambs if they conform fairly well to some recognized breed type. Aside from breed type, there are certain characters we must have.

First, we want constitution. This is indicated by a good heart-girth, bright eye, wide muzzle, and pink skin. This last I regard as rather important. If we will part the wool so that we can see the skin, we will notice a decided difference in different sheep. Some will be decidedly bluish in tinge, while others are quite pink. We should avoid bluish or pale skins, and choose a good, pink skin as indicating a good constitution and good circulation.

Then we must look for flesh-producing qualities. As the best meat is found along the back and loin, and in the hindquarters, we must look for a strong, broad back and loin, and for deep hindquarters, carrying the flesh well down toward the hock. In fact, the same general form which indicates meat form in the steer also indicates it in the sheep. The general form should be blocky and square with good top and underlines, not too long legs, and that general roundness and smoothness, as indicated by feeling the animal over, which shows quality in the sheep as well as in the steer.

The wool, though of minor importance, is still important, and we must see to it so far as we can that the sheep we are selecting to form our breeding flock have reasonably good wool-producing characteristics.

Pearls of Great Price

There was exhibited at a Court jeweller's in Bond Street a striking collection of pearls. One magnificent rope is valued at no less than $200,000 while for a single pear-shaped drop pearl, perfectly symmetrical, $70,000 was asked. But probably the most exquisite article in the collection was a single necklet of gems of extraordinary hue, the matching and gradation being superb. The cost of this article was $190,000.

If one of the stones were lost it would be impossible to replace it with an exact duplicate. Black and pink pearls also found a place in the exhibition; whilst a passing reference must be made to a pair of button-shaped ear rings valued at $40,000.

Illicit Distilling in the Highlands

Smuggling appears still to continue in the Highlands. The Excise officers recently discovered in the district of Kintail a new smuggling still and head hidden in a cairn between the fishing village of Bundalloch and Camusluinie.

A Sick Room Hint

If you have to keep up a fire in an invalid's room provide yourself with an old glove and a stick that can be used as a poker. With the glove on a piece of coal can be picked up and put on the fire with the minimum noise, and the wooden poker is far less noisy than any other. Little things, perhaps; but little things make an enormous difference in the comfort or otherwise of an invalid.

MEXICO'S FAMOUS ROMANTIC SEAPORT

Tampico the Noted Harbor Has Many Prosperous Industries

Until the trouble arose between the United States and Mexico, the average person probably knew little about Tampico. Nevertheless, it is a town which provides one of the most remarkable of modern romances of industrial investment.

Tampico became famous in the money market at the beginning of the great oil boom, and some idea of its importance in connection with that industry may be gathered from the fact that in about ten years nearly two hundred and fifty million dollars has been invested in the oilfields in the State of Tamaulipas to which Tampico belongs.

Of this total over $75,000,000 represents British interests, and the amazing growth of oil properties in that corner of the world is illustrated by the fact that from the 1,000,000 barrels of oil secured in 1907, the figure has grown to 16,000,000, which was last year's total.

Apart from oil, however, Tampico which shares with Vera Cruz the greater portion of the foreign trade of Mexico, has quite a number of other prosperous industries, which have been greatly developed of late years by British and American residents, who are more numerous in Tampico than in any other part of Mexico. The excellent harbor accommodation of the town makes it the chief port for the exportation of coffee, sugar, rubber, copper ore, and asphalt, the most important products of the neighboring territory.

The soil is very rich, and it is expected that within a few years there will be an enormous increase in the flourishing trade in fruit and vegetables. Furthermore, it is a fine centre for sea fishing. Indeed, it is the happy hunting-ground of the enthusiasts who delight to catch the big game of the sea, for in no other waters can that giant fish, the tarpon, which attains a length of 6 feet or 7 feet, be found in such large numbers.

Most of the commerce of Vera Cruz is also in the hands of foreigners, although it is a place to be avoided by those who have a regard [illegible] health. Its moist, hot climate is notoriously unhealthy, and the annual death-rate ranges from one in eleven to one in twenty of the population mostly from lung diseases and from yellow and other fevers. The full title of the city is Villa Nueva de la Vera Cruz, or [illegible] City of the True Cross."

Enamel Ware Cement

Take equal parts soft putty, finely sifted coal ashes and sifted table salt, mix and pack well into the hole. Place pan on stove with a little water in it until the cement hardens. Afterwards the vessel will hold water as well as ever.

Cleaning Woodwork

Woodwork may be easily cleaned by rubbing it with a little kerosene, polishing well afterwards with clean cloths. If you dislike using the coal oil, use mild soap. Rub dry and polish.

Very good shirtwaists may be made from men's shirts which have been discarded because frayed at the cuffs. Cut the shirt carefully apart, leaving

The Shape of the Head

Scientists declare that during the last quarter of a century the shape of the human head has altered owing to the development of mental power caused by the ever-increasing educational facilities.

Size is of no consequence. It is the shape that tells. Twenty-two to twenty-three and a half inches is a standard for the literary type of head of the first order, but powerful intellects are indicated by heads measuring up to twenty-four and three-quarter inches.

Heads indicative of skill in mechanism, detail, and manufacturing work are usually large, rather wide about the ears, and with a broad, although not necessarily high, forehead. The broad, protruding Beethoven forehead indicates musical skill.

Clean pots and pans with GOLD DUST

Germs of decay accumulate on oft-used pots and pans, and ordinary soap and water only clean off the surface.

Gold Dust does the work—and does it right. It digs deep after germs, cleans like a new whistle and leaves your pots and pans as new, as bright as the day they were new—and sanitarily safe.

Gold Dust does this work in just half the time required by soap or any other cleanser. Does it better, too.

Gold Dust cleans everything like magic.

Gold Dust is sold in 5c size and large packages. The large package means greater economy.

Our Point of View

1914 will go thundering into history as a year that was very trying on the dove of peace.

The man who says he lives in Chicago because he likes the town ought to be placed in a ward and treated for paresis.

A prophet is not without fame save in his own country, but there are some profits which are not without dishonor everywhere.

The Massachusetts state committee of the Progressive party has settled its debts at the rate of 50 cents on the dollar. This looks like a hard bump for social justice.

A news item says peace in Mexico is only a matter of "formal arrangements." We are glad to hear it, because heretofore it has been largely a matter of funeral arrangements.

A Kansas professor rises to remark that there is a difference between grape juice and "the juice of the grape." There may be, but we are too busy to get into a ferment about it.

We would not be surprised to hear that Nat Goodwin has taken advantage of the excitement growing out of the European situation to get married again.

A New Chamber

There is talk again of a new chamber for the house of commons at Ottawa. Many believe there should be a separate building for the house. The World thinks that it is difficult to see how it could be erected, as proposed, near the west block, without spoiling the symmetry of the present buildings which stand like three sentinels on Parliament Hill.

The green carpet is to be taken up and linoleum substituted. The members are to be seated in a fan-shape auditorium, on benches, and the desks are to be removed.

We fear that about this time the membels will also disappear. The debates at Ottawa are not sparkling enough to chain men with folded arms to a bench. Your M.P. has his letters to write, his papers to read, and many clerical chores to perform, and he has not the facilities he should have at Ottawa. It may be, however, that, if the new building is to be erected, that a private office for every member could be provided.

If the senate was out of the way, the present building could be made all over to suit the house of commons admirably. Commodious quarters had been reserved in the new museum building, at the end of Metcalf street, for the senate, but the conscript fathers declined to leave the historic red chamber. But, whatever is done, should not be done hastily.

Magic "Nerviline" Ends Stiff Neck, Lumbago

Any Curable Muscular or Joint Pain is Instantly Relieved by Nerviline.

GET TRIAL BOTTLE TO-DAY.

You don't have to wait all day to get the kink out of a stiff neck if you rub on Nerviline. And you don't need to go around complaining about lumbago any more. You can rub such things away very quickly with Nerviline. It's the grandest liniment, the quickest to penetrate, the speediest to ease muscular pain of any kind.

One twenty-five cent trial bottle of Nerviline will cure any attack of lumbago or lame back. This has been proved a thousand times, just as it was in the case of Mrs. E.J. Grayden, of Caledonia, who writes:—"I wouldn't think of going to bed without knowing we had Nerviline in the house. I have used it for twenty odd years and appreciate its value as a family remedy more and more every day. If any of the children gets a stiff neck, Nerviline cures quickly. If it is earache, toothache, cold on the chest, sore throat, Nerviline is always my standby. My husband once cured himself of a frightful attack of lumbago by Nerviline, and for a hundred ailments that turn up in a large family. Nerviline is by far the best thing to have about you."

Russia Holds the Key

With Austria-Hungary's formal declaration of war against Servia, the blaze has begun. It remains to be seen now, if the flames can be confined in this case to the two nations now involved, as was done with some success in the war of the Balkan nations against Turkey or if the engagement of a nation in the Triple Alliance will drag in a nation of the rival union Russia thus spreading the conflagration throughout Europe.

Prospects for the localization of the present quarrel, to which the pacifist diplomats are now turning their attention are slim enough. The silence from Russia is as ominous as was the silence from Austria on Monday. Austria delayed her formal declaration of war till she was ready to begin active operations, taking full advantage of her opportunity as the aggressor. Russia may be doing the same, putting her forces into shape before she shows her hand. The most recent evidence of Russia's attitude is distinctly disquieting. Sir Edward Grey, Minister of Foreign Affairs told the House of Commons that he was working for mediation on the part of Germany, France and Italy. The whole bearing of his remarks, in so far as Russia is concerned, suggests that he regards war between Austria and Servia as inevitably leading to war between Russia and Austria. Germany backs Austria, as is evidenced by the nature of her reply to Sir Edward Grey's request for mediation, and in the event of Russia and Germany becoming engaged. Great Britain and France line up with Russia. Europe is in a fair way to having her nightmare of Armageddon come true. It is a bewildering prospect, in which actual conditions and facts rise up to mock the dreams of pacifists. The course of statesmen in building huge navies and increasing armies in the face of calumny and misrepresentation is vindicated in a night.

That European nation which is doing as hard thinking as any other at this stage is Italy. Italy must make a compromise, in the event of a general engagement. According to the Triple Alliance she must side with Austria, but the dictates of her own interest may point elsewhere. The fruits of an Austrian victory would be territorial expansion southward, and moved by self interest, Italy disputes the right of Austria to encroach closer towards the Mediterranean. If any nation upsets the logical calculations as to the future progress of this menacing war, that nation will be Italy, which already has shown her desire to have the trouble between Servia and Austria settled by mediation. Quickly, Italy must make up her mind as to whether she can afford to have England and France as enemies, and at the same time, assist towards advancing the plans of Austrian diplomacy with which she has been in conflict for so long.

The Resignation of the Blind

How is it, asks a writer in "Cornhill's Magazine," that the blind as a whole look and appear to be happy? It is for the reason that their affliction is so entirely hopeless, so utterly absolute in its deprivation, that it compels them to see the uselessness of rebelling against the inevitable. It is the knowledge that moroseness and impatience will only aggravate their misery; it is the [illegible] which, once mastered, that causes them to see the matter in the right light. When that is accomplished a new life is opened up to them, a fresh start is made—as it has to be—the outlook becomes brighter and everything has to be relearned, so that they may gain their ends without the use of vision. This it is that gives them occupation and brings contentment, but do not imagine that, however they may look or appear, they forget for one minute their affliction or their longing and desire to see. That is ever present, and their life is merely patient endurance, with the desire to prove as little burden as possible to their more fortunate fellows.

The Chinch Bug

In the United States the losses due to the ravages of the Chinch Bug, during the last sixty years, considerably exceeded $350,000,000. Fortunately no very serious outbreaks have, as yet, occurred in Canada, but the insect has established itself in Middlesex County in Ontario, and has been reported also from Nova Scotia.

A Generous Prince

The Crown Prince of Germany decided to spend the profits from the sale of his book, "From a Sportsman's Diary," in providing a three week holiday for one hundred boys attending the Berlin elementary school. The boys were selected from the poorest class, and were quartered in the barracks of the Prince's regiment at Langfuhr, near Danzig, which locality combines the advantages of country and seaside.

OIL THE GREAT WEALTHMAKER

We hold over 3,000 acres, more or less, of oil leases North and South of Monarch and several of our leases are in the same range as the Monarch well.

Many companies claim to be close to Monarch but we are one of the very few who are in Range Six upon which the Monarch Well is situated. Therefore, we must be on the same anti-cline and as it is a foregone conclusion Monarch will get oil, so will we.

Fifty-Seven Feet of Oil Bearing Sands Passed Through in Monarch Well

OFFICIAL STATEMENT IS GIVEN OUT BY PRESIDENT GEORGESON—WELL IS NOW DOWN OVER 1,800 FEET AND FLOW OF WET GAS HAS BEEN STRUCK IN LOWER LEVELS—GEOLOGIST DUNN IS AWAY AT PRESENT

Heavy oil showings are being found in the Monarch well, west of Olds, although the oil has not yet come in in commercial quantities.

To put the exact facts before the public, President William Georgeson and Treasurer G. W. Morfitt, of the company, this morning issued an official statement from the drillers setting forth the results.

The heaviest oil seepage has been encountered through a stratum 57 feet thick, and the well is now 1850 feet deep.

A sample of this oil baled out at 1,775 feet was brought to the city this morning and is in the office of Mr. Morfitt, Grain Exchange Building. The oil is a heavy black petroleum with the characteristic petroleum odor.

The statement issued by the officers is as follows: In the absence of Mr. Dunn, Mr. Van Alst, the head driller, reports that from the depth of 1,775 feet to 1,832 feet he went through oil bearing sands for 57 feet. Throughout there was a heavy showing of black oil in the baler. Two further showing of black wet gas were met at 1,805 feet and 1,815 feet.

The well is now down 1,850 feet. Wet gas has shown at 633 feet, 1,430 feet, 1,906 feet and 1,815 feet.

Oil sands have shown at 808 feet, (18 feet), 1,430 feet (40 feet), 1,740 feet (14 feet), and 1,776 feet (57 feet).

The well is now down 1,850 feet, and while there are good oil showings there is not as yet oil in commercial quantities.

Our stock is on the market at 50 cents a share, a Dollar par, and will be advanced without notice any day pending Monarch Well developments. It is practically a certainty that Monarch will be in oil in commercial quantities within two weeks, Our stock will jump away above par and you had better hurry if you wish to share our prosperity.

Comfort For Fish

MARVELOUS INSTINCT OF WILD ANIMALS

New Method of Study and Experimenting Used by Nature Students

The French possess a curious institution in the form of an institute of zoological psychology established in a farm near Paris. This station comprises meadows and barnyards, a scend to the bottom of the pond stocked with fish. Then, too, there are spacious buildings, including modern stables, a riding school, stalls for isolating animals under special observation, an aquarium and a laboratory. A dovecote is placed upon the roof of the main building.

As evidencing the desire of the French naturalists to study the habits of living creatures under natural conditions, it may be mentioned that a complete diving apparatus has been provided in which observers may descend to the bottom of the pond. There they may remain for hours, until the fish become accustomed to their presence, and follow their natural impulses in playing and feeding. The under-water student thus is enabled to note their habits at first hand.

The other extreme of observation is the construction of sheltered platforms in the branches of trees, where students sit throughout the night armed with electric flashlights to watch the doings of owls, bats and nocturnal insects.

It is reported by a scientist that an important conclusion reached by the students is that some animals possess a special sense whereby they can detect the presence of water even though they cannot see it. For instance with sheep and cattle when being driven across country.

In a place where the presence of water was wholly unexpected the Australian noted some curious facts. The leading animals suddenly would lift their heads and draw long breaths. Then they would abandon the beaten tracks and start running through the bush. Sometimes they would run for a mile and a half to two miles and could not be stopped by the drivers, their course invariably leading to a pond or spring hitherto unknown.

In France the experiments were made on a water rat. First its eyes were blinded by a bandage and then it was placed on a turntable, which was whirled round until all sense of direction must have been obliterated. Upon being released, without a moment's hesitation, it started directly for the pond, several hundred yards distant.

Frogs and toads were taken to a distance of three or four miles from water and liberated. It seemed to take them only a short time to find the water. One old blind toad showed the instinct in the same degree as the others.

Among the subjects of investigation is the sight of birds and the homing instincts of the carrier pigeon. Many members of the institution are inclined to consider this a phenomenon of far sight. They have been taking by triangulation the height to which birds soar and from that figuring out the radius of vision they attain.

WHAT IS A BURGLAR?

It Depends on What Time He Enters a House, in English Law

A criminal can break into your home, steal the family plate, even become so desperate as to attack your wife and mother-in-law, and yet not be a burglar. It all depends upon the time when the outrage occurs.

According to the law of England, the crime of burglary can only be committed between the hours of 9 p.m. and 6 a.m. If William Sikes forces an entrance into your house in the daytime he is not technically a burglar, but a housebreaker. From Sike's point of view there is a great difference. Housebreaking is treated as a less serious crime than burglary, and a criminal captured whilst operating at a quarter to nine in the evening would, perhaps, receive a lighter sentence than if caught an hour later.

But, burglar or housebreaker, you have no right to attempt to stop his depredations by planting man-traps or spring-guns in your garden. If you instal these instruments of torture, and an unsuspecting "crook" walks into them and is consequently held fast, he will, if the implements of his craft are found on him, probably receive sentence for attempted felony, but you also render yourself liable to penal servitude.

Nor have you the right to shoot him in cold blood if you wake up suddenly and discover him crawling about the bedroom. Should he be armed and threaten you, you may blaze away, secure in the knowledge that you are merely defending yourself. You may also shoot if he disobeys your command to stand still.

If you offer to let him go "scot free" conditionally upon his returning the plunder, you will be compounding a felony, which is a very serious offence.

ASSISTING WOOL-GROWERS

Sheep-raising Industry to be Further Improved and Developed

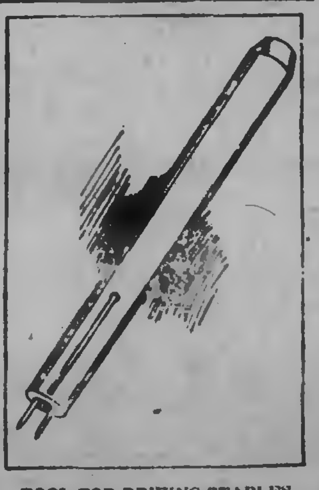
The live stock branch of the Dominion Department of Agriculture is prepared to offer practical assistance to associations of wool growers in the preparation and display of their wool clips for market. Associations, in order to receive aid, must be organised in accordance with the regulations of the branch, and membership is limited to actual owners of sheep. West of Fort William an association must contain at least 3,000 sheep, or sufficient to comprise one carload of wool; east of there, a relative number. The services of expert wool classifiers, who will take charge of and perform the grading, classification and preparation of the wool, will be provided.

This proposal represents much more than a mere continuation of the work that has already been undertaken. It means the introduction of a definite scheme whereby wool producers may be actually assisted in preparing and presenting their wools upon the market in the most acceptable fashion, and thus be in a position to cater more directly to the requirements of the market. Moreover, it should prove effective in developing and improving the general status of sheep-raising and in creating an impetus to the production and preparation of an improved grade of wool, and indirectly, a better class of mutton.

DRIVES STAPLES STRAIGHT

Tool of New Design for Wire Fence Erectors and Other Workmen

In the erection of wire fence it is generally necessary to drive a large number of staples and for the security of the fence it is desirable that the staples should be driven straight and accurately. Owing to the irregularities of the wooden posts and the strain on the fence wire, which is under a heavy tension when being erected, it is not always an easy matter to put the staples just where they are wanted to be of the most service.



TOOL FOR DRIVING STAPLES

The tool shown in the accompanying cut is designed to accomplish this. With its aid a great many more staples may be driven in a given time and they are driven in a much superior manner. Besides being a convenience to fence erectors there are other mechanics who will find use for this tool such as electricians, box makers, coopers and the like.

Motorbike Postmen

Motorcycle side cars are being tried for delivering mails in rural districts in England and it is predicted that the horse soon will disappear from the postal service of the United Kingdom.

INTRODUCTION

The Glenaladale Silver Black Fox Company, Limited, was incorporated in 1913 with six pairs of foxes, at $60,000. This Company re-capitalized in 1914, with 20 pairs of beautiful Silver Black Foxes, at $15,000 per pair, making a total capitalization of $300,000.

THE FOXES

Six pairs (one year old) proven breeders, and fourteen pairs (1914 pups), making a total of 20 pairs — all young foxes— good for at least 10 years. This Company has bought some of this year's options on foxes with a guarantee that they are pedigreed and of the highest strain and very best quality P. E. Island famous foxes.

THE RANCH

The ranch is situated on the well known Glenaladale Farm, owned by Major C. McKinnon, formerly the homestead of Sir William McDonald, and is only 12 miles from Charlottetown, in a quiet locality sufficiently removed from any disturbance.

THE RANCHER

Mr. Arthur W. McKinnon, our Ranch Manager, has had much experience in breeding foxes, and has the practical knowledge necessary to efficiently manage and care for the animals.

The foxes will be ranched free of charge to the Company for the first year. This means a large saving to the shareholders, as some companies have to pay as high as 25 per cent. of the increase for ranching purposes.

The promoters of this Company are retaining $80,000 worth of stock for themselves. $20,000 worth has already been disposed of, leaving $200,000 to be offered to investors at $25.00 per share, with a guarantee that a dividend of 50 per cent. will be paid in cash in 1915, or whatever more it may be.

The Glenaladale Silver Black Fox Co., Limited in 1913 guaranteed a dividend of 50 per cent. but are going to pay 50 per cent. in cash and 50 per cent., in stock in 1914. The Company is in good standing and to each and every investor the first of September, 1914, we can say:— "We have given you 50 per cent. more than we promised." And we feel sure that in 1915 all the shareholders in this re-capitalized company will be able to say they received more than they were promised.

This Company can truthfully say that they have not one cent of watered stock in the Company. Now Mr. Investor, if you were a Company and we the shareholders, we would look to you for justice to give us all that was honestly due us. We would not like for you to buy 3 pairs of foxes at $15,000 per pair ($45,000) and form a fox company and capitalize your concern at $60,000 and make us pay, as shareholders, for it. The Glenaladale Silver Black Fox Company, Limited will ask you to do nothing like that. We want to let you in on the ground floor.

NOTICE

When a fox company guarantees any specified dividend to its shareholders, and when said company is an incorporated body, you need not be afraid of any unfair play, for such a company is compelled to pay what they promise, and, besides, every interest is taken for the welfare of both the investor and the company.

The promoters of this company are all above board and will not permit any crank to come in and do anything that is not legal. Anyone holding stock in this Company who is dissatisfied can, by notifying the Secretary-Treasurer, have his or her money promptly refunded.

FORTUNES IN FOXES

There is money in fox ranching more than anything else ever known. It is good for the rich man and good for the poor man. A poor man cannot buy a pair of Silver Black Foxes but he can easily raise $25.00, $50.00 or $100.00. By investing in this Company he gets back his money in at least two years and then he will have an income for life and for his children to come—and after there will be money in fox farming. One of the reasons for this is that P. E. Island has now 95 per cent. of the world's foxes in captivity. For every one pelt that can be raised there are more than 25 wealthy people waiting for it in London, Russia, France and America.

PELT VALUES

The Fox Pelts have advanced greatly in price since 1910 and you can see for yourself what money was in them then.

Below are the particulars of sale of a consignment of Silver Fox Furs, shipped from Prince Edward Island ranches to London, England, and sold there in March, 1910:

These figures may be verified by enquiry to Messrs. C. M. Lampson & Company, 64 Queen Street, London.

SHARES

Shares are selling at $25.00 each; 25 per cent. with application and the balance on or before September 1st, 1914.

Simply fill out the application form and mail to Major C. McKinnon, Secretary-Treasurer, Glenaladale, P. E. I.

All cheques must be made payable to "The Glenaladale Silver Black Fox Co., Ltd."

A POINTER

Just to give you a little idea of what the free ranching of foxes mean to the investor, we will figure it out for you.

We have twenty pairs of foxes in the ranch and suppose each pair produces a litter of only four foxes this is equal to 40 pairs and at $15,000 per year it would figure out at $600,000. Now, if we had to pay even 15 per cent. of the increase for ranching purposes (which is considerably lower than some companies pay) it would mean that we would have to pay $90,000 for ranching expenses.

We ranch the foxes free for the first year, so that in addition to a guaranteed dividend of 50 per cent., we save you this large outlay of money. While we guarantee 50 per cent., still should each pair in our ranch produce four pups it would mean that your dividend would be about 200 per cent. instead of 50 per cent.

FINAL WORD

A great deal has been written about Ranches, Grades of Foxes, etc., but after all the one object that every investor should keep before him is the dividend he is going to get. We have tried to show you in plain English what we can do for you and now that you have our proposition, compare it with the offer made by any other company now in business— and then judge for yourself to have been paid by some of the Charlottetown daily newspapers.

IMPORTANT NOTICE

CALGARY, July 23rd.—An official statement just issued by the Monarch Oil Company states that the drill has just passed through a 57-foot strata of oil bearing sand, at a depth of between 1775 and 1832 feet. A sample of the oil from this oil sand is on exhibition at the Company's office in Calgary. This is the fourth oil sand encountered in the well, and indicates that a good producing well should be obtained before going much deeper. The Hole-Woollard Oil Company is making preparations to drill on its property in the Monarch district, which adjoins the property of the Monarch Oil Company, and we are advised that the price of shares will be advanced as soon as drilling operations are started. The time to invest in the shares of the Hole-Woollard Company is NOW, before the advance in price.

Investors should also note that the Company has lands which are not situated in one particular spot, and as it has been assured that oil is existing in different districts, this Company, by having its holdings spread over a vast area, stands an excellent chance if oil be discovered by any of the Companies operating.

COPPER

The Red Metal

MILLIONS OF TONS OF PAY ORE

Copper is one of the world's chief necessities, and the demand for it is constantly increasing. Growth of the electrical industry largely accounts for this. Telegraph and Telephone Wire—Trolley Wire—Trolley Wheels and the multitude of other Electrical Machines and Parts—Power Transmission Wire and the use of the metal in various valuable Alloys—these are some of the places where copper is consumed, and while its production is enormous it is used about as rapidly as it can be mined and made ready. THIS IS WHY OWNERSHIP IN A COPPER MINE IS ONE OF THE MOST SATISFACTORY SOURCES OF INCOME POSSIBLE TO IMAGINE.

TIME TO START

Naturally the time to secure an interest in any sort of enterprise is at the start, because it is then that money for development and equipment is needed and this is, of course, the reason why shares in the project are released! When these necessities are provided for the Opportunity passes.

For years we have been spending time, effort and money in getting together one of the largest known copper deposits, and we now own and control thousands of acres of land, covering veins of copper, ore carrying gold and silver values, extensive veins of coal, iron and lime.

The geology is so well defined as to make identifications of size and location of the copper bearing veins a perfect definite matter. In addition to this the estate has been thoroughly prospected by some 4,000 feet of work, there being more than 100 shafts, pits, cuts and tunnels, every one of which shows copper in paying quantities. The dumps of these openings run from 2 to [illegible] per cent in copper metal.

Facilities for economically winning the copper from its ores are remarkably fine. In the company's own ground are five known coal beds, insuring a perpetual supply of cheap fuel, easily accessible and located within a very short distance of the site chosen for its furnaces. Water and timber are also abundant and easy of access.

One of Colorado's most eminent mining engineers, after thoroughly examining this property, states in his report that the net profits resulting from operation of this property should range from $2[illegible]0,000 to $1,000,000 each year.

There is no uncertainty, no guesswork, about this project. Applied to it, a definite cause will inevitably produce an equally definite effect. Equipment for mining these immense bodies of ore and reducing the metal in them to bullion means dividends—it can't mean anything else—and it is to provide this equipment and the funds required for its installation and the preliminary operating expenses of the estate that an interest in the project is offered to you.

It is YOUR OPPORTUNITY to join in a well planned, conservative, and exceptionally profitable business undertaking. The foundations are laid, the property is acquired and the next step—providing the equipment—is now being taken. So soon as this is accomplished your chance to secure a share in the enterprise will be gone.

POLAR CANADA LURES THIS ARTIST

[illegible] Explorer and Painter Will Depict Northlands' Icy Fields on Canvas

Jacques Suzanne who understands much about the frigid northland and a painter of no mean ability, will spend three years in the Polar region of Canada where he will brave the cold and hardships in order to give a pictured story of the white solitude of the world.

"I go to paint," said M. Suzanne speaking to some friends in New York. "I have many commissions to execute for people in Russia and France, and I go also that I may satisfy my curiosity in regard to those blond Esquimaux. I have been much in the North. When I was a very young man—I am 33 now—I spent a year among the Samoyedes Indians or peoples in Northern Siberia. No white man had ever been among them before, and their existence was regarded as a myth. I lived with them, and hunted, and painted, and it was all very wonderful.

"We go north to Albany and then to Ottawa, Canada, and will travel at the rate of thirty miles a day. The dogs have been trained for the past three months, and are ready to keep up that average. Our traveling will be done in two starts of fifteen miles each day. That is, we will travel from dusk until midnight, and from daybreak until noon. The other twelve hours will be resting periods, during which we will work on our gear and make repairs.

Has Great Dogs

"The chief feature of my equipment are the two sledges. These are my own invention, and are made of white ash and bound with rawhide thongs. These sledges are equally good for land, ice, or water travel. The motorcycle wheels are placed exactly at the balance point, and each sledge can carry 500 pounds on the ground without fatiguing the dogs. For ice and snow travel, the wheels are removed, and then each sledge will take up to 1,500 pounds. When we strike water, I have heavy oiled canvas covers that fit about the sledges, and make them into boats, and they will carry a ton each.

How People Feel
When They Have
Tape Worm

Tape worm is bred from a parasite. This parasite is a creature male and female in one. It is a pear shape, having two, four and six suckers. It lays the eggs, which are only connected together with slime. They develop and form a body, which is the worm. Each joint is an individual, having a maker or mouth. The worm grows to be much longer than the bowels where it is located, and sometimes a whole colony of them are found, enough to fill a quart of solid worm, and when put in a bucket of water would apparently fill it. It is the hardest task in the world to destroy this parasite without doing injury to the individual who may be so unfortunate as to have it, as the parasite clings to the bowels, freeing itself from the body of the worm, and remains there to breed another. It is an internal demon and causes its victims to suffer all the symptoms of disease imaginable. The cleverest physicians are led to believe the patient is suffering from some other disease, as nearly every person has different symptoms. Some have been treated for cancer of the bowels, consumption of the bowels, consumption of the lungs, chronic dyspepsia, nervous prostration, melancholia, hypochondria, hysteria, inflammation of the bowels, appendicitis and other complaints, when one or more of these internal demons were eating their lives away.

Prof. Mulvaney has made the discovery to free the victim of this monster without injury to the system, destroying the parasite as well as expelling the worm with one dose of medicine without any previous starvation. Visit his office, where he has in his possession the most wonderful collection of these death-dealing monsters in the world, which have been expelled from hundreds of people by his famous remedy, some bottles containing colonies of worms and anyone seeing them cannot imagine how a person could possibly live with them in his bowels. It is surprising the number of people that have them. Thousands have them and are not aware of the fact. The letters and testimonials the Professor has in his possession are enough to convince one of this alarming fact. Some of the most prominent symptoms are: ravenous appetite, dizzy spells, headaches, cramps in the bowels, a feeling of something moving in the bowels, also a feeling as though something was crawling up the throat. The only certainty of having one in the system is when segments or joints are seen, which come away almost any time. They are flat and from [illegible] of an inch to 1 inch long, which have often been mistaken for pin worms by those who do not know the difference. There are many other feelings of distress which would take long to enumerate. Strange to say, some people of strong constitution, have very little distress.

Prof. Mulvaney's world-famous Tape Worm Exterminator is safe, sure and harmless. No starvation, no danger, is not disagreeable to take. One dose nearly always effects a cure. DANGEROUS CARGOES

The average landsman believes dynamite to be the worst cargo a ship can carry, but the sailor knows better. Jack would tell you that carbide of calcium is a deal more dangerous than dynamite. This is the chemical from which acetylene gas is made, and the gas is constantly given off if the carbide is exposed to air. Some time ago the Hamburg barque "Hebe" was towed into Plymouth Sound in a disabled condition. Aboard her were 200 tons of carbide. All the war vessels in the Sound were ordered to take refuge, and the "Hebe" forbidden to come in for repairs until the whole of her perilous cargo had been removed by a War Department barge.

The cargo carried by the burned "Volturno" was of a sort calculated to make a pretty bonfire. It included rags, peat moss, barrels of spirits, tar, and oils together with drums of various chemicals. Small wonder that water had little effect in subduing the flames.

Chemicals form a very dangerous cargo, especially acids, such as nitric or sulphuric, which are both carried in tens of [illegible] in the course of a year.

BACK TO THE LAND

A Son's Observations on His Father's Choice of Professions

A bright young man living in a city dropped into our office recently for a chat on farming matters. The young man was filled with enthusiasm in general, and had a genuine case of the "back to the land" fever. He was looking for a farm location.

"My father was a good man and a good farmer, and particularly good and kind to his children," the young man stated. "When we were children we worked on the farm, but our lives were made easy by the hard labor of father and mother. We were sent to school whenever possible. The one thing for which my parents were to blame in raising their children was that they forced us into grooves of life for which we were not prepared. Henry was raised with the one idea of being a lawyer, and a poor lawyer he proved to be. My own life was shaped for the ministry, and in spite of my disinclination, my desire not to offend my mother's lifelong wishes led me to accept the charge. Time proved that neither my brother nor I were fitted for the life-work for which we were prepared by our parents. The regret of my life is that my father did not take me into comradeship in the conduct of the farm, that he did not teach me the things he was a lifetime learning that he did not impress on my mind the advantages of farming, the only life for me worth living, for now I am bound to be a farmer just as my brother has become."

As this young man told us of this personal history, we could not help but think of the many parents the country over who are making the same mistake with their children. There are many boys who leave the farm simply because their parents do not teach them the advantages of a good farm, and that a good farmer is as much to be respected and honored by his fellow men as a good lawyer or a good preacher.

We recently visited the farm of a prominent breeder of pure-bred cattle. He had sent his only son, who had previously wanted to leave home, to the agricultural college. When the boy came home he was full of enthusiasm and interested in the farm and herd. He told his father what he had learned in college about farming and about stock, and made some suggestions, later carried out, which the father told us really made him money and benefited the farm. The boys and girls are the most important crop on the farm after all, and the farm is the best place to keep them. They will not all stay there but they ought to know that the farm is not such a bad place after all, before they get ready to leave it.—The Maritime Farmer.

ORIGIN OF "CANADA"

Many people have from time to time inquired the meaning of the name "Canada" and how it came to be applied to the northern half of North America. The "Standard of Empire," England, has endeavored to discover the correct answer to these questions, which are ignored by most of the best-known works of reference dealing with the history of the Dominion. It would seem, however, that the etymology of the name is obscure. There is, of course, a Spanish word canada—diminutive of [illegible], and meaning, therefore, a small valley—but there is apparently little reason to suppose that such a mis-description could ever have been applied to the great basin of the St. Lawrence—the only portion of the Dominion known to white men at the period from which the name dates. In some quarters it is believed that the name is a corruption or Gallicisation of an Indian word [illegible]nnatha, signifying a village. It is further supposed that the famous French explorer Jacques Cartier heard the word used by the aboriginal inhabitants when speaking of their settlements, and erroneously regarded it as the native name for the then known portions of the Dominion. Whatever the true derivation may be, it will be generally admitted that the name is both musical and dignified, and well suited to be the designation of one of the great countries of the world.

A mixture of one teaspoonful of black ink to a saltspoonful of liquid gum will do much to brighten a black straw if rubbed well into the interstices of the plait with a stiff brush.

A soiled rubber raincoat can be scrubbed with automobile soap, wetting only a small surface at a time and drying it.

MARVELOUS BALSAMIC ESSENCES CURE CATARRH NO DRUGS TO TAKE--A DIRECT BREATHING CURE

STATISTICS PROVE NINETY-SEVEN PER CENT OF CANADA'S POPULATION IS INFESTED WITH THE GERMS OF CATARRH

This disease is most dangerous owing to its tendency to extend to the Bronchial tubes and lungs, where it causes Consumption. Unfortunately the people have had faith in sprays, ointments and snuffs, which can't possibly cure, and in consequence catarrhal disease has become a national curse. Science is advancing every day, and fortunately a remedy has been discovered that not only cures but prevents Catarrh. This new treatment "Catarrhozone" has sufficient power to kill the germs of Bronchitis Catarrh and Asthma. It contains pure pine essences and healing balsams that go to the remotest part of the nose, throat and lungs, carrying health-giving medication to every spot that is tainted or weak. You don't take Catarrhozone like cough mixture—you inhale its healing vapor at the mouth and it spreads all through the breathing organs, soothing and curing wherever Catarrh exists. This is nature's way of supplying the richest balsams, the purest antiseptics known to science.

A sneezing cold is cured in ten minutes. A harsh cough is eased in an hour, the most offensive catarrh is thoroughly drawn from the system.

For Asthma and Bronchial irritation nothing can equal Catarrhozone—every physician and druggist says so, and we advise our readers to try this treatment if suffering with a winter ill. The complete outfit costs $1.00 medium size 50c., at all dealers.

John was fined $10 or 30 days. John did not have the change. John said, "I won't pay $10, I earn my money too hard." John threatened to "make it hot for someone when I come out."

Thirty Years Old Fish Story

From the Times of Aug 6th, 1884, we copy the following fish story: "We have lately been highly amused with the numerous lengthy fish yarns which come from Bobcaygeon, the City of fish stories, but at last our credibility has been overcome, and in a very pleasing and satisfactory manner, too. Judge of our surprise and pleasure on Saturday last when we became the recipient of a superb 28 pound muskinonge, sent us by Mr. John Irwin, of the Forest House, Bob, for which we offer him our very best thanks. It is said that fish is productive of brain matter, and we therefore earnestly entreat our young and good-looking friend, if he has a super-abundance of the finny tribe, to forthwith make a similar donation to the editors of our two local contemporaries. We are sure that their patrons would feel very grateful.

Troublesome Twins

Twins in the French army are causing the officials a lot of trouble. They so closely resemble each other they can fool all the officers, and when one has a privilege he will trade it with the other for a reasonable sum. This interchange has been the cause of a great lack of discipline in the regiment.

One day one of the brothers was confined to the barracks, but by changing his cap with its regimental number for that of his brother, the defaulter was able to pass the guards with impunity whenever he wanted to go out. The colonel of the regiment has now issued the following order:

"The soldier Bonhomme (even number) will wear his hair as long as the regulations, construed with the utmost leniency, will allow, and will shave his beard and moustache. The soldier Bonhomme (odd number) will allow his beard and moustache to grow full, and will have his hair regularly cut as closely as possible by the regimental barber."

WAGES FOR HENS

Novel Lawsuit Between Two American Neighbors

A unique lawsuit has been settled in Omaha, in which the court officially placed the wages of a hen for hatching out a setting of goose eggs at 97 cents and sum against the owner of the eggs.

Soren Land and Louis Naugle were neighbors. Lund had seventeen goose eggs. Naugle had a hen that wanted to "set." The two men arranged that Lund's hen and the goslings should be divided equally between the two. Four of the eggs were not good and thirteen hatched out.

Two days later a thief got into the chicken house and stole the goslings.

Naugle thereupon filed suit against Lund for the time his hen consumed in hatching out the eggs. Two lawyers represented each man and the case occupied the attention of Justice E. W. Britt's court for nearly three days.

Naugle triumphed, and the court allowed him 97 cents as the wages of his hen during the time she was setting. Lund threatens to appeal the case to the higher courts.

WIND AND PLANTS

Experiments of German Professor Show Interesting Facts

A rather surprising degree of influence of the wind upon plant growth and crops was shown by the experiments of Dr. Oscar Bernbeck, a German professor of agriculture. Severe gales tended to produce deformity, giving a twisted and knotty shape to twigs, and ordinary winds diminished the energy of growth of sprouts through the increase of transpirations and alteration of circulatory conditions, and had a drying effect that in some cases caused serious injury to both soil and plants.

Under a wind of thirty-three feet per second the ground lost three or four times as much water as on protected land. On ground sufficiently moist, strong sprouts were but little affected, but on some soils the growth with no wind was three times as great as with a wind of thirty-three feet per second.

It was evident that the usual moderate wind of Germany—ten to twenty-five feet per second—may lessen the yield of exposed land more than half.

Protection is to be sought by various kinds of wind shields, such as walls and hedges, and especially by planting forests on neighboring hills.

Hatched in a Top-boot

Thrushes on the Lilford estate, Northamptonshire—a famous bird sanctuary—built their nest in a top-boot in a railway hovel between Barnwell and Wigsthorpe. Now there are three young thrushes in the nest, although the platelayers use the hovel at meal times.

Voted at 103

Mr. John Durrant, of Weybridge, aged one hundred and three, was probably the oldest voter in the local elections throughout England. Mr. Durrant accepted a lift by motor car to the polling booth, but he marked his paper without resorting to the aid of glasses.

CANADA'S RESOURCES.

See Show in the Government Building at Canadian National Exhibition.

The display of Canada's natural resources in the Government Building at the Canadian National Exhibition, Toronto, is the most complete ever got together. The Dominion Government is sending a complete exhibit of the fish that swim in the Atlantic, the Pacific and the streams that flow between. Ontario is showing her grains, her fruits and her minerals; British Columbia is sending her timber, her fruit and her grains, the Prairie Provinces are showing their grains and the Maritime Provinces their minerals. If you are a Canadian the display will make you proud. If you are a visitor it will interest and amaze you.

CURIOUS FISH

Some Finny Creatures Croak; Some Hum and One Shrieks

Fishes have often been referred to as "voiceless, emotionless creatures," but scientific investigation has demonstrated that like land animals they are largely swayed by the same emotions, and that in a limited way they give expression thereto. There are more than 300 species of fish which are known to produce sound One particular kind of fish, which are called "maigres," emit sounds having a duration of about twenty-five seconds, and also various notes, usually degenerating into a mere humming, either from excess or want of intensity. When these fish are travelling in shoals the sounds given out by them may be heard from a depth of twenty fathoms. More than once it has been suggested that the story of the sirens had its origin in the utterances of these fish.

When captured, the scad, or horse-mackerel, the globe fish, the grunt, the pig-fish, and the hog-fish all emit sounds resembling the grunt of a pig; while one, well known along the Atlantic coast as the croaker, derives its name from the croak it gives when taken into a boat. The barbel and the carp also croak when taken from the water.

There is a species of "sea-frog" found by the natives of Malabar, and so-called on account of the noise it makes when captured. The red gurnard has been dubbed the "sea-cock" by reason of its crowing. The armado, a fish found in the Rio Parana is most remarkable for the harsh grating sound it emits when caught with hook and line. It is said that this noise can be heard distinctly while the fish is yet beneath the surface.

There is a fish in the Tagus that emits sounds resembling the vibrations of a deep-toned bell, gong, or pedal pipe of an organ. Herrings, when the net has been drawn round them, have been observed to do the same, and similar accounts are given of the river bullhead. An amphibious siluroid fish, on being taken into the hand, is said to shriek, and certain of the blennies emit similar sounds. In the Gulf of Mexico the big jewfish breaks the stillness of the night and the waters with his sonorous "boom! boom!"

"The Belgians are successfully combatting the German invasion. The Belgian losses are trifling compared with those of the Germans."

Margate, Eng., Aug. 5.—A tremendous cannonading was heard far out at sea to-day, indicating that a great battle was on in the North sea. The sound of the heavy gun-fire drew all the residents to the shore, but nothing could be seen there of any ships in action.

HEAVY FIRING OFF MAINE COAST.

Portland, Maine, Aug. 5. The firing of heavy guns off the Maine coast was heard early today. Eight or ten shots within two minutes were heard shortly before 7 o'clock by the keeper of the Portland Observatory. The sound seemed to come from a point 25 or 30 miles south south-east of Portland, and probably in the vicinity of Seguin Island.

The shots also were heard at the harbor forts and at points between here and Bath. They were quite distinct at Bath.

Seguin is a small island off the mouth of the Kennebec River, a few miles below Bath.

REPORT IS CHALLENGED.

Portsmouth, N.H., Aug. 5. The heavy firing off the Maine coast, reported from Portland to-day, could not have been caused by a sea fight between foreign warships, it was stated by officers at the navy yard here. The officers say they are absolutely certain that no foreign warships were in the vicinity.

HEARD WIRELESS MESSAGES.

New York, Aug. 5. The French steamer Venezia, in port today from Marseilles, Naples and Palermo, reported that yesterday she overheard both German and British cruisers talking with the wireless station at Sayville, Long Island. The text of the messages was not obtainable.

The Venezia steamed ten miles south of her usual course in order to avoid capture by any German warships. Her operator was warned not to send any wireless messages.

The Uranium line steamer Uranium arrived to-day from Rotterdam, via Halifax.

MAGISTRATE HOLDS UNUSUAL SESSION

Court on Blackwell's Island in Revolt Cases First of Kind

New York, Aug. 4. For the first time in the city's history a court of justice was established today on Blackwell's island, which houses the municipentiary.

Dr. Katharine B. Davis, Mayor Mitchel's commissioner of correction, desiring to punish the leaders of the recent revolt among prisoners, called for Police Magistrate John J. Freschi in her automobile after he had adjourned his own court and took him to Blackwell's. A court clerk, a stenographer and an assistant district attorney, Millard Ellison, accompanied them.

When court had been concluded on the island five of seven prisoners arraigned were under bail to await the grand jury's action, a sixth must face trial in the court of special sessions and a seventh was discharged. Meanwhile all must continue to serve the sentence passed when they were sent to Blackwell's.

The prisoner's, ranging in age from nineteen to thirty-five years were accused of throwing coffee pots or dumb-bells at keepers in the recent disturbances. Several defendants called fellow prisoners as witnesses, who swore they were not guilty. Keepers testified for the prosecution.

Magistrate Freschi complimented Commissioner Davis for the decisive manner in which she handled the uprisings.

THE WEATHER.

To-day—Fine and warmer; thunderstorms in a very few localities.

TEACHER ACCUSES ALASKA OFFICIALS

Washington, Aug. 5.— Criminal prosecution of five government agents accused of improper conduct, drunkenness, gambling and other offenses on the Pribiloff islands, Bering sea, Alaska, probably will be the outcome of investigation of the scandal according to Secretary of Commerce Redfield today.

Secretary Redfield said he had forwarded to the department of justice copies of charges filed with him by Alvin G. Whitney, teacher on the Island. The Secretary made public a petition signed by natives of St. Paul island, asking for the removal of one of the accused. The natives charged him with mistreating their wives.

CARPENTIER, FRANCE'S FISTIC CHAMPION, JOINS THE REGULAR ARMY

Paris, Aug. 5. Georges Carpentier, France's foremost fistic fighter, joined the army today. He responded to the call to the colors by reporting for duty at the Central Military Depot.

Carpentier came unheralded, but his familiar figure was soon recognized by the thousands of Parisians there to watch the assembling of the reservists and the French champion heavyweight was given a rousing welcome. When he had drawn his accoutrements and uniform he was carried on the shoulders of enthusiastic countrymen.

"I have called off my match with Young Ahern," the French fighter said. "My country comes first."

German Cruiser Said to Be Shelling Glace Bay

Government Fears the Report is Correct and That Canso May be Bombarded by the Enemy in a Plan to Cut Off All Communications

Ottawa, Ont. Aug. 5—The war is coming Nearer Home. There was a wire Received at noon that a German Cruiser was Shelling Grace Bay, Nova Scotia, where the wireless Station for Canada is located. The Government is making strenuous efforts to Verify the Story. It is feared that the Despatch is Correct. The aim of the Germans is evidently to destroy Canadian wireless connections with Great Britain. If they Destroy Glace Bay the Germans will doubtless endeavor to shell Canso, the headquarters for cable lines for Canada, and Cut the Cables cutting off all communications with the Motherland

WILSON TO SPEAK IN MANY STATES

Washington, Aug. 4.—President Wilson is considering the question of touring several states during the coming campaign, but has not yet decided where he will go. He has been asked to go into Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Iowa, Ohio, Maine, and other states.

Before settling the question finally he is expected to confer with William F. McCoombs, chairman of the Democratic national committee, who is now in the west observing political conditions.

The President is understood to have received particularly urgent requests to speak in support of A. Mitchell Palmer, candidate for senator in Pennsylvania. Suggestions that he speak in New York state have not yet been taken up.

Utica, Aug. 5.—A bronze statue of Baron Steuben, the drillmaster of the Revolution, was unveiled in this city today. It stands at the entrance of the new parkway and is an imposing monument. The ceremonies were under the auspices of the German Alliance, and a very large parade was held in which military and civic societies took part. The addresses were by Prof. Hugo Muensterberg of Harvard, who spoke in German, and Representative Charles A. Talcott of this city, who spoke in English.

The day ushers in a week of celebration. Tomorrow will be Governor's Day and Governor Glynn will review State troops now in encampment here. Wednesday will be Civic Day and will usher in the historical pageant, which will be conducted the remainder of the week. The German Ambassador and President Wilson expected to be present at the unveiling today, but because of the European situation neither could leave Washington.

LOOKING FOR MAMA FALLS OUT WINDOW

Little Girl Probably Fatally Hurt While Mother is in a Cell

Boston, Aug. 5. Thinking that she saw her mother, who had been away since Saturday afternoon, coming home, seven-year-old Rose Duffey lifted her sister Catherine, aged five, so that she might look out of the window of their home, 27 Woodward street, South Boston, yesterday afternoon. The little girl slipped from her grasp and fell three stories to the ground, receiving probably fatal injuries.

But Mrs. Delia Duffey was not on her way home. She was locked up in the South Boston police station on a misdemeanor charge. Mr. Duffey and his aged father were in the kitchen, endeavoring to think of some excuse to offer the children for their mother's absence.

That the little girl was not instantly killed was probably due to the fact that she landed on a porch. Her skull was fractured and she received internal injuries. At the City Hospital it was stated there was little chance of her recovery.

CANNED LOBSTER POISONS FAMILY

Boston, Aug. 5.—Amedy Richad, his wife, Katherine, and their 13-month-old daughter, Arena, ate canned lobster for dinner yesterday at their home, 25 Yorktown street, Cambridge. Shortly after the child became violently ill, and while Mrs. Richad was wondering what ailed the baby, she began to suffer.

Richad summoned City Physician Brousseau. Before the physician arrived Richad too was ill. The doctor sent them all to the Cambridge Hospital, where, as soon as they were relieved of the poisonous food, all began to convalesce, and late at night had practically recovered.

HUB HAS YOUNGEST ELK IN COUNTRY

Boston, Aug. 5.—Boston has the youngest elk in the United States, not the jovial two footed species, but a real cervus alces of the woods. The new citizen arrived early yesterday morning at Franklin Park zoo and a few hours after seeing the light of day was hopping about and making friends with the thousands of visitors to the park. In the excitement over the new zoo baby the children almost forgot to see the two new lions, "Babe" and "Jim", who were introduced to the society of the zoo colony yesterday.

The baby elk has been named Mary and plans are now under way for her christening. Mayor Curley, according to Assistant Curator Peter S. McNally, will be the godfather. The ceremony will be public.

BEES INVADE SHOP: PEDESTRAINS ROUTED

Berlin, Aug. 4.— An extraordinary scene was witnessed the other day in the Friedrichstrasse, Berlin's principal street. An enormous swarm of bees took possession of the entrance hall of a large shop, and covered the pavement in front in such numbers that passersby were driven to the other side of the thoroughfare, where a great crowd had assembled.

The shop had been shut to prevent an invasion by the bees. The police endeavored to deal with the troublesome visitors but they had to retreat beaten.

Several men of the fire brigade were called up and they turned a jet of water on the swarm of insects. At first the execution was great, but when the bees became somewhat warier it required adroit aim to bring them down. The fight lasted for the better part of two hours, and only when the stream of water was withdrawn could the shop be reopened.

HALIFAX TAKES A PRISONER.

Halifax, N.S., Aug. 5.—The first prisoner of war to be taken in Halifax was an Austrian named John Martin, who was seized by the military authorities this morning and handed over to Capt. Rudland, Assistant Provost Marshal, and locked up in the police station. He is said to have stated that he wanted to fight for Canada.

FUNERAL OF THE LATE MR. W. H. ROBERTSON

The funeral of the late W.H. Robertson who died on Sunday after a short illness, was held yesterday morning at 7.30 from the family residence, Water Street, to the G.T.R. station. Here the body was shipped to Fenelon Falls for interment. A number of intimate friends accompanied the remains to Fenelon Falls. The pall-bearers who also went to that village were Messrs. A.W. Creeman, Dawson Kennedy, D. H. Moore, W.H. Meldrum, John Nugent, and J. C. Shook. The popularity of the late Mr. Robertson was demonstrated by universally heard expressions of regret everywhere throughout the city over his death and also by the numerous floral tributes sent. An express wagon had to be engaged to take the flowers to the station. Rev. Robt. Pogue, pastor of St. Paul's church, conducted the burial service at Fenelon Falls.

SHOOTS HIMSELF AFTER A WRECK

North Adams, Aug. 5.—John Widders, a chauffeur, who drove a car in which Mrs. Robert Hutton of New York and Miss Mary Houghton of this city, were killed yesterday, committed suicide today by shooting. He had been despondent since the accident, although not under arrest.

Widders had been for 35 years an employe of A.C. Houghton, known as the "print cloth king," whose daughter was one of those killed.

THROWN FROM CAB, FIREMAN KILLED

F. A. Kester of Salamanca is Found Beside Erie Railway Tracks

Dunkirk, Aug. 5.—F. R. Kester, of Salamanca, 36 years old, a fireman on the Dunkirk and Salamanca accommodation of the Erie Railroad, was instantly killed at the White Bridge, one mile east of Dunkirk, last night. It is supposed that he was thrown out of the cab window by a sudden lurch of the engine when it rounded the curve.

Rivals Her Daughter In Youthful Beauty.

A well-known society matron whose youthful beauty is so well preserved that she is regarded as her daughter's rival in this respect—though she does not pose as such—attributes her girlish complexion chiefly to two things. She says:

"I am convinced that many cosmetics, by overloading the skin and pores, tend to age the complexion. Mercolized wax has just the opposite effect. It keeps the pores clean, permitting them to breathe, and removes dead particles of cuticle which are constantly appearing and which give the complexion that faded look. Whenever my skin begins to get the least bit off-color, muddy or tanned, I go to my druggist's for an ounce of mercolized wax; I apply this nightly, like cold cream, for a week or so, washing it off mornings. This is what keeps my complexion so fresh, white and velvety, even during the trying days of summer.

"The absence of wrinkles and flabbiness I owe to the use of a simple face bath prepared by dissolving one ounce powdered saxolite in a half pint witch hazel. This keeps the skin 'tight' and firm."—Social Register.

An Ancient Epitaph

To a Western art museum an Egyptologist presented the mummy, 3,000 years old, of a man who dwelt in Thebes in the time of Rameses II. and III. and held the official post of keeper of the scales. The epitaph reads:

"I have done good upon earth. I honored my mother. I [illegible] my father. I was loved by my brothers and sisters. I was a friend to the weak. I collected corn for the poor I gave clothes to the naked. I have not harbored prejudice nor cruelty to those over whom I was master. I have not said an evil word against anyone. I made sacrifices for others."

In an age whose materialistic ideas were set by cruel and rapacious rulers, each bent upon aggrandizement and fame, no matter what the toll in human lives, it is something to find this simple-minded Theban merchant of the eighteenth dynasty upholding the principles of kindliness and benevolence in his personal example. Could a modern man desire or deserve a nobler record than that of Ankan Peta Hotep's sarcophagus?

COLD CHEERLESS HOMES

Igloos of Eskimos Crowded and Unsanitary

The igloos used by the Eskimos of the bleak north are small in size, necessarily overcrowded, and every crevice is carefully sealed during the long winter months in order to maintain a comfortable temperature within. The different forms of dwellings on the Arctic coast are the sod igloos which are the standard and are constructed on two different plans.

The first type of igloo, with windows and doors in the walls, is a frame structure of logs or lumber. The walls and roof are covered thickly with sod, and one or two windows are set into the walls. The home contains two separate compartments which are connected by a small door, the living-room proper and the entry or shed. The shed is somewhat smaller in size than the living quarters and is used as a storeroom for provisions, clothing, sleds, and other articles too numerous to mention. The entrance into the igloo is also constructed of timber, and covered with sod, but the plan of construction differs somewhat from the one just described. This igloo also has two compartments, a living-room and a storeroom, connected by a low passageway. The entrance into the home is through an open hatch in the roof of the entry by means of a ladder. Then by passing through the tunnel one enters the living-room.

The living-room of some of the igloos are curtained off to separate the sleeping quarters from other part of the household, but the majority have no such arrangements, all household duties being conducted in the single room. The furniture equipment usually consists of a small stove, a few dishes, and improvised beds. The board floor, which is usually fairly clean, serves the purpose of chairs and tables. A few of the families own sewing machines and occasionally a phonograph.

Javanese Marriages

A marriage among the Javanese is quite a lengthy ordeal. Such a thing as courtship is practically unknown. The parents choose partners for their children, although the latter are consulted and their consent obtained. The parents discuss among themselves the terms of the marriage, and then the girl's parents give a betrothal pledge to those of the bridegroom, who soon after offer the purchase price for the bride in silver, jewels, stores of food, and so on. Each of the girl's parents also receives some special personal gift. On the day when the presents are delivered all the relatives and friends on both sides are invited to a series of festivities and banquets, which last several days, being furnished first by one side and then by the other. The eve of the actual wedding, which usually takes place a week later, is spent by the future husband and wife in a vigil, without which it is thought that great ill fortune would follow. Next day the happy couple, with their parents and friends, appear before the priest, who duly unites them.

A healthy person must eat healthy food. Do you know how to distinguish healthy from unhealthy food? For instance, a good egg will sink in water. Boiled eggs which adhere to the shell are fresh. The shell of a fresh egg has a lime-like surface.

Locomotor ataxia is a chronic, progressive disease of the nervous system. It affects the spinal cord particularly. On this account it interferes with muscular co-ordination. It causes the gait of the patient to be irregular and uncertain.

The British coast is so well protected with lighthouses that if a ship sailed right round England, Scotland, and Ireland by night, only on six occasions would it be where it could not see the flash of a lighthouse lantern.

Two Goslings From One Egg

Two goslings were hatched from a single egg on one of the farms of Messrs. Chivers and Sons at Histon, Cambridge. Such an event is almost unprecedented, the birds from double-yolked eggs usually being deformed, if they hatch out at all, which is rarely the case. These twins are well shaped and healthily developed, and there is every indication that they are going to grow into fine vigorous birds. The egg that produced the twin birds was hatched out by a hen, who is devoted to her foster children.

AS LIGHT AS LAGER
BUT BETTER FOR YOU

You wash dishes about two hours every day.
That's one hour wasted!

Dishes get dirty, greasy and sticky and soap will not clean them. Soapy dish water merely cleans the surface; it doesn't dig into the corners and drive out the decayed food particles.

Gold Dust is the sanitary dish washer. It not only cleans the surface, but digs deep after hidden particles of dirt and kills the germs of decayed food which ordinary dish-water overlooks. Gold Dust sterilizes as well as cleanses.

Besides doing the work better than soap or any other cleanser can, Gold Dust will save just half the time you spend in washing dishes.

Gold Dust is sold in 5c size and large packages. The large package means greater economy.

MRS. JEAN KANE FOULKE

Mrs. Jean Kane Foulke is Pennsylvania's woman farm adviser. A part of her duty is to talk to and with farmers' wives for their own welfare and interest.

"Any woman on a farm," says Mrs. Foulke, "be it wife, mother, sister or housekeeper, ought to know all the business that is going on around the farm. Too often I find they do not know. My idea is that every woman ought to know how to run her husband's farm. Then, if he dies, and she is left with children, she can bring them up. As it is, generally, she has to sell out and go to some city, where nearly everybody in the family almost starves."

A green run is really one of the necessary aids in the proper growth of young goslings. A little grain can be fed, say three times a day. This, with an abundant supply of green food, will cause them to grow and yield a profit to the producer.

Let them have free access to grit and oyster shell. They should be ready to kill when the first flight feathers are grown, and should be full fed at that time with corn, oatmeal and animal food.

CHINESE COAST PIRACY

Government Helpless to Stop Evil on Account of Lack of Funds.

Seventeen Chinese pirates shipped as passengers the other day on a small steamer plying the China Sea, overpowered the crew and made off with $39,000.

As a matter of fact, the China Sea is the only part of the globe where this ancient and bloodthirsty means of livelihood is still in a flourishing condition. There ancestor worship is still practised by the pirates and it would be considered scarcely honorable for a man to give up the profession by which his forefathers have subsisted for generations.

At present, according to officers of the Japanese liner Nippon Maru, piracy is in a more flourishing condition than it has been for years, for the Government is without funds to operate a coast patrol. The whole coast of China is infested with sea bandits, who lie in wait in the mouths of creeks and rivers and pounce upon small native boats. So far their activities have been confined to Chinese vessels, although the steamer Shanghai, which was robbed by the 17 who shipped as passengers, was flying the British flag.

During the days of the opium traffic Chinese piracy was in its glory. The pirates chose the opium ships as their special prey, and those who did not pay tribute before their ships sailed were very likely to have the cargo confiscated before it ever came to port. An anonymous writer in Chambers' Journal, an English publication, told of one adventure of this sort in which the pirates were beaten off. A German bark, the Etienne, had started from Hong Kong for Tien-Tsin. It had six chests of opium aboard. The second day out the vessel was becalmed, and lay "like a painted ship upon a painted ocean," within a mile of Mirs Bay, a pirate stronghold.

Through marine glasses the crew of the Etienne could see a crowd of men swarming like ants down the shore at sunset and preparing to launch boats. The Chinese carried spears, and they propelled their boats with long sweeps. There was one bit of artillery aboard the Ttienne, a carronade, which is a short gun of large calibre, useful only at close range.

The carronade was fired once, in the hope of bringing assistance, then reloaded and preparations made to receive the pirates. On they swept in three big boats, black in the sunset glow, and yelling loudly. The pirates were naked to the waist. The crew of the Ttienne were served with rifles and cutlasses, and three barrels of bottled beer which had been sent aboard the ship just before it sailed as a gift to the officers, were brought

We hold over 3,000 acres, more or less, of oil leases North and South of Monarch and several of our leases are in the same range as the Monarch well.

Many companies claim to be close to Monarch but we are one of the very few who are in Range Six upon which the Monarch Well is situated. Therefore, we must be on the same anti-cline and as it is a foregone conclusion Monarch will get oil, so will we.

Fifty-Seven Feet of Oil Bearing Sands Passed Through in Monarch Well

OFFICIAL STATEMENT IS GIVEN OUT BY PRESIDENT GEORGESON—WELL IS NOW DOWN OVER 1,900 FEET AND FLOW OF WET GAS HAS BEEN STRUCK IN LOWER LEVELS—GEOLOGIST DUNN IS AWAY AT PRESENT

Heavy oil showings are being found in the Monarch well, west of Olds, although the oil has not yet come in in commercial quantities.

To put the exact facts before the public, President William Georgeson and Treasurer G. W. Morfitt, of the company, this morning issued an official statement from the drillers setting forth the results.

The heaviest oil seepage has been encountered through a stratum 57 feet thick, and the well is now 1850 feet deep.

A sample of this oil baled out at 1,775 feet was brought to the city this morning and is in the office of Mr. Morfitt, Grain Exchange Building. The oil is a heavy black petroleum with the characteristic petroleum odor.

The statement issued by the officers is as follows: In the absence of Mr. Dunn, Mr. Van Alst, the head driller, reports that from the depth of 1,775 feet to 1,832 feet he went through oil bearing sands for 57 feet. Throughout there was a heavy showing of black oil in the baler. Two further showing of black wet gas were met at 1,805 feet and 1,815 feet.

The well is now down 1,850 feet. Wet gas has shown at 633 feet, 1,430 feet, 1,805 feet and 1,815 feet.

Oil sands have shown at 908 feet, (18 feet), 1,430 feet (40 feet), 1,740 feet (14 feet), and 1,775 feet (57 feet).

The well is now down 1,870 feet, and while there are good oil showings there is not as yet oil in commercial quantities.

Our stock is on the market at 50 cents a share, a Dollar par, and will be advanced without notice any day pending Monarch Well developments. It is practically a certainty that Monarch will be in oil in commercial quantities within two weeks. Our stock will jump away above par and you had better hurry if you wish to share our prosperity.

Our Point of View

A puzzle for war followers: Where is the Swiss Navy?

—o—

One good thing about it is the promise that the tango will have to give way before the war dance.

—o—

By taking the offensive, Germany and Austria have lost the material support of Italy as well as the moral support of many others.

—o—

The German Chancellor told the people to let their fists beat on the enemy. Wait till Jack Johnson, in Paris, hears that.

—o—

And still, with war an actual fact, many will spend their time in advancing arguments against war from the economic standpoint.

—o—

Just after a revival of enthusiasm over prize-fighting England may be expected to go wild over the prospect of a real fight.

—o—

To think that those French jurymen acquitted a woman for murdering an editor. The insinuation is too much.

—o—

Discretion among the members of a police force is just as commendable as in other places, but the wisdom of the squelching of the news of the theft of 30 horses is to be questioned.

—o—

Manitoba hotel-keepers are forestalling a banish-the-bar campaign by reducing the price of beer to 5 cents a glass. At that, they are only small yachts that are sailing across the bar, not the schooners famous in story and elsewhere.

—o—

Many Austrian waiters in the United States want to get back to Europe to fight for their country. If Austria can obtain this great accumulation of nerve and wealth, she will bear watching.

Pleurisy Pains Vanish! Chest Colds Cured!

NERVILINE HAS NEVER FAILED TO CURE.

Don't suffer!

Nerviline is your relief.

Nerviline just rubbed on, lots of it, will ease that drawn, tight feeling over your ribs, will destroy the pain, will have you smiling and happy in no time.

"I caught cold last week while motoring," writes P.T. Mallery, from Lindsay. "My chest was full of congestion, my throat was mighty sore, and I had the fiercest stitch in my side you could imagine. As a boy I was accustomed to have my mother use Nerviline for all our minor ailments and remembering what confidence she had in Nerviline, I sent out for a bottle at once. Between noon and eight o'clock I had a whole bottle rubbed on and then got into a perspiration under the blankets. This drove the Nerviline in good and deep, and I woke up next morning fresh as a dollar and absolutely cured. Nerviline is now always part of my travelling kit, and I will never be without it."

The large 50c. family size bottle is the most economical, or you can easily get the 25c. trial size from any dealer.

Who Sharpened This Weapon

Now for a little resume of facts as against theories. On June 14, 1912, The Pioneer, the organ of the Dominion Alliance said

"Since Sir James Whitney took office it (the Ontario local option law) has been very much improved and its adoption and enforcement have been greatly facilitated. There is no movement or desire to have even the present improved Canada Temperance Act substituted for it as a weapon against the liquor evil.

"The Canada Temperance Act, having been passed for the whole Dominion could not be expected to be quite as well adopted to the necessities of Ontario as would be a law with a similar object passed by the Legislature of Ontario—fully familiar with Ontario conditions and requirements."

Last year, however, it was thought best by temperance people to attempt to take in larger stretches of territory with less effort than under local option and Manitoulin was carried. Huron and Peel followed this year.

What did the Whitney Government do under these conditions—this "Government allied with the liquor interests," as Mr. Rowell and his Liberal-at-any-cost colleagues so glibly repeat? Did they wash their hands of temperance interests that in the case of many municipalities in Peel and Huron would now be changed from a strict local option law to a law that "could not be expected to be quite as well adapted to the necessities of Ontario"?

No, influenced by that policy that means steady and permanent gains for temperance, they placed the whole machinery of the Province at the disposal of the enforcement of the Canada Temperance Act; took the Dominion measure and made it their own accepted the obligations for its rigid enforcement as if it were a local option law, and Mr. Hanna announced publicly and so instructed his officers that the Whitney Government would see that the newly applied law was strictly enforced.

This step was one of the greatest most far-reaching and advanced steps in temperance ever taken by any Government in the history of Canada.

And for such conduct they are branded as "allied to the liquor interests," and "temperance Conservatives" are urged to drive them from power. "Urged" only? No, branded as "liquor Conservatives" if they do not.

And, through it all, Mr. Rowell and his followers—sympathisers or not with temperance—are held up as almost angelic liberators.

BATH FOR EYEGLASSES

Good Results Follow a Good Soap and Water Wash

Do you ever give your eyeglasses a bath? If not, give them a surprise and see how you like the result.

Dampness and dust form a gummy combination on the eyelashes, and the wearer of glasses or spectacles will find his vision, apparently, much improved by giving them a thorough washing daily with soap and warm water, followed by drying and polishing with tissue paper. The gummy substance which collects on the lenses cannot be removed by a mere rubbing with chamois or tissue paper.

An oculist, who knows the importance of well-washed lenses, carries in his pocket a vial of alcohol. It takes but a moment to moisten the corner of a handkerchief and remove the combination of dust and moisture from his glasses. Another has the case of his glasses interlined with a folded bit of soft tissue, such as is used for copying letters in offices. This is so soft that it is easily folded into the small space of the receptacle case. No dust collects on this as it does on the velvet lining, and the tissue interlining is renewed every day or two.

ASCOT REALLY ROYAL

The King Could Take Half the Receipts But it Goes for Upkeep

It was an interesting story which Mr. Upjohn, K.C., told a Select Committee of the House of Lords when they had before them the Ascot Authority Bill, promoted by Lord Churchill, as the King's representative, and Sir William Carington, Keeper of the Privy Purse, for the purpose of forming one legal authority connected with Ascot Racecourse.

Mr. Upjohn said the objects of the Bill were to form one authority for the management of Ascot races and to vest in that one authority all the property until now vested in two different bodies.

Private race meetings were originally held in the King's Park, and in those days the races were under the management of the Master of the Buckhounds. One reason for the bill was that the office of Master of the Buckhounds was abolished in 1902, and since that time his place had been filled by Lord Churchill, as the King's representative, and Sir William Carington.

Another reason why it was necessary to put things on a more legal footing was that from time to time leases had been granted by the King. Ascot Heath was a Royal domain. With one exception—the grandstand—all the properties had been brought together and were held by Lord Churchill and Sir William Carington.

Colonel Bulkeley, the senior trustee, said it was desirable that there should be some body which would act as a buffer between the King and the people, because that body would prevent any evil-minded person from taking the King's name in a wrong way.

Mr. Reginald Coventry agreed that such an arrangement would prevent any suggestions that the King was making money out of horse-racing. The King was entitled to half the takings at Ascot.

"What does his Majesty do with it?" asked Mr. Balfour Browne, K.C., and, amid laughter, Mr. Coventry replied, "I don't know."

Lord Churchill stated that every single shilling was spent for the benefit of Ascot races. Expenses were very heavy, and the whole upkeep of the racecourse had to be paid for out of the income.

The First Regatta

June 23 was the date of the first British regatta, held between Westminster Bridge and Ranelagh in 1775, to which Dr. Johnson appears to have taken Mrs. Thrale. It was suggested by Lady Montague's description of a regatta she had witnessed in Venice. The only rowing contest was "a race of wager-boats," after which a procession of boats manned by red, white, and blue oarsmen rowed from Westminster to Ranelagh, where various festivities followed in a Temple of Neptune. Some of the 200,000 who attended seem, says the "Westminster Gazette," to have supped "not wisely but too well," for on the return journey "many accidents occurred," and seven persons were drowned.

DOES INDIA HOARD HER YELLOW GOLD?

Many Millions of Precious Metal is Unaccounted For

From time immemorial India has absorbed gold as a sponge absorbs water. The flow of gold to India has always continued. In the last twelve years she has received $680,000,000 in gold, partly in sovereigns and partly in bullion, in addition to enormous quantities of silver. It all goes into the country, but very little ever comes out. Lord Rothschild observed some years ago that he had noticed that none of the smooth gold bars sent to India from England ever came back. What happens to this great stream of precious metal, which continuously disappears like those rivers in desert lands which lose themselves underground?

The testimony of experts is most conflicting. Some say it is hoarded, while a few are ready to prove by a formidable array of statistics that it cannot be extensively hoarded. Those who believe that India possesses a vast store of hoarded treasure make the wildest guesses at its probable total. The most popular estimate of the hoarded wealth of India puts the total at $1,500,000,000, which would amount to five dollars per head of the population; but some credible estimates are far higher. The experts quarrel, again, about the probable effect of India's absorbtion of gold upon the world's money markets and the prices of commodities. Some say that all gold-using countries benefit thereby, while others, such as Sir Edward Holden, appear to hold that "the drain of gold to India" is a potential menace. The commission, while declining to indorse either of these mutually destructive contentions has declared in effect that an increased use of gold in India should not in future be encouraged by the Government, but India already seems disposed to resent this recommendation.

India has been subjected to repeated invasions and innumerable internal wars, and her people have never completely lost their hereditary sense of insecurity. Banking facilities are still sparse, and it would be surprising if Indians did not hoard.

Hoarding does not necessarily mean burying in the ground or concealment in the roofs of houses, though those practices are doubtless extensive. Mr. J. M. Keynes, a member of the commission tells a story of a Brahman in Eastern Bengal who even hoards currency notes in his roof. Once a week he retires privily and spreads them out in the sun to remove the damp. A very large proportion of the hoarded wealth of India is however, in the form of gold and silver ornaments. It is into these ornaments that the bulk of the bullion and sovereigns, as well as much of the silver, disappears.

Business Farming

Farming is always a business, but the average farmer keeps no books. He pays a bill, makes no record of it, loses the receipt, or keeps it in one of a dozen cluttered boxes where it cannot be found.

In order to protect themselves in case of sudden death the wife and children should be made familiar with every detail of the business. There is recorded the case of a rich man who deposited his money in several banks, was killed in an accident, and his family are living in absolute want because they cannot ascertain where the money was banked. Another instance is that of a man who placed thirty thousand dollars in a bank for the assistance of his family, died far away, and his folks cannot find where the money is placed. One of my most valued books is a large blank book in which I record every detail of the work with date of day, month and year. If we begin to plant or sow a piece of ground I put down date, how much seed it took, cost, kind of fertilizer used, name of variety, etc. If a debt is paid, down goes the date, amount paid, what for, and if I got a receipt.

By making the entries each noon or night the books can be so kept up-to-date that an estimate can be had over the [illegible] stock, and produce books, [illegible] in a few [illegible] how [illegible] and [illegible] himself knows about his work.

MARVELOUS INSTINCT OF WILD ANIMALS

New Method of Study and Experimenting Used by Nature Students

The French possess a curious institution in the form of an institut of zoological psychology established in a farm near Paris. This station comprises meadows and barnyards, a pond to the bottom of the pond stocked with fish. Then, too, there are spacious buildings, including modern stables, a riding school, stalls for isolating animals under special observation, an aquarium and a laboratory. A dovecote is placed upon the roof of the main building.

As evidencing the desire of the French naturalists to study the habits of living creatures under natural conditions, it may be mentioned that a complete diving apparatus has been provided in which observers may descend to the bottom of the pond. There they may remain for hours until the fish become accustomed to their presence, and follow their natural impulses in playing and feeding. The under-water student thus is enabled to note their habits at first hand.

The other extreme of observation is the construction of sheltered platforms in the branches of trees, where students sit throughout the night armed with electric flashlights to watch the doings of owls, bats and nocturnal insects.

It is reported by a scientist that an important conclusion reached by the students is that some animals possess a special sense whereby they can detect the presence of water even though they cannot see it. For instance with sheep and cattle when being driven across country.

In a place where the presence of water was wholly unexpected the Australian noted some curious facts. The leading animals suddenly would lift their heads and draw long breaths. Then they would break the beaten tracks and start running through the bush. Sometimes they would run for a mile and a half to two miles and could not be stopped by the drivers, their course invariably leading to a pond or spring hitherto unknown.

In France the experiments were made on a water rat. First its eyes were blinded by a bandage and then it was placed on a turntable, which was whirled round until all sense of direction must have been obliterated. Upon being released, without a moment's hesitation, it started directly for the pond, several hundred yards distant.

MINERAL WEALTH OF PERU

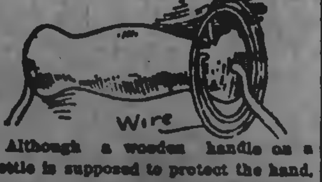
The Country Has an Abundance of Silver, Gold and Copper

Peru is generally conceded to be the third richest country in the world in the matter of minerals. Silver is the most abundant of the metals and is found in every section of the republic. In many places it is found in its native state, in deposits of greatest richness. It is said that between 1630 and 1824, the Jesuit priests took twenty-seven tons of pure silver out of a single valley, while other mines yielded hundreds of millions of dollars, even under the primitive method of mining and extraction in vogue in the country.

Gold is found in several sections of the country, although this metal was not obtained to any great extent before the conquest by Pizarro, the Spanish conquerors for some reason giving all their attention to the silver mines. Therefore the gold mines from which the native Incas derived their fabulous wealth were abandoned for three centuries or more, and only within recent years has there been a revival of mining for the yellow metal. The rivers of Eastern Peru all have gold-bearing gravel beds.

Mining for copper has proved a most profitable industry in Peru, the mines of Cerro de Pasco being among the famous copper mines in the world.

Cool Kettle Handle



Although a wooden handle on a kettle is supposed to protect the hand, it frequently happens that the handle absorbs enough heat from laying on the metal part of the kettle to cause severe burns. Besides, it has frequently happens that the handle is burned or charred. A good way to prevent both of these happenings and keep the handle cool is to attach a coil of wire to one side of it as shown in the sketch. This [illegible] away from the handle, which may get warm with [illegible].

WOMEN CHAUFFEURS

Self-starters Tempt Women to Drive Cars

Considering the fact that only a short time ago the sight of a woman sitting at the wheel of a big machine was quite a novelty, the number of lady motorists who now act as their own chauffeurs has increased surprisingly fast. It is not an uncommon thing nowadays to see a woman, in many cases slips of girls, manœuvring big machines through the downtown section during the business traffic hours.

Many things have occurred in the development of the motor car to account for the increase in the number of women drivers. Probably the most important of the new features which have been added to the automobile of recent years and which has done more than anything else to promote the sport of motoring for the ladies, is the self-starter. The fear that their machine might get stalled and that they would be unable to get it home, prevented many women from taking a chance alone in an automobile.

Now the pressure of a button when a machine "stalls," and the engine is whirring again; the driver slips into low gear, lets in the clutch, and away goes the machine. The knowledge that as long as there is any gasoline in the tank they will be able to start their car, has induced many women to take up the sport.

General Contractor, Rollo Bay, P. E. I.

INTRODUCTION

The Glenaladale Silver Black Fox Company, Limited, was incorporated in 1913 with six pairs of foxes, at $90,000. This Company re-capitalized in 1914, with 20 pairs of beautiful Silver Black Foxes, at $15,000 per pair, making a total capitalization of $300,000.

THE FOXES

Six pairs (one year old) proven breeders, and fourteen pairs (1914 pups), making a total of 20 pairs — all young foxes— good for at least 10 years. This Company has bought some of this year's options on foxes with a guarantee that they are pedigreed and of the highest strain and very best quality P. E. Island famous foxes.

THE RANCH

The ranch is situated on the well known Glenaladale Farm, owned by Major C. McKinnon, formerly the homestead of Sir William McDonald, and is only 12 miles from Charlottetown, in a quiet locality sufficiently removed from any disturbance.

THE RANCHER

Mr. Arthur W. McKinnon, our Ranch Manager, has had much experience in breeding foxes, and has the practical knowledge necessary to efficiently manage and care for the animals.

The foxes will be ranched free of charge to the Company for the first year. This means a large saving to the shareholders, as some companies have to pay as high as 25 per cent. of the increase for ranching purposes.

The promoters of this Company are retaining $80,000 worth of stock for themselves. $20,000 worth has already been disposed of, leaving $200,000 to be offered to investors at $25.00 per share, with a guarantee that a dividend of 50 per cent. will be paid in cash in 1915, or whatever more it may be.

The Glenaladale Silver Black Fox Co., Limited, in 1913 guaranteed a dividend of 50 per cent. but are going to pay 50 per cent. in cash and 50 per cent., in stock in 1914. The Company is in good standing and to each and every investor the first of September, 1914, we can say:— "We have given you 50 per cent. more than we promised." And we feel sure that in 1915 all the shareholders in this re-capitalized company will be able to say they received more than they were promised.

This Company can truthfully say that they have not one cent of watered stock in the Company. Now Mr. Investor, if you were a Company and we the shareholders, we would look to you for justice to give us all that was honestly due us. We would not like for you to buy 3 pairs of foxes at $15,000 per pair ($45,000) and form a fox company and capitalize your concern at $90,000 and make us pay, as shareholders, for it. The Glenaladale Silver Black Fox Company, Limited, will ask you to do nothing like that. We want to let you in on the ground floor.

NOTICE

When a fox company guarantees any specified dividend to its shareholders, and when said company is an incorporated body, you need not be afraid of any unfair play, for such company is compelled to pay what they promise, and, besides, every interest is taken for the welfare of both the investor and the company.

The promoters of this Company are all above board and will not permit any crook to come in and do anything that is not right. Anyone holding stock in this Company who is dissatisfied can, by notifying the Secretary-Treasurer, have his or her money promptly refunded.

FORTUNES IN FOXES

There is money in fox ranching more than anything else ever known. It is good for the rich man and good for the poor man. A poor man cannot buy a pair of Silver Black Foxes but he can easily raise $25.00, $50.00 or $100.00. By investing in this Company he gets back his money in at least two years and then he will have an income for life and for his children to come—and after there will be money in fox farming. One of the reasons for this is that P. E. Island has now 95 per cent. of the world's foxes in captivity. For every one pelt that can be raised there are more than 25 wealthy people waiting for it in London, Russia, France and America.

PELT VALUES

The Fox Pelts have advanced greatly in price since 1910 and you can see for yourself what money was in them then.

Below are the particulars of sale of a consignment of Silver Fox Furs, shipped from Prince Edward Island ranches to London, England, and sold there in March, 1910:

SHARES

Shares are selling at $25.00 each; 25 per cent. with application and the balance on or before September 1st, 1914.

Simply fill out the application form and mail to Major C. McKinnon, Secretary-Treasurer, Glenaladale, P. E. I.

All cheques must be made payable to "The Glenaladale Silver Black Fox Co., Ltd."

A POINTER

Just to give you a little idea of what the free ranching of foxes means to the investor, we will figure it out for you.

We have twenty pairs of foxes in the ranch and suppose each pair produces a litter of only four foxes this is equal to 40 pairs and at $15,000 per year it would figure out at $600,000. Now, if we had to pay even 15 per cent. of the increase for ranching purposes (which is considerably lower than some companies pay) it would mean that we would have to pay $90,000 for ranching expenses.

We ranch the foxes free for the first year, so that in addition to a guaranteed dividend of 50 per cent., we save you this large outlay of money. While we guarantee 50 per cent., still should each pair in our ranch produce four pups it would mean that your dividend would be about 200 per cent. instead of 50 per cent.

FINAL WORD

A great deal has been written about Ranches, Grades of Foxes, etc., but after all the one object that every investor should keep before him is the dividend he is going to get. We have tried to show you in plain English what we can do for you and now that you have our proposition, compare it with the offer made by any other company now in business— and then judge for yourself to have been paid by some of the Charlottetown daily newspapers.

IMPORTANT NOTICE

CALGARY, July 23rd.—An official statement just issued by the Monarch Oil Company states that the drill has just passed through a 57-foot strata of oil bearing sand, at a depth of between 1775 and 1832 feet. A sample of the oil from this oil sand is on exhibition at the Company's office in Calgary. This is the fourth oil sand encountered in the well, and indicates that a good producing well should be obtained before going much deeper. An Appeal to the Intelligent Investor !

Does a logical presentation of a good investment interest you? Do you believe there is an oil in commercial quantities in Alberta? If you are alive to the situation you do. Then it will pay you to investigate our proposition and our holdings.

Please Read Carefully and Note!

THAT Oil authorities are agreed the Alberta Oil Field is of an anticlinal formation. It has been fairly accurately ascertained in what general direction these anticlines run. Geologist B. W. Dunn chose wisely in the selection of the now famous Monarch well. WINDSOR OILFIELDS, LIMITED, has holdings located close to the Monarch.

THAT Cunningham Craig, one of the world's most eminent geologists, selected the site of the Mowbray-Berkeley well. Stock in that company is not offered at any price. We possess acreage adjoining the Mowbray-Berkeley (Section 12, Township 23, Range 5, West of 5th). If a strike is made at the Mowbray-Berkeley what will shares in our company be worth?

Our holdings consist of 1380 acres, carefully selected and judiciously spread over the entire oil field.

And warriors held their sway,
They fought and bled, at least 'tis said,

A Kaiser's Strange Memorial

An extraordinary object is to be seen in Wurtemburg in a 18 foot petrified fish, which was erected as a memorial to William I., German Emperor and King of Prussia. This petrified fish dates from prehistoric times. It is twelve feet long without its head, which was not found. The diameter of its throat is six and a half feet.

COPPER

The Red Metal

MILLIONS OF TONS OF PAY ORE

Copper is one of the world's chief necessities, and the demand for it is constantly increasing. Growth of the electrical industry largely accounts for this. Telegraph and Telephone Wire—Trolley Wire—Trolley Wheels and the multitude of other Electrical Machines and Parts—Power Transmission Wire and the use of the metal in various valuable Alloys—these are some of the places where copper is consumed, and while its production is enormous it is used about as rapidly as it can be mined and made ready. THIS IS WHY OWNERSHIP IN A COPPER MINE IS ONE OF THE MOST SATISFACTORY SOURCES OF INCOME POSSIBLE TO IMAGINE.

TIME TO START

Naturally the time to secure an interest in any sort of enterprise is at the start, because it is then that money for development and equipment is needed and this is, of course, the reason why shares in the project are released. When these necessities are provided for the Opportunity passes.

For years we have been spending time, effort and money in getting together one of the largest known copper deposits, and we now own and control thousands of acres of land, covering veins of copper, ore carrying gold and silver values, extensive veins of coal, iron and lime.

The geology is so well defined as to make identifications of size and location of the copper bearing veins a perfect definite matter. In addition to this the estate has been thoroughly prospected by some 4,000 feet of work, there being more than 100 shafts, pits, cuts and tunnels, every one of which shows copper in paying quantities. The dumps of these openings run from 2 to 8 per cent in copper metal.

Facilities for economically winning the copper from its ores are remarkably fine. In the company's own ground are five known coal beds, insuring a perpetual supply of cheap fuel, easily accessible and located within a very short distance of the site chosen for its furnaces. Water and timber are also abundant and easy of access.

One of Colorado's most eminent mining engineers, after thoroughly examining this property, states in his report that the net profits resulting from operation of this property should range from $250,000 to $1,000,000 each year.

There is no uncertainty, no guesswork, about this project. Applied to it, a definite cause will inevitably produce an equally definite effect. Equipment for mining these immense bodies of ore and reducing the metal in them to bullion means dividends—it can't mean anything else—and it is to provide this equipment and the funds required for its installation and the preliminary operating expenses of the estate that an interest in the project is offered to you.

It is YOUR OPPORTUNITY to join in a well planned, conservative, and exceptionally profitable business undertaking. The foundations are laid, the property is acquired and the next step—providing the equipment—is now being taken. So soon as this is accomplished your chance to secure a share in the enterprise will be gone.

Chief Cause of Inferior Stock For Food Purposes

Eggs which have been fertilized constitute the greatest proportion of the inferior stock which, when examined, proves unfit for food. It is not necessary that these shall have remained for a time under a broody hen, a temperature of seventy degrees being, in itself, sufficient to cause the germ to commence to grow. If the heat is constant the development of the chick will continue, but if it ceases or is intermittent, putrefaction at once sets in and the egg becomes bad. On the other hand infertile eggs which are free from the active germ cell, under ordinary conditions, deteriorate seriously. Farmers and others selling eggs for market are recommended in a circular issued by the livestock branch of the Dominion Department of Agriculture, to kill off or dispose of the male birds after the breeding season. As a result of their remaining with the flock after the breeding season Canadian farmers lose each year at least a million dollars, through the presence of partially incubated eggs in the produce which is marketed. The fact that the best trade in many cities in Canada now offers the premium of from one to five cents per dozen, for non-fertilized eggs, suggests an additional financial consideration which but few can affor

HONEY STATISTICS

Living Conditions Favorable For Busy Workers and Food Plentiful

For the purposes of reporting on the condition of bees in Ontario and the honey crop prospects blanks are sent to a large number of beekeepers by the Department of Agriculture. One thousand replies are received, on an average, from which reports are summarized.

The total number of colonies reported according to last figures is about 41,218, being an average of 32 colonies, spring count, for each beekeeper reporting. The winter loss is about 7½ per cent. What losses there are during the winter are due principally to starvation caused by lack of sufficient feed in the hives.

So far as the condition of bees is concerned, the prospects for a good honey crop this year are very good, but clover is only in a fair condition, having been very much injured in many localities by unfavorable weather conditions.

How People Feel
When They Have
Tape Worm

Tape worm is bred from a parasite. This parasite is a creature male and female in one. It is a pear shape having two, four and six suckers. It lays the eggs, which are only connected together with slime. They develop and form a body, which is the worm. Each joint is an individual, having a sucker or mouth. The worm grows to be much longer than the bowels where it is located, and sometimes a whole colony of them are found, enough to fill a quart of solid worm, and when put in a bucket of water would apparently fill it. It is the hardest task in the world to destroy this parasite without doing injury to the individual who may be so unfortunate as to have it, as the parasite clings to the bowels, freeing itself from the body of the worm, and remains there to breed another. It is an internal demon and causes its victims to suffer all the symptoms of disease imaginable. The cleverest physicians are led to believe the patient is suffering from some other disease, as nearly every person has different symptoms. Some have been treated for cancer of the bowels, consumption of the bowels, consumption of the lungs, chronic dyspepsia, nervous prostration, melancholia, hypochondria, hysteria, inflammation of the bowels, appendicitis and other complaints, when one or more of these internal demons were eating their lives away.

Prof. Mulvaney has made the discovery to free the victim of this monster without injury to the system, destroying the parasite as well as expelling the worm with one dose of medicine without any previous starvation. Visit his office, where he has in his possession the most wonderful collection of these death-dealing monsters in the world, which have been expelled from hundreds of people by his famous remedy, some bottles containing colonies of worms and anyone seeing them cannot imagine how a person could possibly live with them in his bowels. It is surprising the number of people that have them. Thousands have them and are not aware of the fact. The letters and testimonials the Professor has in his possession are enough to convince one of this alarming fact. Some of the most prominent symptoms are: ravenous appetite, dizzy spells, headaches, cramps in the bowels, a feeling of something moving in the bowels, also a feeling as though something was crawling up the throat. The only certainty of having one in the system is when segments or joints are seen, which come away almost any time. They are flat and from ⅝ of an inch to 1 inch long, which have often been mistaken for pin worms by those who do not know the difference. There are many other feelings of distress which would take long to enumerate. Strange to say, some people of strong constitution, have very little distress.

Prof. Mulvaney's world-famous Tape Worm Exterminator is safe, sure and harmless. No starvation, no danger, is not disagreeable to take. One dose nearly always affects a cure. Further information free. Send stamped envelope, telephone Parkdale 4630, or call at 167 Dundas street, Toronto. Open from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m. daily.

JOHNSON'S SPEED REALLY MARVELOUS

Accurate Test Showed His Ball Travels Faster Than the World's Fastest Train

Walter Johnson throws a baseball faster than the Twentieth Century Limited travels. If he could propel a ball along the course followed by the world's fastest train, the ball would travel from New York to Chicago ahead of the train—because the "Century" moves at an average of 120 2-3 feet per second and Johnson's fast ball hops along 122 feet per second.

The exact speed of Johnson's fast ball has always been a matter of discussion. He has been compared to Rusie, and old-time fans say the Hoosier demon had it on Johnson, but there was no way to prove that. Those who have seen Johnson at his best are willing to swear the ball goes so fast it cannot be seen with the naked eye. Often the plunk of the ball in the catcher's mitt precedes the batsman's futile swing.

The question came up in New York one day when Washington was playing in the metropolis, and to settle it the big Swede was taken to Bridgeport, Conn., in an automobile, and a mathematically accurate test of his speed was made in the trial room of one of the big arms factories. A device used to test the speed of bullets was used. The apparatus consists of a screen of fine wires set up in front of a steel-faced plate; the distance between the screen and the plate is five yards. An electric connection to a register gives the exact time consumed by the projectile traveling between the screen and plate. As the projectile passes through the screen it snaps one or more of the fine wires starting the timer, which registers until the projectile strikes the steel plate.

After Johnson warmed up he took his stand before the apparatus and pitched ball after ball. He had difficulty in locating the "plate"—the screen—at first. But he finally managed it, and the registering device commenced to ring off the astounding speed. He reached 122 feet per second and stopped. "Nap" Rucker, the Brooklyn southpaw, who was also in the party took a turn at the indicator and registered 113 feet per second. Nap expressed his firm belief that Johnson could reach 150 feet per second if conditions were favorable—in fact, he asserted that on the ball field Johnson does that well. But Walter seemed satisfied to have beaten the speed of the Twentieth Century.

The speed of a high powered [illegible] from an automatic pistol that [illegible] speed to go through steel plates and heavy planking is but [illegible] feet per second.

RAISING GEESE

A Profitable Side-line on the Farm—Pointers on Management

The breeding and raising of geese calls for altogether different treatment from the breeding and raising of ducks, the necessary conditions being very dissimilar. While the ducks will do very well when closely confined in yards and fed such green food as we have, geese will not thrive if kept in this manner. The breeding birds need a large, practically free, green range, and if well watered, either by pools or streams, the breeding results will be much more satisfactory than if the runs are unwatered.

Breeding geese require very little grain food. Through the winter they should be fed largely on vegetable foods. Cabbage, turnips, beets, cut clover, and other vegetable matter may be fed freely, together with a good quality of bran and oats. Corn and meal will prove rather too fattening, and should be fed sparingly even in the coldest weather.

Very little shelter is required. A rough shed, free from extreme draughts, is all that is absolutely necessary. It should be littered with some dry material, and cleanliness will add much to the health and worth of the birds.

Old geese do not lay as many eggs as young ones, but they hatch good, vigorous birds. To the amateur it would be well to say, if your young geese (females) are but one year old, do not expect too many goslings, as you will do well to raise any from one-year-old females. Many a would-be geese raiser has given up the business because he did not know this.

The birds generally mate in February, and at this time such birds as are to be mated together should be shut apart from the others.

There is some question as to which is the best breed for general purposes. The three breeds which have the strongest following are the Toulouse, African and Embden. Each has its special virtues. The Toulouse is the largest of the three and produces a very strong and quick-growing gosling. The goslings require very little attention, except for the first day or two when they should be kept dry and warm.

POISONOUS TREES

Many Woods Cause Severe Skin Eruptions

Nettles, poison ivy and poison sumac are by no means the only plants which have a poisonous effect on the human skin. Poisonous substances exist in many trees, and even after they have been cut and sawed a sufficient quantity of the poison remains in the lumber, so that workmen who handle it are liable to infection.

Amberwood is impregnated with a powerful poison, according to Dr. Heinz Graf, who investigated the subject for the German Botanical Society. Two different kinds of wood are included under the term amberwood—the genuine East Indian or Asiatic satinwood, or "silkwood," and the satiny hardwood or amberwood. The two are quite different in external appearance. Nestler succeeded in extracting the active substance only from the latter. This is a stearinlike substance soluble only in ether. A small quantity of it placed in contact with the skin of the underarm, in the course of about five hours produced a tensely swollen yellowish blister surrounded by a red area of inflammation. After the bursting of the blister an ulcer remained which required four weeks to heal.

What is known as "cocobolo" wood contains a poisonous substance easily soluble in alcohol and benzol, less so in water. It is apparently an ethereal oil. The placing of fine sawdust of this wood on the moist skin causes first a violent smarting. Following this, red spots or pimples appear, accompanied by redness and inflammation of that part of the skin, followed by scaling.

Similar phenomena are caused by the plant Cortusa Matthioli, but they are even stronger, since blisters are produced. Touching the plants is enough to cause irritation, and the infection may be transmitted to other persons by hands so infected. The bearers of the irritating substance in this case are gland-hairs, as in the case of the primrose. This substance is a crystallizable sap which can be extracted from gland-hairs.

The sawdust of the Mexican blue gum is harmful when the skin is especially sensitive from some other cause.

A SKELETON FACTORY

Big One in Paris Has Almost Monopoly of Strange Trade

Making skeletons for a living does not seem to be a business that would pay very much, and yet there are a number of places where skeletons are made. In making skeletons it does not mean that they are made artificially by some composition resembling bone, but that they are "made" by removing flesh and ligaments, drying the bones, whitening them and assembling them, fastening them together with slender wires in place of the ligaments, which, of course, will not remain solid like bone, but disintegrate.

In these places skeletons of almost everything, from a common tadpole to a human being, are made. There are places where artificial skeletons are made for various purposes, such as theatrical productions and the like, but this is done along with other work where all sorts of things, from imitation ivory paper cutters to massive pillars, are made.

The real skeleton factory deals in nothing except the genuine skeletons, and they not only sell these and fill orders for them to all sorts of medical men and institutions and schools, but they are also willing to "rent them" for any period.

The biggest share of the skeleton trade is carried on in France, the biggest "factory" being located in Paris, where there is a complete equipment and stock for furnishing skeletons of everything, even extinct animals, skeletons of fishes and men or elephants and rabbits and everything to fly that has enough of a skeleton to hold together. So great is the business of this place that it has branches in London and Berlin, and it gets out great catalogues, and sends them broadcast, showing lists and cuts of their choice lots of skeletons.

Most of the human bones employed in the French manufacture belonged, in life, to criminals or to unknown persons whose bodies were unclaimed after death in hospitals or almshouses.

Modern Drama Decadent

Preaching at St. Paul's Cathedral, Canon Alexander deplored the decadence of the modern drama and of public taste. "I suppose," he said, "no thoughtful person can regard with satisfaction the wave of morbid sensationalism which has crept over the national consciousness, creating an art, if we call it so, which is full of the vulgarity from which all true art is always and inevitably free, and which moves in a wholly different world from that which gave us the phrases and situations of "Measure for Measure," "Othello," or "Romeo and Juliet."

Lucien Libecq, a fourteen-year-old boy living near Boulogne, accidentally shot himself in the stomach while playing with a revolver. In spite of his injuries, he cycled a distance of seven miles and worked for four hours before telling his employer what had happened. A doctor was called, and the boy was removed to the hospital to undergo an operation.

Army Reservist Walks Here.

Mr. Wadley, an Englishman living some three miles from the city on the Keene Road yesterday walked many miles into the city to enquire whether the British Army Reserves had been called out. Mr. Wadley served several years in the Boer war and was at Ladysmith. He thinks that England will eventually win out in the present fight and is more than willing to give his services and endanger his life to help her win.

Sugar Advances Here.

Local grocers have received notification of an advance of 10 per cent in the price of sugar. The advance is due to the war situation, as all sugar is being held in the Old Country, thus cutting off the competition of the English supply. This follows a similar advance in the English and American markets.

57th Regt. Trip Cancelled.

At a meeting of the officers of the 57th Regiment, it was decided to cancel the proposition of a trip on Labor Day for two reasons. A Successful Regatta.

What was universally pronounced one of the largest and best regattas ever held on Sturgeon Lake, took place yesterday at Sturgeon Point. It was the tenth annual regatta held by the Cottagers' Association, and there were more races and contestants in most classes than ever before. As it was Civic Holiday in Lindsay there were a large number of Lindsay people on hand to watch the races. The weather was perfect. It was neither too hot to enjoy sitting on the benches or grass not unpleasantly windy or cold.

French Airman Was Here!

Toronto Globe: Count de Lesseps, the famous French aviator, son-in-law of Sir Wm. Mackenzie, the Canadian railroad magnate, has answered the call of his country. Late on Monday afternoon his private yacht docked in Peterboro', having come from Stoney Lake, where the Count has a magnificent summer home. His wife accompanied him as far as Peterboro' and said good-bye as he swung aboard the midnight C. P. R. flyer bound for Montreal where he will embark for the old land. Count de Lesseps is a French army reservist and a few years ago was one of the most valuable men in the French air fleet. He vowed when he married never to fly again, but under the circumstances will probably place duty to his country.

A Kinmount Accident.

What might have been a serious accident took place last week at the home of Mr. Henry Boldt, West Monck Road. Master Len was leading a bull to water at the lake, which is just below the barn, when the animal went wild, likely from smell of blood of sheep Mr. Boldt had killed that morning. The bull hit Len in the back throwing him into the lake; then Mr. Boldt, hearing the noise rushed to help the boy, when the enraged animal turned on him, too and put him also into the lake and had him down. Mr. Boldt held on to the staff attached to ring in the animals nose. The boy by this time got out of the lake and managed to get away. The bull followed. Mr. Bolde then got out all mudd and water, and managed to get to the house, where he got his rifle and so ended Mr. Bull's career. It was a lucky escape for both.

Auto Party in Narrow Escape.

Lindsay Post: Last evening as Mr. Bolander, local manager of the Boving Manufacturing Co., with a party of friends, was returning from Sturgeon Point, opposite Mr. T. Dark's farm on the Fenelon Road, Mr. Jno. Carew's car came along side and attempted to pass. The cars ran along side for some distance when Mr. Carew's car got ahead and Mr. Bolander put on his brakes, but as the dust was so thick and blinding the car plunged into a deep ditch along the road. Mr. Bolander was thrown about fifteen feet, landing on the road side but fortunately not hurt. The other occupants were able to stay in the car and escaped injury. The car however was badly shaken up. Mr. Carew brought the entire party to town.

THE WHOLE ART OF DYEING

"There's not a blessed thing in this world worth having without sacrifice. The big people, the people that have the big things in life are those that have paid, or are prepared to pay the big price for them."—W. J. Locke.

* * *

There has just been republished an old book, which originally appeared in the year 1705, and which deals with the subject of dyeing, a subject in which women are all interested more or less. In this book the reader is let into the secrets of the wonderful old dyes, the first half telling of the experimental discovery of all the most useful secrets in dyeing silk, wool, linen, and the manufactures of these fabrics as practised in England, France, Spain, Holland and Germany, while the second half is devoted to general instructions in dyeing wools and woollen manufactures, and to the cultivation of the drugs used for making these dyes. In the early part of the 18th century, blue was perhaps the most popular of colors and no less than twenty-two shades of blue are mentioned; according to the writer the blue dyes are made from a plant called "Pastel" which grows in the upper Languedoc Valley, also with "vouede" found in Normandy, and with "indigo" obtained from the West Indies. "Woodland brown," a shade very popular to-day was equally popular in 1705, and was then known as "walnut-tree brown" and was made from the root, bark, and leaves of the walnut tree and with nut shells. A good brown too, we are herein informed, can be made from chimney soot, and this will also produce olive green or olive colors. Perfuming silks is also dealt with in this fascinating volume the recipe being as follows: "When the silk is dyed, for every pound of silk take an ounce of orris, dry it well, lay the silks in rose water in a thick sieve and betwixt every row strew powder of orris, and shut it up close in a box or chest till next day and the silk will emit an agreeable odor." The wonderful lustre on the old time silks was produced by adding an ounce of isinglass for every pound of silk to the water in which the latter was steeped. No wonder the silk dresses of our grandmothers were things that were cherished for a lifetime and still retain their fragrance and brilliance. The name of the book is "The Whole Art of Dyeing" and is well worth reading.

CURIOUS FISH

Some Finny Creatures Croak; Some Hum and One Shrieks

Fishes have often been referred to as "voiceless, emotionless creatures," but scientific investigation has demonstrated that like land animals they are largely swayed by the same emotions, and that in a limited way they give expression thereto. There are more than 300 species of fish which are known to produce sound. One particular kind of fish, which are called "maigres," emit sounds having a duration of about twenty-five seconds, and also various notes, usually degenerating into a mere humming, either from excess or want of intensity. When these fish are travelling in shoals the sounds given out by them may be heard from a depth of twenty fathoms. More than once it has been suggested that the story of the sirens had its origin in the utterances of these fish.

When captured, the scad, or horse-mackerel, the globe fish, the grunt, the pig-fish, and the hog-fish all emit sounds resembling the grunt of a pig; while one, well known along the Atlantic coast as the croaker, derives its name from the croak it gives when taken into a boat. The barbel and the carp also croak when taken from the water.

There is a species of "sea-frog" found by the natives of Malabar, and so-called on account of the noise it makes when captured. The red gurnard has been dubbed the "sea-cock" by reason of its crowing. The armado, a fish found in the Rio Parana, is most remarkable for the harsh, grating sound it emits when caught with hook and line. It is said that this noise can be heard distinctly while the fish is yet beneath the surface.

There is a fish in the Tagus that emits sounds resembling the vibrations of a deep-toned bell, gong, or pedal pipe of an organ. Herrings, when the net has been drawn round them, have been observed to do the same, and similar accounts are given of the river bullhead. An amphibious siluroid fish, on being taken into the hand, is said to shriek, and certain of the blennies emit similar sounds. In the Gulf of Mexico the big jewfish breaks the stillness of the night and the waters with his sonorous "boom! boom!"

WANT MILLION FARMERS

Peace River District Has Room For All

"The Peace River country" is really a very indefinite term applied to the enormous territory within the basin of the Peace River, where there is such a diversity of natural characteristics that it is impossible to give any description which will apply accurately, or even approximately to all parts of it. From the confluence of the Finlay and Parsnip rivers, west of the Rocky Mountains, to where it empties into the Slave River, near Lake Athabasca, is about 600 miles in a direct line but about 1,000 miles as the river flows, and approximately 100,000,000 acres of arable land are drained by this mighty river and its tributaries, including the North and the South Pines and the Halfway rivers. Of this area at least 60,000,000 acres are park land or open prairie, and 40,000,000 acres are covered with heavy timber. There is room for a million farmers. There is no longer any question as to the agricultural possibilities of that vast pampas. It has already passed the experimental stage, for it has been proven by actual demonstration that the climate is admirably adapted to the maturing of the entire range of farm products of the temperate zones; and, further, that the grains attain a maturity and quality there which are not excelled anywhere else in the known world. The hard varieties of spring wheat grown there show a yield and weight, and also milling qualities in advance of that produced on the prairies of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, which are now recognized as the producers of the standard wheat of the world. And in those great stretches of natural meadows the pioneer meets with little difficulty in preparation of his land, as it is possible for him to begin breaking the sod and actual farm operations during the first season in the country. All that is lacking now is transportation, and this problem is being solved as quickly as steel can be laid by two or three different railroads, which are racing for the choicest territory.

ROTATION OF CROPS

Fertility is Best Maintained by Varied Crops

In discussing rotation of crops a writer in the Journal of the Board of Agriculture points out the fact that left to itself without change land in course of time gathers a fresh stock of fertility, but seeing that in many cases land in the beginning is exhausted, crop rotation must be followed in order to maintain fertility and to bring worn-out soil up to a productive standard. The writer points out that the main reason for growing a series of crops is that the requirements of the various classes of crops grown on the farm vary greatly in their capacity to extract and utilize the various materials known as plant food. Some crops require much of certain classes of this, while others demand large quantities of food of another class. Some are shallow-rooted some are deep-rooted and some occupy the land for a much longer period than others, that is, they have a longer growing season. All these things must be taken into consideration when working out a rotation. No matter how rich the land is in the beginning continuous cropping with one kind of crop sooner or later exhausts certain elements of plant food which the crop grown requires in largest quantities.

Pieces of broken glass flew in all directions, and a portion struck and cut the driver under the eye. Lying at his feet the driver found an owl, dead.

There is room in the cabin for six people to walk about without jostling each other. They are completely protected from the wind, and have eight windows and two portholes from which to look out.

Captain of Uranium Confirms Report of Sinking of Two German Cruisers

New York, Aug. 6.--The report that the two German cruisers chasing the Lusitania had been sunk by British cruisers was given confirmation to-day by the captain of the Uranium, which put into port here.

"It is absolutely true," said the Uranium's captain, in telling of the wireless message. "I hated to tell about it before, because, as soon as I got in I heard of many wild reports that had been brought in by various ships.

The fast Cunard liner Mauretania with 1,000 passengers from Liverpool and the White Star lines Cedric, from Queenston, to-day raced into Halifax, presumably to escape pursuit from German cruisers believed to be hovering in the vicinity of the Grand Bank for just such prizes.

Cool Food for Hot Days

Grape-Nuts and Cream

—some fruit and a soft boiled egg, or two, is sufficient for the hot weather breakfast.

An ordinary portion of Grape-Nuts, and cream contains nourishment to sustain one until the noon-day meal; and being partially pre-digested food, it does not over-tax the stomach and heat the system as do heavy, greasy foods.

These suggestions, if followed, should show that one can have a cool body, active brain and energy—even in hot weather.

ANGRY MOB SURROUNDS THE TORONTO LIEDERKRANZ CLUB

Five Hundred Rioters Demand That English Flag be Raised Over German Building--Hurry Call for Police Prevents Attack on Structure

Toronto, Aug. 6. Enraged by the refusal of the management of the German Liederkranz Club to hoist a British flag above their pretentious building on Richmond street west, a mob of over five hundred men made a violent demonstration in front of the club shortly after midnight and but for the intervention of a squad of about twenty police, the building might have been raided. The demonstration was evidently a well-planned affair for the mob had with them numerous flags and were accompanied by a make-up band.

Owing to the fact that singing practice was being held in the club rooms last night, residents in the neighborhood had been unable to sleep on account of the noise. When the mob hove in sight round John street it was greatly augmented by numerous residents desiring revenge for being kept awake by the singing of the club.

"BREAK THE WINDOWS"

The visit of the mob was not altogether a surprise. On the night previous a similar demonstration had taken place but it was hardly as large as that of last night. Immediately the crowd reached the building they commenced to hoot and yell and emit cat-calls. Getting tired of this and receiving no response to their vocal efforts the mob lurched over towards the entrance of the club, while the leaders sprang up the door. One of the officials pressed steps and commenced to batter at the his face to the window of the door and asked the crowd what they wanted.

"Stick up the British flag on your building," roared the crowd in unison, while the leaders pointed up to the bare flagstaff at the top of the building. The official refused to do so, and the crowd becoming angry commenced to yell and scream again.

"Break the windows," "Rush the place," Break the doors in," These were some of the remarks of the more violent members of the mob. And it is quite likely that this advice would have been followed out but fortunately, when matters appeared most serious, a posse of about twenty police headed by an officer arrived on the scene. The crowd was quickly dispersed. The police made no arrests.

LEADING GERMAN CLUB.

The Liederkranz Club is the premier German institution in Toronto. It has a membership of over eleven hundred, the majority of whom are Germans.

BOSTON SOCIALISTS DENOUNCE WAR

Resolutions of Sympathy With Jean Jaures Also Adopted by Party

Boston, Aug. 6. Strong resolutions against war have been passed by the state committee of the Massachusetts Socialist party. Another expressing sympathy with French comrades in the death of Jean Jaures has been adopted also.

The first resolution declared that the great capitalist powers of Europe have declared war against each other, but demands to know why the working classes, who are on amicable terms and who have unitedly fought capital, should now suddenly become enemies of each other.

The war is declared to be a direct outcome of the policy of exploitation and oppression represented by the capitalist system, which is thirsting with an insatiable thirst for the workers' blood.

"We call upon you (the workers of all nations)," the resolution concludes, "to resist with every power at your command this approaching monster of war. We call upon you to take account of your common interests as members of the working class. We call upon you to abstain from all part in the horrible carnage of destruction, and to allow the rulers of the world to settle their own differences unassisted by your efforts.

"We appeal especially to the foreign workers of Massachusetts to refrain from all parts in the horrible carnage flict of the European governments. We would point to the fact that we make this appeal consistent with the traditions of the International Socialist movement in its fidelity to the cause of peace and the interests of the working class."

Regarding M. Jaures's assassination the resolution says:

"We deem this outrageous murder to be a direct outcome of the hatred created by capitalists against the anti-militaristic activities of the Socialist party, which our comrade, Jaures fearlessly represented.

"The Socialist movement will, in spite of all murderous attacks of the agents of the capitalist class, unceasingly pursue the course against war and militarism, against the whole system which needs armies and other instruments of murder in order to preserve itself."

LUSITANIA'S PURSUERS SUNK.

New York, Aug. 6.--Captain Hessig, of the Uranium Line, announced at the British Consulate to-day that he had intercepted yesterday wireless messages from the steamer Lusitania, saying that two German cruisers, which had been pursuing the Lusitania had been chased and sunk by two British warships.

REPORT NOT CONFIRMED.

The wireless station at Sayville, to which the alleged message from the Lusitania was addressed, according to Capt. Hessig, said to-day that it had not received such a message.

The message Capt. Hessig said contained the additional information that the Lusitania was continuing on its trip to England. The Lusitania sailed from New York with darkened lights.

GENERAL LESSARD MAY COMMAND.

Gen. Lessard, commanding officer Third Division at the front, is the most likely man to be placed in command of the Canadian Contingent. He went to Toronto about a year ago from the headquarters staff here. He has seen service in South Africa, and being a French-Canadian, his knowledge of French might be very useful in case the Canadian Contingent joined a British expeditionary force.

Col. Gwatkin, Chief of the General staff, is likely to remain here for administrative work. Col. the Hon. Sam Hughes is also likely to stay here to attend to his duties as Minister of Militia and Col. Steele is rather above the age for such a command.

FIVE HOUR NAVAL ENGAGEMENT RESULTS IN BRITISH VICTORY

One Hundred Germans Killed in Battle and Over Two Hundred Taken Prisoners--Seventy British Sailors Wounded, But None are Reported Killed

London, Aug. 6.--The first naval engagement between English and German ships in the North Sea has resulted in a victory for Great Britain. The battle took place on Wednesday off the Dutch coast and lasted for five hours.

Seventy English sailors were wounded, and it is reported that more than 100 Germans were killed in the engagement.

The ships engaged were those of England's third flotilla and flying squadron of German vessels, which had been out to protect the mine-laying operation of the German ships. It was in this engagement that the Konigen Luise, which had been equipped with mine-laying paraphernalia, was sunk by the British and a short time later two of the German boats surrendered to the enemy.

The Amphion, the flagship of the third flotilla, was the only British ship that sustained any noticeable damage. Her batteries were put out of commission temporarily by an exploding shell from one of the German boats.

More than 200 German prisoners taken from the two boats that surrendered were landed at Harwich, England, and are being held there.

A torpedo boat took 28 wounded to the Shotley naval station just opposite Harwich, while scores of the other wounded were landed at Harwich, and taken care of in the little hospital there, and in some of the public buildings, that had been made into temporary hospitals upon orders from the British fleet commander.

In addition to the German steamer Belgia, more than 20 German vessels were seized in or captured outside British ports. These included three steamers off Gibraltar, which had valuable cargoes.

Father Minds the Baby While Mother Works

The district of Willesden is a perfect paradise for a certain type of husband. There is no need for him to go out to work; his wife will see to that. All he need do is stay at home and mind the baby. He has a job for life, and practically nothing to do.

It is no uncommon thing for a husband to mind the baby while his wife goes to work. This arrangement is due to the peculiar industrial conditions of Willesden, where there are many laundries and factories, and female labor is much in demand. Although it 's cheaper than male labor would be at the same class of work, the wages are good considering that only five days a week are worked in the laundries, the women not being required on Mondays. As much as from $5 to $6 a week can be earned, $5 being a common wage, even for girls.

Consequently the women rule the industrial world of Willesden. The positions of man and wife are reversed. There is no need for the man to go to work. Not only would he be unsuitable for the job, but the labor and the wages would not suit him.

THE BOY AND THE FARM

Several Reasons Why the Call of the City is Alluring

To keep the boy on the farm is a problem that seems to be seriously agitating the minds of some of our agriculturists and more of our would-be agricultural advisers. Why should anyone wish to tie the boy to the farm if there is a better sphere for him? If there is not then why does the boy leave the farm? Why is it though that a large percentage of farm boys, yes and girls too, will jump into the great city maelstrom to take that one chance of a hundred of coming up from that undercurrent and making a livelihood among the middle class. There must be a reason. That reason is, to find something that is lacking on the farm. It may be one thing or another; sometimes it is a lack of social life, too often it is freedom from drudgery that is craved. But always there is some reason.

The farm boy is not hasty in his decisions—he is usually given credit for being the opposite; but he generally has good reasons for his actions. If he, leaves because the life of the city calls him his social life at home is too often a mere void that he has brooded over for years. If he goes to another farm to work it is usually to get away from some useless drudgery.

There is, however, one feature of this problem, if it can be called such that has been overlooked. It is the fact that for one boy that goes directly to the city another leaves the farm to become a hired man on another farm, which goes to show that this is an individual problem for each farm. Each boy finds something lacking on his particular farm or in his community which he hopes to find on another farm or in the city.

All this has no reference to the boy who leaves the farm because the size of the family demands that some must seek livelihood elsewhere, or the boy whose natural abilities fit him for other work, but the greater number who should be eminently fitted for agricultural work and who should further develop the farm their fathers pioneered, yet who leave it just when they could begin some work to better the farm and their social conditions.—Farmers Advocate.

PIANO POWER

Great Strength Developed in Fingers of Famous Players

The amount of power expended on playing on a piano has recently been figured out in a way which, if not altogether accurate, is at least interesting. Commenting on the statement that it already requires more force to sound a note gently on this instrument than it does to lift the lid of a kettle, it is easy to verify it if one takes a small handful of coins and piles them on a key of the piano.

When a sufficient quantity is piled on to make a note sound they may be weighed, and the figures will be found to be true. If the pianist is playing fortissimo, a much greater force is needed. At times the force of six pounds is thrown upon a single key to produce a solitary effect. With chords the force is generally spread over the various notes sounded simultaneously, though a greater output of force is undoubtedly expended. This is what gives pianists the wonderful strength in their fingers that is often commented on.

A story used to be told of Paderewski that he could crack a pane of French plate-glass, half an inch thick, merely by placing one hand upon it as if upon a piano keyboard, and striking it sharply with his middle finger.

Chopin's last piece in C minor has a passage which takes two minutes and five seconds to play. The total pressure brought to bear on this, it is estimated, is equal to three full tons. The average "tonnage" of an hour's playing of Chopin's music varies from twelve to eighty-four tons. Wagner has not yet been calculated upon these lines.

Feeding Brood Mares

An interesting experiment carried out by G. L. Carlson in connection with the feeding of brood mares seems to show that oats are better than corn for breeding mares; that oats and bran are better than oats alone, that hay without grain is better than with grain, and that natural conditions on grass beat everything. The following table gives the results:

Food	Mares Bred	Av. Age	No. of Foals	%
Range feed	468	10.1	426	91
Grass in summer	183	9.9	181	81
Hay, oats, bran	208	9.2	147	71
Hay and corn	298	8.7	195	45
Corn, bran, hay	221	8.9	117	52
Corn, alfalfa, or clover	306	8.8	177	58
Hay, oats	418	9	284	66

HIVING-SWARMING BEES

A Simple Solution to One of the Most Vexed Problems of the Bee-keeper

Bee-keeping, an interesting and not by any means unprofitable pursuit, is avoided by many farmers on account of the many perplexing problems the care of the busy workers presents to the uninitiated. A few practical hints on how to properly look after the natural swarmers may prove helpful.

When a swarm issues and forms into cluster—if in a warm sunny place—sprinkle the bees with water with any hair brush that is available. This will make them cluster more closely and be less inclined to fly away while you make preparations to hive them. Should the swarm be settled on the bough of a tree, hold a straw skep, or any substitute for it, with one hand, well under the bees, and around them if possible, and with the other hand give the bough a sudden, hard shake, which will cause the bees to fall in a mass into the skep; if the bough is bushy a few quick jerky shakes might be required to dislodge all the bees. A vigorous shake downwards stopped suddenly is very effective. Now quickly place over the skep a board or cloth large enough to cover it. Then turn it, mouth downwards and place it on the ground as nearly as possible under the place the bees settled on. Raise one side of the skep an inch or more upon a stone or piece of wood and if the queen has been secured the stragglers will soon join the bees in the hive. If the sun is shining on the skep, shade it with a few boughs or an open umbrella, securing the handle to a stake. Nothing further need be done until the last bees have entered the skep in the cool of the evening, when the swarm can be transferred to a movable frame hive in a permanent position. Should the following day be warm, the hive should be shaded and the entrance opened to the full extent. Even in the height of the honey season, and in the best of bee-weather, a swarm is vastly improved by getting a pint of thin syrup daily for three or four days, but in broken weather which often confines bees in their hives for days this treatment is absolutely necessary to keep a newly hived swarm from starving in its new foodless home. A comb of honey with some brood and eggs, from an old stock, would be a great advantage to a swarm starting in life. This is a very desirable plan in the case of second swarms or casts, as they frequently leave the hive never to return in company with the young queen in her mating trip, but while they have young brood and eggs in the hive they have no desire to leave it. It will not do to delay the hiving of the bees too long after they have settled in a cluster, for if the scouts, which have been previously sent out to find a suitable new home, return in the meantime the swarm will rise and follow them to, perhaps, parts unknown.

CURATE'S ADVENTURE

Taken For a Foreign Spy by a Devonshire Constable

How an innocent curate was suspected by a Devonshire constable of being a foreign spy when he had lost his bearings in the dark was related by the central figure in the incident, the Rev. I. M. Bankes-Jones of Sunningdale, on his return from a holiday in Devon.

At ten o'clock one night Mr. Bankes-Jones left his camp for a walk. He lost his way, but eventually came up on a policeman and two other men and asked to be directed to a certain bridge. This request appeared to raise the constable's suspicions. He followed the stranger, and asked him for his name and address.

Treating the matter as a huge joke, the curate said, "My name is Tom Smith, and my address is Windsor Castle. But that is neither my correct name nor address. If I told you correctly you would be none the wiser."

"You must come to the station with me," said the policeman, "and make your explanations there," and in spite of a protest Mr. Bankes-Jones was taken three miles to the police station. There he discovered that the constable suspected he was a foreign spy inquiring for a bridge which might be in danger of being blown up.

The sergeant-in-charge was also told that the curate had been looking at telegraph poles very suspiciously. The curate was detained for some hours for inquiries and then liberated.

Egg Sandwiches

The following is a delicious filling for sandwiches: Mix together the yolk of an egg, hard boiled, with an equal quantity of butter, about one tablespoonful of cream, just a little shrimp or bloater paste, with lemon juice to taste. Spread some thick slices of bread and butter with a liberal layer of the filling, sprinkle it with a little chopped mustard and cress. Lay on this a few slices of chicken, or any kind of game, cut thinly and press a piece of bread and butter on top.

If you do you must use good judgment in the selection of the companies in which you invest.

In order that you may use this good judgment it is absolutely necessary that you investigate and analyze a company thoroughly before placing your money in its shares.

In order that you may do this in the case of the British Canadian Oils, Ltd., we hereby give you the information we have secured through our rigid investigation and analysis of said company, and in giving this information we would say that we believe it is correct in every detail.

(12) A reputable petroleum engineer in reply to an enquiry from us, stated that the lease held by the British Canadian Oils, Ltd., in Section 31, is situated on the most perfect anticline he has seen in Western Alberta.

OIL THE GREAT WEALTHMAKER

We hold over 3,000 acres, more or less, of oil leases North and South of Monarch and several of our leases are in the same range as the Monarch well.

Many companies claim to be close to Monarch but we are one of the very few who are in Range Six upon which the Monarch Well is situated. Therefore, we must be on the same anti-cline and as it is a foregone conclusion Monarch will get oil, so will we.

Fifty-Seven Feet of Oil Bearing Sands Passed Through in Monarch Well

OFFICIAL STATEMENT IS GIVEN OUT BY PRESIDENT GEORGESON—WELL IS NOW DOWN OVER 1,800 FEET AND FLOW OF WET GAS HAS BEEN STRUCK IN LOWER LEVELS—GEOLOGIST DUNN IS AWAY AT PRESENT

Heavy oil showings are being found in the Monarch well, west of Olds, although the oil has not yet come in in commercial quantities.

To put the exact facts before the public, President William Georgeson and Treasurer G. W. Morfitt, of the company, this morning issued an official statement from the drillers setting forth the results.

The heaviest oil seepage has been encountered through a stratum 57 feet thick, and the well is now 1850 feet deep.

A sample of this oil baled out at 1,775 feet was brought to the city this morning and is in the office of Mr. Morfitt, Grain Exchange Building. The oil is a heavy black petroleum with the characteristic petroleum odor.

The statement issued by the officers is as follows:

In the absence of Mr. Dunn, Mr. Van Alst, the head driller, reports that from the depth of 1,775 feet to 1,832 feet he went through oil bearing sands for 57 feet. Throughout there was a heavy showing of black oil in the baler. Two further showing of black wet gas were met at 1,805 feet and 1,815 feet.

The well is now down 1,860 feet. Wet gas has shown at 683 feet, 1,430 feet, 1,805 feet and 1,815 feet.

Oil sands have shown at 868 feet, (48 feet), 1,430 feet (40 feet), 1,749 feet (14 feet), and 1,775 feet (57 feet).

The well is now down 1,860 feet, and while there are good oil showings there is not as yet oil in commercial quantities.

Our stock is on the market at 50 cents a share, a Dollar par, and will be advanced without notice any day pending Monarch Well developments. It is practically a certainty that Monarch will be in oil in commercial quantities within two weeks, Our stock will jump away above par and you had better hurry if you wish to share our prosperity.

Our Point of View

If France puts Jack Johnson and Carpentier in front, Germany may hesitate.

The fiercer the military in peaceful times, the harder the criticism. The fiercer the military in times of danger, the greater the enthusiasm.

The stock exchanges of the world have closed. From now on for some time, the medium of exchange will be ultimatums or broadsides.

Churchil, is a name rich with encouraging historic associations. At a time like this, there is a great deal in a name.

—o—

Instead of going back to Europe the Servians and Austrians in America might divide into two camps and fight it out here.

—o—

Despite all this war talk, a good many people in Montreal will not forget to keep their eyes on the Tramways company.

—o—

The most pleasing reflection from Britons at this time is that long line of grey sea-monsters, the Armada, which is to-day the greatest influence working for peace.

—o—

President Wilson hesitates to declare the neutrality of the United States. Some of this hesitation may well be dictated by a natural sympathy with another Anglo-Saxon nation.

—o—

The Ottawa Journal reminds us that Great Britain was ready to fight for her European allies in 1911, on a very slight pretext. Her failure to participate in a general engagement is unthinkable.

In declaring that Servia will crush Austria, King Peter may perhaps mean what he says, but to the unimpassioned outsider it looks as if he may be biting off just a little more than he can conveniently or with any degree of dignity, masticate.

"Nerviline" Cures Cramps End Misery Instantly

NO REMEDY SO SPEEDY OR EFFICIENT.

A real cramp cure?

Yes, a real one—in a twinkling the cramp is a dead one, and the last squirm is over, once you get a stiff dose of Nerviline on the inside.

This isn't mere talk— it's a solid, truthful fact. No other remedy —not a single one—will cure cramps so quickly and harmlessly as Nerviline. It hits the spot in a jiffy and saves a heap of misery.

"Last Saturday night my stomach felt like an infernal machine," writes T.P. Granger from Hartford. "I was awakened from a sound sleep and found myself suffering the worst kind of torture. I was so doubled up I could hardly cross my room. I had used Nerviline before for the same thing, and took a real good dose. Once I felt the warm, soothing sensation of Nerviline in my stomach I knew I was all right. It finished the cramps —just one single dose."

Sickness at night is rendered a nightmare of the past if Nerviline is handy. It may be earache, toothache, or cramps. Nerviline in every case will cure at once and save calling the doctor. Nerviline is a family physician in itself. The large 50c. family size bottle, of course is most economical. Small trial size costs a quarter. All dealers sell Nerviline.

By his remarkable manner, which was at once gentlemanly and friendly the Duke of Connaught made many friends in Calgary. He was a real exemplification of the rarely accepted statement that because a man is a Duke he is not necessarily a snob.

The Useful Cat

The "harmless, necessary cat" has become the occasion of fierce controversy. In a New York newspaper one correspondent laments the misfortunes of homeless cats and suggests that society should provide comfortable abodes for such unhappy animals. But another protests against wasting sympathy on a destroyer of birds and refers to a recent report of the Audubon society to show that each cat on an average destroys fifty birds a year. This hater of cats declares that they should be thrown into the river Styx by Charon so that their unearthly wailings from the receding boat might seem "like welcoming echoes of the departing spirits from the other shore."

Now, should such language be applied to a creature so interesting, so historically celebrated, and so long associated with the fortunes of humanity as the cat? We know that in ancient Egypt the cat was a divinity and that a city was consecrated to its worship. The success of Dick Whittington, who was three times Lord Mayor of London, has been attributed to his cat. If maiden ladies with advancing years became passionately fond of cats, can we blame them? Is there anything more playful than a kitten?

But the cat deserves to be appreciated for its utility. Were cats abolished, we should be deluged by rodents. If the cat has a weakness for killing birds, it is only a natural propensity which can be checked.

There is feline beauty as well as human, and a good cat show is an aesthetic delight. But if only for its intrinsically useful qualities and its agelong connection with the domestic hearth, the cat should be preserved, cared for and cherished. In any event we cannot get rid of this astonishing animal, first, because it has developed the bump of philoprogenitiveness in an extraordinary degree, and, secondly, because the old proverb which says that a cat has nine lives is authenticated by universal experience.

ONE MAN'S LIFE OUTLAYS

Frenchman Spent $10,200 on Cigars, and $5,520 For Drinks

What the average man spends, during his lifetime, on little luxuries and trivial necessities, may seem to him but a matter of small moment. As Canadians, we have been trained to spend judiciously, nevertheless if we were to realize the colossal figures into which our little expenditures run during the course of our respective lives, we might be appalled.

An eccentric personage has just died in a town in the west of France at the age of 77. When he was 18 years of age he began to keep a book of personal expenses. For fifty-two years he jotted down every item.

During this period he smoked 628,713 cigars. Of this number 43,692 were presented to him by friends. For the remaining 581,021 he spent the sum of $10,200.

He had bought 86 pairs of trousers, which cost him $460; 75 jackets and waistcoats, for $230, and 63 pairs of shoes, for $330. He used 300 shirts and 354 collars, for which he paid $265. His omnibus and train fares came to $250. In fifteen years he drank 28,875 bocks and 40,303 small glasses of liqueur, and spent on them $5,520, plus $1,245 in tips.

The Champion Cigar Smoker

What is believed to be a world record has just been set up at a congress of South German smokers, held at Frankfort.

A special trophy, consisting of a silver eagle on a red and white ribbon, was offered to the smoker who took the longest time to turn a Mexican cigar into grey-white ash without letting it once go out. The competition began at eleven o'clock, and very nearly 200 people contested for the award. By twelve o'clock only twenty competitors were in the running—the rest had regretfully finished their "weeds" or had laid them at rest in the ash-tray for too long.

The rivals dropped out rapidly, and by one o'clock only one smoker was left—Herr Henz, a Sachsenhausen business man, who actually puffed away in peace until he perforce had to throw his diminutive cigar stump away, two hours forty-six minutes and seventeen seconds after he had set light to it. Herr Henz was therefore proclaimed smoker laureate.

LABOR IN VAIN

The Young Bee and the Thief of Her Burrow-home

The man, in passing, carelessly swished his cane against the wall-flower, and she went off from it as though she were a rocket and the cane a match.

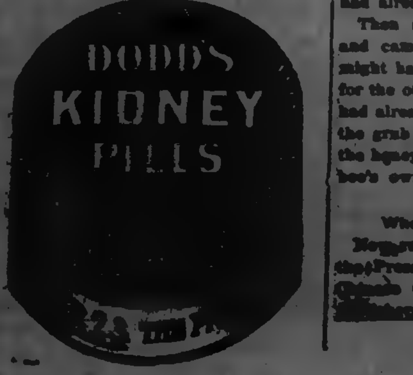
She was a bee—not very big, being only about half an inch in length; but she was black, with tawny-yellow legs, and she was very hairy, and somehow that made her look larger than she was. Also her hum made her seem more dangerous than she really was, for there is some doubt as to whether her sting could have pierced anybody's skin. At that moment she was gathering honey and pollen, and, to judge by appearances, she was about full up, for the pollen covered her like gold dust, and she seemed literally to ooze honey at every joint—which, after all, is only another way of making beeswax. Then, all of a sudden, and without a fraction of a second's warning, a strange thing happened. The bottom of the floor she was standing upon—that is, the leaf on to which she had backed—fell out. Our bee fell, too, with this part of the leaf for a space, till she could collect herself. Then an odd face, with huge eyes, looked over from the other side and said "Bzzz!" very angrily, and she fled. She had been sitting on a part of a leaf which was being cut through from the other side by a leaf-cutter bee—who lines her nests with neat pieces cut from leaves—and—well, the piece had come out. Our bee went booming away through the hot sunshine, whirring like an aeroplane, and in a direct line. She was not alone. The air was full of insects, busy passing upon their "lawful occasions."

But it seemed at first as if our bee—who evidently knew where she was going—was alone all the same. In a moment, however, it was evident that one flew with her, as if guarding her and guiding her through the dangerous avenues of the aerial ways. He was like her, but bright brown, and was her husband, if our insect may be said to have a husband, and there were men who said that he had never been known to settle. He certainly was always on the wing whenever I saw him.

Presently, after being once chased by one bird, once nearly caught by another, and once attacked by some big wasp thing, they let themselves down to a clay bank. The face of the bank was alive with females of our bee's own kind, rushing in and out of holes—each to her own hole—and the air was alive, too, with males, dancing the maddest dizzy, humming dance that ever you saw.

Our bee hurried straight to her own burrow, only to bump into another bee who was coming out. This bee was more slim, and black, with white spots on her body. She hurried away, and our bee, instead of killing her, as she ought to have done, rushed in and placed her store of honey and pollen beside the egg she had already laid.

Then she cemented the walls up, and came away happy. But she might have saved herself the trouble, for the other bee was a "cuckoo," who had already laid an egg there herself, the grub from which would eat up all the honey and pollen intended for our bee's own grub.



Who Would be an Editor?

New regulations for the control of the Press have been issued by the Chinese Government. Editors and Publishers are required to g[illegible] record of their past to the police before they can obtain permission to publish. This rule, in effect, gives power to the police to refuse a license to anyone who has been connected with political propaganda.

Publishers in Peking must deposit with the police $150 for a daily newspaper, $125 for a weekly, $75 for a monthly, and $50 for an annual, and the rates are doubled for publications outside Peking. No person under thirty can be the editor, publisher or printer of a newspaper, and no person having a nervous disease can be an editor.

Deserted Town of Blackmailers

Only seven people now live at Dyea, which in the days of the Klondike had a population of 20,000. Of the seven, it is said only two are whites. The townsite has been filed on as farming land by three homesteaders, one of whom is an Indian woman and another a young man who is founding a fox ranch. Dyea, whose post office was established in 1895, became the next year the most crowded, lawless settlement in the world. The residents took toll from the men going in to seek gold and those coming out with pouches of the precious stuff. After completion of the White Pass and Yukon Railway, with Skagway as its sea terminus, Dyea collapsed and was abandoned.

The ranch is situated on the well known Glenaladale Farm, owned by Major C. McKinnon, formerly the homestead of Sir William McDonald, and is only 12 miles from Charlottetown, in a quiet locality sufficiently removed from any disturbance.

THE RANCHER

Mr. Arthur W. McKinnon, our Ranch Manager, has had much experience in breeding foxes, and has the practical knowledge necessary to efficiently manage and care for the animals.

The foxes will be ranched free of charge to the Company for the first year. This means a large saving to the shareholders, as some companies have to pay as high as 25 per cent. of the increase for ranching purposes.

The promoters of this Company are retaining $80,000 worth of stock for themselves. $20,000 worth has already been disposed of, leavinb $200,000 to be offered to investors at $25.00 per share, with a guarantee that a dividend of 50 per cent. will be paid in cash in 1915, or whatever more it may be.

The Glenaladale Silver Black Fox Co., Limited, in 1913 guaranteed a dividend of 50 per cent. but are going to pay 50 per cent. in cash and 50 per cent., in stock in 1914. "The Company is in good standing and to each and every investor the first of September, 1914, we can say:— 'We have given you 50 per cent. more than we promised." And we feel sure that in 1915 all the shareholders in this re-capitalized company will be able to say they received more than they were promised.

This Company can truthfully say that they have not one cent of watered stock in the Company. Now Mr. Investor, if you were a Company and we the shareholders, we would look to you for justice to give us all that was honestly due us. We would not like for you to buy 3 pairs of foxes at $15,000 per pair ($45,000) and form a fox company and capitalize your concern at $90,000 and make us pay, as shareholders, for it. The Glenaladale Silver Black Fox Company, Limited, will ask you to do nothing like that. We want to let you in on the ground floor.

NOTICE

When a fox company guarantees any specified dividend to its shareholders, and when said company is an incorporated body, you need not be afraid of any unfair play, for such company is compelled to pay what they promise, and, besides, every interest is taken for the welfare of both the investor and the company.

The promoters of this Company are all above board and will not permit any crook to come in and do anything that is not right. Anyone holding stock in this Company who is dissatisfied can, by notifying the Secretary-Treasurer, have his or her money promptly refunded.

FORTUNES IN FOXES

There is money in fox ranching more than anything else ever known. It is good for the rich man and good for the poor man. A poor man cannot buy a pair of Silver Black Foxes but he can easily raise $25.00, $50.00 or $100.00. By investing in this Company he gets back his money in at least two years and then he will have an income for life and for his children to come—and after there will be money in fox farming. One of the reasons for this is that P. E. Island has now 95 per cent. of the world's foxes in captivity. For every one pelt that can be raised there are more than 25 wealthy people waiting for it in London, Russia, France and America.

PELT VALUES

The Fox Pelts have advanced greatly in price since 1910 and you can see for yourself what money was in them then.

Below are the particulars of sale of a consignment of Silver Fox Furs, shipped from Prince Edward Island ranches to London, England, and sold there in March, 1910:

Shares are selling at $25.00 each; 25 per cent. with application and the balance on or before September 1st, 1914.

Simply fill out the application form and mail to Major C. McKinnon, Secretary-Treasurer, Glenaladale, P. E. I.

All cheques must be made payable to "The Glenaladale Silver Black Fox Co., Ltd."

A POINTER

Just to give you a little idea of what the free ranching of foxes mean to the investor, we will figure it out for you.

We have twenty pairs of foxes in the ranch and suppose each pair produces a litter of only four foxes this is equal to 40 pairs and at $15,000 per year it would figure out at $600,000. Now, if we had to pay even 15 per cent. of the increase for ranching purposes (which is considerably lower than some companies pay) it would mean that we would have to pay $90,000 for ranching expenses.

We ranch the foxes free for the first year, so that in addition to a guaranteed dividend of 50 per cent., we save you this large outlay of money. While we guarantee 50 per cent., still should each pair in our ranch produce four pups it would mean that your dividend would be about 200 per cent. instead of 50 per cent.

FINAL WORD

A great deal has been written about Ranches, Grades of Foxes, etc., but after all the one object that every investor should keep before him is the dividend he is going to get. We have tried to show you in plain English what we can do for you and now that you have our proposition, compare it with the offer made by any other company now in business— and then judge for yourself to have been paid by some of the Charlottetown daily newspapers.

IMPORTANT NOTICE

CALGARY, July 23rd.—An official statement just issued by the Monarch Oil Company states that the drill has just passed through a 57-foot strata of oil bearing sand, at a depth of between 1775 and 1832 feet. A sample of the oil from this oil sand is on exhibition at the Company's office in Calgary. This is the fourth oil sand encountered in the well, and indicates that a good producing well should be obtained before going much deeper. The Hole-Woollard Oil Company is making preparations to drill on its property in the Monarch district, which adjoins the property of the Monarch Oil Company, and we are advised that the price of shares will be advanced as soon as drilling operations are started. The time to invest in the shares of the Hole-Woollard Company is NOW, before the advance in price.

An Appeal to the Intelligent Investor !

Does a logical presentation of a good investment interest you? Do you believe there is an oil in commercial quantities in Alberta? If you are alive to the situation you do. Then it will pay you to investigate our proposition and our holdings.

Please Read Carefully and Note!

THAT Oil authorities are agreed the Alberta Oil Field is of an anticlinal formation. It has been fairly accurately ascer-tained in what general direction these anticlines run. Geologist B. W. Dunn chose wisely in the selection of the now famous Monarch well. WINDSOR OILFIELDS, LIMITED, has holdings located close to the Monarch.

THAT Cunningham Craig, one of the world's most eminent geologists, selected the site of the Mowbray-Berkeley well. Stock in that company is not offered at any price. We possess acreage adjoining the Mowbray-Berkeley (Section 12, Township 23, Range 5, West of 5th). If a strike is made at the Mowbray-Berkeley what will shares in our company be worth?

Our holdings consist of 1380 acres, carefully selected and judiciously spread over the entire oil field.

COPPER

The Red Metal

MILLIONS OF TONS OF PAY ORE

Copper is one of the world's chief necessities, and the demand for it is constantly increasing. Growth of the electrical industry largely accounts for this. Telegraph and Telephone Wire—Trolley Wire—Trolley Wheels and the multitude of other Electrical Machines and Parts—Power Transmission Wire and the use of the metal in various valuable Alloys—these are some of the places where copper is consumed, and while its production is enormous it is used about as rapidly as it can be mined and made ready. THIS IS WHY OWNERSHIP IN A COPPER MINE IS ONE OF THE MOST SATISFACTORY SOURCES OF INCOME POSSIBLE TO IMAGINE.

TIME TO START

Naturally the time to secure an interest in any sort of enterprise is at the start, because it is then that money for development and equipment is needed and this is, of course, the reason why shares in the project are released! When these necessities are provided for the Opportunity passes.

For years we have been spending time, effort and money in getting together one of the largest known copper deposits, and we now own and control thousands of acres of land, covering veins of copper, ore carrying gold and silver values, extensive veins of coal, iron and lime.

The geology is so well defined as to make identifications of size and location of the copper bearing veins a perfect definite matter. In addition to this the estate has been thoroughly prospected by some 4,000 feet of work, there being more than 100 shafts, pits, cuts and tunnels, every one of which shows copper in paying quantities. The dumps of these openings run from 2 to 8 per cent in copper metal.

Facilities for economically winning the copper from its ores are remarkably fine. In the company's own ground are five known coal beds, insuring a perpetual supply of cheap fuel, easily accessible and located within a very short distance of the site chosen for its furnaces. Water and timber are also abundant and easy of access.

One of Colorado's most eminent mining engineers, after thoroughly examining this property, states in his report that the net profits resulting from operation of this property should range from $250,000 to $1,000,000 each year.

There is no uncertainty, no guesswork, about this project. Applied to it, a definite cause will inevitably produce an equally definite effect. Equipment for mining these immense bodies of ore and reducing the metal in them to bullion means dividends—it can't mean anything else—and it is to provide this equipment and the funds required for its installation and the preliminary operating expenses of the estate that an interest in the project is offered to you.

It is YOUR OPPORTUNITY to join in a well planned, conservative, and exceptionally profitable business undertaking. The foundations are laid, the property is acquired and the next step—providing the equipment—is now being taken. So soon as this is accomplished your chance to secure a share in the enterprise will be gone.

TRAINING FOR LIFE

"What the future calling (of the boy) will be is not difficult to decide. For three out of four boys in the west it will be farming. Let, then, his school course be colored with agriculture. Usually nature study is thought to be all that is necessary. But this nature study too often deals with objects remote from farm life. What is wanted is nature study of such objects as grains, roots, grasses, weeds, animals and birds in their relation to the farm; in other words, simple courses in agriculture, studied, not from books, but from nature. Similarly, courses in cooking, sewing, etc., are desirable for girls. If, with these, manual training in woodworking and ironworking could be given, the vocational tinge would be complete. These additions, however, might require too much equipment and at least a second teacher. The consolidated school solves this problem. In the single school, however, the elementary courses in agriculture, with probably a school garden, could be given. This plan requires trained teachers. Without good teachers such a course will not only become a farce, but will disgust the children and turn them from the farm. To secure such teachers our high schools must have good courses in agriculture. No shams, no makebelieves; but strong and thorough courses, taught by men and women trained in agricultural colleges and universities. The agricultural specialist in the high school should be the equal of the mathematical, the English or any other specialist. He should be a college-trained man. If good teachers are secured, these courses can be given in the public schools and the high schools without neglecting any of the present work."—President Murray of Saskatchewan University.

How People Feel
When They Have
Tape Worm

Tape worm is bred from a parasite. This parasite is a creature male and female in one. It is a pear shape, having two, four and six suckers. It lays the eggs, which are only connected together with slime. They develop and form a body, which is the worm. Each joint is an individual, having a sucker or mouth. The worm grows to be much longer than the bowels where it is located, and sometimes a whole colony of them are found, enough to fill a quart of solid worm, and when put in a bucket of water would apparently fill it. It is the hardest task in the world to destroy this parasite without doing injury to the individual who may be so unfortunate as to have it, as the parasite clings to the bowels, freeing itself from the body of the worm, and remains there to breed another. It is an internal demon and causes its victims to suffer all the symptoms of disease imaginable. The cleverest physicians are led to believe the patient is suffering from some other disease, as nearly every person has different symptoms. Some have been treated for cancer of the bowels, consumption of the bowels, consumption of the lungs, chronic dyspepsia, nervous prostration, melancholia, hypochondria, hysteria, inflammation of the bowels, appendicitis and other complaints, when one or more of these internal demons were eating their lives away.

Prof. Mulvaney has made the discovery to free the victim of this monster without injury to the system, destroying the parasite as well as expelling the worm with one dose of medicine without any previous starvation. Visit his office, where he has in his possession the most wonderful collection of these death-dealing monsters in the world, which have been expelled from hundreds of people by his famous remedy, some bottles containing colonies of worms and anyone seeing them cannot imagine how a person could possibly live with them in his bowels. It is surprising the number of people that have them. Thousands have them and are not aware of the fact. The letters and testimonials the Professor has in his possession are enough to convince one of this alarming fact. Some of the most prominent symptoms are: ravenous appetite, dizzy spells, headaches, cramps in the bowels, a feeling of something moving in the bowels, also a feeling as though something was crawling up the throat. The only certainty of having one in the system is when segments or joints are seen, which come away almost any time. They are flat and from ½ of an inch to 1 inch long, which have often been mistaken for pin worms by those who do not know the difference. There are many other feelings of distress which would take long to enumerate. Strange to say, some people of strong constitution, have very little distress.

Prof. Mulvaney's world-famous Tape Worm Exterminator is safe, sure and harmless. No starvation, no danger, is not disagreeable to take. One dose nearly always effects a cure. SEWS HAIR TO SCALP

Remarkable Cure For Baldness—Gold Wires For Anchor

A method of sewing hairs to the human scalp in cases of baldness has been successfully used by Dr. Szekely at the Hospital of Saint Stephane in Budapest. The number of hairs planted in the head of one patient was as high as 60,000. One hundred hairs are drawn through punctures in the scalp in every square centimeter, and as both ends are left free this makes over 1,000 hairs to each square inch.

In the operation very fine gold wires are used 1-500 of an inch in diameter, and fine long hairs from a woman's head are attached to these. The gold loop acts as an anchor, which after sterilization is introduced into the subcutaneous tissue, where it is slightly twisted, thus holding the hair in permanent position. It is claimed that 500 hairs can thus be planted in three-quarters of an hour. A special instrument has been designed by Dr. Szekely for planting the gold wires, which are so fine that after the work is completed for planting 60,000 hairs there is only one gramme of gold left in the scalp. The hair becomes perfectly natural after a capsule of tissue forms around the gold knot. The inflammation entirely disappears within ten days after the operation and no evil results have ensued from any of the planting. The doctor's earliest patient, who underwent the operation seven years ago, now has a beautiful head of glossy hair.

A French journal states that it has been found that flies have a great objection to the color blue, and if tenements infested with flies are washed with a blue instead of a white wash, flies will desert the place. In support of this the following instance is reported. A farmer had 170 cows housed in different sheds; they were pestered with flies, but he observed that in one shed, the walls of which were a blue tint, the cows were not worried. He therefore added a blue color to the lime with which he washed the walls of his buildings, and from that time the flies deserted the place. The following formula is used by him for the wash:

To twenty gallons of water add 10 pounds of slacked lime and 1 pound of ultramarine. The washing is done twice during the summer.

A Shrinking Sea

The surface of the Caspian, which lies 85 feet below sea level, has, since June, 1910, been continually sinking, without a plausible explanation having hitherto been found. No great importance was at first attached to the phenomenon, but the shrinkage went on, and is now even beginning to be inconvenient for navigation, as steamers in many places cannot reach the landing stages. It is believed that the river water flowing into the sea is not sufficient to make good the loss caused by evaporation.

WANT SAFE VESSEL FOR HERRING CARGO

Increasing Battles With Death Amid the Worst Weather of the Year

For nearly sixty years the New England fishermen have been prosecuting the herring industry in Newfoundland waters—in Placentia and Fortune Bays on the south, in Bay of Islands and Bonne Bay on the west, and in White and Green Bays on the east coast. The fish are cured in two ways: By salting until the frost sets in, and then by freezing. About sixty American and many Canadian and Newfoundland vessels engage in it, but the former, because of their long voyages, experience the most fatalities. The vessels, though averaging only one hundred tons burden, are of the very finest and staunchest in rigging and equipment, for no others could stand the dangers they have to face; and neither skippers nor crews will take any smack for a herring cargo which they are not satisfied with. Indeed, they will frequently test a vessel's gear in a preliminary cruise, and if found faulty will "chuck her up." This is not surprising when it is remembered that six or eight men have to handle these craft during trips that represent constant, unceasing battles with death, amid weather the worst in the year, with frost and floes to add new hazard to the navigation of waters dangerous enough at any time.

The rigors of a Newfoundland winter are but poorly imagined by those unfamiliar with its climate and coastline. Yet it is only in this season that the herring are to be found in these waters—the one part of the Atlantic seaboard where they resort then; and since they are used as bait for the American vessels which fish off the Nahant Peninsula, as well as for food purposes in all the eastern cities, they must be had, no matter at what cost to ships and men, because only at this season can they be frozen by exposure to the bitter night air, and carried to the American and Canadian ports in the vessels' holds without refrigerators or other artificial accessories to retain them in this state.

A BIRD OF GREAT PRICE

Fur-farming in Canada has become a recognized industry, and one that yields large remuneration derived from the pockets of the rich. In southern countries, particularly in Africa, the ostrich is being confined, and the production of plumes commercialized. Prime ostrich feathers realize from $150 to $300 a piece, and when one bird supplies several plumes it may be realized that society will contribute a handsome revenue to the enterprise. The British South Africa Company have set apart 12,000 acres of selected land as an ostrich ranch, 400 acres of which is fertile land well adapted for profitable agriculture. The birds desire solitude, and large enclosures are made on these farms whereby they may secure retreat from man and from their own kind. Naturally they live in flocks of four or five. One male and the remainder females. They all lay their eggs in the same nest, which is brooded by the male at night and by the females during the day. This practice enhances the protection of the nest more than it hastens incubation, for they will hatch if left in the warm sand. About thirty eggs are laid in the nest, and as many more are scattered around outside, which are broken to feed the young. At regular intervals the adults are deprived of their plumes. With judicious management the establishments yield considerable profit.

SMOTHERING OF ASTHMA STOPS QUICK THOUSANDS CURED BY "CATARRHOZONE"

Count Ten—Then Relief Comes From Chronic Asthma.

Nothing yet discovered can compare with Catarrhozone in bad, ugly cases of Asthma.

Catarrhozone is the one remedy that can be sent quickly and direct to all parts of the breathing apparatus.

The effect from Catarrhozone is a quick one—you feel better in no time—keep up the good work, use Catarrhozone as directed and you get well.

If your case is curable, if anything on earth can rid you permanently of Asthma, it will be Catarrhozone. It contains that strangely soothing and powerful antiseptic found in the Blue Gum Tree of Australia, and this is fortified by other germ-killing properties which, when so scientifically combined, make Catarrhozone a veritable specific for Asthma, Catarrh and Bronchitis.

Even though many other remedies have failed—even though you are discouraged and blue,—cheer up and try Catarrhozone to-day. What it repeatedly has done for others it will surely not fail to accomplish for you.

Catarrhozone is not expensive. One dollar will buy a complete outfit from any Druggist. The money will be well spent because your immediate improvement in health will surpass your fondest expectations. Don't wait—today is the time to use Catarrhozone.

REAL ESTATE NEWS.

The Water Street real estate firm of C.J. Carroll & Co. is no longer. Mr. Carroll's partner Mr. Thos. J. Moran yesterday sold out his interests to Mr. Carroll who will conduct the business and assume all liabilities.

No Paving This Year ?

It is understood that the proposed work on new local pavements will not be carried on this year owing to the war. The banks have been impelled to tighten their purse strings. Consequently city debentures to pay for such work would have to be sold at such a discount it would not pay the city to proceed.

Local Nurses Enlist.

Six ladies of the local Graduate Nurses' Association have answered the call for active service. They are: Miss Alberta Meyers, Miss Mary Gordon, Mrs. W. E. Leeb, Miss Scannell, Mrs. M. K. Douglas, Miss Emily Devell.

Local Soldiers Called.

P.C. Hayward received a telephone message at 12.15 yesterday morning from Major Oddell, Cobourg, to warn the following men to report at Cobourg at 10 o'clock, viz, Sergt Lapp, E. Hargrove, C. Richardson, Percy Parrington, M. Huycke, Percy Holland and L. Kieff. Chief Thompson notified all the men named.

Off for France.

Mr. Louis Homedry, the local pea merchant, left last night for his home in Paris, France. He took the midnight to Montreal and thence sail. At present he belongs to no regiment, but will enlist immediately on arrival, the regiment being as yet undetermined.

Local Horse Won the 2.15.

"Jimmy Direct" won the 2.15 class race at Burke's Falls in three straight heats. This swift steed was driven by its owner Mr. Frank Montgomery of this city. The judges and the large audience present all admired the artistic way in which Mr. Montgomery handled the ribbons.

Local C. P. R. Of Old.

The Times of Aug. 6th, 1884, or thirty years ago, says, regarding the present C.P.R. railroad: The Toronto Mail's correspondent says: The opening of the Ontario and Quebec railway has had to be again postponed to the 11th of August, the Kaladar sink hole still proving insecure.

No More Milk Credit.

The local association of milk vendors has decided that, owing to present exigencies of the war conditions, no more credit shall be given for milk. One can hardly blame the milkman when a man has to put up about $702 in first class securities to borrow $100 from the banks.

When the Hose Connected.

Yesterday morning two young local men went fishing up the river. Their bait was glow worms. One of them arrived home at 1 a.m. and began to search his mother's lawn for glow worms. It might be said incidentally that he had interviewed a large number of friends during the preceding evening. In his quest for worms he did not notice that the garden hose was turned on. When he got good and wet he woke his mother up and called "Mother please turn the hose off. I'm looking for glow worms and am wet through."

P. F. & C. Co. Fail.

A meeting of shareholders of the Peterborough Fuel and Cartage Company was held when the company went into voluntary liquidation. Mr. W. R. Morris was appointed liquidator, while Messrs. Wm. Buller and R. Denne were appointed inspectors to represent the shareholders and Mr. R. W. Travers was appointed to represent the Bank of Montreal. It is the intention to keep the business running as a going concern. Tenders will shortly be called for the sale of the assets.

Peterboro Actor Praised.

Toronto Globe: There is not a dull moment from the time the curtain first rises at Loew's Winter Garden this week, in fact so much laughter has seldom been crowded in one program, and the patrons are hugely delighted. The clever, original and bright presentation of "School Days" reminds one a little of old days, not more because laughter keeps back recollections from becoming too strong. A most delightful turn is that of Danny Simmons, the happy tramp comedian. It is good to hear children laugh as they did yesterday at the cleverness of this clean entertainer. Another turn which tickled the fancy of the juveniles and grown-ups was that of "Juggling Nelson." The other items on the bill are all splendid, and with a good lot of "movies" the most fastidious goes away satisfied.

Our Local Infantry.

Should the 57th be called out as a regiment, the members will be summoned by notification and bugle call, and will assemble at the Armouries in full strength. The procedure will depend entirely upon the orders issued. If the whole regiment is called out they would find a large part of war equipment at the Armouries. The remainder would be issued as soon as they arrived in camp, and would include what is known as the Webb equipment, which has replaced the Oliver equipment. That could be provided from the local Armouries. The Regiment will either wear their scarlet uniform or their cotton kharki service uniform.

Whetungs' Assailants Fined.

Lindsay Post: County Magistrate F.D. Moore gave judgment today in the Bobcaygeon assault case in which the Nichols brothers of that place assaulted Joe and Roy Whetung. Percy Nichols was fined $20 for assaulting Joe Whetung, and also fined additionally for assault on Roy Whetung. Herb Nichols was fined $5 for assault on Roy Whetung. Matt Nichols' fine was $20 for assault on Roy Whetung. Costs were also added to each fine. The case against Alfred Nichols was dismissed and the charge of assault against Whetung brothers was also dismissed. All the Nichols were bound over to keep the peace for one year. Matt and Percy were bound over to keep the peace for two years.

"Easy" Money at Lindsay

Lindsay Post: A band of gypsies struck town on Tuesday and the female members of the band were busy today soliciting citizens to have their fortunes told. To-day at noon a citizen complied with their request and allowed one of the band to get her hands on his money, with the result that when she departed he was $25 short. He notified Constable Short, who immediately started to search for the woman. The Chief and the citizen in question came across the woman. The latter identified her as the party who "touched" him. She denied it, of course, and in passing her hands over his clothes, slipped the money back into his pocket, remarking at the same time, "the good man will find his money in his pocket." A search was made and the $25 was found.

Visiting Teachers Enjoy Splendid Sports in Algonquin Park.

The Algonquin Provincial Park of Ontario, as the largest and most interesting forest reserve in the Eastern section of the Continent, is attracting this summer many special parties from Europe. The English members of the National Union of Teachers, under the care of Mr. F. W. Goldstone, M.P., are due on the Park on Wednesday for a two days' stay. The Rev. W.A. Main, in charge of the Scottish Teachers' party, reports a delightful time and splendid fishing.

"The name 'Highland Inn,' appealed to our Scottish sentiment," he said, "and led us to expect something extra special as to location and picturesque environment. We have not been disappointed. The bedroom and table appointments leave nothing to be desired. To sum up, the unanimous verdict of my party is that 'it's just like being at home.'"

Another Lindsay Burglary.

Lindsay Post: Another store was burglarized last night and the circumstances surrounding the case goes to prove that the theft was the work of boys who were familiar with the surroundings. This time it was J. C. Burke's grocery store, corner of Russell and Lindsay streets, that was visited. The thief or thieves entered the store from the rear. A small ladder was first secured at Mr. John's who resides next door, and entrance was affected through the kitchen by simply turning back the screen. The coast was then clear from this point to the store. The till was broken into and the contents, some small change, taken. The key of the front door was in the lock and the thief made his get away by unlocking the door and taking the key with him.

IN NATURE'S WILDERNESS

The attractiveness of spending ones summer holidays in the open is appealing to the large army of summer pleasure seekers more and more every year and instead of looking for the fashionable resorts where one has to dress for dinner and where gayety reigns supreme, the younger generations are taking to the woods, the lakes and the streams in which they find, in a two or three weeks' outing that rest and bodily upbuilding that fortifies them for the arduous duties that a strenuous twentieth century business life demands—ALGONQUIN PARK is just the out-of-way sort of place for you—log cabin camps in the heart of the wilderness surrounded with unrivalled scenery and in the midst of the best fishing and with the comforts of city homes await you. Hotels with reasonable rates offer good accommodation. Two thousand feet above sea level assures you of cool evenings and the purest of air. Only 285 miles west of Montreal, 170 miles west of Ottawa, and 200 miles north of Toronto. Ask Grand Trunk Agents for all information, rates, etc. B.A. Rose, City Passenger and Ticket Agent, Peterboro.

Railway Appointments.

Mr. Frank Scott, Vice-President and Treasurer of the Grand Trunk and Grand Trunk Pacific Railways, announces to-day the following appointments which have been approved by the President, Mr. E. J. Chamberlain.

Mr. William C. Tomkins, to be Assistant to Vice-President, effective August 1st.

Mr. James A. Yates to be Assistant Treasurer, effective August 1st.

Mr. William C. Tomkins, Assistant to the Vice-President, entered the Grand Trunk service September 1st, 1883, in the office of Auditor of Pay Rolls. Two years later he went over to the office of the General Manager, which afterwards became the President's office. In May 1908 he became Secretary to the late Vice-President Mr. M.W. Reynolds, remaining in charge of that office during Mr. Reynold's service with the Company.

Mr. James A. Yates entered the service of the Grand Trunk in 1891 as junior clerk in the Audit Department but was transferred to the Treasurer's office in the same year and has had continuous service there. When the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway was organized in 1907 he was appointed Chief Clerk to the Treasurer and since January 1st, 1912 has been Chief Clerk to the Treasurer of both the Grand Trunk and Grand Trunk Pacific Railways.

CANADA'S RESOURCES.

See Show in the Government Building at Canadian National Exhibition.

The display of Canada's natural resources in the Government Building at the Canadian National Exhibition, Toronto, is the most complete ever got together. The Dominion Government is sending a complete exhibit of the fish that swim in the Atlantic, the Pacific and the streams that flow between. Ontario is showing her grains, her fruits and her minerals; British Columbia is sending her timber, her fruit and her grains, the Prairie Provinces are showing their grains and the Maritime Provinces their minerals. If you are a Canadian the display will make you proud. If you are a visitor it will interest and amaze you.

CITY IN PARAGRAPH

Many local street laborers have been "let out" owing to the money stringency due to the war.

It is announced that there will be no enlisting in Peterborough for the next couple of days at any rate.

It was generally hoped here yesterday that Kaiser William will be so badly spanked he will, for ten years, shy at the sight of a chair.

Port Hope seems to have the right way of handling "Vags." They fine vags $5 and give them ten days in which to pay up. During the ten days the vag fades away.

The Times offers a leather medal to an inventor of the best spanker yet produced, provided it accomplishes its object on Emperor Bill of Germany.

It was generally considered here yesterday that, allowing a certain latitude for newspaper exaggeration, the situation in Europe is most serious.

Germany may well tremble now! The Bessie Butler's corkscrew was found yesterday so that the 'jagship of the Trent may go to water at once.

It is absolutely untrue that Dinny Daly is to command the Bessie Butler when she sails for the war to-day. Dinny is engaged, selling rings at Jubilee Point that win a prize when a four inch circle of iron covers a five inch article.

A Generous Prince

The Crown Prince of Germany decided to spend the profits from the sale of his book, "From a Sportsman's Diary," in providing a three weeks' holiday for one hundred boys attending the Berlin elementary schools. The boys were selected from the poorest class, and were quartered in the barracks of the Prince's regiment at Langfuhr, near Dantzic, which locality combines the advantages of country and seaside.

STRANGE DREAMS AND THEIR PORTENTS

Do People of the Present Age Still Believe in the Supernatural? —It Would Seem So

Most people have, deep down in their natures, a private and unconfessed faith in dreams, premonitions, forebodings, says the Toronto Star. Some hard-headed business men will not start on an important journey nor embark on a big business venture on a Friday, although they do not actually say so, and you may do business with them for years without finding it out. They contrive matters so that it is never necessary to admit that they have a fear of Friday. It would be too absurd a thing to admit, and they do not actually confess it to themselves. Or if they ever admit it to themselves or to their closest friends they speak of it, not as a real superstition, but as a humorous little oddity which interests and amuses them. The present age is one of levity, but the truth is that mankind is strongly predisposed towards superstition and to a belief in the supernatural.

Strange stories are told in connection with the loss of the Empress of Ireland. People had dreams, premonitions, and forebodings. We have no wish to express a doubt as to the truthfulness of anybody who relates an experience of this kind. In fact, we see no reason for doubting the truth of all the evidence produced, but we see no reason for assuming that these dreams and forebodings were a bit different from what they would have been if the Empress of Ireland had enjoyed a prosperous voyage. What we mean to say is that when a thousand people are about to make a journey by sea, there will be among them, and among their relatives, many who will have dreams and forebodings, which will possess significance if a shipwreck occurs, but which will possess no significance at all and will never be heard of if the journey is a happy one.

There is the story of the ship's cat, which, although it had kittens on board, ran away, and although brought back, escaped again and did not sail on the Empress. This story will pass into tradition. About it we would say that it needs to be verified. Even if verified, we would expect to find the explanation in the life and affairs of the cat, rather than in any mysterious fore-knowledge or foreboding of the animal that in a future fog at sea the captains of two ships would misunderstand each other and cause a disaster.

WHO ARE THE JAPS?

Ferrero Believes They Are Fellow Race of South American Indians

Guglielmo Ferrero, the famous Roman historian, believes with many eminent ethnologists that the South American Indians and the Japanese are kindred races, and he looks forward to their eventual alliance, if not amalgamation. He tells how Porfirio Diaz, when President of Mexico, received from the Mikado a dispatch, in which the latter saluted the President as "the ruler of a brother state"—a land populated by the same race. He tells us that he found in Chile, Brazil and Mexico most of the population belonging to the native races, while the Europeans formed an aristocratic minority. He asks:

"To what race to these native populations actually belong, populations which have resisted with such vigor the influences of European conquest and immigration? Anyone, without being a professional anthropologist, can discern in them a certain resemblance to the Japanese. I shall never forget, for instance, an impression produced on my mind at Uspallata, in the Andes, by the men who arrived to carry the mail from Argentina to Chile. At that time the trains did not stop at Uspallata in winter. 'But aren't these men Japanese?' I inquired of my companion. 'They might well be Japanese,' was the reply. 'There are a number of Japanese in Chile. But they might also be Chileans.'"

VOL. XLI, NO. 182 SATURDAY MORNING, AUGUST 8, 1914 PRICE TWO CENTS

REPORT SAYS THAT "IRON DUKE" AND THE ADMIRAL WENT DOWN

25,000 Dead German Loss

GERMANS ADMIT LOSS OF 25,000.

London, Aug. 7.—An Exchange Telegraph Company's despatch from Brussels says the German troops at Liege acknowledge the loss of 2 .000 men. The agency says this statement is official.

FRENCH NEARING BATTLEGROUND.

London, Aug. 7.—Another despatch to the Exchange Telegraph Company from Brussels, says the French army has now entered Belgium and has advanced well into the country.

ADMIRALTY ANNOUNCES SHIPPING SAFE.

London, Aug. 7.—The Admiralty announces that British coastwise shipping on the east coast is now safe, because the British fleet has engaged the Germans on the high seas and the German fleet is now being chased towards the coast of Holland.

NO SURRENDER, SAID BELGIANS.

Brussels, Aug. 7.—Le People says the bombardment of Liege has caused six or seven fires in the city up to seven o'clock last evening. The heaviest firing occurred yesterday. German officers then came to the city with a white flag and demanded the surrender of the place. They received a negative reply and the bombardment was resumed at six o'clock.

STEAMER SEIZED IN CANADIAN PORT.

Quebec, Aug. 7.—Reports from Rimouski, are to the effect that a German steamer is being held at that place as a prize.

DUTCH PREPARE FOR WAR.

The Hague, Netherlands, Aug. 7.—The Dutch army is mobilising rapidly for war with Germany. Queen Wilhelmina left here early to-day by auto to inspect the troops concentrated near Roterdam.

FRENCH ESTABLISHED IN ALSACE-LORRAINE.

Paris, Aug. 7.—The Minister of War announces that French troops have occupied Vic and Moyenvic, small German towns in Alsace-Lorraine, just over the border, and about seventeen miles east of Nancy.

THIRD ATTEMPT TO WIN LIEGE.

Brussels, Aug. 7.—Some 120,000 German troops were hurried upon Liege late this afternoon, in a third desperate attempt to capture that city. Reinforced by fresh troops that arrived shortly after the Kaiser's forces retired last night and camped on the left bank of the Meuse, General Von Emmich's regiments moved forward en masse.

Before the infantry got into position the German batteries along the Meuse shelled Fort Fleron and put three of its mortars out of commission.

Under cover of their artillery, the German infantry dashed forward and within a short time had captured Bressaux, a suburb of Liege, only a short distance from Fort Fleron.

HAND-TO-HAND FIGHTING.

At the time this despatch is sent desperate hand-to-hand fighting is going on in the streets.

The forts about Bressaux are unable to fire upon the combatants for fear of killing Belgians as well as Germans. If the Germans retain Bressaux they probably will be able to take Liege, the main city, in a few hours, as 12,000 Germans are now attacking. They have penetrated a suburb and fighting is now going on in the streets.

Nineteen German Battleships and Four British Were Sunk and Seventeen German Ships Captured, According to an Unconfirmed Wireless Received at Ottawa To-day--Admiral Gallaghan is Said to Have Been Drowned When His Flagship Foundered

Ottawa, Aug. 7.—An unconfirmed message was received at Ottawa this morning from Halifax that nineteen German battleships had been sunk and seventeen captured and that four British Ships were sunk. The wireless said that the British flagship, the Iron Duke, was amongst those sunk and that Admiral Callaghan, commander of the British Fleet, went down with his ship.

The message is unconfirmed.

SAY BRITISH LOST SIX SHIPS.

Halifax, Aug. 7.—It is reported here that in the naval engagement in the North Sea seventeen German warships were sunk and seventeen were captured. British lost six ships.

KAISER THIRTEEN YEARS AGO PROPHESIED A BIG WAR

"We will be everywhere victorious even if we are surrounded by enemies on all sides and even if we have to fight superior numbers, for our most powerful alley is God above, who, since the time of the Great Elector and Great King, has always been on our side."—At Berlin, March 29, 1901.

"I vowed never to strike for world mastery. The world empire that I then dreamed of was to create for the German empire on all sides the most absolute confidence as a quiet, honest and peaceable neighbor. I have vowed that if ever the time came when history should speak of a German world power or a Hohenzollern world power this should not be based on conquest, but come through a mutual striving of nations after a common purpose.

"After much has been done internally in a military way, the next thing must be the arming ourselves at sea. Every German battle ship is a new guarantee for the peace of the world. We are the salt of the earth, but must prove worthy of being so. Therefore our youth must learn to deny what is not good for them.

"With all my heart I hope that golden peace will continue to be present for us."—At Bremen, March 22, 1905.

"My first and last care is for my fighting forces on land and sea. May God grant that war may not come, I am firmly convinced that the army will acquit itself as it did so nobly thirty years ago."—At Berlin, February 25, 1906.

EUROPES WAR A CATACLYSM, DECLARES WILLIAM H. TAFT

One-Time President Call Conflict a Retrograde Step in Christian Civilization, But Rejoices in the Neutrality of the United States

Declaring the European war a cataclysm and a retrograde step in Christian civilization, Professor William H. Taft has written for the Independent which will appear next Monday, an interesting article in which the conflict with its probable effect upon the world, is discussed.

Mr. Taft says it is hard to prophesy the scope of a war, because history offers no precedent. The United States began war with Spain to free Cuba, he says, but at its close "we found ourselves ten thousand miles away with the Philippines on our hands." That there will be an immensive waste of life and treasure Mr. Taft is certain, but if the war should be the last, he adds, the end may be worth what it costs humanity. The article in full follows:

"As I write, Germany is reported to have declared war against Russia and France, and the participation of England on the one side and of Italy on the other seems imminent. Nothing like it, has occurred since the great Napoleonic wars, and with modern armaments and larger populations, nothing has occurred like it since the world began.

"It is a cataclysm. It is a retrograde step in Christian civilization. It will be difficult to keep the various countries of the Balkans out of the war, and Greece and Turkey may take part in it. All Europe is to be a battleground. It is reported that the neutrality of Holland has already been ignored and Belgium offers such opportunities in the campaigns certain to follow that her territory, too will be the scene of struggle.

SEES CARRYING TRADE SUSPENDED.

"Private property and commercial shipping under an enemy's flag are subject to capture and appropriation by prize proceedings and with the formidable navies of England, France Germany, Russia and Italy active, the great carrying trade of the world will be in large part suspended or destroyed or will be burdened with such heavy insurance as greatly to curtail it.

"The commerce for the world makes much for the prosperities of the countries with whom it is conducted and its interruption means great inconveniences and economic suffering among all people whether at peace or war. The capital which the European people have invested by the billions in the United States, Canada, Australia South Africa and in the Orient must perforce be withdrawn to fill the war chests of the nations engaged in a death game, and the enterprises which the capital made possible are likely to be greatly crippled while the hope of any further expansion must be definitely taken up.

"This general European war will give a feverish activity in a number of branches of our industry, but on the whole we shall suffer with the rest of the world, except that we shall not be destroying or blowing up our existing wealth or sacrificing the lives of our best young men and youth.

LOOKING AHEAD

To the Editor of The Times:

Sir.—In these unsettled days it may not be outside the scope of my duty as representative for me to make a few remarks on things as they appear from the inside at present. Canada's export trade has been increasing rapidly. Her import trade has been decreasing almost as rapidly. Consequently, our revenue is going down, but our real prosperity has been going up. War, however, has intervened. We can do without our imports, since we can and ought to do our own work in that respect; but the blow to our exports is a serious one. It means the throwing out of work of large numbers of able men. The point I wish to make is that many of our men can go on land if they will. Canada can defy starvation. When people are compelled to go back to first principles they are fortunate in being able to do so. Now is the time to take the matter up. Our able Mayor and Council might well confer with the County Council and make preparations, if not so much for this winter, at any rate for the next. I venture to say that a resolute grasping of the situation would mean its complete solution. There is no good in standing back waiting for something to turn up, all the while giving quiet utterance to sleepy stuff that may do only for an old maid's tea-party or something of that sort. We have the land. The people who want to work and are short of cash should have work provided for them, and it is the duty of the State and of the public to wake up. If we do not, the war will have its full effect upon us in creating poverty and disaster, a situation entirely uncalled for, which should not come about if we put some action into our talk. I beg leave to make this suggestion.

China Fleet Is Cornered

KAISER'S CHINA FLEET CORNERED.

Tokio, Aug. 7.—An authentic report received here states that the German squadron has been bottled up at Tsing-Tau by the British.

GERMAN CROWN PRINCE ATTACKED.

London, Aug. 7.—2.30 a.m.—The Standard says it has heard from a reliable source that the German Crown Prince has been seriously injured by an unidentified assailant, who after inflicting grave wounds, made his escape.

The German authorities in efforts to trace the assassin inflicted great indignities upon several Englishmen, according to the same report.

KAISER ORDERS SOCIALISTS SHOT.

New York, Aug. 7.—The New York office of La Prensa, of Buenos Ayres, received the following despatch, via Paris, last night:

"Berlin, Thursday—By order of the Emperor, one hundred Socialist deputies have been shot in Berlin, among them the Socialist leader, Herr Liebknecht."

SEA SWEPT CLEAR OF ENEMY.

London, Aug. 7.—Following the report that the east coast is free for shipping, comes the statement that all the rest of the sea is in the control of the British fleets. Support for this contention is found in the official permission given to fishing trawlers to leave the Tyne ports, those of the Humber, and other east coast fishing centres, for the fishing ground today. This had been forbidden for two days.

The surgeon in charge of the South Shields Hospital received a wireless last night, asking what accommodations he had for the wounded. He replied that he could take care of 1,000 persons.

RUSSIAN FLEET BOTTLED.

Stockholm, Aug. 7.—A Finnish sea captain, who has arrived here, reports that the Russian navy is bottled up at Helsingfors, while Reval and Libeau have been taken by the Germans after a furious battle, and are burning. The report is not credited by the best informed here.

LIEGE STILL HOLDS OUT.

Brussels, Aug. 7.—News received from Liege tonight, shows that the fortress is still holding out. It is being bombarded by heavy shells, but is still undamaged while the Belgian fire is working havoc among the Germans. It is reported that French forces are increasing from several directions.

GERMAN FLEET HEMMED IN.

London, Aug. 7.—A despatch to The Daily News from Newcastle, timed 4 a.m., today, says that a wireless message received at South Shields shortly before midnight, states that the British fleet engaged the German high seas fleet in a heavy battle off the South Dogger Banks.

After a general engagement along the battle line, which extended for many miles, and in which many ships on both sides took part, the German fleet was beaten back, and moved in the direction of the coast of Holland.

It is now believed that the German fleet is now completely hemmed in on the eastern side of the North Sea.

The city would not accept this proposition, not being satisfied as to the actual scope of the expression "reasonable terms." Again, the city was not prepared to submit a concrete proposition as to charges for said sewer connections without going more closely into the question of estimated costs and estimated number of North Monaghan residents who would use the sewer. Hence the Provincial Board of Health will be asked to give judgment.

TWO BIG TIGER SHARKS TRAIL SHIP TO NEW YORK

New York, Aug. 7.—The French bark Nantes on its voyage of fifty days from Dunkirk to New York arrived recently with a cargo of chalk. Two sharks were with the vessel during the entire voyage, and although the last [illegible] of them was when the [illegible] began [illegible] as [illegible] Sandy Hook, it is [illegible] they are still remaining [illegible] to the vessel.

Poisoned beef was thrown overboard and, although the sharks frequently devoured anything in the way of edibles which went over the side of the Nantes, they seemed to be able to discern between the good and bad. Efforts to harpoon the fish failed. Once when the bark was idly drifting in a calm the sailors lowered a boat and tried to approach the sharks, but their quarry stood off at a safe distance.

CANADIAN BUSINESS MAN PRISONER AT QUEBEC

H. S. Mundheim, of Cement Products Co. Suspected of Being a Spy

Quebec, Aug. 7.—H. S. Mundheim, general manager for the Cement Products Co., of Canada, with factories on the Island of Orleans, on which is established the naval station for the inspection of ships, is held to-day at the citadel as a prisoner of war.

Rumors to the effect that he was held as a spy are current, but no authoritative statement is available from the military authorities.

Mr. Mundheim is widely known throughout Canada.

BOTTLES SURROUND BODY OF MAN FOUND IN SHRUBS AFTER LOSS OF EMPLOYMENT

Buffalo, Aug. 7.—With sixteen empty whisky, gin and cognac bottles scattered about him—evident testimony to his last attempt to drown a keen sorrow—the body of H. F. Gotchell, forty-eight years old, carpenter, was found yesterday afternoon beneath shrubs on the premises of C. H. Dold, just south of the Alden N. Y. station. He had not been dead more than a few hours.

Gotchell had been working until about a week ago at the new bath-house in Alden. He was discharged because of his insuperable appetite for the stuff that excites, and also inebriates.

It is believed by Medical Examiner Cook, who examined the body, that Gotchell went straight out on a systematic campaign of trouble drenching. A bottle, half-filled with pure alcohol was found near the corpse. The body diffused strong fumes of liquor. Gotchell evidently expired in the very act of lifting a bottle to his lips, for the flask contained no stopper and was close to his hand.

The man's home is said to be somewhere in Pennsylvania. He has been roaming in Alden. Medical Examiner Cook gave a certificate to the effect Gotchell's death was caused by acute alcoholism. The body was removed to the morgue, and an attempt is being made to locate the relatives.

CARP CATCHES BOY, BUT LAD GETS AWAY

Boston, Aug. 7.—William C. Pitney Jr., 9-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Pitney of Newark, N. J., was kidnapped the other day by a 19-pound Musconetong lake carp. It happened just after breakfast. Willie, eager for fishing, ran from the Pitney camp ahead of the others and stepped into a rowboat.

When he was about twenty five feet from shore Mrs. Pitney called to him, telling him to return but Willie couldn't. Something at the end of the little chap's line was carrying him out toward the centre of the lake.

After a long chase the carp surrendered and was pulled out of the water by the boy. "I'm a sticker, pa," boasted Willie, when his father reached him.

PETERBORO MEN VOLUNTEER FOR SERVICE OVER THE SEAS

One Hundred an Fifty of 57th Regiment Signed Last Night to Fight for England in Her Struggle Against the German Autocrat--Civilians Go in the Ranks

The 57th Regiment of Peterborough assembled in the Armouries last night in response to the call of their commanding officer, Colonel Clegg, who in a stirring patriotic address called for volunteers for active war service over the seas. One hundred and fifty men responded to the call and signed for duty wherever needed by the Mother Country, in her present struggle against the German Kaiser and his Austrian allies. A number of civilians also joined the colors of Peterborough's Regiment.

It is safe to say that there are hundreds of good loyal men in this city "ready, aye, ready" to the call of duty at this momentous crisis in the history of the British Empire."

FIGHT TO A FINISH SAYS THE KAISER

He issues a Proclamation to His People in Which He Says His Enemies are Jealous

Berlin, Aug. 7.—In a proclamation to the German people, Kaiser Wilhelm to-day declared that Germany will fight to the bitter end:

"Our adversaries are jealous of our development," says the proclamation "but we will fight to the end and even against a world full of enemies."

TRIES TO POISON WELLS; IS EXECUTED

London, Aug. 7.—Telegrams from the chief of the German general staff received at the German embassy here assert that a French doctor with two assistants tried to poison the wells near Metz with cholera microbes. The doctor was tried by court-martial and then shot.

Another French party, according to the same source of information, endeavored to blow up a strategic tunnel near Cochem on the Moselle. All were shot.

WHY ACTRESSES NEVER GROW OLD.

(Theatrical World.)

Nothing concerning the profession seems more puzzling to the dear old public than the perpetual youth of our feminine members. How often we hear remarks like, "Why, I saw her as Juliet forty years ago and she doesn't look a year older now!" Of course allowance is made for makeup, but when they see us off the stage at close range, they need another explanation.

How strange women generally haven't learned the secret of keeping the face young! How simple a matter to get an ounce of mercolized wax at the drug store, apply it like cold cream, and in the morning wash it off! We know how this gradually, imperceptibly, absorbs old cuticle, leaving the complexion new and fresh, free from fine lines, sallowness or overredness. We know, too, that this mercolized wax is the reason actresses don't [illegible] moth patches, liver spots, pimples and the like. Why don't our [illegible] on the other side of the footlights learn the reason, and profit by

HOBBIES OF ROYALTY

The King of Bulgaria Passes Spare Hours Training Elephants

The Sovereigns of Europe have, and have had, some curious hobbies. The Kaiser has a distinct penchant for carpentry, while what King Christian does not know about the printer's craft is not worth knowing.

It has remained, however, for King Ferdinand of Bulgaria to take up the strangest pastime of all—animal training. A little while ago the King, tiring of the ordinary methods of relieving his mind from the cares of State, invested in four elephants. And now he spends all his spare time teaching his giant pets all that an educated elephant is required to know. The four beasts are housed at a farm on the outskirts of Sofia, and every day King Ferdinand spends an hour or so with them, superintending their toilet and training them.

The King has brought his usual zeal and enthusiasm to bear on his hobby, and the consequence is that his elephants would do credit to a professional trainer. Not only do the pachyderms recognise their Royal master when he visits them, but they can do several simple tricks at his bidding. The King is very proud of his pets, and whenever his Court is visited by anyone of distinction the Royal guest is sure to be taken to the farm to admire the great beasts at their work and play.

Indian Liked Air-trip

TWO GUNS WHITE CALF

Shooting the rapids in a canoe, or skimming the prairie on the back of a wild antelope will be tame and unexciting adventures now to Two Guns White Calf, "big Injun" from Glazier National Park. Two Guns took a flight in an aeroplane at Dobbs Ferry N.Y. "Heap big bird, fly like eagle: Two Guns give his gun for bird like that," was his comment on the flying machine that took him 1,200 feet in the air.

Lockless Wooden Safe

Mr. I. Shenker, a curio dealer, London, has invented a light wooden safe, which has no locks, bolts, or bars of any description, and yet is as safe as, if not safer than, the steel article.

Mr. Shenker offers to put a bank note in his safe and give it to anyone, professional cracksman or otherwise, who can get it out without alarming the household. The safe consists of a mahogany cupboard that can be inlaid and made to look like a piece of drawing room furniture if required. By an ingenious electrical contrivance an electric bell rings immediately it is tampered with, and a light appears. The only thing to distinguish the safe from an ordinary cupboard is an electric wire running into the back. Should the burglar cut this, the alarm will ring just the same.

Utopia Sold For $4,500

The "Model Town" on the Kentucky side of the Ohio River, opposite Evansville, Ind., consisting of ten acres of land, a city hall, and electric light and power plant, was sold at auction for back taxes to the only bidder for $4,500.

The property was valued at over $30,000. The town was laid out four or five years ago by a man named Brown, who announced that the town would be run on the Utopian plan. Stores, factories, and all other businesses were to be operated by the people, and all city ordinances were to be framed by the citizens in town meetings. After Brown disappeared the inhabitants left the town.

Wholesale smuggling of horses, cattle and grain across the Canadian border, amounting to thousands of dollars was unearthed by Collector of Customs Judson La Moure, Jr., of the district of North and South Dakota and Northwestern Minnesota. According to information from Halleck, Minn., near the centre of the smuggling district the operations were carried on along the border between St. Vincent and Warroad, Minn. There is no customs port between these two points, which are about 100 miles apart.

AS LIGHT AS LAGER BUT BETTER FOR YOU

You wash dishes about two hours every day. That's one hour wasted!

Dishes get dirty, greasy and sticky and soap will not clean them. Soapy dish water merely cleans the surface; it doesn't dig into the corners and drive out the decayed food particles.

Gold Dust is the sanitary dish washer. It not only cleans the surface, but digs deep after hidden particles of dirt and kills the germs of decayed food which ordinary dish-water overlooks. Gold Dust sterilizes as well as cleanses.

Besides doing the work better than soap or any other cleanser can, Gold Dust will save just half the time you spend in washing dishes.

Gold Dust is sold in 5c size and large packages. The large package means greater economy.

BIG WARS CAUSED BY MINOR AFFAIRS

Events, Trifling in Themselves, Have Sent Nations Armed Against Nations in Conflict

A Mexican's refusal to fire a salute of twenty-one guns seems an absurd trifle to sacrifice human life for, but that affair provided but another illustration of the manner in which little sparks sometimes bring about big international blazes. The war in which Great Britain lost the United States, for example, began because the citizens of Boston emptied a number of tea chests into Boston harbor. They objected to having their tea taxed for the benefit of England, and showed their resentment by tipping it into the sea. The result was that hostilities began at once.

And it was really because a few people lost their heads in the excitement of the moment that South Carolina began the war between North and South in the sixties. While negotiations regarding the slavery question were in progress the North sent a ship to reinforce the garrison at Fort Sumter. The South Carolina Secessionists saw the ship arriving and got into a fever of excitement. They thought it was a sign that hostilities had begun, with the consequence that they fired at the ship, bombarded the garrison, and took all the men in the fort prisoners, for the garrison was quite unprepared. It was this little affair which which precipitated matters, set the North ablaze, and resulted in the war which cost the States [illegible] and the lives of [illegible]

Religion and War

The question of the guardianship of the Holy Sepulchre really led to disastrous Crimean War. France had it; Russia wanted it; and Great Britain sent a messenger to ask Russia to withdraw. But the messenger was ultimately informed that the Russian Emperor had nothing to reply and a few days later an enormous crowd gathered in front of the Royal Exchange in London to hear war declared.

It was quite a trifling affair which led to the conflict between Russia and Turkey in 1877, a war which was really originated by the blow of a blacksmith's hammer. In the 'seventies the province of Bosnia and Herzegovina, long under Turkish rule, but now under the administration of Austria-Hungary, was groaning under the excessive taxation levied by the Turks. In some parts of the province all persons over the age of sixteen had to pay a poll tax.

One day a collector went to a small mountain village to collect the tax when a dispute arose between him and the village blacksmith concerning the age of the latter's daughter. The blacksmith insisted that she was a minor, and when the tax-collector made some insulting remark about her the smith brained him with his hammer. The blow of that hammer was heard in every Court in Europe, for the smith fled to the mountains, taking his daughter with him, gathered a band of malcontents, and began an insurrection which set the whole province in a blaze. The war spread to Servia, and ultimately Russia became involved.

FIGHTING PLANTS

Thorns, poisons and Daggers Used in Their Defence

Plants have to defend themselves from their enemies in the same way as men. They have to fight with each other for room enough in the soil to live, and the weaker plants often go under in the struggle for existence. The battles of plants, however, are mainly fought against the animals and insects which are always threatening to destroy them.

Many plants have wonderful weapons for their protection. The thorns of the rose bush, bramble and gorse prevent cows and horses from eating them, as well as keeping off snails and slugs. The cactus family of plants have a formidable armor of prickles and daggers. The plant known as the Spanish bayonet is armed with taper-pointed spears that have file-like edges. Some plants, such as the ragged robin, have sticky stems, covered with fine hairs to which insects stick if they climb up to try to steal the honey.

Many plants use poison as a means of protection. The sun spurge has a poisonous juice which kills any insects which approach it, while the poisonous properties of the deadly nightshade are well known.

The common bladder wort, an aquatic plant, not only defends itself against insects and animals, but catches worms and fish for its food.

Perhaps the most original mean of self-defense is that possessed by a strange plant called the rattlesnake iris, which grows on the prairies of America. When ripe its seeds give a rattling noise very similar to that made by a rattlesnake. This is greatly feared by animals, who will never go near the plant.

OIL THE GREAT WEALTHMAKER

We hold over 3,000 acres, more or less, of oil leases North and South of Monarch and several of our leases are in the same range as the Monarch well.

Many companies claim to be close to Monarch but we are one of the very few who are in Range Six upon which the Monarch Well is situated. Therefore, we must be on the same anti-cline and as it is a foregone conclusion Monarch will get oil, so will we.

Fifty-Seven Feet of Oil Bearing Sands Passed Through in Monarch Well

OFFICIAL STATEMENT IS GIVEN OUT BY PRESIDENT GEORGESON—WELL IS NOW DOWN OVER 1,800 FEET AND FLOW OF WET GAS HAS BEEN STRUCK IN LOWER LEVELS—GEOLOGIST DUNN IS AWAY AT PRESENT

Heavy oil showings are being found in the Monarch well, west of Olds, although the oil has not yet come in in commercial quantities.

To put the exact facts before the public, President William Georgeson and Treasurer G. W. Morfitt, of the company, this morning issued an official statement from the drillers setting forth the results.

The heaviest oil seepage has been encountered through a stratum 57 feet thick, and the well is now 1850 feet deep.

A sample of this oil baled out at 1,775 feet was brought to the city this morning and is in the office of Mr. Morfitt, Grain Exchange Building. The oil is a heavy black petroleum with the characteristic petroleum odor.

The statement issued by the officers is as follows: In the absence of Mr. Dunn, Mr. Van Alst, the head driller, reports that from the depth of 1,775 feet to 1,832 feet he went through oil bearing sands for 57 feet. Throughout there was a heavy showing of black oil in the baler. Two further showing of black wet gas were met at 1,805 feet and 1,815 feet.

The well is now down 1,850 feet. Wet gas has shown at 683 feet, 1,430 feet, 1,805 feet and 1,815 feet.

Oil sands have shown at 898 feet, (46 feet), 1,430 feet (40 feet), 1,760 feet (14 feet), and 1,775 feet (57 feet).

The well is now down 1,850 feet, and while there are good oil showings there is not as yet oil in commercial quantities.

Our stock is on the market at 50 cents a share, a Dollar par, and will be advanced without notice any day pending Monarch Well developments. It is practically a certainty that Monarch will be in oil in commercial quantities within two weeks, Our stock will jump away above par and you had better hurry if you wish to share our prosperity.

Our Point of View

After all, Norman Angell had a good "hunch" when he called his idea of war "The Great Illusion."

Magic "Nerviline" Cures Toothache, Earache

IT RELIEVES EVERY EXTERNAL PAIN.

Cures Colds, Coughs, Sore Throat, Tight Chest and Hoarseness.

It's when sickness comes at night, when you are far from the druggist, or the doctor, that's when you need Nerviline most. Experienced mothers are never without it. One of the children may have toothache, Without Nerviline—a sleepless night for the entire household. With Nerviline the pain is relieved quickly. It may be earache, perhaps a stiff neck, or one of the kiddies coughing with a bad chest cold. Nothing can give quicker results than vigorous rubbing with this old-time family remedy.

Nerviline is too useful, too valuable to be without. For lumbago, lame back, sciatica or neuralgia there is no liniment with half of Nerviline's power to penetrate and ease the pain.

As a family safeguard, as something to ward off sickness and to cure the minor ills that will occur in every family, to cure pain anywhere, you can find nothing to compare with old-time Nerviline, which for forty years has been the most widely used family remedy in the Dominion. The most economical size is the large 50c family size bottle, small trial size 25c. All dealers sell Nerviline.

The Aviators

The spectacular feat of Aviator Garros is almost incredible in its reckless daring. It will thrill his countrymen. The story of the aeroplane is surely an heroic one in peace or war, but its value in warfare, except for scouting purposes, has yet to be demonstrated. If, when used as a weapon of offence it demands the sacrifice of a Garros for every effective stroke, the cost is prohibitive.

According to the French experts, the Russian army aviation corps ranks second in the world. Russia's strength is not so much press agented as is that of some other nations, but the improvement in her military equipment in recent years has been remarkable. Russia's history shows her to be possessed with the ability to come back. Her defeat in the Crimean war made modern Russia; her defeat in the war with Japan made the modern fighting machine that is today marching on Germany. Since the aviation corps is an important part of the modern army, Russia is well equipped with aviators.

The present European war undoubtedly will carry forward the practice of fighting in the air and from the air another and a very important stage. Germany's great fleet of dirigibles will be called upon to prove their value while France, with her daring aviators, may be expected to form feats which shall add new lustre of romance to the story of the battlefield. However, it is hardly probable that, to any great extent, the operations in the air will be utilized for other than scouting purposes. As a military or naval unit, the aviation corps is still experimenting. The decisive, telling strokes will still be given on land or water.

G. E. WAINWRIGHT,
Manager,

Montreal Amusement Company, Limited

The Company is being formed for the purpose of erecting a high-class Vaudeville and Moving Picture House at Nos. 582-604 St. Catherine Street West, between Drummond and Mountain Streets, a one minute walk from the corner of Peel and St. Catherine Streets.

CAPITALIZATION :

	PAR VALUE
20,000 Shares of 7 P. C. Cumulative Preferred Stock,	$10.	$200,000
30,000 Shares of Common Stock :: ::	$10.	$300,000

DIRECTORS:	Dr. A. P. Ship Mr. Maurice Wolf	Mr. Geo. A. Robinson Mr. J. B. Henshaw	ATTORNEYS: .... Duff and Merrill CHARTERED ACCOUNTANTS: ......Geo. C. McDonald & Co.

The Company is being formed for the purpose of supplying Montreal with a high-class Vaudeville and Moving Picture House in the West end of the City. For some years past the need of such a house has been strongly felt, and on this account an exceptional opportunity presents itself, more especially as one of the most attractive locations in the whole City has been obtained, close to the main transfer centre in the West end of the City.

The Company obtains from the Stephens' Estate a thirty year lease of the property situated on the south side of St. Catherine Street, from No. 582 to No. 604, and by the terms of agreement it is called upon to erect a theatre immediately in the rear, with entrance on St. Catherine Street, at a cost of not less than $150,000. The Company in this way, in addition to operating its own theatre, will have very valuable stores on St. Catherine Street frontage, from which a steady revenue will be obtained. The theatre will have a main entrance from St. Catherine Street, and it is the intention to construct it along most modern lines, so that it will cater to the requirements of the growing demand for a high-class Vaudeville and Moving Picture House, which has been in evidence in the West end of the City for some years past.

Under the agreement with the Stephens' Estate, the Company undertakes that before beginning any work or making any changes to the present premises, an amount equal to at least sixty (60) per cent. ($90,000) of the minimum cost of construction, viz., $150,000, must be deposited with the Prudential Trust Company who will act as Trustees.

In order to ensure the carrying out of this provision, it has been agreed that all proceeds from the sale of stock shall be deposited with the Prudential Trust Company, in trust, who will make payments to Contractors.

It is further stipulated that before any part of the said 60 per cent. can be withdrawn or taken out, the balance of the cost must be paid by the Company. In this way the final completion of the undertaking will be assured, and all money so deposited is to be paid out by the Trust Company with which the money is put in escrow, only on the certificate of the Architect in charge, as the work progresses. Therefore, every dollar of the preferred capitalization will be invested in the new properties, and the shareholders will obtain the full benefits of all the expenditures made. The Prudential Trust Company has been appointed as Fiscal Agent of the Company and Registrars of the Stock, and all monies are to be paid to them on behalf of the Company.

Important Features of the Vaudeville and Moving Picture Business

The business is a cash business. Every class in the land contributes. This applies most strongly to the working classes, as this particular form of amusement is the only thing, outside the necessities of life, on which practically all of those comprising the masses regularly spend their earnings.

We take the following extract from Munsey's Magazine:—

"With the possible exception of the automobile "no other product of human invention has ad"vanced with such extraordinary strides, or risen "with such amazing swiftness from a toy to a "necessity. It has provided a college for the mass"es; a real first aid to science, a distinct aid to "education.

"But the Motion Picture has done even more "than to imprison, the rainbow, vivify history, "and bring the march of world events and the "kindling of world's literature to the very doors of "the people. It has created a whole new line of "millionaires."

Estimated Earnings

Upon this valuable site at the present time there are two large buildings—the Laurie Block, Nos. 582-586 and 588 St. Catherine Street West, and the Empire Block, Nos. 590 to 604 St. Catherine Street West. The Laurie Block upon the present actual rentals is drawing over $14,000 per year; the balance of the Laurie and the entire Empire Block adjoining is immediately available for demolition or reconstruction for the proposed Theatre, leaving the income of the Laurie Block (which amounts to over $14,000), intact, and still retaining the necessary ground to build the Theatre upon.

In addition to the revenue derived from the Laurie Block, Nos. 582-588, there will be about four more stores on either side of this new building, which will rent for about $3,000 per year, and approximately forty-two offices above, which will bring a rental of about $25 per month each.

The grand total from these estimated receipts from the fixed rentals will be about $38,600.00 per year. As the fixed rental and taxes for the entire block is $35,000.00 annually for the first five years, the investor can readily see what a fine proposition we have to start off with.

To make sure that the fixed income from the rental of stores is reasonable, we will allow 50 per cent. of the income from stores rental.

As it is proposed to erect a building to seat about 2500 people, we have estimated the seating capacity to bring the following returns:

MATINEE

2500 seats at 10c	$250.00	$250.00

EVENING

800 seats at 25c	$200.00
700 seats at 15c.........	105.00
1000 seats at 10c	100.00
Two evening performances at $405.00		810.00
		$1060.00

The Estimated Weekly Expenses are made up as follows:

1 Act	$ 300
1 Act	200
10 Piece Orchestra......	250
Two Acts at $100 each	200
One First Picture	250
Two Pictures at $75	150
2 Box Office Employees at $15	30
1 Ticket Taker	15
6 Ushers at $10	60
2 Moving Picture Operators	50
1 Janitor.........	25
1 Electrician	25
1 Stage Carpenter	25
1 Press Man	50
1 Stenographer	12
Manager...... .... , ...	125
4 Scrub Women at $10.........	40
Advertising	193
Total	$2,000

NOTE.—This is decidedly more than any other Theatre playing to these prices of admission.

Three hundred and sixty-five days at $1060 per day equals $386,900.00. Presuming that $386,900.00 is the gross revenue if all the seats were filled, we will allow two-thirds capacity as a safe conservative estimate, viz., $257,933.00.

Expenses and Revenue of Company

	Per Annum.
For the first five years.........	$35,000.00	and taxes
For the second five years.........	40,000.00	" "
For the third five years.........	45,000.00	" "
For the fourth five years.........	50,000.00	" "
For the fifth five years.........	55,000.00	" "
And, for the last five years......	60,000.00	" "

Fixed Charges

We figure the expense to be as follows:

Rent (average for 30 years) ...	$47,500.00
Taxes (which are at present about $8,000	10,000.00
Interest on $200,000 7 per cent. Cumulative Preferred Stock	14,000.00
*Sinking Fund	5,000.00
Insurance	2,500.00
Light, Heat, Power, Business Taxes, etc.	6,000.00
Making Fixed Charges		$85,000.00

*This Sinking Fund is set aside firstly for the purpose of redeeming the preferred stock.

It is estimated that the expenses of operating a good vaudeville bill and first run pictures, including orchestra of ten musicians, with management, advertising, and all necessary help required in a first-class house is $2,000 per week, therefore, the gross expenses of the proposed theatre would be		104,000.00
Gross Running and Fixed Charges....		$189,000.00
With a fair estimated average of gross profits of (257,933)	$257,933
From which deduct gross running and fixed charges of..	189,000
The net profits per annum would be		$68,933.00
To this must be added the revenue derived from the rental of the stores (38,600), 50 per cent. of which is.....		19,300.00
Making the Net Profits per Year......		$88,233.00

After allowing for all overhead and other fixed charges, these earnings of $88,233.00 on a $300,000.00 common stock issue, will be in the neighborhood of 25 per cent.

It is proposed to issue $200,000 7 per cent. Cumulative Preferred Stock at par, and to allow the subscriber to receive as a bonus 50 per cent. (fifty per cent.) of common stock. The Cumulative Preferred Stock will be preferred both as to the Company's lease and entire assets.

All the common Stock of the Company will become the property of the Promoters, as fully paid up and non-assessable, in consideration of their services in obtaining the option from the Stephens Estate and organization of the Company, and disposal of stock. Of this amount of Three Hundred Thousand Dollars (300,000) Common Stock which the promoters will acquire. One Hundred Thousand Dollars ($100,000) will be transferred by them to the Purchasers of Preferred Stock, as per 50 per cent. bonus, in accordance with the terms mentioned elsewhere in this Prospectus.

It is absolutely necessary to prove to the Stephens' Estate that $150,000 has been subscribed and 60 per cent. has been deposited with the Prudential Trust Company before the demolition of the present buildings can be commenced. After subscriptions up to at least $150,000 have been secured, subscribers will be notified to deposit the amount of subscription with the Prudential Trust Company. Unless $150,000 is subscribed for, no subscribers will be called upon to make payments.

Judging from the large business that is being carried on by the Orpheum Theatre, the Imperial Theatre, (which played to capacity all last winter), and the Strand Theatre, which has been paying 20 per cent. per annum dividend, and is a small house, having a seating capacity of only about 800, there is no question but the estimated receipts, as outlined above, are averaged very low. The property is surrounded for blocks in all directions by rooming houses, and on the west by Westmount; on the south-west by Point St. Charles, St. Henri and St. Cunegonde, and other densely populated districts, and the C. P. R., pouring out its thousands of newcomers daily; the C. N. R. on the east, with its new terminal within a few blocks, this site cannot be surpassed for its ideal location.

Comparing values of various properties on St. Catherine Street West, it might be of interest to note that the corner of St. Catherine and Peel Streets, in the new Drummond Building, which is about 500 feet east of our property, has been leased for a term of years at a rental of $6.00 per square foot, or, in other words, 13,750 feet has been leased at a figure of $82,500 a year, whereas we have 19,350 square feet for $35,000 per annum for the first five years, or $2.00 per square foot.

Further information will be supplied to any one desirous of becoming interested in the new Company. Copies of plans and agreements, together with the description of the properties, are on file at the offices of the Prudential Trust Company, and by addressing Mr. Maurice Wolff, care of the property, 600 St. Catherine Street W.

EXPLORERS PRAISED

Perilous Trip to Polar Regions Necessary From Scientific Standpoint

In the course of an address before the Royal Geographical Society at London, Lord Curzon described Sir Ernest Shackleton's Antarctic expedition as "the most adventurous and the furthest advanced both in scale and equipment." The opinion was expressed by Lord Curzon that the curve of Polar activity might be expected to be an ascending one for some years to come.

"Daring breeds daring; a spirit of honorable rivalry, appealing not merely to individuals but to nations, is engendered; each fresh reclamation from the unknown reveals fresh ground to be won that is worth the winning; every sacrifice entailed is the parent of future sacrifice.

"It is the business of geographical societies, while Polar activity is on the upward grade, to lend such assistance and guidance to the tendency as they may; to bear in mind that addition to knowledge rather than the mere pursuit of adventure is their province; and to ensure the successful garnering and adequate publication of the results."

Speaking of the Scott expedition, he declared that they did triumph, even in death and disaster. For they left to their countrymen, not merely the record of great work accomplished—how great would be seen when the scientific records were published—but the inspiration of an example that would live in the annals of the human race.

He congratulated Dr. Mawson on the spirit, resourcefulness, and amazing fortitude that enabled him to escape the fate of his two brave companions, Ninnis and Mertz. He thought that the scientific results of Dr. Mawson's expedition would compare favorably with those of any party that had ever attempted to explore the Antarctic continent.

Evolving the Golf Ball

The evolution of the golf ball has been slow and laborious. The first balls were made of untanned bull's hide, two rounds forming the ends, another the middle. These pieces were softened, shaped, and finally sewed together, a small hole being left through which feathers could later be stuffed—a difficult process accomplished with the aid of a steel rod.

The rubber core ball has been in use since 1848. The early experiments with rubber, however, were far from successful. It was found that the first balls as fashioned would travel a very short distance after leaving the club that their inventor almost decided to abandon experiments. In fact, he gave the discarded balls to some caddies, who proceeded to amuse themselves vigorously—so vigorously that the balls were soon covered with cuts.

It was then seen that in this state they carried much further than when new. So the next mould was nicked in order to give the rubber a shape similar to that of the damaged balls. The result was successful; and from that, after countless improvements, evolved the ball of to-day.

Oil and Gas From Bricks

Recent experimenting in English brickyards with a patented process for extracting oil, ammonia, and gas from burning bricks is likely to have an important commercial significance. All bricks made from the Oxford clay in the neighborhood of Peterborough burn of themselves in the kiln, because of the bituminous matter they contain, and that bituminous matter yields oil, gas, and ammonia in a retort out of contact with the air.

Patents have been granted to Mr. G. P. Crowden, who has invented an apparatus to modify the present brick kilns, so that the waste heat from the burning bricks may be used for heating the retorts, and further, that the green bricks themselves may be retorted, and the oil, gas, and the ammonia recovered from them. The results are said to be most astonishing.

Courtship in Jail

After carrying on a love correspondence while serving sentences of one month at Knutsford, Cheshire, two ex-prisoners were married recently on their release at the parish church, which stands opposite the prison. The prison chaplain made the necessary arrangements for the wedding, and himself officiated at the ceremony.

Enjoyable Reading

A rack to be fastened to a bedstead has been patented which holds a book in just the right position for a person to read while lying on his back.

INTRODUCTION

The Glenaladale Silver Black Fox Company, Limited, was incorporated in 1913 with six pairs of foxes, at $60,000. This Company re-capitalized in 1914, with 20 pairs of beautiful Silver Black Foxes, at $15,000 per pair, making a total capitalization of $300,000.

THE FOXES

Six pairs (one year old) proven breeders, and fourteen pairs (1914 pups), making a total of 20 pairs—all young foxes—good for at least 10 years. This Company has bought some of this year's options on foxes with a guarantee that they are pedigreed and of the highest strain and very best quality P. E. Island famous foxes.

THE RANCH

The ranch is situated on the well known Glenaladale Farm, owned by Major C. McKinnon, formerly the homestead of Sir William McDonald, and is only 12 miles from Charlottetown, in a quiet locality sufficiently removed from any disturbance.

THE RANCHER

Mr. Arthur W. McKinnon, our Ranch Manager, has had much experience in breeding foxes, and has the practical knowledge necessary to efficiently manage and care for the animals.

The foxes will be ranched free of charge to the Company for the first year. This means a large saving to the shareholders, as some companies have to pay as high as 25 per cent. of the increase for ranching purposes.

The promoters of this Company are retaining $80,000 worth of stock for themselves. $20,000 worth has already been disposed of, leavinb $200,000 to be offered to investors at $25.00 per share, with a guarantee that a dividend of 50 per cent. will be paid in cash in 1915, or whatever more it may be.

The Glenaladale Silver Black Fox Co., Limited, in 1913 guaranteed a dividend of 50 per cent. but are going to pay 50 per cent. in cash and 50 per cent., in stock in 1914. The Company is in good standing and to each and every investor the first of September, 1914, we can say:—"We have given you 50 per cent. more than we promised." And we feel sure that in 1915 all the shareholders in this re-capitalized company will be able to say they received more than they were promised.

This Company can truthfully say that they have not one cent of watered stock in the Company. Now Mr. Investor, if you were a Company and we the shareholders, we would look to you for justice to give us all that was honestly due us. We would not like for you to buy 3 pairs of foxes at $15,000 per pair ($45,000) and form a fox company and capitalize your concern at $90,000 and make us pay, as shareholders, for it. The Glenaladale Silver Black Fox Company, Limited, will ask you to do nothing like that. We want to let you in on the ground floor.

NOTICE

When a fox company guarantees any specified dividend to its shareholders, and when said company is an incorporated body, you need not be afraid of any unfair play, for such company is compelled to pay what they promise, and, besides, every interest is taken for the welfare of both the investor and the company.

The promoters of this Company are all above board and will not permit any crook to come in and do anything that is not right. Anyone holding stock in this Company who is dissatisfied can, by notifying the Secretary-Treasurer, have his or her money promptly refunded.

FORTUNES IN FOXES

There is money in fox ranching more than anything else ever known. It is good for the rich man and good for the poor man. A poor man cannot buy a pair of Silver Black Foxes but he can easily raise $25.00, $50.00 or $100.00. By investing in this Company he gets back his money in at least two years and then he will have an income for life and for his children to come—and after there will be money in fox farming. One of the reasons for this is that P. E. Island has now 95 per cent. of the world's foxes in captivity. For every one pelt that can be raised there are more than 25 wealthy people waiting for it in London, Russia, France and America.

PELT VALUES

The Fox Pelts have advanced greatly in price since 1910 and you can see for yourself what money was in them then.

Below are the particulars of sale of a consignment of Silver Fox Furs, shipped from Prince Edward Island ranches to London, England, and sold there in March, 1910:

SHARES

Shares are selling at $25.00 each; 25 per cent. with application and the balance on or before September 1st, 1914.

Simply fill out the application form and mail to Major C. McKinnon, Secretary-Treasurer, Glenaladale, P. E. I.

All cheques must be made payable to "The Glenaladale Silver Black Fox Co., Ltd."

A POINTER

Just to give you a little idea of what the free ranching of foxes mean to the investor, we will figure it out for you.

We have twenty pairs of foxes in the ranch and suppose each pair produces a litter of only four foxes this is equal to 40 pairs and at $15,000 per year it would figure out at $600,000. Now, if we had to pay even 15 per cent. of the increase for ranching purposes (which is considerably lower than some companies pay) it would mean that we would have to pay $90,000 for ranching expenses.

We ranch the foxes free for the first year, so that in addition to a guaranteed dividend of 50 per cent., we save you this large outlay of money. While we guarantee 50 per cent., still should each pair in our ranch produce four pups it would mean that your dividend would be about 200 per cent. instead of 50 per cent.

FINAL WORD

A great deal has been written about Ranches, Grades of Foxes, etc., but after all the one object that every investor should keep before him is the dividend he is going to get. We have tried to show you in plain English what we can do for you and now that you have our proposition, compare it with the offer made by any other company now in business— and then judge for yourself to have been paid by some of the Charlottetown daily newspapers.

IMPORTANT NOTICE

CALGARY, July 23rd.—An official statement just issued by the Monarch Oil Company states that the drill has just passed through a 57-foot strata of oil bearing sand, at a depth of between 1775 and 1832 feet. A sample of the oil from this oil sand is on exhibition at the Company's office in Calgary. This is the fourth oil sand encountered in the well, and indicates that a good producing well should be obtained before going much deeper. The Hole-Woollard Oil Company is making preparations to drill on its property in the Monarch district, which adjoins the property of the Monarch Oil Company, and we are advised that the price of shares will be advanced as soon as drilling operations are started. The time to invest in the shares of the Hole-Woollard Company is NOW, before the advance in price.

COPPER

The Red Metal

MILLIONS OF TONS OF PAY ORE

Copper is one of the world's chief necessities, and the demand for it is constantly increasing. Growth of the electrical industry largely accounts for this. Telegraph and Telephone Wire—Trolley Wire—Trolley Wheels and the multitude of other Electrical Machines and Parts—Power Transmission Wire and the use of the metal in various valuable Alloys—these are some of the places where copper is consumed, and while its production is enormous it is used about as rapidly as it can be mined and made ready. THIS IS WHY OWNERSHIP IN A COPPER MINE IS ONE OF THE MOST SATISFACTORY SOURCES OF INCOME POSSIBLE TO IMAGINE.

TIME TO START

Naturally the time to secure an interest in any sort of enterprise is at the start, because it is then that money for development and equipment is needed and this is, of course, the reason why shares in the project are released! When these necessities are provided for the Opportunity passes.

For years we have been spending time, effort and money in getting together one of the largest known copper deposits, and we now own and control thousands of acres of land, covering veins of copper, ore carrying gold and silver values, extensive veins of coal, iron and lime.

The geology is so well defined as to make identifications of size and location of the copper bearing veins a perfect definite matter. In addition to this the estate has been thoroughly prospected by some 4,000 feet of work, there being more than 100 shafts, pits, cuts and tunnels, every one of which shows copper in paying quantities. The dumps of these openings run from 2 to 8 per cent in copper metal.

Facilities for economically winning the copper from its ores are remarkably fine. In the company's own ground are five known coal beds, insuring a perpetual supply of cheap fuel, easily accessible and located within a very short distance of the site chosen for its furnaces. Water and timber are also abundant and easy of access.

One of Colorado's most eminent mining engineers, after thoroughly examining this property, states in his report that the net profits resulting from operation of this property should range from $250,000 to $1,000,000 each year.

There is no uncertainty, no guesswork, about this project. Applied to it, a definite cause will inevitably produce an equally definite effect. Equipment for mining these immense bodies of ore and reducing the metal in them to bullion means dividends—it can't mean anything else—and it is to provide this equipment and the funds required for its installation and the preliminary operating expenses of the estate that an interest in the project is offered to you.

It is YOUR OPPORTUNITY to join in a well planned, conservative, and exceptionally profitable business undertaking. The foundations are laid, the property is acquired and the next step—providing the equipment—is now being taken. So soon as this is accomplished your chance to secure a share in the enterprise will be gone.

Double Spiral Vanadium Steel Springs

The known quality of high-grade springs proves the standard efficiency of the Temco — long double coil sensitive to the least jar— tough and tested quality to outlast any car. This is a new element in shock absorber construction, based upon scientific mechanical principles, not the production of a "cold blacksmith" or experimenter. The special creation of a master designer, whose work has won him great reputation. No friction whatever. Design and construction covered by our original patents (Sept. 9, 1913) and patents now pending covering double spiral spring and other improvements as here illustrated in sectional cut. All infringements will be vigorously prosecuted.

Observe the simplicity of mechanical construction —load is entirely suspended from warranted hanger bolts, yet neither bolts nor springs touch surfaces of polished steel—sand proof—ice proof—dirt proof [illegible]
